Anno vicefimo fecundo

Georgii II. Regis.

An Act for encouraging the People known by the Name of Unitas Fratrum or United Brethren, to settle in His Majesty's Colonies in America.

Whereas many of the People of ^{Preamble.} the Church or Congregations called the Unitas Fratrum, or United Brethren, are settled in His Majesty's Colonies in America, and demean themselves there as a sober, quiet, and industrious People; and many others of the same Persuasion are desirous to transport themselves to, and make larger Settlements in the said Colonies at their own Expence, provided they may be indulged with a full Liberty of Conscience, and in the Exercise of the Religion they profess; and several of the said Brethren do conscientiously scruple the taking of an Oath, and likewise do conscientiously scruple bearing Arms, or personally serving in any military Capacity, although they are willing and ready to contribute whatever Sums of Money shall be thought a reasonable Compensation for such Service, and which shall be necessary for the Defence and Support of His Majesty's Person and Government: And whereas the said Congregations are an antient Protestant Episcopal Church, which has been countenanced and relieved by the Kings of England, Your Majesty's Predecessors: And whereas the Encouraging the said People to settle in America will be beneficial to the said Colonies; therefore may it please Your Majesty, at the humble Petition of Abraham Baron of Gersdorff, Lewis Baron of Schrautenbach free Lord of Lindheim, David Nitschmann Syndic, Charles Schachmann Baron of Hermsdorff, and Henry Cossart Agent, Deputies from the said Moravian Churches, in Behalf of themselves and their United Brethren, that it may be enacted; and be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That from and after the Twenty fourth Day of June, One thousand seven hundred and forty nine, every Person being a Member of the said Protestant Episcopal Church, known by the Name of Unitas Fratrum, or the United Brethren, and which Church was formerly settled in Moravia and Bohemia, and are now in Prussia, Poland, Silesia, Lusatia, Germany, the United Provinces, and also in His Majesty's Dominions, who shall be required upon any lawful Occasion to take an Oath in any Case where by Law an Oath is or shall be required, shall, instead of the usual Form, be permitted to make his or her solemn Affirmation or Declaration in these Words following:

Those Brethren who scruple the taking of an Oath, allowed to make a solemn Affirmation in lieu thereof.

Form of Affirmation.

I A. B. do declare in the Presence of Almighty God, the Witness of the Truth of what I say.

To be of the same Effect as an Oath.

Which said solemn Affirmation or Declaration shall be adjudged and taken, and is hereby enacted and declared to be of the same Force and Effect, to all Intents and Purposes, in all Courts of Justice, and other Places where by Law an Oath is or shall be required within the Kingdoms of Great Britain and Ireland, and also in all and every of His Majesty's Colonies and Dominions in America, as if such Person had taken an Oath in the usual Form.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That any Person making such solemn Affirmation or Declaration, who shall be lawfully convicted, wilfully, falsely, and corruptly to have affirmed or declared any Matter or Thing, which, if the same had been deposed on Oath in the usual Form, would have amounted to wilful and corrupt rupt Perjury, every such Person so offending shall incur the same Pains and Penalties, as by the Law and Statutes of this Realm are enacted against Persons convicted of wilful and corrupt Perjury.

Provided, and be it enacted, That no Person being of the said Church or Congregation called the Moravian or United Brethren, shall by virtue of this Act be qualified to give Evidence in any Criminal Causes, or to serve on Juries; any thing contained in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Brethren summoned to do any military Service to be discharged, upon Payment of the Rate assessed;

And to prevent any Doubt which may arise, whether any Person, pretending or claiming to be a Member of such Church or Congregation, is actually a Member thereof, be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all and every Person and Persons whatsoever, who shall, as a Member or Members of such Church or Congregation, claim the Benefit of this Act, or of any Matter or Thing herein contained, shall, at the Time when he or they make such Claim, produce a Certificate signed by some Bishop of the said Church, or by the Pastor of such Church or Congregation who shall be nearest to the Place where such Claim is made; and shall be examined concerning the Matters contained in the said Certificate, and the due Execution thereof; and such Person so affirming to the best of his Knowledge and Belief in Manner herein before-mentioned, or proving by the Testimony of other

To whom the Petition of the Deputies of the United Moravian Churches was referred.

THE Committee to whom the Petition of Abraham Baron of Gerstorff, Lewis Baron Schrauttenbach, free Lord of Lindheim, David Nitschman Syndic, Charles Schachmann, Baron of Hermstorff, and Henry Coffart, Agent, Deputies of the United Moravian Churches, in behalf of themselves and their United Brethren, was referred, have, pursuant to the Order of the House, examined the Matter of the said Petition.

I.

To prove that the Petitioners are Deputies of the United Moravian Churches, they produced,

No. 1. An Instrument under the Hand and Seal of Bishop Ludovicus, at this Time Ordinary and Advocate of the Hierarchy called by the Name of the UNITAS FRATRUM, setting

ting forth, ' That the General Synod of that Church had appointed the Reverend, Noble, and Worthy Abraham Baron Gersdorff, formerly Privy Counsellor of War to the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, now Civil Senator in the Synod of the United Brethren, and Deputy in Ordinary, and Deputy from them to the Protestant Kings; Lewis Schrauttenbach, free Baron of the Town of Lindheim, Lord of Trebus, &c. &c. Assessor in the Civil Senate of the Brethren; David Nitschmann, Syndic of the Church of the Brethren; Charles Schachmann, Lord of Hermisdorff, &c. Co-director of the æconomical Affairs of the Brethren Churches; lastly, Henry Cossart, Agent of the Church, now, and for Two Years past, residing in Great Britain, with full Power, for and in the Name of all the Congregations of the Brethren of all the Churches, who, after the Vicissitudes of Three Centuries, are at this Time united in the Moravian Episcopal See, both to return to the Parliament of Great Britain due Thanks for the Assistances already granted to them; and also to explain, discuss, and treat of what farther may pertain to the Interest of their Churches in English America.'

To prove that the said Bishop Ludovicus is impowered by all the Congregations of the United Brethren,

The Petitioners produced,

No. 2. An Appointment or VOCATION of the General Synod, given in the Year 1743. to Bishop Ludovicus, in consequence of,

No. 3. A former Call in the Year 1733. Translated by the Reverend Mr. Gambold, who was examined as to the Truth of these and all the other Translations; and informed your Committee, that this Translation of the Vocation in 1743. is from the German Copy published by the Authority of the General Synod, and produced before your Committee; in which are the following Words:

' We set and establish you therefore once more, and now as before, with good Consideration, in the Name of our God, to be a fully-impowered Servant, or Advocate, Householder, or Steward of us, within and without, at Home and Abroad, in Christendom, and among the Heathen. It is also necessary, that you nominate to us your Successor; therefore you will not neglect the eventual Designation of such a one.'

This

This is testified at the Bottom, to be in the Name of the Churches, which for 300 Years past have been called the Brethren, signed by the several Orders, and witnessed by Polycarpus Muller, Episcopus Senior.

They also produced,

No. 4. The Acceptance of the said Vocation by the said Bishop Ludovicus, in his Answer directed to the Right Rev. Noble, and Rev. the Bishops, Seniors, Deputies, Syndics; also Ordinaries, Adjuncts, and other Clergy of the Evangelic Moravian Church of the Augsburg Confession, and of both the Tropusses of the Unity respectively.

They also produced,

No. 5. A Narrative about their Church and Name, signed by Abraham Gerstdorff, Senior Politicus.

They also produced,

No. 6. A Declaration out of one of the publick Writings of D. Ernest Jablonsky, Dean of the Chapel of the late King of Prussia, and his Two Predecessors, and President of the Royal Society at Berlin, eldest Bishop of the Unity; setting forth, ' That the Brethrens Church at Herrnhuth is the true Posterity of the Union at Sendomir; and that these Remnants out of Moravia have better succeeded in uniting Protestants of different Persuasions, than all the Endeavours Protestant Princes have made Use of for the procuring such a Union. '

They also produced,

No. 7. Two original Letters to Bishop Ludovicus, from the late Bishop Jablonsky; the first Letter declaring, ' That what the old Bohemian Brethren had with great Labour pursued, for more than 150 Years, in regard to the Union of Protestants, had happily been effected at Herrnhuth. '

No. 8. In the Second Letter Bishop Jablonsky, speaking of the Institutions at Herrnhuth, says, ' He seemed, in reading them through, to have got a Prospect of the antient Apostolical Lives of the primitive Christians; and rejoices to see the old Bohemian and Moravian Discipline now revived at Herrnhuth, and appearing before the Eyes of the World. '

In the same Letter Bishop Jablonsky vindicates the Episcopal Succession; setting forth, 'That the Brethren have carefully, and without Interruption, kept their Episcopal Ordination; and that in the great Exile of 1548, a great Colony of the Brethren being come to Great Poland, and having settled there many Protestant Congregations, there were also Bishops sent unto them from Bohemia; but that they looked upon them as one and the same Church: And that the Seniors in Great Poland (for so the Bishops were generally called) were for the most Part consecrated in the Synods kept in Bohemia; that when his Grandfather John Amos Comenius styled himself, in the Dedication of his History of the Bohemian and Moravian Brethren to Charles II. King of England, Reliquiarum Ecclesiae Fratrum Bohemorum Episcopus indignus, solus adhuc superstes, he understood only the Bohemian Branch, which was likely to become extinct in him, although the Branch in Poland was at that Time in a flourishing Condition; and that besides this, in the Year 1662. in the Synod at Milenzin in Great Poland, his Father Peter Jablonsky, Son-in-law to old Bishop Amos, was consecrated Bohemian Bishop in Spe contra Spem; that he himself received Episcopal Ordination the 20th March 1699, at the Synod at Lissa in Great Poland, where he went for that Purpose, with the Consent of the then Elector of Brandenburg Frederick III.'

He sets forth also, 'That in the Year 1716-17. some Enemies of the Protestant Churches in general took an Opportunity to publish in England, even in Print, that the Bohemian Brethren had no lawful Bishops; that the Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. William Wake) desiring to have the Matter explained to him, he (Bishop Jablonsky) did it in a circumstantial Deduction thereof, wherewith his Grace was fully satisfied.' Which Deduction is printed in Dr. Pfaffius, Chancellor of the University of Tubingen, his Book, De Successione Episcopali.

They also produced,
No. 9. An Extract of an Instrument attested by a Publick Notary, delivered to the High Commission of the King of Poland in 1732. wherein it is declared, 'That these Brethren are the true Offspring of the old Moravian Constitution.'

To

To prove which Fact they also produced,
 No. 10. The Dedication of Bishop Amos's Catechism; which was dedicated to the Brethren of the very Towns where the Brethren of Herrnhuth are come from.

The Deputies then produced,
 No. 11. An attested Copy, by their Register, of a Conference held at Westminster, between the late Archbishop Potter and their Advocate: Wherein the late Archbishop declared, 'That the 'Objections against the Moravian Church were frivolous: That 'no Englishman, who had any Notion of Ecclesiastical History, 'could doubt of their Succession: That, for his Particular, he 'was fully persuaded, that they, with the utmost Hazard, if 'Need were, ought to vindicate and defend the Constitution 'of the Moravian Church.'

They farther produced,
 No. 12. An authentic Copy of a Report from a Committee of the Associates of the late Dr. Bray for propagating Christianity amongst the Negroes, appointed to wait on his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury: Wherein his Grace declared, 'That the Moravian Brethren were an Apostolical and Episcopal Church, not sustaining any Doctrines repugnant to the XXXIX. Articles of 'the Church of England.'

They also produced,
 No. 13. A Declaration of the Reverend Mr. Boehler: Setting forth, 'That, in consequence of his Grace's Opinion, he and the 'Rev. Mr. Schulius were presented by the said Associates to his 'Grace, as Missionaries of the Moravian Church, and employed 'by the said Associates to instruct the Negroes in South Carolina.' Which Papers are all hereunto annexed.

They also produced,
 No. 14—19. Four original Letters of the late King of Prussia, and Two of Bishop Jablonsky, previous to the Consecration of Bishop Ludovicus: Which set forth, 'That his Majesty himself 'inquired into the Matter; and that it was effected after mature 'Consideration and Examination,' in consequence of a strong Opposition; and that the Right Reverend Bishop Jablonsky, the 'Polish Bishop Sitkovius, and the Moravian Bishop David Nitschmann, joined in the Transaction.' Berlin, May 20th, 1737.

Which

Which Letter of the King of Prussia to the Two Deans of Berlin, bearing Date the 9th May 1737. is as follows :

‘ Reverend, &c.

‘ I Learned, with Satisfaction, out of your Report concerning the Count Zinzendorff, that you found no other Doctrine held by him, but what is taught in the Protestant Church, &c.
‘ Potsdam, the 9th May.

FREDERICK WILLIAM.’

The Five other Letters are annexed.

They also produced,

No. 20. The Instrument of Consecration of Bishop Ludovicus (here annexed), and the Congratulation of the King of Prussia, and Archbishop of Canterbury, 1737. which are as followeth :

His Majesty the King of Prussia's Congratulation.

Right Honourable, Dearly-beloved Lord Count,

IT was with Satisfaction I learned, that, according to your Desire, you have been consecrated Bishop of the Moravian Brethren, and, tho’ in private, yet in the Presence of some Deputies of the same: That this Transaction may turn out to the Glory of Almighty God, and the Salvation of many Souls, is my Heart’s Desire. I am always

Your very affectionate,

Potsdam, May 21. 1737.

No. 47. A Letter from them to Mr. Causton, Magistrate at Savannah, dated the 3d of August 1737.) 'That Justice should be done them, and they should be exempted from carrying Arms.' But many of them, not being willing to give Uneasiness to others, by availing themselves of that Exemption, withdrew from that Colony.

They also produced,

No. 48. A Letter from Conrad Weisser, Esq; a Justice of the Peace, and Interpreter to the five Nations, to one of the Brethren in Shekomeko, in 1743. testifying, 'That he respected them greatly, that they were also beloved and respected by the Indians for their Behaviour amongst them.' As also,

S I R,

S I R,

‘ THE Deputies of the Moravian Brethren having desired
 ‘ me to certify to you the Behaviour of those settled in ‘ Pensylvania, I am to inform you, that about Eight Years ago
 ‘ one of the Brethren purchased a Tract of Land containing Five ‘ thousand Acres, and settled on it, and another Tract, several ‘ Hundred People, who have built Two Towns, made good Im‘ provements, and live quietly among their Neighbours.

 ‘ since for Pensylvania; they appeared healthy, able-bodied ‘ People, and very fit to settle a new Country.

‘ As I apprehend they will make good useful Subjects, I can‘ not but wish them all reasonable Encouragement, especially ‘ when I consider their Endeavours to civilize the Indians, and ‘ to make them acquainted with Principles of Religion, may ‘ ——— much strengthen the English Interest among those People.’

‘ I am,’ S I R,

Spring-Garden,
 February 21, 1748.

Your most obedient Servant,

THOMAS PENN.

Then there was produc’d,

No. 54. *An Act of Parliament, of the 20th Year of his Majesty
 King George II. for extending certain Provisions, &c. to Foreign Protestants, who conscientiously scruple the taking an Oath:* In the Preamble of which is recited, ‘ That many of those called the ‘ Moravian Brethren are settled in his Majesty’s Colonies in ‘ America, and demean themselves there as a sober, quiet, and ‘ industrious People.’

IV.

With Regard to their being numerous.

They produced to your Committee,
 No. 55. A Narrative concerning the Number of the Brethren, extracted from their Archives, attested by John Frederick Frank, Register of their Church: ' That the Brethren amount to above

' 20,000, not including those under the Age of 14, and also
' those _____ in the Sclavonian Countries,
' and other Places.

' But it is not from hence only that they hope to establish nu' merous Colonies, but they send them out in such a manner,
' and such Proportions, that hitherto they have hardly been ' missed in the Places from whence they have removed. They ' are People which deeply abhor the being liable to Alterations
' from the mere Humours of Superiors, where there are no
' Laws; which Reason has made many of them withdraw them' selves from their own Countries, and leave their Properties,
' and beautiful and well-situated Places, which they themselves
' had built, rather than dispute by Course of Law their Claims;
' and this Temper of Mind makes great Numbers of them choose
' to remove into those Dominions which are ruled by Law, and
' where they cannot be molested by the mere Wills of others;
' and in all Places where they have established themselves, they ' have made the Liberty of Removal a Preliminary Article.'

V.

As to their being possessed of Substance.

They produced,

No. 56. A Narrative signed by Abrah. Gersdorff, Senior Poli-ticus, setting forth, ' That altho' the Substance of the Brethren,
' with regard to some Countries, is not to be demonstrated, yet
' appears clearly by the Charge the Advocate has given to the ' General Deacon's Office of his Brethren, That the Brethren
' possess a great Extent of Land, _____
' _____: That one eminent Family amongst them has, in
' the Space of Ten Years, not only supported all the outlandish
' Colonies

Colonies upon its own Charges, and in other respects expended for the Publick many 100,000 Florins, but ——— has also, before the laying down of his Office, which he had administred for 25 Years, assigned for discharging the Debts of the General Oeconomy, a Fund of One Million and a half of Florins, besides expending in publick Buildings and Places more than half a Million.

VI.

As to their being industrious.

No. 57. They produced several Certificates, which they proved by their Register, to shew, ' That in the Year 1722, they bought a Settlement for 30,000 Dollars, which they improved to so great a Degree, that in 1732, it was valued in the publick Register at 70,000; and in 1742, at 100,000 Rixdollars: That, at a Place in the same Neighbourhood, they improved a Piece of Ground, which 20 Years ago was no better than a mere Waste, into most useful and beautiful Gardens and Meadows———

' And another Certificate to prove, That during the War in Silesia the Moravian Brethren (who upon Invitation from the King of Prussia had newly settled there) did within Three Years build Two fine Villages, and a Suburb to Newsalze, one of which was built when the Armies lay ——— both within the Territory of the Proprietor; which nevertheless gave no Interruption to the Work.'

VII.

To shew that they want no pecuniary Assistance.

They referred to the Narrative of Abraham Gersdorff, in which they made appear, that they are possessed of Substance.

And

And also produced,

No. 58. A Letter of the Count of Zinzendorff to the Dowager Princess of Orange; which sheweth, 'That, upon their purchasing Lands in her Barony of Ysselstein, the Count insisted, 'that no pecuniary Assistance should be given to any of his 'People.'

VIII.

And to prove, that the Brethren should have made larger Settlements in America, if earlier supported,

They produced an Account (proved by their Register)

No. 59. Of the Disbursements which have been made in other Places since the Resolution of Bishop Ludovicus to transfer his Brethren and their Substance into the English Colonies had been frustrated, amounting to about 200,000*l.* 'by the Diversion of which 'Sum, that the above-mentioned Nobleman would have converted to the sole Use of settling in the English Colonies, the 'said Colonies have been Losers, not to mention the Harm which 'arose to the Whole from the personal Dissipation of the Colonists in different private Settlements.'

Then they produced,

No. 60. A Letter of the whole Body of the Silesian Menonists to Count Zinzendorff, dated 1734. And also,

No. 61. Extract of a Letter to warn the People who design to transplant themselves to America, and to recall those already gone. And also, land—and by his most Excellent Majesty Charles the II^d's special Orders, recommended under the Hands of his Grace William Sancroft, Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, and Henry Compton, Lord Bishop of London, to all pious and compassionate Christians: In which Address it is set forth ' That the Bohemian Church has been

' free, from her Infancy, for almost Seven hundred Years: —
' At last, being ready to expire, she brought forth a Benoni, a
' Progeny, which, growing up in the several Parts of Bohemia,
' animated and acted by one and the same Spirit, obtained the ' Name of Unitas Fratrum, Fraternal Unity — as it appears by
' Lafitius, and other Authors.'*

*' That this Fraternity, the Heiress of the truly antient Faith,
' watered and enriched with the Blood of Huss and Jerom of ' Prague, her famous Martyrs, taking deep Root in Bohemia,
' spread its Boughs as far as Poland—and preserved the Suc' cession of Episcopal Order.'*

*' That this Church in Poland continued for many Years pro' sperous under the Encouragements of several Privileges granted
' and confirmed of diverse Kings and Princes; but not being able ' to contend with the more potent Strength — she was bereft of ' her former Protection.'*

*' That it was through the Bounty of the English Church they ' were formerly saved from a fatal Ruin; but that after so great ' Suffering they have scarce recovered their Spirits; having also ' lost the Assistance of the Secular Power, which for some Time
' supported them.'*

' That they saved their Lives; but lost their Strength.'

' That they have been deserted by the Great Men, who were ' weary and ashamed of the Cross of Christ——.'

*' That after this Manner some of their most eminent Churches
' (against ratified and established Privileges by publick Law)
' have been forced out of their Hands.'*

' the 10th February, 1683.'*

‘ cause Letters Patents to be prepared, and passed the Great Seal
 ‘ in the usual Manner, for the Collection of the Charity of all
 ‘ well-disposed Persons, for Relief of the said poor Sufferers, ‘ throughout Great-Britain, or such Part thereof as their Agents

Attested by

WM. SHARP.

Then they produced

His late Majesty's Letters Patents to all Archbishops, Bishops, &c. in pursuance of the said Order; Part whereof is as follows :

‘ Whereas it has been represented unto Us, as well upon the humble
 ‘ Petition of the Bishops and Clergy of the Reformed Episcopal Churches first settled in Bohemia, and since forced, by Persecutions, to retire into the Greater Poland and Polish Prussia, XIII.

To prove, That the Brethren are a quiet-minded
 People, who desire nothing more than to possess
 Liberty of Conscience, without Restraint,

They referred to a Narrative of Baron Gerfsdorff their Senior Politicus, No. 31. ‘ That when in Germany, and in many other Pro‘ testant Provinces, the Longing after their Ministry, was so great,
 ‘ that several Thousand People were committed to their Care by
 ‘ the proper Guardians of the said Congregations, they carefully ‘ avoided the Coalescing of those Protestant Congregations with ‘ their Episcopal Constitution.’

They also referred to the Letters Patents of King Edward the Sixth, ‘ That, because they would not dispute with the Low
 ‘ Dutch, who got Possession of the Church of Austin Friars, ‘ they have not claimed their Right to the said Church, which ‘ was granted to them by the said King Edward the Sixth’ (whose Letters Patents are annexed under, No. 87.)

They also produced the following Vouchers to prove how they have behaved about the several Commissions they found themselves intrusted with these Twenty-five Years past, and on the several Occasions, when Multitudes of religious People threw themselves, with the utmost Fervency, into their Care; and how they are used to act towards Constitutions already established, when it appears to them, that the Privileges to be granted to them may prove unfruitful, if not prejudicial, to the present
 Conveniency of those Constitutions.

G

XVI. & XVII.

To prove that the strongest Argument to induce the most useful of their Brethren (meaning Tradesmen, Farmers, and other useful Persons), to go over to America, will be the granting them such proper and solid Encouragement as may render their Condition in America at least as quiet and peaceable as in the Places where they now reside, that they have no occasion to make any Agreement for themselves, and can give to the Subjects belonging to their Church whatever they please; or they dwell upon Farms that have been mortgaged to them; or they are served as in the West, or the borders of Mexico, and in the conquered Spanish Provinces; in which last Case they support themselves with the very same Pa-

The Extract of the VOCATION, or SECOND CALL (under No 3.), presented to His Excellency Count Zinzendorff, to be Advocate and Guardian of the Bohemian and Moravian Churches (the First having been given about Seven Years before).

In the Lord JESUS highly respected and beloved Lord Count !

THOUGH our dearest Saviour Jesus Christ has made a sure Promise to the Congregation, which he has gathered by his Word and Spirit here and there upon Earth, and out of all Nations, Tongues, and Dialects, which Promise also he faithfully fulfilleth at all times, that he would never leave it, but continue with it daily till to the End of the World ; and though he himself declared, One is your Master, even Christ ; but you are all Brethren ; and though each in particular can depend upon his gracious Care and Government ; and it is plainly said of the Congregation of the New Covenant, that one would not teach the other, and say, Know the Lord ; but they shall all know him, from the Smallest to the Greatest : Yet the Holy Scriptures, in the New Testament, as well as the Practice of the Primitive and purest Congregations of the Lord, prove, that he himself has made in the Congregation, as well mediately as immediately, some to be Apostles, Prophets, and Teachers ; some as Helpers, Rulers, and Overseers, &c. For which End, he distributes to each his particular Gifts, for the general Use, and for the Edification of his whole Body ; which, though it has but One Head, and is ruled but by One Spirit, yet has many and various Members, whereof each is of a particular Kind, Capacity, and Employment, but all which in their Order and Connexion compose and represent but One complete, well-shaped, and neat Body.

Now this good Saviour having called and made even us to be a Congregation in this Place; and having deigned us his quite special Government of Grace; and having also fitted out and prepared some Members of ours with particular Gifts, for the Administration of the whole Work; therefore we acknowledge the same with humblest Reverence, and with heartiest Thanks. And having been sufficiently convinced all this while, in so many different Opportunities, Trials, and Difficulties, both in Times of Peace and Rest, and in emergent Dangers from within and without, that our dear Saviour approveth of you, dear Count, in a particular Manner, your Grace being endowed by the Lord with Gifts, Insight, Faithfulness, Courage, and Zeal, both in general in the Practice of the Doctrine of Jesus Christ and his Imitation, and particularly in ruling and edifying of the whole Congregation, preferably before all the rest; and you having approved yourself accordingly; as also you being best and most solidly informed of the whole Connexion, Rise, and Progress of the Moravian Brethrens Unity, by a strict Search into the authentic Documents thereof; and yourself having evidently shewed us that proper Intention which the Lord has with us, and having taught the true Gospel of Jesus Christ with Power and Energy; having supplied us, from time to time, with the most edifying Ways for good Christian Order and Decency; defended them against all Contradiction; prevented and turned aside all hurtful Mixtures; wisely made an End of all Quarrels and Disputes about Opinions, having indefatigably been employed in pointing us out that simplest and purest Foundation of our Happiness, Jesus Christ, in his atoning Offering of an eternal Value, to take hold thereof in Faith, and to acknowledge it in Obedience of Faith, presenting clearly before our Eyes him whom we had felt in our Hearts a long while before, but never plainly known; and that with so much Grace and Wisdom, that not only we amongst ourselves had no Schisms or Sects, but also, notwithstanding our said Orders, were in no-ways obliged (tho' walking with an unblemished Character all the while) to exclude or cut off from our Fellowship any Person of another Set of Evangelic People or Religion, who was regenerated thro' Faith on the crucified Saviour, and chooseth his Example and his Doctrines as the only Pattern which he copieth by, and desireth, thro' the Blood of the Lamb, and the Word of his Testimony, and the free Professing of that Grace and Truth which is in Christ Jesus, continually to overcome the Evil-one, and not to love his own Life till unto Death; nay, as you have laid aside all your temporal and outward Privileges, and also your Station in the King's Court, came to live amongst us, purely for our Congregation's sake, in order to be able to watch and to mind how all Detriment could be prevented, and all true Emendation and Settling in Grace, and in Righteousness, be encouraged; and, even for the sake of our outward Safety, and quiet Habitation here, have ventured your Life, and went in Person to Moravia, to intercede for us, and spoke for us with regard to our going out; lastly, as you have, more than any body else, a true and precise Knowledge of all and each Member of this Congregation, knowing best how to advise and to assist every one of them, for which Purpose you never spared your Trouble neither Day nor Night; and thus have intirely devoted your Life and Soul, Possessions and all, for the Service of the Congregation, and even therein strive perpetually to be more faithful and assiduous; we can plainly perceive, and are thoroughly convinced, that the Lord God has particularly chosen you for it, and, from his Heavens, has called and fitted you out to be and approve yourself as a faithful Guardian and Overseer of this our Congregation; yea, you have, in Reality, always been so to us.

It is true, we have been obliged to suffer, that, for some Years past, you did suspend the same in some respects, for the sake of several Incidents in your Circumstances; but, as these Reasons are now at an End, and as those amongst us, who labour with you in Fellowship in the Service of the Congregation, observed, with great Regret, that many Things have either been stopped thereby, or are intirely intirely dropped, which could and ought very well to have been done, we can no longer delay to desire your faithful Help and Assistance afresh, in the most Brother-like Manner.

Therefore, dearest and gracious Count, it is the unanimous and humble Desire and Request of our whole Congregation, that in this Instance you would let the general Welfare prevail over your well-known Humility of Heart, and willingly and simply accept of the unanimous public Call from the Congregation, wherein you have been a long while ago confirmed by the Lord as to the inward Substance; and henceforward administer the whole Office of our Warden and Advocate in all respects, according to the Wisdom and Faithfulness God has given you. We can assure you, that it is the upright Intention of us all, that (as long as you shall continue in Purity and Faithfulness towards our Saviour Christ Jesus, and abide in his simple Truth, as we do not at all doubt) every one shall, by the Grace of our Lord, willingly and gladly obey you in all the Regulations you shall find proper to make from time to time for the Benefit of the Congregation, to its better grounding and establishing in Grace, and for the better Order and Discipline. And to that End we wish you, from our most precious Redeemer, a rich Increase in Grace, Love, Humility, Meekness, Patience; as also of Wisdom, Zeal, Courage, and Power; recommending all of us to your brotherly Love and Faithfulness. But here it is not at all our Intention to bind you to us only, so as not to serve even other Souls: But after the Regulation of our Congregation shall have been completed, and every thing brought in Order, we shall be glad to see you following that Hint, or Call, or Inclination, which the Lord's Providence perhaps would give you from time to time, to bring forth Fruit in the whole Spiritual Kingdom of our Master; and to serve and advise even other Christian People or Congregations with that Gift which is given you: And we will endeavour, during your Journeys and Absences, faithfully to execute what belongeth to us, each in the Office and Employment commended to him, that you in your Turn may labour so much more gladly and undisturbedly in the Work of the Lord, and so much more willingly may continue your Office amongst us for Life. And even in case our dear Saviour should please, according to his holy Will, some time or other to fetch you to himself, we will leave it to your Choice to nominate a Person whom you shall think proper, whether it be out of our own or another Evangelic Congregation, whom you shall think fit before God and your own Conscience, and shall declare him worthy to succeed you in your Office.

May Jesus Christ, our chief Shepherd and Spiritual King, bless you with a full Blessing from above! May he tread Satan under your and our Feet! And may he sanctify us to himself throughout! And through his Grace and Assistance we shall be and remain

Our very dear and respected Count's, and faithful Advocate's,

II.

Extract of the renewed Appointment or Vocation of the General Synod of all the Brethrens Churches, given in the Year 1743. to the Right Rev. Bishop Ludovicus (sub No. 2.).

THERE has no Answer been given to your Grace in Writing, with respect to the Declaration you made to our Brother Jonas Paul Weifs about laying down your Office: But, by the Endeavours and Progress of the Moravian Brethren in their Church Affairs occurring during your Absence, there has, in the mean time, been Answer enough suggested; and that it is yet quite unseasonable to grant you the desired Rest, and intire laying down of your Office with our Cross's Congregation.—After you have been so successful in your Design, not only to keep back the dear Moravian People hitherto from setting up a System of their own, and a Church separated from other Flocks of Christ, but also to make use so timely of the peculiar Situation of the little Church, which, out of so many Sects and Religions, had, under the Favour of the Moravian Institutions, returned together to the fundamental Principles of the first Protestant Confessors, that now again one sees upon Earth a free Congregation of God, a συνάγωγη ἐπὶ Χριστῷ, which, without Law or Rule, stands in One Spirit and Soul; and which can call no one its Father upon Earth, because One is its Father in Heaven, and they are all Brethren.—Has it not been effected through the Grace of Jesus, and your Ministry, that our Congregation is fixed and sunk down on the only Foundation, Jesus and his Blood? Was it not you who from the Beginning insisted on it, that the Congregation of God in the Spirit, i. e. the old universal Congregation of Jesus for these 1700 Years, should not be confounded with the Moravian Hierarchy, and its Constitution, when it came among us, and we, out of Love, have undertook to care for it? Have you not heartily opposed the Moravian Church's being kept distinct; and rather suspended the Rights exercised by them Sixty Years before all other Protestant Churches? &c.

We set and establish you therefore once more, and now as before, with good Consideration, in the Name of our God Jesus Christ, his Father and Holy Spirit, to be a fully-impowered Servant (or Advocate) and Householder (or Steward) of us, within and without, at Home and in the Pilgrimage, in Christendom and among the Heathens, in such a Manner and Sense, that not only without your Foreknowledge nothing new respecting the Foundation shall come up in our Congregations, nor any Conclusion of Importance to the Whole shall be valid; but also no further Story shall be built upon your fundamental Plan of the Protestant Doctrine of the Augsburg Confession, and that ἀληθεύειν ἐν ἀγάπῃ with all Christians, without consulting you. On the other Hand, since we know, that we have received the Grace of the pure Doctrine, and of the Sinner-like Blessedness and Godliness in the bloody Footsteps of the Lamb of God, thro' your joint lending a Hand; and, in general, the whole Plan of our blessed Institutions has been carried on, not without your Assistance at least, from the first Lineaments till thus far: Therefore we authorize you, by virtue of this general Power, to proceed therein so much the more securely, as your Actions alone, as yet, are of an original Kind.—It is not only proper, but necessary, to nominate to us your Successor: Therefore you will not neglect the eventual Designation of such a one, forasmuch as you can't be ignorant how many Dangers and Trials your Pilgrimage is exposed to above others, &c.

The Congregation of the Lamb of God, which for these Three hundred Years have been called The Brethren.

That this Vocation has duly been executed, and signed by the several Orders, and delivered to his Grace's own Hands, Nov. 21, 1743. Witness, POLYCARP, Episc. Senior.

III.

*A true Extract of the Acceptation of the said VOCATION in the ensuing

Most Reverend, Reverend, Noble, and Worthy Brethren!

YOU know, from my constant Practice, that I look upon your outward Constitution in no other Light, than another religious Polity; in which respect, one can at all times, in Antiquity and established Rights, either ballance or outweigh the other: But the inward Value, which is not to be measured by any external Privileges, remains temporary, and of an ambulatory Nature. You have an important Rank among the Protestant Church-Disciplines, which, at present, subsist in a certain Form; namely, you are the oldest of all: You do not yield much to any in Acuteness and Capacity; and it is not possible, that any one can be present at a Synod, without perceiving, that that which makes People to be a Sect, and is the real Bane of all religious Constitutions, is fully overpowered by Truth, Simplicity, and Discernment till now, &c. As soon as the Moravian Church affects a Lordship, even only so far as in former Times, in some Places and Provinces, she really had it, immediately we have done with each other; and I shall not give myself the Trouble to patronize them in this, &c. I must, in my Manner of acting, suit myself to the Threefold Tropus, which the Moravian Discipline, without all Affectation, has, and is obliged to have, &c.

I myself should have done you no Service, if I had, by an affected Simplicity, left these τρόπος παιδείας (which have so plainly and spontaneously distinguished themselves according to the Threefold Ideas of Education), mixed and confused together; which Way would, perhaps, have supported itself some-how, so long as I, or some other First-fruits, were yet in the Body; but, after our going Home, would infallibly degenerate, either into a Latitudinarian Hodge-podge, or into fierce Disputing.

As to my own Persuasion, I have not much here to say. You all know my Sentiments in Religion: I hold the fundamental Principles of Luther. I lay not only the Words of the Confessors as the Foundation of my Discourses, which also a Partizan of another religious Denomination may perchance do, but their real, true, and uniform Meaning; and keep this constantly in my Eye, even amidst the most free, round, and, on account of their Directness, paradoxical Expressions, &c. I also see not the least Scruple why I should not serve the common Cause among all the Three Tropus's, as long as I am in Europe, yea, as long as I live; since even the Ruin thereof (which, I hope, will not happen) could not excuse me from this Duty, &c.

Finally, I protest now as formerly, that I account your very antient, and so often successfully amended Constitution, as a Wonder of Divine Grace, and an indispensable Piece of his Church-Oeconomy in the Whole; and will gladly further spend myself under the said Modification, especially if the Declaration of the old Brethren is always kept in mind, in Historia Læstii Fratrum Bohemorum, p. m. 346. “Protestamur “constanter, hoc unum esse (DISCIPLINAM) quod patres nostros etiam post “accensam alibi Evangelii facem, in suâ singularitate detinuit, nosque detinet; si “impetrare possumus, ut illi nobiscum, quid ad Evangelii gratiam perfectè dispen- “sandam desit, agnoscant, finem hâc parte dissensionum fore pollicemur. Desinant “cæteri Evangelici de Evangelio rixari, et incipiant secundum Evangelium vivere, “utque ab omnibus Christo sacratis (addo, vel tales se profitentibus) vita Christianis “digna exigi possit, tribunal Christi inter se ad leges ipsius Christi erigant; nos “peculiares cætus esse desinemus. Pereant sectæ, nostra etiam! modo non pereat “quod usquam boni est, sed collectum in communem Ecclesiæ thesaurum commune
“fit, &c.”

That a Christian Divine, a Divine of the Cross, a Divine of Peace and Truth, may, in the mean time, lose nothing; as about which (even tho' one goes ever so timorously and softly to Work, to the Degree of spending not only some Reflection upon all false and erroneous Spirits, but even of sitting for a while, as I, out of a certain high-strained Candour, have done, at their very Feet) a solid Mind must necessarily be thoughtful after all: To this end, he must, as it were, intrench himself to the very Eyes behind the Doctrine of our Saviour's Sufferings; behind the general Principles; behind the simplest Modifications of divine Truths; and behind a rational and invincible Chain of indisputable Sayings of Scripture; so that he can truly say with Alacrity of Conscience, Here I stand; I can do no otherwise: God help me! &c.

Now, highly honoured Sirs and Brethren! may my Lord Jesus bless you as his dear Inheritance, intercede for you with his heavenly Father, preserve you from all destructive Persecutions from without, and, through his Holy Spirit, from all Siftings from within; among which I always reckon the being great, the needless extending one's self abroad, and a Donatism, though ever so well supported. God prevent this for the Sake of his Cross's Plan. Amen. I remain

Your faithful and well-known Servant in the Lord,

Ludovicus, Ep. m. pr.

The Narrative about the Name and Church of the Brethren (under No 5.)

WE do not here enter into antient Times: This belongs partly to that Head, Antient Church known; partly it is too prolix, and too much mixed with Criticism, for us to trouble the Committee with it.

The present Ordinary did, according to the Advice of a great Prelate of the English Church, resolve to go on with the Succession; and, for that End, did not only receive Episcopal Consecration himself from the Hands of the old Bohemian Bishop Jablonsky, and the Moravian Bishop David Nitschmann, and also with Concurrence of the still living Polish Bishop Christian Sitcovijs, May 1737. but, after the Decease of the late senior Bishop Dr. Ernest Jablonsky, being chosen himself to be Ordinary of the United Churches, and also their Advocate, he, in the former Quality, always assisted by Two of his Colleagues, continued to confer Orders on other Prelates, in order to preserve the lawful Succession, the last of whom, the R. R. Bishop John, Son of the Baron of Watteville, chosen at the General Synod at Zeyst, 1746. and consecrated in the following Synod at Herrnhaag, May 1747. adhibito Ordinarii Consilio, enabled the acting Brethren to the last Transaction with the Court of Saxony in the Month of August 1748. He is presumptive Successor of the R. R. Bishop Lewis, in the Quality of Ordinary.

And now to come to the Reasons why the so-called Bohemian and Moravian Churches desire to be known by their original Denomination; viz. The Protestant Episcopal Churches of the Unitas Fratrum, or United Brethren.

There are no more than Two Episcopal Churches amongst Protestants; the one known through all the World under the Name of Ecclesia Anglicana; the other characterized for at least Three Ages as the Unitas Fratrum, comprehending generally all other Protestants, who chose Episcopal Constitution. The First is the only one which may justly claim the Title of a National Church; because she has at her Head a Christian King of the same Rite; which Circumstance is absolutely required for to constitute a National Church.

The other Episcopal one, known by the Name of Unitas Fratrum, is far from pretending to that Title.

A Moravian is an Inhabitant of the Country of the same Name. The Moravian Bishoprick is in the Hands of a Roman Catholic Prelate, who resides at Olmütz, and is also a Prince of the Empire.

The

The Brethren, in whose Hands the Direction of the United Churches actually resides, are truly of Austrian, Bobemian, and Moravian Extraction; but, having left their Properties, in order to enjoy an undisturbed Peace of Conscience, decline a Name, which confounds them frequently with a Religion they are intirely Strangers to: The Danger of which Confusion has, upon an odious Occurrence, manifested itself in the Ideas of many People, and was the very Reason of our last Persecution in Albany, which raged terribly before it was stopped by the Justice of the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of Trade and Plantations.

As often as there is any Mention made of an Episcopal Protestant Church throughout Bobemia, Poland, Prussia, Germany, and the United Provinces, every body knows, that it means our Brethren. The only Country, where it would be necessary to subjoin some Characteristic to that Denomination, would be the Realm of Great Britain, and the Dominions thereunto belonging; the Ecclesiastical Constitution of that Monarchy being Episcopal, and National καὶ ἐθνικὴ; which latter (as is said) the Brethren's Church cannot be, nor do they desire it.

The famous Instrument presented to the Emperor Rudolphus 1609. called Ratio Disciplinae et Ordinis, &c. says in its Preface, as P. 5. “Appellabant totam Congregationem UNITATEM FRATRUM, quemadmodum et haecenus.” P. 7. “Iussi sunt FRATRUM Patroni et Seniores exhibere, &c. et tandem in subscriptione, Seniores et Ministri UNITATIS FRATRUM.”

But it seemeth needless to make more Allegations in this behalf, when we are enabled to support our Petition with uniting the Denominations, which the Kings and State of this Realm have given to our Constitution in these last Years; when the last Act of Parliament* distinguishes our People from the other Protestant Denominations by our antient Name of Brethren; in pursuance of that gracious Order His late Majesty King George the First issued in Council in behalf of our then suffering People in different Countries; which Congregations His Majesty is pleased to call, as well in the said gracious Order, as in the Letters Patent, Protestant and Episcopal Churches; the happy Continuation of which appears by the uninterrupted brotherly Correspondence of both Churches, carried on by the Primates of all England with our Bishops.

Therefore the Syndic of the Brethren is in hopes, that he is in the right in claiming the general Title of the Protestant Episcopal Churches, known by the Name of Unitas Fratrum; which indeed came formerly and originally out of Moravia and Bobemia; but removed into Prussia, Poland, Silesia, and Lusatia, and lately into Germany, the United Provinces, and the British Dominions.

The DECLARATION out of a Treatise [called Epistola Apologetica Historiae Consensus Sendomiriensis ad Rev. Dm. de Mauclere] of Dr. Ernest Jablonsky, Ecclesiastical Council, and Dean of the Chapel, to the late King of Prussia and his Two Predecessors, Commissary over all the Reformed Churches, President of the Royal Society at Berlin, eldest Bishop of the Churches called Unitas Fratrum, and Director of the same in Poland and Prussia. Printed for Haude at Berlin, 1731. (No. 6.)

Most noble Count of the Empire, my gracious Lord,

MR. Riedel has, in your Excellency's Name, communicated to me some Months ago (but I have been hindered by Sickneſs a good Part of the time ſince) Three valuable Pieces. The Firſt was a Collection of various Poems, Epithalamiums, &c. but which were exceeding edifying, and of quite another Taſte than the common Art of Poetry is wont to produce: The Second was a Chriſtian Vindication of the Ebersdorf Edition of the Bible: And the Third contained the Hiſtory of the renewed Appearance of the Kingdom of Chriſt about the Year 1722. in Upper Luſatia. The Two firſt, after peruſing them with much Profit and Satisfaction, I have returned to Mr. Riedel: The Third I have ſtill by me, my Amanuenſis having not finiſhed the tranſcribing of it; but I ſhall ſhortly in like manner reſtore it. I am highly obliged to your Excellency for all the Three, and return my humble Thanks for the manifold Edification I have drawn out of them; and pray to God, graciouſly to confirm your agreeable Seat, which he hath ſet up as a Light in a dark Place, in the miſt of a crooked and perverſe Generation; and to ſupport the ſame in full Shine and Luſtre, for the Conviction and Furtherance of many Souls. Amen.

Further, I beg the Liberty moſt humbly to preſent the following Treatiſe to your Excellence; which I the rather do, becauſe your Excellence will obſerve therein, how the good old Bohemian Brethren, for more than a Century and a Half, have with great Labour purſued that, and endeavoured after it, which your Excellency has found and actually brought to paſs in Herrnbuth; namely, that the Evangelical Brethren do dwell there together in Unity; and there is only One Shepherd and One Fold there. 'Tis true, as the Undertakings in that Place have their Opponents, ſo alſo this peaceable little Book will probably meet with ſuch Aſſailants, who hate Peace (Pſ. cxx. 6.): Yet herein our Saviour's Saying comforts me, Bleſſed are the Peace-makers, for they ſhall be called the Children of God.

To conclude: I wiſh your Excellency, and the Congregation of happy Herrnbuth, all heavenly Bleſſings in ſpiritual (and, ſo far as it is conducive, in bodily) things, as being,

Moſt Noble Count,

Berlin, April

21. 1731.

Your Excellency's moſt obedient and obliged Servant,

Dan. Erneſt Jablonsky.

VII.

Extract of the Letter of the late Bishop Jablonsky to his Excellency Count Zinzendorf (sub No. 8.)

AS for the reſt, it is quite impoſſible for me to expreſs the great and inward Pleaſure of my Heart, which I found in thoſe Accounts your Grace was pleaſed to favour me with. I ſeemed to myſelf, in reading them thro', to have got a Proſpect of of the apostolical Life of the Primitive Christians, or else to see the Regulations of the old Bobemian and Moravian Brethren, which were much after their Pattern, now revived, and appearing before the Eyes of the World.

What had been looked on, perhaps, as a Respublica Platonica, or a Thing which one might sooner wish than expect, that your Excellency has made possible by means of this Regulation; yea, actually presented.

May the glorious God, who is wonderful in his Dealings, and who has planted such a noble Vine under the Protection of your Excellency; may he keep his Eyes open over it from above, and cultivate it with his Right Hand, to be a Conviction to the decaying Christendom, and an Example to follow after till to the End of Days, &c.

Now I look with great Desire for still more Accounts; which I shall only make use of for the Honour of God, and the Edification of Christians.

As concerning your Excellency's Question, Whether I have Conveniency to put by safely such Writings as should be communicated to me? my House is safe enough in case of Fire, as much as any one in this City: But, besides this, I intend to order Matters so, that in case of my falling sick, or leaving this Vale of Misery, the said Writings be deposited in the King's Library, to wait for your Excellency's further Orders.

As touching the Succession of Episcopal Consecration, the Bobemian Brethren have got their Ordination from the Waldenses, about the Year 1467. and have kept the same carefully, and without Interruption. Now in the great Exile in the Year 1548. a large Colony of the Brethren being come to Great Poland, and having settled there many Protestant Congregations, there were also Bishops sent unto them from Bobemia: And from that time the Unity of the Brethren, and of their Bishops, was divided into Two Branches, the Bobemian and the Polish; however, so as to look upon them as one and the same Church: And the Seniors in Great Poland (so the Bishops were generally called) were, for the most part, ordained in the Synods kept in Bobemia: In which manner it went on till to the last Exile in the Year 1620. when the Bobemian Branch ceased intirely.

In a Dedication to Charles II. King of Great Britain, in the Year 1660. my Grandfather J. A. Comenius stiled himself, Reliquiarum Ecclesiae Fratrum Bobemorum Episcopus indignus, solus adhuc superstes. He understood there the Bobemian Branch, because that in Poland was at that time in a good Condition, and had its Seniors. But as the Bobemian Exiles arrived in Poland in great Number, forming to themselves still some sweet Hopes of returning into their own Country, it was agreed on, in a Synod kept at Mielencin in Great Poland in the Year 1662. that for their Benefit there should be another Senior ordained in spe contra spem: Which accordingly was done there the 5th of November, when the Lot decided it for my Father, Comenius's Son-in-Law. This has been, properly speaking, the last Bishop of the Bobemian and Moravian Branch; particularly about the time of his Death, 1670. when the Number of the Exiles was much decreased, the rest had coagulated with the Poles, and the Hopes for returning into their own Country were seemingly vanished away. But the Polish Branch exists to this very Day, God be praised for it! I obtained the Episcopal Ordination the 10th of March 1699. at the Synod at Lissa in Great Poland, where I went on purpose for the same, with the most gracious Leave and Consent of our then Frederick the IIIrd of blessed Memory. Because of my living without the Country, there have been hitherto Two Bishops in Poland; the one David Cassius, residing at Lissa; the other at Zycklin, till last Year, when the last-mentioned died: But we are still about it, that even whilst I am alive there may be another ordained, conservandæ Successionis ergo.

About Twelve Years ago it happened, that some Enemies of the Protestant Churches in general took an Opportunity to publish in England, even in Print, that the Bobemian Brethren had never had any lawful Bishops, nor even now had any, &c. The Archbishop of Canterbury desiring therefore to have the Matter explained to him, I did it in a circumstantial Deduction thereof; wherewith also the said Archbishop was satisfied.

Extract of an Instrument of the Brethren, among the printed Records of the Moravian Church, Vol. I. (under No. 9.)

WE at Herrnhuth hold, that the Moravian Brethrens Church, from whom we in a direct Line are descended [which appears by the Brethrens Catechism published in the last Century, and dedicated by Name to our Ancestors in the very Congregations and Villages from whence we came: "To all the godly Sheep of Christ dispersed here and there, and particularly those of Fulneck, &c."] was, in its time, a particular holy Congregation of God; and as such was acknowledged and honoured by Luther, Calvin, and all other intelligent Divines, as well Reformed as Lutherans, &c.

The Names of all the Moravian Brethren then at Herrnhuth were subscribed.

IX.

Dedication of Bishop John Amos Comenius's Catechism, printed at Amsterdam 1661. (under No. 10.)

TO all the godly Sheep of Christ dispersed here and there, especially to those of * Fulneck, Gersdorff, Glandorff, Klitte, Kunewalde, Stachewalde, Seitendorff, and Zauchtenthal, do I wish the Grace and Peace of God, through the Sanctification of the Spirit, and Sprinkling of the Blood of Christ.

My beloved Brethren and Sisters in God, many of you will still remember, to whom I at my taking Leave did, from the Prophet, commit and commend you; namely, to Christ, the chief Shepherd, who feeds his People (the scattered Flock of his Inheritance, which dwells here in the Wilderness, in the Field of this World) with the Staff of his Mouth and Spirit, Mic. vii. 14, &c. To whom I still continually commit you with my daily Prayers and Sighs. Only do not depart from following the Lord, but serve the Lord from the Bottom of the Heart; for the Lord will not forsake his People for his great Name's sake: And far be it also from me to sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you, and to teach you the good and right Way. Only fear the Lord, and serve him truly with your whole Heart, 1 Sam. xii. 20. Yea, I do not cease with Peter, as long as I am in this Tabernacle, to stir you up, and put you in mind, that you, even after my Departure, may be able to keep these things in Remembrance, that we have not taught you to follow cunningly-devised Fables, but only led you to the steadfast Prophetical and Apostolical Word; and you do well to give heed thereto, as unto a Light that shineth in a dark Place, until the Day dawn, 2 Pet. i. 13. Yet accept also the Word of this present Exhortation, as a short Repetition of that which you have heard from me, and other godly Teachers: For our Glorifying is the Testimony of our Conscience, that in Simplicity and godly Sincerity, not with fleshly Wisdom, but by the Grace of God, we have had our Conversation in the World; and neither formerly, nor now, believe, teach, or write, any otherwise than what you in the Beginning have heard, and here will read (2 Cor. i. 11. 13.): For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who through us has been preached among you, was not Yea and Nay; but in him was Yea, and in him was Amen, to the Glory of God, through us. But it is God who establisheth us together with you in Christ, and has anointed and sealed us, having given the Earnest of his Spirit in our Hearts (19, 20, 21, 22.).

Ye therefore, my beloved and longed-for Brethren, my Joy and my Crown, so stand fast in the Lord, and rejoice in the Lord. Let your Moderation be known unto all Men: The Lord is at hand. Be careful for nothing; but, in every thing, by Prayer and Supplication, with Thanksgiving, let your Requests be made known unto God. And the Peace of God, which passeth all Understanding, keep your Hearts and Minds in Christ Jesus. Furthermore, whatsoever Things are true, whatsoever Things are honest, whatsoever Things are just, whatsoever Things are pure, whatsoever Things are lovely, whatsoever Things are of good Report, if there be any Virtue, if there be any Praise, think on these Things. What you have likewise learned and received, and heard and seen in me, that do; and the God of Peace will be with you (Phil. iv.). The God of all Grace grant you, thro' his Spirit, and for Christ's sake, to be strong in the inward Man, that you may continue in Prayer, abstain from Sin, hold out in Temptation and Tribulation, to the Praise of his Name, and to your everlasting Comfort in his Kingdom. Amen. Amen. Amen.

So sighs for you daily your faithful Intercessor to God, thro' Jesus Christ, the only chief Shepherd,

Joannes Amos Comenius, Moravus.

The Report from a Committee of the Associates of the late Dr. Bray [most of which were Trustees for Georgia], for propagating Christianity amongst the Negroes, appointed to wait on his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury (under N°. 12.).

At a Meeting of the Associates of the late Dr. Bray, for instructing the Negroes of the British Plantations, held on Wednesday the 2d of March 1736-7.

READ, A Report from the Committee appointed to wait upon his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, then Elect, to desire his Grace's Opinion concerning the Church of the Moravian Brethren till now at Herrnhuth; and to know, whether any thing in their Doctrines was so far repugnant to those of the Church of England, as to make it improper for to employ some of the Brethren in instructing the Negroes in Christianity: Which Opinion was,

“ That he had long been acquainted, by Books, with the Moravian Brethren;
“ and that they were Apostolical and Episcopal, not sustaining any Doctrines repugnant to the Thirty-nine Articles of the Church of England: And that he was “ confirmed in these Sentiments of them by the Conferences he had lately had with the
“ Moravians.”

ILearned with Satisfaction, out of your Report concerning the Count of Zinzendorff, that you found no other Doctrine held by him, but what is taught in the Evangelic * Church. For as to the Regulations he intends to make with the Moravian Brethren, I wait for his own Proposals. I am

Most noble and dearly-beloved Lord Count,

I Received your former, and also your last of the 7th instant; and have seen, with Pleasure, that the Deans have been satisfied with your Doctrine. Concerning your Consecration to be a Bishop of the German Brethren, I design to take the Matter under some more due Consideration, and then acquaint you with the Result; and will, according as it was proposed, go on in this whole Matter with Secrecy. The Letter of the late Bishop Jablonsky to the King of Prussia, in Answer to some Doubts his Majesty had about the Consecration of Count Zinzendorff (under No. 17.).

Dread Sir, my most gracious Sovereign,

YOUR Majesty having asked my Opinion, Whether the Ordination of Count Zinzendorff, considering the present Circumstances of Religion in Germany, is advisable, since it might be looked upon as if it were to introduce and support a new Religion, &c.

Now, I indeed, according to my Place, and according to my Conscience, can judge no otherwise, than that the Affair, in itself, is quite innocent, and tends to no one's Detriment; also introduces no new Religion *.

But whether, by ill-affected Minds (as the R. Hon. the Count does not want Ill-wishers), it may not be misinterpreted and abused, to the Causing of many Uneasinesses, is a Question which I must leave to them to decide, who have a deeper Insight into State-Matters, &c.

The Extract of the Address of the Polish Bishop residing at Lissa in Great Poland, to the R. Rev. the Count of Zinzendorff, &c. (under No 23.)

Right Reverend and Illustrious Bishop,
My Gracious Lord,

THE Lineaments of our primitive Bohemian Church Discipline, which I perceive in the Constitution of our worthy Moravian Brethren at Herrnbuth, have produced in me a secret Veneration for the holy Zeal which has moved your Grace not only to make your Territory a Refuge for these Pilgrims, but also opened your Heart for the Brotherhood, yea even to consecrate yourself to be their Antistes.

Your Grace's condescending to receive our well-grounded and successively-continued Ordination shews to me the Finger of God, who seems to lay with it the Foundation of a solid and extraordinary Propagation of the Glory of his Great Name.

The Lord our God be praised, who has raised your Grace to be a chosen Instrument to carry his Name before the Heathen, before the Kings, and the spiritual Israel!

The venerable Letter of his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury strengtheneth my Hope, that this Work will meet with the desired Success, and will shew in the Effect, that it is from God.

I recommend myself and our persecuted Churches to your Prayers. I beg to give my humble Respects to the Right Reverend Nitschmann, and to all the Brethren. I am,

With a high Esteem,

Right Reverend and Noble Lord Bishop and Count,

Your Grace's

Faithful humble Servant,

M. Christ. Sitkovius,

Extract of the renewed general Concession of the King of Prussia for the Moravian Brethren, in all his Majesty's Dominions (under No 24.)

HIS Prussian Majesty grants by these Letters Patents to the Deputies of the Moravian Brethren—

That the said Brethren may also settle in Silesia, as in all other Dominions of his Majesty; and may enjoy there a perfect Freedom of Conscience, with the Liberty of of publick Exercise of their Religion, and to govern their Church according to their established Discipline and Order; to appoint the Ministers, as they shall think meet, to all the Congregations who profess to belong to their Church; to be in no-wise subject in Spiritual and Ecclesiastical Matters to any Consistory, but merely and only to their own Bishops, under his Majesty's Sovereignty and Protection, &c.

His Majesty is no less most graciously inclined to bestow upon the said Brethren all other Advantages and Benefits, which good and faithful Subjects may ever promise themselves from a Father of his Country, who has a continual Concern for their Welfare.

Resolution

For the Deputies of the Moravian Brethren, concerning their Settlements in the King's Dominions.

v. Cocceji.

XIX.

The High Chancellor of Prussia's Opinion, sent to the Department for Foreign Affairs, in order to shew, that the Reception of the Brethrens Church in all his Majesty's Dominions is not to be confounded with the General Liberty of Conscience; the Orthodoxy and Competence of this Church having been examined and acknowledged (under No 25.)

I Have the Honour duly to communicate to the Right Honourable Department of outward Affairs the annexed Memorial, which has been delivered to me in the Name of all the Moravian Churches, by their Deputy the Baron of Gersdorff.

The said Brethren complain therein about the Persecutions they have to undergo by the Clergy in different Places in Germany, and in particular in some Imperial Towns; and that they are charged by the said Augsburg Clergy, as if they did not belong to the Augustan Confession, and consequently had no Right to enjoy the Benefit of the Westphalian Peace, &c.

Now the Matter stands thus: Before his Majesty granted to the Moravian Brethren a general Liberty of Conscience in his Dominions, their Doctrine has been carefully examined and inquired into by the Two Deans in this City; and it has appeared, that their Doctrine is conform with the Augustan Confession, in all its Articles; as it may also be clearly seen by the here-annexed Confession of Faith.

It is for the same Reason that his Majesty has not only given Leave to the Dean of his Chapel to take upon him the Office of a Bishop in the said Church; but has also allowed that Count Zinzendorff should be consecrated Bishop of the same.

The whole Difference between the said Brethren and other Protestants stands in their Discipline; that they have their own Bishops; are depending of their own Synod; and that they take such a Care of the Brethren of their Constitution, provided they behave well, and in a Christian Manner, that every body among them is assisted in his Necessity, and also exempted from becoming burdensome to others.

These are the true Reasons why they are hated and persecuted by different Protestant Divines, to whose Authority they are not willing to submit, and against whose Proceedings they find themselves now obliged to take their Refuge to the Corpus Evangelicorum, now assembled at Frankfurth.

Now, if your Excellencies shall find good to assist these Brethren with the desired Recommendation of his Majesty to the said Corpus, and to take notice therein of the before-mentioned Circumstances, is a Matter which I must leave intirely to your own Dijudication. And, without prescribing any thing, it would be my Advice, that it will not be quite indifferent to his Majesty in what manner the said Churches may be looked upon by the rest of the Protestants: For it would seem as if his Majesty, jeſty, in admitting in his Dominions a Religion not approved in the Inſtrument of Peace, would act againſt the Peace of Weſtphalia, &c.

A Memorial of Count Zinzendorff to the States-General, at the Hague (under N^o 29.).

MEMOIRE de Louis de Zinzendorff, ancien Eveque des Freres, Syndic et Modérateur des Miſſions, pour ſervir d'information (in fact^o et materiali) aux Seigneurs Deputés de leur Hautes Puiffances les Etats Generaux pour les Placards et Reglemens, et leurs Excellences les Seigneurs Commiſſaires de leurs Grandes Puiffances les Etats de Hollande et de Weſt-Friſe, concernant les Eglifes Vaudoiſes, Bohemiennes, et Moraves, reunies depuis trois Siècles, in Episcopis et Presbyteris ſic dictæ Unitatis Fratrum; et leur travail parmi les Sauvages.

MOnſieur de Zinzendorff, revenant des Indes Occidentales, et ayant vû avec joie la juſte attention que leur H. P. ont euë pour la très-humble requête des Evêques et autres Députés de l'Aſſemblée Générale des Eglies Unies, ſe croit obligé par un retour de devoir de repréſenter un précis de tout ce dont il eſt queſtion.

Prêts a rendre compte de nôtre Origine, de nôtre Foi, de nos Droits, et de tout ce dont le Souverain trouvera bon de prendre connoiſſance, nous ſommes perſuadés qu'il ne s'agit proprement ni de livrets, diſcours, journaux et faits, ſur leſquels quelques Paſteurs d'Amſterdam, quelques Profeſſeurs, et même des Synodes Provinciaux, ont prononcé, ſans entendre l'autre partie. S'il s'agiſſoit de cela, il faudroit écouter,

1. La Commune de Herrnhuth, Eglife Lutherienne.
2. Les Particuliers accuſés.
3. Les Auteurs des Livrets.
4. Les Paſteurs Réformés, qui ont proteſté ſolemnellement contre les dits et faits de leur Confreres, et qui perſiſtent dans leur Opinion.

Dans

Dans ce cas, les Mesures sages, modérées, et même influentes dans le plan général de toute cette affaire, des très-honorables Magistrats d'Amsterdam, nous épargneraient l'introduction.

2. Il ne s'agit pas non plus de tout ce qui est de Præterito. Le cas où Monsieur Jean Borm, Ministre de S. Thomas, est tombé, de rebaptiser un Negre converti par nos Ministres légitimement ordonnés et autorisés pour être Missionnaires dans les Isles Danoises, non seulement contre le Decorum (lui n'étant qu'un Ministre toléré, et uniquement pour la Colonie Hollandoise qui y subsiste), mais contre une défense formelle, défense que le Gouverneur Général des Isles lui a délivrée de la part du Roi de Danemarck, il y a déjà trois ans passés. Ce cas, dis-je, nous oblige à passer par dessus la controverse, et à ensevelir toute l'affaire par un principe de Charité Chrétienne, parce qu'elle attireroit un sévère traitement au Ministre Réformé, et feroit une mauvaise impression par rapport à tous ses Confreres, de sorte que nous sommes bien aises d'oublier le passé, pour ranimer l'Esprit de Charité et de Tolérance.

3. Il ne s'agit nullement de prouver la réelle existence de notre ancienne Eglise Unie, et ce que nous y representons, cela est si universellement connu, de l'Eglise Anglicane, des Consistoires Allemands, Danois, Suédois, et dans tous les Pais Protestans des deux Confessions; et la Consécration de nos Evêques et Pasteurs a été de tout tems si solennelle, loyale, et publique, et passée dans les dernières années par tant d'examens, même de la part du Roi de Prusse Electeur de Brandebourg, dont la Maison avoit pris depuis deux siècles la tâche d'Advocatus Ecclesiæ Bohem. Morav. qu'autant vaudroit il prouver l'existence d'une Religion Lutherienne.

4. Il ne s'agit point non plus de Tolérance en général. Cette Tolérance universellement établie dans les Provinces Unies ne sera pas à coup sûr refusée à la plus ancienne des Eglises Protestantes, et une Declaration en sa faveur donneroit assurément plus de relief à son lustre, qu'à ses privileges.

5. Il ne s'agit pas aussi de donner notre Confession de Foi. L'heureuse Union qui subsiste entre les deux Systemes, et qui fait que l'on voit parmi nous des Freres Luthériens, et des Freres Réformés, qui, sans s'embarasser de disputes inutiles, de conséquences frivoles, et de recherches subtiles des choses mystérieuses et rendues intelligibles à mesure qu'on tâche de les expliquer, se trouvent heureux sous des Conducteurs de l'un ou de l'autre, et quelquefois des deux religions ensemble; se contente de savoir que les Freres sont d'un sentiment conforme ou à la Confession d'Augsburg ou à celle de Bohême, ou si l'on veut à toutes les deux en mêmes tems. La plupart diront donc, qu'ils sont de l'avis de Comte de Zinzendorff dans son epître au Roi de Suede, publiée à Ratisbonne en 1735. et alors applaudie. D'autres diront peut-être, qu'il parle de la Cene dans des termes trop forts pour eux; qu'il paroît souhaiter que tous les damnés soient sauvés un jour, et qu'ils ne sont pas de ce sentiment. Qu'en arrivera-t-il? Nous nous aimerons reciproquement, nous nous croirons bons Chrétiens, Freres, et réunis sous un même Corps; et voila précisément le point ou tout le Corps Evangelique visoit en 1722. et que l'ancien Evêque Jablonsky dit dans un Ecrit public, avoir été executé hereusement parmi nous. Il s'agit donc uniquement,

1. De mettre la main sur ce qui s'est passé jusqu'ici de dur et de peu charitable envers quelquesuns de nos membres, et d'embrasser à l'avenir notre Eglise en général fraternellement, et avec indulgence sur quelques differences subtiles; nous ne demandons point d'éclat; il suffit que cela se fasse insensiblement, et qu'on revienne peu à peu des préventions contre nous aux sentimens de ceux qui nous ont toujours honoré de leur approbation.

2. Qu'on tolere nos Missionnaires, lorsqu'ils se présenteront aux Deputés de la Classe pour les Colonies, dûment ordonnés, après qu'ils auront soutenu un examen sur les points principaux de la Religion, pour voir s'ils sont des Freres Réformés, ou des Freres Luthériens, ce que nous n'oserions définir d'avance, ne sachant lesquels des nôtres voudront courir de tems en tems les terribles hazards d'une telle Mission, nous trouvant bien éloignés de chicaner avec ces Hommes Apostoliques sur des dogmes problematiques.

3. Qu'on s'entende honêtement, que, comme nous ne demandons nullement d'établir des Missions là où une Mission Hollandoise subsiste avant nous, ce qui seroit demander un scandale; on nous laisse continuer nos Missions dans les Déserts où Messieurs les Directeurs des deux Compagnies nous ont introduits eux-mêmes ante & post ortas lites.

4. Ce dernier Point est si essentiel, que nous prions les Seigneurs de nous bien recommander aux Louables Compagnies. Il est certainement plus Chrétien et même politique de nous mener dans les Colonies Hollandoises comme sujets de la République, pour secourir honêtement et fraternellement nos ouvriers qui y alloient en simplicité de coeur, ne sachant rien des facheuses circonstances survenues depuis; que de nous forcer à nous faire un passage apostolique parmi les Payens au risque de nos vies, &c.

Sur quoi nous avons recours à la Sagesse, et à la Prévoyance connue des Souverains de ces heureuses Provinces; et nous suspendons dans cette espérance nos soupirs et nos résolutions fermes par rapport aux persécutions particulières parmi les Sauvages.

The Narrative concerning the Article, Their UNITED BRETHREN (under No. 32.).

AFTER the Right Reverend Bishop Lewis, as may be seen from the foregoing, was chosen Advocate by the present acting Moravian Church, had also accepted that Office, and had found, that the so called Evangelic Lutherans, together with the Evangelic Reformed, as the Protestant Churches in France, the Lutheran French Congregation at Montbelliard, and in Lithuania, the Evangelic Lutheran Church in the Principality of Esthland and Courland, in Sleswick, Holsatia, Upper Lusatia, and Silesia; further, some Reformed in Amsterdam, Basil, Neufchatel, Graubunden, &c. and, lastly, those Mennonists in Holland, who were converted from the Errors of Socinianism; do, Part of them, make use for themselves of the Counsel of the Moravian Church; Part of them force themselves, as it were, into and under her Care intirely: Therefore he, from a Love of Peace, and Care for the common Tranquillity, has constantly kept off these from the Hierarchy of our Church; and has proposed and endeavoured, that they should get such Directors and Counsellors, as were most suitable to the Situation of their Countries, and former Rites.

For the Reformed Branch, he has procured the King of Prussia's principal Chaplain Mr. Cochius; for the Evangelic Lutheran, the principal Chaplain at the Saxon Court has been called; the Mennonists at Amsterdam are exempted by the Rev. Mr. Decknatel; and at Harlem, by Mr. Swertner and Dames.

As for the Congregations out of the English Methodist-Dissenters, which have betaken themselves to the Care of the Brethren, they declined many Years to meddle with them at all; but, after their persisting, and firmly persevering in commending themselves to the Care of the Moravian Divines, they have indeed had Christian Teachers allowed them; but only from out of our Lutheran Tropic; and they, to avoid their being reckoned to the strict Moravian Part of our Hierarchy, have been permitted to take regular Licences; which at York they sued for, and obtained from the Archbishop; but, in London, they took them from the Magistrate, because the Bishop Lewis had entered into a Negotiation with them about bringing them together under the spiritual Direction of the Archbishop of Canterbury who then was; while, in the same time, the Moravian Brethren sought for convenient Chapels in London, and in the Neighbourhood of some Sea-Port in the Northern Provinces of England, for the Benefit of their Colonists.

Now,

Now, the Deputies of these United Brethren, but who are not reckoned to the Episcopal Head, have Leave to appear at the yearly Synod, where they are then as Branches of our Christian Unity, supported in their spiritual and temporal Wants: And, on such Occasions, it is so ordered, that the Administrators of the Lutheran and Reformed Tropus's sit by the Side of the Bishops of the Brethren, as Præsides honorarii.

As to the Direction of the Records, the present Chancellor and Scribe are Lutheran, and the Prothonotary of Calvinist Extraction; but yet they have all Three obtained their Orders respectively, Archdeacon and Deacons, according to the Episcopal Form and Manner.

Now, altho' these Congregations, in their individual Leading, are kept separate from each other; yet, in all publick Things, they are spoken and provided for indiscriminately by the Advocate of the Brethren, and the Senators in civili, as well as the Episcopal Head of our Unity; and the Planting and Taking care of their Colonies is regularly directed by the general Diaconate of the Unity.

Letter of Joh. Fr. Buddeus, D.D. chief Divine at Jena, to the Elders at Herrnhuth (under No. 32.).

My Reverend and worthy Friends in our dear Saviour!

THE Almighty be highly praised for his uncommon Mercy, which he has shewn to you all so richly, that it is a Wonder in the Eyes of all, who are not blinded by the earthly Lufts! May God further grant abounding Grace, that in all the World may be gathered a Congregation, which may testify it more with their Lives, than with Words, that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the Honour of God the Father! I wish, that our faithful Saviour may be particularly at Work with you all, in spite of Satan, and to the Honour of his most holy Name, to complete powerfully, with his Almighty Hand, that good Work which he has begun amongst you, and which is Matter of great Joy with me. Is it not he, who, in our Time, is got up from his Place, to make it appear to that poisonous hellish Dragon, that he neither wants Courage, nor Power, nor Will, to destroy his Kingdom? O! might but our Hearts be easy in perfect Confidence and child-like Trust, and wait for the Help of the Lord, which certainly will break through, and as well set in holy Admiration the Believers and Pious, as bring the wicked ones in a deplorable Consternation! Lord, have Mercy on thy poor little Flock; and grant that we may be bold, because thou hast conquered the World.

Concerning your Desire with respect to Comenii Historia Fratrum Bohemorum, I am as willing as obliged to serve you therein; yea, it will be a great Pleasure to me.

Ex Præfatione D. Job. Francisci Buddei, quam præmisit Job. Amos Comenii Historiæ Fratrum Bohemorum. Edit. Bibliop. Orphanotroph. Frankian. Hall. 1702. (under No. 32.).

IN quo maximè nos à veteri [Apostolicâ] Ecclesiâ dissentimus, hoc est, quod doctorum spiritualium nullum adeò apud nos sit excitamentum, diversitatisque illorum nulla habeatur ratio. Qui enim apud nos sacris functionibus non sunt destinati, quos vulgò Laicos vocant, quod de officio alios commonefaciendi, cohortandi, consolandi, erigendi, & sic porrò dicitur, id ad se pertinere nullo modo credunt, has illorum esse partes existimantes, qui in ministerio Ecclesiæ sunt constituti. Nec ullibi ferè etiam Potestas dona hæc exercendi illis conceditur, cùm in publicis illis tacendum sit, privati autem cœtus, qui spiritualium exercitationum causâ instituuntur, invisi sint & suspecti.

Inter omnes Ecclesias, quæ ultimis seculis effloruerunt, nisi me omnia fallunt, cœteris dubiam in hoc capite [disciplinæ Ecclesiasticæ] palmam reddit Ecclesia Fratrum Bohemorum, vera & genuina magni istius & sanctissimi viri JOHANNIS HUSSII propago. Hæc enim morum sanctitate, docentium concordia, vitæ innocentis studio, disciplinæ severitate, caritatis exemplis ita enituit, ut præstantissimi inter Lutheranos æquè ac Reformatos Theologos confiteri necesse habuerint, se equidem doctrinæ puritate FRATRIBUS BOHEMIS nihil concedere; ast morum vitæque sanctimoniam si spectes, disciplinæque castitatem, multis parasangis superari ab iis omnes eas Ecclesias, quæ aut Lutheri aut aliorum ductu auspiciisve Romani Pontificis excusserunt jugum. Et sanè memoratu lectuque dignissima sunt, quæ [in hoc libro] de Luthero nostro referuntur, quòd in primâ Fratrum ad se Legatione palàm professus sit, se nondum assequi posse, ut ejusmodi institueretur doctrinæ & vitæ probæ exercitium, quale de illis audiverit. Bohemi autem Fratres haud difficulter animadverterunt, disciplinæ morumque sanctitatis non eam, quam oportebat, in Reformatione haberi rationem; ipsum Lutherum novâ ad eum missâ legatione hâc de re commonefacere suarum duxerunt esse partium; Luthero quoque, quo erat candore & pietate, adeò hoc non ægrè ferente, ut lubens defectus istos agnosceret, suumque testaretur dolorem, quod non statim, in ipsis nascentibus novæ Ecclesiæ primordiis, cuncta ad exemplum FRATRUM BOHEMORUM essent constituta. Imo producit LASITIUS testes, qui ex ore Lutheri ista exceperunt verba: “Non surrexerunt à temporibus Apostolorum homines, quorum Ecclesia propius accessisset ad doctrinam & ritus Apostolicos, atque Fratres Bohemi.” Item: “Etsi Fratres hi nos puritate doctrinæ non superant, ordinariâ tamen disciplinâ Ecclesiasticâ, quâ utuntur, suasque feliciter gubernant Ecclesias, longè nos superant, & in hac parte majorem laudem habent; quam illis concedere nos propter gloriam Dei & veritatem oportet; quia Plebs nostra Germanica disciplinæ jugum nondum subire vult.” Quid amplius dici poterat? Diligenter ergo consideremus hanc pulcherrimæ Ecclesiæ imaginem, nostramque cum eâ conferamus, & in usum quoque transferre ea laboremus, quæ transferri possunt, ut tandem ad eandem puritatis, innocentiae, sanctitatisque, quam cordati omnes in FRATRIBUS BOHEMIS admirantur, laudem proficiamus. In Pastoribus constituendis ad vitæ magis conditionem, moresque integros & incorruptos respiciebant, quàm ad eruditionem: quod tantùm abest ut Luthero displicuerit, ut laudaverit hunc morem Fratrum Bohemorum, suaseritque; saltem, ut quantum possent, linguarum adjungerent studium.

Cum

Cum primis autem observatu dignum [pergit Buddeus] quod circa finem libelli sui Camerarius commemorat, quosdam ex Lutheranis infenso erga FRATRES BOHEMOS fuisse animo, & disciplinæ severitatem sanctitatemque, quibus tamen vir ille doctus recte respondet: Disciplinæ autem severitas, unde superstitio penitus omnis abest, fortasse displicet aliquibus ideò, quod similem neque eis instituere in proclivi sit, & aliqui etiam tam arctis vinculis adstringi nolint. Ad ipsum deinceps Lutherum provocat [Camerarius], quem istam rem mirificè comprobâsse dicit. Notamus, esse unius & proximè superiorum temporum imprimis Doctrinâ & pietate celebris viri de eâ sententiam, solos propè in orbe terrarum Fratres cum puritate doctrinæ vigorem etiam disciplinæ Christi apud se restituisse; quæ laus ut iis detur, & hoc in illis opus Domini prædicetur, rem ipsam cogere. Addit tandem ipse Camerarius, ipsam simul disciplinam in compendio sistens: Sanè qui attendere animum voluerint, faterique verum, ii negare non poterunt, quin apud eos Christi Ecclesia non solum in veritate & re ipsâ, sed manifestâ etiam specie retenta administrataque & gesta sit: ut eos reprehendentes vix effugere invidiæ & obtreccionum suspicionem posse videantur: cum ipsi quidem FRATRES in nullorum ex ipsis res rationesque curiose inquirant, nullorum instituta observationesque damnent aut vituperent, ac potius omnes, quos nôrunt veritatem doctrinæ cœlestis profiteri, & sacrarum literarum studia colere, & propagare religionis pietatisque sanctitatem, & errores impietatis ac superstitionum repudiare, non diligant solum, sed & in honore habeant. Nulla enim reperietur apud ipsos ambitio, neque principatûs appetentia: nulla inter eos rixa, altercatio, contentio, ad alios malevolentia, insectatio, jurgium. In illis nullus est animorum exultantium inscitus ardor, ad cæteros nihil acerbitatis asperitatisque. Non apparent ne vestigia quidem avaritiæ, cupiditatis, libidinis. Non quæstus fiunt, aut lucra foenerando, aut ullo cum emolumento alterius incommodum complectendo. Summa & eximia est sinceræ caritatis affectio omnium ergà omnes; desidiæ & otio inertis atque ignavo locus prorsus non est; officia præstant quæcunq; & quibuscunq; possunt. Nullam in suo coetu discordiam serpere patiuntur, & efferentem se statim reprimunt. Aliorum injurias & vim fortissimis animis tolerant; neque resistendo neque vindicando, iræ indignationisve significationes nullæ ab eis dantur.

Quam procul [concludit Buddeus] ab istâ veræ Christi Ecclesiæ imagine nostri distant mores! Faxit Deus, ut cuncta [in hac Comenii libellorum editione] in Ecclesiæ commodum cedant, utque plurimi hoc legentes præclarissimo Fratrum Bohemorum exemplo excitati seriò de vitâ moribusque emendandis cogitent, utque qui eò pervenerunt, deque aliorum salute solliciti sunt, hic inveniant, quæ cum fructu ad Disciplinam Ecclesiæ postliminiò revocandam usurpent!

Extract of a Writing of a Hundred Masters of Arts, and Students, at Jena, to the Church at Herrnhuth, 1728. (under N^o 33.)

Dear Brethren,

THE precious Grace of our dearest Saviour, which has proved so powerful among you, to the great Joy of the Members of Christ, and the utmost Surprise of the Kingdom of Darkness, cannot but encourage us highly to praise and glorify our Saviour and Lord, Jesus Christ, with heartiest Thanksgiving, and humble Praises.

Your Congregation is a City upon a Hill; cannot but be seen; and cannot possibly be concealed. It is a Candle which is placed on a Candlestick, and shines to all which are in the House, and encourages them to the Praise of the Lord, &c.

Wherefore, dear Brethren, we are fully persuaded you will not despise the Grace of God, which is lively and active in you; nor forget the merciful Love of our Saviour, which so many Hundred Years ago caused the Light of Truth to shine to your Fathers.

F

Praise

Praise ye the Lord with us, who has united our dispersed Members thro' a living Power; to which we have been mostly moved by the glorious Instance of your intimate Love and Union.

As to the rest, be assured that we love you as Christ's Members, and as our Brethren; and shall always remember you in the best manner. We remain

Conclusion of the Answer of the Body of Divines in the University of Tubingen, returned to Mr. Steinhofer, Minister, upon this Question:

“WHETHER the Moravian Church at Herrnbuth (supposito in Doctrinam Evangelicam consensu) may and ought, retaining their Three hundred Years old and well-known Constitution, and Church-Discipline, at the same time to maintain their Connexion with the Lutheran Church?”

[After an ample Dissertation, full of Sense and Reason, supported by many excellent and learned Notes, they conclude thus:] —Therefore we assert finally, and by all means, by virtue of the foregoing Reasons alledged, and after our having discussed the Matter, That it is our firm Opinion, that this Church may, and ought to maintain her Connexion with the Protestant [Lutheran] Church, and at the same time retain her excellent Bohemian Church-Discipline.

For, to be short, the Distinction between these Two Questions is soon removed, if we consider, that it does not lie in the Option of Christians, whether they will maintain Unity and Fellowship one amongst another, or not; but that it is a Duty incumbent upon them to keep the Unity of the Spirit, not to forsake the Assembling themselves together, to become all things to all Men, to gain the more, and such-like: From whence it manifestly appears, that if we can, we must maintain Fellowship, and as much Union as is possible.*

Therefore the Congregation at Herrnbuth is in this her Aim to be praised, promoted, and protected, in every respect; for that the Protestant Church, by this Communication of her Fellowship, must certainly draw divine Blessings upon itself.

Finally, we praise the Goodness of our dear Saviour, from the Bottom of our Hearts, in that after having, for these Three hundred Years past, shewn to this Church of the Brethren so many glorious Beams of his Grace: He hath gathered together the Remains of them, whom he, in the Darkness of Moravia, preserved under the mighty Wings of his Love, and hath brought them to true Godliness in him, by their Union with our Protestant Church, according to the great Power of his good Spirit, conducting and ruling over them: So that, in respect of their beautiful spiritual Constitution, they may justly, and with all Right, be looked upon as a great Jewel of our Protestant Zion; yea, as a beautiful and an excellent Pattern of other Congregations. We further pray the Lord of Glory, with great Fervency of our Spirit, that, according to the inexhaustible Riches of his boundless Grace, he may still go on to dispense his Blessings amongst this dear little Flock; and that the sacred Depositum of his revealed Truth, as the only Leading-Star to direct us to a true Walking unto Salvation, may be preserved to them uncorrupted in their Heart by the Light of his most powerful Conviction; and that he may continually go on to bless and sanctify the excellent Institutions they have amongst them; which are so much the more glorious, as they immediately tend to the Propagation of the Kingdom of God; and that he may grant to Mr. Steinboffer, A. M. our late beloved Auditor in the Lord, much and more than ordinary Wisdom, Light, Grace, and Power, that he, in the worthy Execution of the Office of the Spirit committed to him by this Congregation, according to the wholesome Pattern he has heard from us, may keep undamaged the dear Treasure of the Gospel, carefully preserving it from all Errors and Opinions of Sectarists, which only tend to perplex Mankind, and to draw them off from the One Thing needful; and, by a faithful Leading of the Sheep intrusted to him, may obtain many Conquests against the Powers of Darkness; and to this End may also gloriously arm himself with spiritual Courage, Watchfulness, Prayer, and with a faithful and pure Mind, that thro' him that great Good the Lord hath planted here, and which he hath already found to his Hands, may be powerfully continued and increased; and that also thro' his Service in the Gospel many Souls may be awakened, and the Kingdom of God may be gloriously grounded and carried on in the same.

In Witness whereof we have added the usual Seal of our Faculty of Divines.

Note, This Answer of the Body of Divines at Tubingen was drawn up by the great Philosopher and Divine Dr. and Prof. Bulfinger: But the Conclusion from these Words, Finally, we praise the Goodness, &c. are of the own Hand of the famous Chancellor of the University Dr. Pfaffius. The said Answer doth not treat of the Moravian Church in general, but of that Part of it, which is in Union with the Lutheran Church; since God had blessed the Service of Lutheran Teachers among them: But nevertheless they retained their old Bohemian and Moravian Church-Discipline.

Extract of the Wirtemberg Church's Writing, whereby she congratulates his Excellency Count Zinzendorff on his entering upon sacred Functions (under No. 34.).

OUR constant ready Concurrence and Assistance to support the godly Intentions, and to promote the Gospel in the Congregation of Herrnbuth, must have evidenced it, that the peculiar good Confidence which your Excellency hitherto, in several Concerns of our Saviour's Kingdom, has manifested to our Wirtemberg Evangelical Church and Consistory, has been answered with due Consideration.

We on our Side cannot be wanting to return, in our humble Answer, due Thanks to your Excellency for all these, and at the same time to promise all due Attention and Diligence, as the Lord will give us an Opportunity, to keep up a salutary good Understanding and Agreement under our general Head and King Jesus Christ; and to call upon him, that he may glorify himself in it, and crown with much spiritual Fruit such unparallel'd Faithfulness, and establish in the Continuation and Finishing all this as his own Work. With a truly respectful Esteem, we remain always,

Illustrious Count,

Your Excellency's most obedient, and most obliged,

Decree of the Bishops of the United Churches, presented to the First Reformed Divine in the Dominions of the King of Prussia to be the Administrator of the Reformed Tropus of the Brethrens Constitution, 1746. (under No. 40.)

In the Name of the Holy and Indivisible Trinity, God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

Very Reverend, &c.

FOrasmuch as the well-proved Subdivision of the old Moravian Unity into the strict Bohemian, Evangelic-Lutheran, and Helvetic Tropus, has prospered, under the Direction of God the Holy Ghost, and we have, since the Death of the late Right Rev. Jablonsky, diligently preserved the same in order that, on one hand, there might arise no Confusion of Ideas, as in the Crypto-Calvinism, Arminianism, or the Plan of Uniting; but, on the other hand also, that Altar might not be set up against Altar, as in Donatism, and in the Divisions among the Protestants, which have existed now upwards of Two hundred Years; and since the Evangelic Reformed Branch (which is a numerous and weighty Part of ours, particularly in the distant Colonies, and Heathen Posts, and contains such Teachers and Members, who are not only for themselves Partakers of everlasting Life, but are also Examples to the Flocks), has been provided with its own Rulers, and also with the Elders and Ministers belonging thereunto; and this Evangelic Reformed Station has really become void, by reason of Frederic Baron of Watteville, Successor to the late Bishop Jablonsky, his having already, the past Year, resigned the Functions of his Office, on account of his being appointed to the Post of Senior Politicus of our General Synod, which Officers, according to the old Regulation thereof, are in like manner Personæ Deo et Ecclesiæ rite consecratæ; and yet his precedent Office, on account of the weighty

Appendages

Appendages thereof, cannot remain vacant: Therefore our united Choice, on account of your personal Gifts, having also been approved of by Suffrage, We, in the Name of the Holy Trinity, by this open Letter, upon the Instructions accompanying the same, and with reference to that Faſum, annexed thereto, and marked +, present unto You this Instrument, whereby we call, and, without any Arguments of Persuasion, or influencing Kindness, do, in the Name of all present in the General Synod of the Evangelic Church of the Moravian Order, and the Reformed Teachers and Preachers present, instate you to be Administrator of the Episcopacy of the Evangelical Reformed Tropus in the Moravian Unity, and one of the Presidents of the General Synod of the afore-mentioned Church, &c. In full Hopes, that his Majesty your Sovereign, according to his known Inclination for promoting our real Prosperity, and also for the Good of the Evangelical Reformed Religion, will not be less indulgent to us than his Royal Grandfather has been to our Unity (having himself approved of the Deans of his Chapel to hold our Episcopal See together with their Offices at the Court, and in the Supreme Consistory of his Realms), &c.

The very Rev. Mr. Cochius's Letter of Acceptance of the said Decree, to the Advocate of the Brethren, and the Synod (under No. 42.).

Illustrious Count!

BY Divine Providence has now actually been brought about what your Excellency, and you, most honoured Gentlemen, have desired concerning me.

The Matter has been quite orderly, and with necessary Circumspection and Solidity, finished.

The Opinion of the Body of Divines in the University at Frankfort, and of the Ecclesiastical Counsellors, has been asked. The Opinions were different, but Majority decided the Matter.

The Confirmation was executed, signed by the King's Majesty propria manu, and by the Deputy Yesterday delivered into my Hands, as also the original Instrument of Vocation. According to which Circumstances, I now believe myself enabled to accept of this honourable Call, which I herewith accept with all my Heart; and in Consequence thereof, I shall always make it my Business, as far as possible, to accomplish the incumbent Duties.

Your Excellency's, and my most Honoured Sirs,

Most obedient and faithful Servant,

Christian John Cochius.

Berlin, October 7. 1746.

XXXI.

The present King of Prussia's Consent to the said Vocation (under No. 41.).

WE Frederic, by the Grace of God King of Prussia, &c. declare herewith; Whereas the Evangelical Brethren of the Moravian Unity, by their now present Deputies, acquainted us, that they, &c. have given a Vocation of being Director of the Reformed Tropus, and one of the Presidents of the General Synod of of their Church, to the very Reverend John Cockius, Dean of our Chapel, and our Ecclesiastical Counsellor, in the room of our deceased Counsellor Jablonsky, and also in that of the afterwards-elected Baron of Watteville, who resigned, &c.

Therefore we, by virtue of these, ratify and confirm our above-mentioned Counsellor Cockius to be Director of the Reformed Tropus belonging to the Moravian Unity, and to be one of the Presidents of the General Synod of their Churches: And our Pleasure is, that he takes upon him to care for, and upon all Occasions faithfully to assist them; and also, in all things which this Office does require of him, and belongs to it, to give an unexceptionable Satisfaction to his Constituents *.

In Witness whereof, we have ordered that these do pass our Royal Seal.

Berlin,

Sept. 9. 1746.

FREDERIC.

* Here the Clause was inserted, maintaining his Reverence in all his former Offices, &c.

To the Dean Henry Gerner.

TO be signified, that the Office he is called to from Herrnhaag, to be the Superintendent of the Churches of the Evangelic Lutheran Brethren in the Dominions of the King of Prussia, is not to be combined with his present Office; but, on the other Side, his Majesty is graciously pleased to give him Leave, &c.

The Superscription was, To our well-beloved, reverend, and learned Mr. Henry Gerner, Arch-Dean of the See of Zealand, Dean of the District of Sochelund, and Rector of the Metropolitan Church at Copenhagen.

XXXIV.

The Extract out of Mr. Gerner's Farewel Sermon at the Metropolitan Church at Copenhagen, June 11. 1747. (under N^o. 38.).

WHEREAS I have received a Vocation to be Administrator of the Lutheran Brethren in Union with the Moravian Church, in the King of Prussia's Dominions, &c.

And as it has pleased his Majesty our most gracious King to consent unto and grant my most humble Request, so it is To-day the last time that I shall address you.

Accordingly, I would first have you recommended seriously to Him, whom in this Place I have preached, and whose Merits and Grace I have maintained, as the only thing which would truly profit you, and whereby you would be happy in Time and in Eternity, &c.

I don't doubt, but when I shall once see Him as he is, I shall prostrate myself at his Feet, and thank him as well for this, as for every thing else.

Then I address myself humbly, and with Thankfulness to his Majesty our most gracious King Frederic V. being exceeding thankful for all the Goodness which I and my Ancestors have hitherto enjoyed these many Years in those weighty Offices intrusted with us in your Majesty's Countries and Kingdoms: For which on this Day I return publick Thanks, &c.

I then turn myself with my Thoughts and Thanks to this illustrious University, and reverend and learned Teachers, of whose Goodness and Love I have had no small Proofs, during the Time of my being here, &c.

Finally, I intreat the whole Christian Congregation, whose Minister I have been, as already mentioned, these Eight Years and upwards, &c.

—Now I must repeat that Word, which is said in our present Sunday's Lesson: Lord! what thou hast commanded is done.

But when I say, that I have been amongst you, every one can of himself conclude, that the Time is come for my taking Leave.

—Altho' this taking Leave may perhaps be painful to one or another; yet will they receive no Harm thereby, if they with all their Necessities and Concerns directly address themselves to that Principal Object, to whom I have directed their Thoughts, and whom I pointed out to them; I mean that God and Man, our dear Saviour Jesus Christ, &c.

Yes, into his Hands and Arms I now deliver over the Souls of this whole Congregation, since he has the full Right to them, &c.

XXXV.

Decree of the General Synod to enable the present Dean of the Royal Chapel at Dresden, to be President of the Lutheran Part in the General Synod, December 1748. (under N^o. 39.).

Zeyst Hall, the First Day of December, in the Year after the Nativity of our Lord God 1748.

WHEREAS, after a strict Examination, it has been evident, that, since the Year 1733. a considerable Part of the Moravian Brethren, and their Establishments in Germany, &c. &c. but particularly amongst the Heathen, have gradually embraced the fundamental Principles of the Lutheran Religion; and, at last, their whole Body, along with all their Establishments, have united in the Doctrine of the Augustan Confession:

H

And

And whereas it has been duly represented unto us by our *Ordinary, and others, that it would be very beneficial for the Preservation of this laudable Regulation, if the Lutheran Tropus, some Years past reviving in the most antient Moravian Unity, after it had been abolished above these Hundred Years, if not since a very little Time after the Consensus of Sandomir, was now to be joined again, in a particular Manner, to one of the chief Lutheran Churches, besides that just Allegiance to its original Brethren in general; who also declared at the same time, that, even in the Year 1745. when the Reformed Tropus was settled upon the unvaried Augustan Confession, and the Dean of the Chapel of the King of Prussia was made President thereof, with the Foreknowledge and Consent of his Sovereign, it was resolved, that, at the first Opportunity, the Lutheran Part should also have a President of their own, &c.

Therefore, and in Consideration of the Desire for it, signified by Numbers of Lutheran Members of our many Evangelic Moravian Congregations, we could no longer delay to comply with the Ordinary's Desire; and accordingly this is our unanimous Resolution; in all our future Synods to proceed agreeably to this Plan, and to get every thing carefully prepared for it.

We also, by the Authority of the Synod, provisionally declare the Right Reverend Johan. Gotfried Herman, D.D. present Dean of his Majesty's Evangelical Chapel at Dresden, and the principal Divine of Saxony, to be one of the Honourable Synod pro personâ; and order, That he be considered as such in all Cases and Opportunities; leaving it, for the rest, to our dearest Ordinary and his Collegues, in what manner they shall agree together concerning the further Contents of this Decree, &c. with the Honourable Privy Council of the Elector of Saxony, the Director inter Evangelicos, &c.

Extract of a Letter from George Thomas, Esq; Governor of Pennsylvania, to Count Zinzendorff (under N^o. 42. Article, SETTLED, AND MET WITH APPROBATION).

Sir,

HAD I known of your coming to Town, I should have prevented Yours of Yesterday, by a Return of the Visit you were pleased to favour me with soon after your Arrival in this Country.—As you express a Desire, that one skilled in the English and German Languages should be present at your religious Exercises, I shall, in some time to come, comply with your Request; rather that he may be an Evidence of your pious Endeavours for the Salvation of Souls, than from any Apprehension entertained by me of your broaching Doctrines destructive of Civil Government, or against that Allegiance, which all the Inhabitants of this Province owe to our most gracious Sovereign King George.

I shall be glad of all Opportunities of testifying, that I am very truly, and with very great Regard,

The Letter from Conrad Weisser, one of the King's Justices of the Peace, and Interpreter to the Five Nations, to a Brother in Shecomeko, a little Settlement of the Brethren among the Indians, 1743. (under No. 48.).

I Shall be heartily glad to hear, that these Lines have found you well, and in Health, at Shecomeko.

It was the other Day a great Trouble to me, that I did not get to the Sight of you when I was in that Place: Without doubt it was your Weakness of Body which prevented it. However, I both was there, and departed from thence, with the highest Satisfaction that could be.

The Indians Faith in the Lord Jesus, their Simplicity and unaffected Manner, their real Feeling of the Grace procured by the Blood of Jesus, and preached by the Brethren, gave me the fullest Impression, and Certainty of Belief, that the Lord is with you. It was to me as if I saw a Company of the first Christians together. Their elder People sat in the Assembly, some on Benches, some, because of the Narrowness of the Room, on the Ground, with great Gravity and Seriousness, and hearkened to B. P. as if they would catch the Words out of his Heart. John the Indian was Interpreter, and performed it very prettily. I account him a Man who is anointed with Spirit and Power. I do not indeed understand the Mabikander Language thoroughly; yet their Ways of uttering their Sentiments, according to their Ideas, are as well known to me, as to any European in this Land.

To be short, I reckon it among the greatest Favours which have been granted me in my Life-time, that I have been at Shecomeko: That Saying, Jesus Christ the same Yesterday, To-day, and for ever, was quite new and lively in my Heart, whilst I saw those Patriarchs of the American Church * sitting there in a Circle, as Witnesses of the propitiatory Offering of our Lord Jesus Christ. Their Prayers must come in Remembrance above before God, and Heaven itself must fight against their Enemies.

May Almighty God give you and your Helpers an open Door unto the poor Heathens, is the hearty Wish of

Your humble and sincere Friend.

Conrad Weisser.

The Letter from Lieutenant-General Oglethorpe to the Lords Commissioners of the Board of Trade and Plantations (under No. 52.).

My Lords,

COUNT Zinzendorff having desired of me to testify what I know relating to the Moravian Brethren in Georgia, I could not, in Justice, refuse to do it.

In the Year 1736. they applied to the Trustees for Georgia, who inquired relating to their Behaviour and Tenets, and sent to his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, who gave a favourable Account of that Branch of Protestants called Moravian Brethren, from what he had read relating to them: And they received further Accounts from several Persons in Germany, that the Moravians were a quiet, industrious, and useful People.

The Trustees granted to the Count and Brethren, Lands in Georgia. They sent over a considerable Number of People, who built a large and good House in the Town of Savannah, and made a very good Settlement in the Country, and throve so well by their Industry, that they created the Envy of others; insomuch that the English People disquieted, &c. and disturbed them for not carrying Arms, tho', at the same time, they did the Government Service, in Labour and other Matters, equal and superior superior to the Service they could have done as Militia. However, several of them, thus disquieted, removed; but, with great Exactness, paid all the Charges the Public had been at on their first Settlement. The Trustees, hearing of these Disquiets, did Justice to the Moravians, reprimanding the Magistrates for suffering them to be disturbed; and granted their Request of not obliging them to take up Arms: And there are several of them now at Savannah, who are very industrious Men, and go on in Improvements; and, I think, the greater Number we could procure of them, the more would increase the Welfare and Cultivation of the Country; and that the Province would receive great Advantages from their Labour, tho' they are indulged in not carrying Arms: And indeed I take it to be one of the principal Points of a new Settlement to indulge all foreign Protestants in the full Exercise of Religion, as well with respect to any Scruples they may have to carrying Arms, as to public Worship, and Form of Oaths: And the Moravians, who are an industrious, sober, and quiet People, disturbed upon account of their Religion in many Countries in Europe, might (if properly encouraged) probably increase the King's Subjects in America by many Thousands. I am,

My Lords,

With great Respect,

London 1 Nov. 1746.

Your Lordships most obedient humble Servant,

James Oglethorpe.

Extract of the Letter from the Honourable Mr. Penn to his Grace the Duke of Newcastle (under N^o 50.).

My Lord Duke,

A Bill having been brought into the House of Commons, at the Instance of some German Protestants called the Moravian Church, to extend the Benefit of a late Act of Parliament for naturalizing Foreigners, who shall settle in the Plantations, to those who make a Scruple of taking an Oath, by granting them the Liberty of an Affirmation or Declaration, as is allowed to the People called Quakers; and, as many of those People have settled in the Province of Pensylvania, their Agents have requested me to certify to your Grace what I know concerning them, they much desiring your Grace's Favour in this Matter: In Justice to these People, I could not refuse their Request.

Many of them have lived in the Province for several Years past, and are a sober, quiet, religious People, have made great Improvements in the Country, and their Example will, I think, be of Advantage to the rest of the People: Besides which, their Visits to the Indians, and sincere Endeavours to make them acquainted with Principles of Religion and Virtue, must, &c. and, in the End, more firmly attach the many Nations of Indians settled behind our Provinces to the British Interest. On this Account, my Lord Duke, I must wish Success to their Bill, and be a Suitor to your Grace for your Favour to it in the House of Peers. I take the Liberty to inclose a Copy of it; and am, with the greatest Regard,

My Lord Duke,

London, April 30th,
1747.

Your Grace's most humble and most obedient Servant,

Tho. Penn.

The Paragraph of the Act of Parliament 20mo GEORGII II. (under N^o. 54.).

— AND whereas many of the People of the Congregation called the Moravian Brethren, and other Foreign Protestants not Quakers, who conscientiously scruple the taking of an Oath, are settled in his Majesty's Colonies in America, and and demean themselves there as a sober, quiet, and industrious People ; and many others of the like Persuasion are desirous to transport themselves thither ; and if the Benefit of the said Act, made in the Thirteenth Year of his present Majesty's Reign, were extended to them, they who are now there would thereby be encouraged to continue their Residence in his Majesty's Colonies, and others would resort thither in greater Numbers, whereby the said Colonies would be improved, their Strength increased, and their Trade extended : Be it therefore Enacted, by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That, from and after the Twenty-fifth Day of December One thousand Seven hundred and Forty-seven, All Foreign Protestants, who conscientiously scruple the taking of an Oath, and who are born out of the Ligeance of his Majesty, his Heirs, or Successors, &c. shall make and subscribe the Declaration of Fidelity, &c.

The Letter of Count Zinzendorf to the Princess Dowager of Orange ; with her Highness's Answer (under No. 58. Artic. DESIRING NO PECUNIARY ASSISTANCE.)

Madame,

LE Baron de Watteville ayant dessein de se présenter à votre Altesse Serenissime avant son départ pour la France, j'ai cru devoir l'accompagner de ces lignes.

Je me trouve ici, Madame, ayant fait état d'y trouver Mr. le Drossard ; je l'ai manqué, mais j'ai parlé avec le Bourgémaître Doen, qui me paroît être assez bien instruit de tout.

Je vois de plus en plus, que Mr. Vultejus, que je compte d'entretenir à la Haye, est fort bien intentionné pour nôtre Etablissement, et qu'il fera son possible, pour y placer quelques uns de nos chers Réfugiés.

J'espère, Madame, que Vous lui écrirez sur le pied, qu'il puisse concevoir, que Vous êtes bien aise, que nos bonnes Ames y vivent tranquillement, et avec plaisir.

Comme nous avons des bonnes raisons de vouloir les établir dans la Baronie, dont la plus forte est, qu'ils y peuvent avoir toutes les denrées à beaucoup meilleur marché que par tout ailleurs ; il est de l'autre côté nécessaire, d'établir sur un pied ferme trois principes.

1. Qu'ils ne puissent negocier en aucune maniere, n'y même travailler, au prejudice des anciens citoyens de la Baronie.

2. Qu'ils ne puissent recevoir la moindre assistance d'aucun homme de cette même Baronie, au prejudice des anciens habitans. C'est pour ce même effet que je supplie très humblement V. A. S^{me} de s'abstenir elle même de sa generosité connue, et de ne fournir nos gens à Yffelftein, ni ouvertement, ni sous main d'aucune façon : les charités étant mal employées pour des gens, qui sont en état, où de se nourrir eux mêmes, où d'être secouru de bien de manieres.

3. Il faut que l'Acte d'Indemnité se fasse d'une maniere possible, cela est vrai : et c'est à cet ecueil, que tout le projet échoueroit sans cela. Mais comme j'espère que Mr. le Drossard n'a d'autre intention la dessus, que celle, que Mr. le Bourgémaître Doen vient de me remontrer ; je crois, Madame, que nous ferons cette affaire ensemble avec une entiere satisfaction des deux parties.

Je suis, Madame, avec le plus profond respect,

Madame,

A Yffelftein,
ce 8 Jan.

De Votre Altesse S^{me}

Les très humble et très obeissant Serviteur,

Louis de Zinzendorff.

The Princess's Answer.Monsieur,

LA Lettre dont vous avez chargé Monsieur de Watteville pour moi, m'a été bien rendue: j'ai été fort aise d'apprendre, que vous voulez parler vous même au Drossard, par rapport aux difficultés qu'on fait de recevoir vos gens à Ysselstein. Je crois que c'est le meilleur parti, parceque le Drossard est au fait de tout. Je viens de recevoir une Lettre de lui, par laquelle il me marque, qu'il a déjà eu occasion de vous parler à la Haye; et il me dit avoir eu le bonheur de croire, que Monf. le Comte étoit satisfait des éclaircissements, qu'il a eu de lui, et qu'il eseroit qu'à votre retour il auroit occasion d'entrevoir, comme on pourroit convenir.

Je suis, avec bien de l'estime,

Votre très affectionnée Servante,

A Leuwarden, ce

et bonne Cousine,

A Narrative or Introduction to the Papers relating to the Article, AN ANCIENT CHURCH (under No. 65.).

THERE are some most antient Families, which, in Consideration of the Barbarism of the remotest Times of their Forefathers, and sometimes a long Chain of Wars, and other Calamities, do lay it down in Fact, that there is no occasion for them to meddle with reconciling the different Opinions of the old Historians in behalf of their Name and Succession; when, at the same time, all unite in confessing the sacred Antiquity of their Genealogy.

The acting Moravian Church, by a prudent Reflection made about that very Matter, declines the Arbitration between the Greek Church and the Waldenses, both of which claim her being descended from them. All what we know with Certitude is, that Bishops sitting in our Chair met with the Case of old Simeon, seeing the first Dawning of the happy Reformation with Complacence, and being very much revered by both Reformers.

The ensuing Papers give some Account to that Effect, according to the following Catalogue.

— AND consequently also concerning that in Bohemia and Moravia collected Congregation of the Moravian and (as they are now called) Herrnhuth Brethren, being well informed and certified, that in antient Times, and at the Beginning of their divine Knowledge, as from that time, when they received the Word of the Gospel, they have had their Guides and Teachers from our Greek People of the Eastern Church; and at that time have flourished in Piety and Truth; from whence they have also propagated the same Seed of the orthodox and unblameable Doctrine there; and in the same orthodox Faith and apostolical Doctrine, what regards the chief and fundamental Doctrines of our most holy Faith, have remained until this time, tho' in Church-Rites, and other Constitutions of our antient Church, they have altered, &c. as appears by the Letter which they have sent us by the Reverend Arvid Gradin, &c.

ILLA certè ratio optima est, quam observant Fratres Picardi, qui Fidei suæ confessionem nuper Regi Ferdinando oblatam anno 1535. ediderunt, cum præfatione D. Lutheri, qui soli prope in orbe cum puritate Doctrinæ vigorem etiam Disciplinæ Christi apud se retinuerunt: quam laudem ut iis tribuamus, & Dominum qui sic in illis operatur, celebremus, res ipsa nos cogit, etiamsi Fratres illi à præposterè doctis nonnullis contemnuntur.

Ratio verò, quam in hac re observant, hæc est, &c.

IDEM ad Matthiam Erythreum, Fratrum Legatum, dixit: Disciplina Ecclesiastica Thronus est Regnantis in Ecclesiâ, Christi. Cumque Erythreus, ne oratione parum politâ offenderetur, oraret, respondit Bucerus: Pietas spectanda est in Christiano, non sermonis elegantia. Divinum autem planè est opus, quòd Vos non admodum eruditi Ecclesiam tam bene moratam habeatis. Nos autem etsi eruditiores videamur, tamen quia Disciplinam negligimus, parum proficimus. Quare de constituendâ omnimodo cogitamus. Cumque Matthias (requisitus) totius ordinis in Ecclesiâ suâ usitatâ rationem explicaret, non tenuit optimus ille Bucerus lacrymas; conversusque ad assistentes Theologos, dixit: Hæc verò est Cœlestis potius, quàm Ecclesiastica in terris hierarchia.

Rogatus verò, ut aliquid ad Fratres scriberet, Quid, inquit, ad eos scriberem, qui in opere Domini bene pergunt? Scripsit tamen, interque alia Epistolæ suæ hæc inseruit: Vos tantum hoc tempore in mundo esse mihi persuadeo, apud quos solos cum sincerâ Doctrinâ, pura, utilis, salutarisque Disciplina viget. Perlegi Confessionem mihi missam, haud parvo perfusus gaudio, visâ apud vos tantâ luce veri, talique rerum ordine ac puritate.

Certè magna existit Dei erga vos liberalitas, quod adeò puram Doctrinam, & ejusmodi Sectatores ejus habeatis, qui id diligenter curant, ut Disciplina quasi postliminò in Ecclesiam reducat.

Nos certè haud mediocriter nostri pudet, quoties nostram Ecclesiam cum hac tali vestrâ comparamus, &c.

Extract of a Letter of the R. Reverend Bishop Jablonsky to Count Zinzendorff (under No. 70.).

YOUR Grace's highly honoured Letter I have, with all due Respect, opened, and out of it have, with uncommon Pleasure, and inward Satisfaction, seen, that the little Flock of Bohemian and Moravian Brethren, which is so despised in the Eye of the World, but which, in its Time, was the Forerunner and Dawn of the Reformation, has, even to this Day, by the all-gracious God, been preserved, tho' secretly, even in their native Country; and that he has made Choice of your Grace to be the kind Protector and Patron of their poor Refugees and Exiles, &c. I praise for it the wise and gracious Conduct of our God, who would graciously farther espouse the Cause of this little Flock, and raise up for it once more such Guardians and Nursing-fathers, as he has, after a wonderful Manner, done in the Person of your Grace. Not to mention, that after the aforesaid Brethren were, in the Thirty Years War, to the Eyes of Men, suppressed, and, as it were, extirpated, in their native Country, they were yet preserved till this Day in their Colonies, which they had long before sent forth into Great Poland; insomuch that all the Reformed Christians in Great Poland both embrace their Confession, and also call them Bohemian Brethren, and make use of their Discipline and Church-Order; as indeed, so long as they still flourished in Bohemia and Moravia, these Two, with those in Great Poland, composed only one Church, and held also their Synods and Councils in Fellowship with one another, &c.

I beg of the all-gracious God, that he would kindly watch over this his little Flock; mightily protect them from those Beasts of Prey, which, without doubt, will set upon them; and make them grow and flourish to his Honour.

THAT the innocent Undertakings at Herrnbuth, which Christendom ought to look upon as a Light shining in the World in the midst of a crooked and perverse Generation, are despised and vilified, I have seen, with much Grief, by Pieces printed on that Subject; yet it could no otherwise be.—Your Grace will not therefore let your Courage sink; but resist, like a Palm-tree, the oppressive Weight with an unterrified Mind, thro' Honour and Reproach, thro' good Report and evil Report, as Deceivers, and yet true. The Servants of Christ cannot fare better than their Lord himself.

If the Circumstances yielded themselves a little more favourable, your Design would be a noble Example, which must prove to the Admiration and Edification of sincere Christians; as indeed in general your Grace's Diligence, which I heard of, in the spiritual spiritual Instruction of your Dependents, and other such Labours, wherein you outdo the most regular professed Teachers, is unparalleled. I conclude, &c.

I Am no-ways able to express the inward Joy of my Heart, which I feel on that Account, that the merciful God, in my old Age, has let me yet live to see how our beloved Bohemian-Moravian Brethrens Congregation, which, in her native Country, was suppressed, and seemed to be extinguished, has yet been counted worthy by God to dispense the Seed of his holy Gospel, even among the remotest Nations in the old and new World.

The Greek Church, Nine Years ago, confessed the Antiquity of Episcopacy amongst us by a public Writing; received the Deputy of our Bishops accordingly; and complied with his Desire but too fully.

The English Hierarchy is so much acquainted with us, that it needs not to be demonstrated, being of public Notoriety, that many of our Priests have been ordained by English Bishops; and, at other times, English Churchmen have received Holy Orders from ours.

The Assisting of the Two principal Presbyteriums of the Evangelic Body in Germany at our Synods, is a true Sign, that we must be known to them in an authentic Manner.

The Extract from a Sermon of Dr. Thomas Bennet, wherein he considers the Case of the Episcopal Churches of the Brethren, preached at London and Southwark, 1715. and printed for Wm. Innys (under No. 76.) To which is added a Letter of Bishop Fleetwood.

—THE Brief in behalf of our Reformed Episcopal Brethren in Great Poland and Polish Prussia has been read to you this Morning; and you are thereby acquainted with their present calamitous Condition. Now, as in the Beginnings of the Gospel the Apostles themselves earnestly solicited, and their Disciples in many distant Regions chearfully made a Contribution for the Support of the Church at Jerusalem, then labouring under grievous Misfortunes, and oppressed with Want; so do my Lords the Bishops, the Successors of the Apostles, not only under the Protection, but also by the Encouragement of His Majesty, earnestly solicit, and 'tis manifestly our Duty to make a Contribution, according as God has enabled us, for the Support of these our Reformed Episcopal Brethren, &c.

'Tis well known, and universally acknowledged, that these our Brethren are descended from those eminent Saints and Martyrs John Huss and Jerom of Prague, who received their Doctrine (in a good measure) from our truly famous Countryman John Wickliff, to whom we are obliged for the first Dawnings of that Reformation, the first Glimmerings of that pure Gospel-Light, which (blessed be God for it!) does now shine so brightly in this Land.

From hence some have taken an Handle of Calumny, and reproach these our Brethren as a Sort of monstrous Christians. They have revived those Accusations, with which others formerly loaded the aforesaid laborious Preachers, and cast all that Filth upon their present Successors in Tribulation, &c. Yet look into the Confession of the Bohemian Churches, and into the Book of their Discipline, and see what Errors you can find there. These are the Standards of what they teach and maintain; and (believe me) whoever looks into those Books, will soon be ashamed of this Objection.

But it is farther said, That these our Brethren are not what they pretend to be. They would fain be thought, and they are pleased to stile themselves, Reformed Episcopal Churches; whereas they have no true Episcopacy amongst them; they have no regular Succession of Bishops, as an Order distinct from, and superior to, Presbyters, &c.

That I may clear this Matter briefly, be pleased to understand, That those Churches ——— in the Twelfth and the following Centuries, till Luther's Time, had undoubted Bishops amongst them, &c.

But to cut this Matter short, and prevent all Possibility of Cavil, I appeal to History and plain Fact. The Chain of their Succession, and the Method by which they preserved it, are very particularly recorded, and that in the most satisfactory Manner. When they were sensible that they wanted Pastors, they resolved to obtain a Supply of them. And being themselves doubtful, whether an Ordination by Presbyters, without a Bishop, would be valid; or whether it would be defensible, if questioned; therefore, that they might effectually stop the Mouths of Gainsayers, and be furnished with a Clergy of indisputable Authority, they chose Three Persons by Lot; whom certain Bishops of the Vaudois consecrated Bishops; and, by that means, they have continued a regular Succession of Bishops, each of which is truly and properly a Diocesan, having a determinate Number of Pastors, with the respective Congregations, over whom he exercises Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction; and they have not only Bishops, but also Priests and Deacons; which Bishops, Priests, and Deacons, are with them, as they are with us, Three distinct Orders; this being most evidently their Notion and Practice, as appears by the Book of their Discipline, which is so well known to the learned World, &c.

Good Brother,

BEfore these Sheets were quite finished at the Press, I received a Letter from The Deputies of the Episcopal Reformed Churches in Great Poland and Polish Prussia, &c. * wherein they earnestly intreat me, after the Example of His Grace my Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, and my Lord of London, to recommend the most deplorable State those Churches, &c. are now in to the charitable Consideration of the Reverend Clergy of my Diocese. The Request was so reasonable, and the Example so good, that I complied with it, and followed it immediately; and gladly took the Opportunity of conveying my Desires to you, on their Behalf, together with my Charge, as soon as it could be.

The King, of his great Goodness, hath been moved to grant a general Brief, for the Relief of these distressed People, which will give you a full Account of their unspeakable Sufferings past and present, and what further Miseries they are like to undergo, unless supported by us. This Brief will come amongst you about a Month hence: But I hope, and desire, you will, in some of the Interim, use your Endeavours to dispose your People to a more than ordinary Liberality in contributing to the Necessities of these our Christian Brethren of the same Household of Faith with us. And I intreat you to take care to make as good Dispatch in this Collection as you well can, because these Necessities are so very strong and pressing on the poor Sufferers. I am,

Good Brother,

A Letter from the late Dr. Isaac Watts to a Friend of his in America, concerning Count Zinzendorff (under No. 77.)

Reverend and dear Sir,

PERhaps you have heard of that noble and excellent Person Count Zinzendorff, who has Possession of a small Territory, I think it is in Silesia, between Moravia and Poland, who has given a Refuge to the persecuted Remains of the Moravian and Bohemian Churches in his small Dominion. He himself did me the Honour to make me a Visit last Year, and told me he had about 900 Souls there. He is a Person of uncommon Zeal and Piety, and of an Evangelic Spirit: He has pursued Learning in several Universities; has at last taken upon him the Office of the Holy Ministry; and, as I have been informed, is made a Superintendent over that Church or Churches.

Part of these Moravians are transplanted to Georgia, and he is now making a Visit to them: But, having read the Account of the wonderful Conversions in New England, even before I sent him the Narrative, he has a great Desire to see your Country. He is now in Holland ready to take Ship. If he should visit you in the Spring

* Collections throughout the Reformed Christendom are truly Apostolical: but, weighty Reasons prevailing upon our Church-Leaders during these last Times, they were not at all used by the Moravian Refugees.

Spring or Summer, I persuade myself you will shew him all the Christian Civilities and Offices of Love, which so excellent and honourable a Character deserves. He is of a middle Stature, between Thirty and Forty Years of Age, speaks Latin and French well; but 'twas only in Latin I conversed with him, having forgot the familiar Phrases of Discourse in French. I presume he will deliver this Letter to you with his own Hand. May our Lord Jesus Christ, the Head of the Church, multiply his Gifts and Graces upon you, and amongst you, that, if it were the Will of God, we might have more such Narratives of the Power of his Grace in the Conversion of Multitudes. Amen. I am,

Newington,

Dear Sir,
Your affectionate Brother, and humble Servant,

BEING well acquainted with the Theological Responsum of the Body of Divines at Tubingen; with the Testimonials of Orthodoxy; with both the Letters of Consecration for the respective Bishops, given by Dr. Jablonsky, Bishop of the Bohemian and Moravian Brethren; and with his Prussian Majesty's Letters of Confirmation and Recommendation; we have, not only for the sake of the above-mentioned Recommendation, received the Congregation at Herrnhag into our County of Ysenburg, and granted granted that Right to build the new Place called Herrnhaag; but we are also so entirely convinced, from their own printed Writings (for Instance, The Moravian Manual of Doctrine), and from their now upwards of Four Years in our Country manifested Transactions in Doctrine, Life, and Practice, as to acknowledge them for an orthodox and pure Protestant Congregation, according to the Episcopal Moravian Church-Discipline and Order. And we do acknowledge them hereby, and grant them, by virtue of these Letters Patents, the free Exercise of Religion, with regard to their public Worship and Church-Discipline; as also the Right of presenting and investing their Ministers; as also the Right of exercising the rest of their Church-Constitution, Liberty, and Regulation; so that they shall have unlimited Power in choosing, investing, and ordaining, and also in removing their Elders, Ministers, and Servants.

The Testimony of the Swedish Divines at Stralsund, given to Count Zinzendorff after a public Conference (under No. 97.).

THE illustrious Lord Nicolaus Lewis, Count of the Sacred Roman Empire, Count and Lord of Zinzendorff and Pottendorff, Knight of the Danebrog, &c. in the Month of April of this current Year 1734. being arrived incognito at Stralsund, and having been so a few Days, &c. preached publicly with Applause; for in his Sermon was nothing but the pure Truth, &c. He graciously took Confidence to us (who are Divines, that have been honoured by his Majesty of Sweden with Commissions concerning Religion, as unexceptionable and impartial Men), that we sincerely, as in the Sight of God, without Respect of Person, would act in this Affair; and therefore desired, that we might appoint a Colloquium with him, &c.—And, as we could not withdraw ourselves from such a just Request, we did therefore begin a Conference with his Excellency, in the Name of God, and Fear of the Lord, on the 18th Day of April, Dom. Palmar. which was also continued the following Days.

We wish, from the Bottom of our Heart, that the God of Truth, and of Love, and of Peace, may further strengthen and preserve his Excellency in every good Work; that he, to all his salutary Undertakings, may impart from above abounding Grace, Spirit, and Blessings; that he may take for ever the dear Moravian Brethren, and the whole Congregation at Herrnbuth, into his peculiar Care, Protection, and Assistance; and grant them Rest and Peace, that they may walk in all Purity and Love before him, and, as his People, serve him gladly and indefatigably in the Beauty of Holiness. May he tread under his and their Feet Satan, as the irreconcilable Adversary of the Children of God, and all that makes Resistance to the Kingdom of Jesus, &c.

The Narrative relating to the Article QUIET-MINDED (under No. 100.).

THERE is hardly a Christian Denomination in the World, which deserves less to be looked upon with a jealous Eye, than that of the Brethren; and tho', at their first Appearing in Germany (after being, throughout the Space of above Two Centuries, Centuries, universally applauded and wished for in all the Protestant Congregations), the Longing after their Ministry was, in all Protestant Provinces, so surprisingly great, that several Thousand People were committed to the Brethrens Care by the proper Guardians of the above-mentioned Congregations; yet it is to be seen plainly, in the Introduction to the Second Article, how carefully the Brethren avoided the Coalition of the other Protestant Congregations with their Constitution, and how happily they restored the old Union of Sandomir in all its Branches.

Now, it is to be shewn by the following Vouchers, how the Brethren behaved about the several Commissions they found themselves intrusted with these Twenty-five Years past, and on the several Occasions, when Multitudes of religious People threw themselves, with the utmost Fervency, into our Care; and how we are used to act towards the Constitutions already established, when it appears to us, that the Privileges to be granted to us may prove unfruitful, if not prejudicial to their present Conveniency.

The Abstract of the Account of the Deputation of the Brethren to the Greek Church at Constantinople in the Year 1740. in order to prevent Misunderstandings on account of the Brethrens settling in Wallachia, and of their Mission among the Guebers in Persia (under No. 113.).

Apr. 21. I visited the Patriarch of Jerusalem, a learned Man, who speaks old Greek very well; and then the other Prelates also, among whom the Chief were the Metropolitan of Cyzicus; he of Cæsarea; and he of Dercon. This last was an exceeding clever Man, and one of the most learned among the Greeks, who also spoke Latin tolerably well.

I told him of the Beginning, Progress, and present State of the Congregations; how our Saviour had manifested himself among the Brethren; what Grace ruled among them; in how holy, godly, and amiable a Manner they lived together, call one another Brothers and Sisters, and, like the first Apostolical Christians, act with mutual Christian Affection and Harmony.

He asked me, Whether their Excellencies the Embassadors knew thereof, and of the Reason of my Journey? To which I, as the Truth was, answered affirmatively.

Apr. 24. he came to me about 10 in the Forenoon, It was Sunday; and, about 11, I was to perform Divine Service. After a short Discourse together, I brought him him to their Excellencies the Embassadors ; who received him with great Civility. In his Address to them, he expressed his Affection for me to this Effect : “ Diu plurimum optavi, ut amicitiam vestram habeam, donec reverendissimus frater me re-præsentare voluit, cujus familiaritas summopere me delectavit, & cujus summa est doctrina, & pietas & virtus, &c.”

The 26. very early, I went to the Metropolitan of Dercon ; and we went together to the Patriarch, where I first waited about Half an Hour in an Antichamber.—The Patriarch, after the Manner of the Eastern Nations, sat in one Corner upon a Sofa ; and received me with quite particular Goodness. After I had performed my Salutation,—he bid me sit just by him, and not only order’d me some Coffee, but also Incense to be brought ; which last is, in this Land, the greatest Sign of Respect that can be shewn.—Upon his asking me about my Travels, and whence I came, I had room to mention, that I came from Germany ; where I had had Opportunity to become acquainted with the United Brethren, with whom I had resided a considerable Time, and was in a particular Connexion with them : That these Brethren, in respect of the Faith, and the Knowledge of the Truth, were Descendents of the Greek Church ; and that, to this very Day, they supported themselves within their own peculiar Congregations. Therewith I stood up, and delivered the Salutation from our Bishops,—and also gave him the Letter ; which he himself open’d, and gave it the Metropolitan of Dercon, who alone was present with us, to read. After reading the Letter, the Archbishop explained, in modern Greek, both the Purport of the Letter, and the whole Matter.

May 4. I asked the Archbishop, if he had read over the History. He said, Yes ; and that every Thing exactly agreed with their Church-History and Chronicles ; only that Part, what happen’d since 1600. was not known to them.

May 12. I visited him again ; when he assured me from the Patriarch, and all the Metropolitans, that they were much rejoiced at the State of the Brethren, and their Congregation at Herrnhuth, as also at this, that their Labour among the Heathen was so blessed ; but, at the same time, it grieved them, that they were not able to yield us a full Satisfaction ; for this Reason, because all interfering with foreign Matters was utterly forbidden them ; besides they were much plagued by a certain Set of People, who as soon as they perceived that they did so, would not fail to accuse them (the Greeks) at the Porte, and draw upon them great Disasters.—For the rest, they knew well, that we differed from them now in Constitutions and Ceremonies ; but, on that Account, we should not think, that they for all that were not well disposed towards us ; forasmuch as they themselves did not reckon the outward Regulations as something essential, but rather themselves thought the simplest to be the best.—

The 22d. I went to the Patriarch of Jerusalem, with whom I was particularly acquainted, and who is a great Man ; to whom I first represented the Matter briefly, and then shewed him both the Writings, the Patriarch’s and mine ; desiring that he would tell me his Opinion thereof, and give me his Advice. He read first the Patriarch’s Writing thro’ ; and said thereupon, That is fine ! &c.

Then I asked him what I should do ; keep the Writing, or return it back ? Keep it, was his Answer ; for, said he, this Writing was certainly penned with great Understanding, Skill, and Circumspection ; so that one can also make use of it to the desired End. But, said I, there is a very material Fault therein, viz. that, in this Writing, it is pretended, that the whole Church of the Brethren acknowledges the peculiar Things of the present Eastern Church, &c.

I perceive that, said the Patriarch, and wonder much at it, how People could act so perfunctorily and negligently herein. For, in the first Place, of what Faith and Religion are the Moravian Brethren ? Of the AUGSBURG CONFESSION, answer’d I, &c.—

You can yourselves judge and see, that, in such a weighty Matter as this is, one should have been more exact.

I asked once more, Whether I should keep the Writing, or give it back? If you think it a Matter of Consequence, said he—But, said I, about that Point of the Union? One may see, answered he, whether it cannot be altered; for Instance, instead of τὴν ἐνότητά to put τινὲς τῆς ἐνότητος, and to desire the Chancellor, whose Hand-writing it is, to alter these Words. Herewith I took Leave of him. He spoke to me in nothing but Old Greek; and so fine and plain, that I could understand every-thing perfectly well.

The 23d I visited the Great Patriarch, whom I first thanked for the favourable Disposition which he would shew towards me by his Writing.—Then I gave him my Writing; which he received from me with great Complaisance, and read it from Beginning to End, so loud, that I could hear. But when I thereupon gave him his own Writing back, he was quite in a Consternation, and would restore it me again twice over.

The 26th I visited the Patriarch, who answered me with the Word Niente; and farther explained himself thereupon by saying, that he had done all that he could, and was much disposed to do us a Pleasure: That at present he of Dercon, who had contributed most thereto, was not here; and the Chancellor also was gone into the Country; therefore he could do nothing more. I asked, if I might expect anything, supposing I should speak again with the Archbishop of Dercon? Whereto he answered, We have done what we could.—Otherwise he was indeed civil to me, but yet I perceived he was not well pleased that I would not accept and keep his Writing.

June 4th I took a Journey early in the Morning to the Archbishop. He was much surpris'd to see me; for he thought I had been already gone. I turned the Discourse soon to my Affair, and asked him, Whether he did not know that I had returned the Writing to the Patriarch? No, said he. But wherefore? Therefore, answered I, because you would make us all New Greeks.—As to what relates to the Conversion of the Heathens, said he, we durst not mention it.—If the * * * should light upon such a Writing, wherein we seek to undertake or promote the Conversion of the Heathens, he would ———, &c.

He said further, That altho' they durst not expressly mention this Point, yet the Writing was so worded, that it could be serviceable to our Brethren to their Purpose: And, said he, I can assure you, that it has cost me much Labour and Pains: I have been Two whole Days at work upon it; the Chancellor wrote, and I read, altered, omitted, and added what I found necessary. I believe so, said I; and therefore your Grace has also converted our whole Church to your present Constitution! But as he would not acknowledge this, we began to read thro' the whole Writing together; and those Words, ἀναδεχομένων τὰ τῆς ἀρχαίας ἀνατολικῆς ἡμῶν ἐκκλησίας, (receiving all which belongs to our antient Eastern Church) he explained so, that the Brethren receive only, that which belonged to the old, first, apostolical Eastern Church; and that thereby must be understood, not the present new, but the OLD APOSTOLICAL EASTERN CHURCH, WHOSE DOCTRINAL POSITIONS THE MORAVIAN BROTHERHOOD, AS BEING A CONGREGATION OF THE APOSTOLIC SPIRIT, WITHOUT ALL DOUBT DID RECEIVE: And one could not suppose otherwise, but that they are One with the antient Eastern Church; and that the whole Congregation, in the same chief Points, is of one Mind with those Members who go into Asia. I answered him thereupon, That this Exposition will come into no Man's Mind who reads the Writing, unless he should have the very same Advantage which I now enjoy, to be informed thereof, &c.

Then

Then he advised me to take the Writing again. I said, The Union in Doctrinalibus, which was mentioned in that Letter, was the only Thing which deterred me from it; so that I could not take the Letter again; otherwise I would gladly take it, let it be as it would, and it should be a Pleasure to me to do what was agreeable to him; only here it was not possible, and I durst not.——We walked up and down the Chamber; and this my Answer, and Steadiness, troubled him very much.——At last he said to me, O take the Writing back, however; you can afterwards do with it what you please, deliver it, or keep it, when it is but gone:—For, said he, the Letter has been read in the Consistory, and also written into the Archives; and nothing can well be altered, &c.

The Testimony of the Royal Commissary in Holstein concerning the Brethren, out of a Letter to his Danish Majesty Christian VI. (under No. 118.)

— I AM obliged to confess, before God and Men, to my best Knowledge and Conscience, and testify, That the said Moravian Brethren, as long as I have known them, are pure in the fundamental Doctrines of our most Sacred Faith; have a tender Conscience; are not only inoffensive in their Conversation, but also edifying; and live in Peace with every Body; their Actions have not the least Appearance of Self-will: They live in those Houses which have been hitherto built, though they are near an hundred, like a single Family, peaceable, industrious, diligent like an Ant-hill, and so orderly and quiet, that you hardly perceive, that any body lives there, &c.

The Dutch Consul's Relation of the Death of the Rev. Mr. Abraham Ehrenfried Richter, Missionary from the Brethrens Church among the Slaves at Algiers (under No. 119.) to the present Admiral Schryver.

I Suppose your Honour will surely have heard before now, that the Plague was brought in here in a French Tartane arrived the 17th of May from Alexandria. The Government having not used the least Care to prevent it, tho' it made but a small Progress in the Beginning, since the 13th of June it increased so violently, that there are even now about Thirty thousand dead: Which Fate even all the Priests in the Hospital, Two French Ministers, and the Rev. Mr. Abraham Ehrenfried Richter, were obliged to undergo. The last-mentioned Gentleman was the 16th of July attacked by a violent Fever, accompanied with a severe Head-ach; after which, the 17th in the Evening, there arose Two Boils under his Arm. A little before that, the Gentleman wrote me word, that he used to be subject to such Attacks of the Fever, and that there was nothing of the Plague mixt with it; which in some measure comforted me.—But the next Morning he was found dead.——It caused me great Surprise and Concern. I took Care for his Interment. He was placed not far from the Minister Gempsaal, and the Grave was walled on the Top. I am extremely in Pain to find myself obliged to mention to you this News; and condole your Honour about it, and that the more sincerely, as his Attachment to your Honour's Person, his virtuous Life and Conduct, and his loving Conversation, hath inspired me with a particular Regard for him.

When the Plague raged most furiously, there were some Days wherein Five hundred were snatched away : Now the Number doth not amount to Two hundred per Day. It is also observed, that some Days since, several People recovered, that had been seized by it ; which seems to prove, that the Strength of the Poison is decreasing, and affords us Hopes that this Plague may have an End : Which may God Almighty grant, &c.

The Testimony of One of the Directors of the Danish West-India Company, concerning the Brethrens Labours among the Negroes in the Caribees, (under N^o. 120.)

BEfore Leonhard Dober's and David Nitschman's Arrival, one never heard of a Conversion of Negroes in these Islands.

The Conversion of the Negroes was, under God's Blessing, begun by Frederic Martin 1736 ; and in 1738. before his Imprisonment, there were 450. In the mean while, by the faithful Labour of the Negro-Teachers themselves, the Number of the Awakened increased to 650, and increases daily, notwithstanding the Oppressions, Beating, Reviling, Threatening, Burning of Books, &c.

The Preparation to the Examination was, That Martinus was imprisoned ; and it at the same time rumoured about, that the baptized Negroes should be whipped, and burnt in the Face ; the Brethren should be banished the Country, and transported to the Bremer-holm.

They were imprisoned under this Pretence to suffer corporally, for not paying the Penalties laid upon them for not Swearing ; and, because the Penalties were increased every Week, the Imprisonment would have lasted for ever, if the Lord had not interposed *.

For the rest, even Persons who were Magistrates, in talking about the granted Liberty of Conscience, have said, 1. That it avails nothing, because it was for the Mærischen Brethren, but Frederick Martin was a Moravian Brother ; and, 2. What was lawful in Santa Cruz, would not therefore be lawful in St. Thomas.

The Negroes become like Lambs under the Instruction of the Brethren : Their deserting to Porto Rico is quite out of Use ; the running wild is almost unheard-of. Formerly, the Negroes did rob their Masters to almost half the Product ; now they let it alone, and labour with all their Hearts, and with Love, notwithstanding their Oppression.

I attest the above Things according to Truth.

A Letter of Thanks from the General Synod to his Majesty the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, declining the Settling of the Moravian Hierarchy in Saxony (under No. 114.).

SIRE,

IN the First place, the General Synod of the Evangelic Moravian Brethren returns your Majesty the most humble Thanks, for the Examination of our State, as to Doctrine and Constitution, according to our Ordinary's * Desire.

And as we have that Confidence in the Penetration of the honourable Commission, that they, allowing always for human Imperfection, will have done due Justice to our past Conduct:

So, in the next Place, amidst the Reception into your Majesty's Countries, as a Consequence of the good Issue of the aforesaid High Commission, which is presumed by all the World, and taken Notice of in almost all News-papers, we cannot forbear humbly suggesting to your Majesty our Apprehension, and eventual Request.

Our Apprehension is, that a solemn Reception of our Church into your Majesty's Lands, will bring your Majesty more Trouble, than Benefit to us and our Congregations.

For since it is a known Thing, that, on the one hand, your Majesty would not offer less to the Moravian Church in a Royal Decree of Reception, and, on the other, the Presidents of our Churches, in the Name of the same, could not, without having much to answer for to Posterity, accept of less, than what is already granted us elsewhere: Therefore our Ordinary, in a Synodal Conference appointed on that Account, has remonstrated, that such a Decree cannot be given, without putting the Bodies of Divines in your Majesty's Realms in an Embarrassment among themselves; since some of them will insinuate, that no Umbrage is hereby given to the national Constitution, and others again will dispute this.

Our Ordinary added, that, for his Person, he could not but be of their Opinion, who look upon such a Privilege as an Innovation in the Church-Affairs of the Electorate of Saxony.

The Measures of one Protestant Electoral House are therefore not to be applied to another; because the Moravian Hierarchy has already been acknowledged above One hundred Years in the Countries of Brandenburg, when in Saxony it has never been attempted; attempted; but was by the Ordinary not only removed in 1733. upon stating the Question to the Divines of Tubingen, but even in 1735. when the said Hierarchy, thro' the Episcopal Succession, came into Lutheran Hands, was of set Purpose suspended in Herrnbuth.

Now since your Majesty, upon the Report made to you by your Commission, has actually resolved upon settling the Brethren in your Dominions, and graciously notified the same to us; the shortest and best Way thereto appears to us to be, if it might please your Majesty to take upon you the formal Protection of the whole Evangelical Lutheran Tropus, in the same manner as it has been done in the Brandenburg Land with the Reformed, and even, ipso facto, with respect to the Lutheran, in Herrnbuth.

We could the less resist this Proposal of our Ordinary, as we find it to be grounded in the Nature of the Thing; and do beforehand promise ourselves, that it must both meet with your Majesty's most gracious Approbation, and also draw after it the Applause of your higher and lower Colleges and Bodies, and of the whole States, and even of all Minds unprejudiced in this Matter.

The Conditions are then easily made.

A Congregation of Christ loves to be subject, and wants few Exemptions.

She walks in the Light, and is at all Events able, even if she came under the Direction of personal Adversaries, to convince them in a short time by Facts.

The only Circumstance under which a Congregation of Christ cannot but sigh, is the so-called Privileges; whenever so screwed up, that, amidst his seeming to be favoured, a Man rather finds himself deprived even of those Liberties which all his Fellow-Citizens of a like Quality actually enjoy, and without any special Concession. These are granted by the Prince out of a generous Heart, and then by other Men of a different Disposition, thro' the known Stress and Intricacy which Words are capable of, so turned, as they would fain have them, &c.

But all these Inconveniencies may be avoided, &c.

We remain, with the deepest Veneration,

Your Majesty's most humbly obedient,

In the House of Zeyst,

Extract of the Charter of the Brethrens Settlement in Silesia (N^o 132. under the Article, Such Liberties as in the PLACES WHERE THEY NOW RESIDE.)

We Frederic, by the Grace of God King of Prussia, Margrave of Brandenburg, Arch-Treasurer and Elector of the Sacred Roman Empire, Sovereign Prince of Silesia, &c.

BE it known by these Presents, that whereas our fatherly Care incessantly has in View the Improvement, Peopling, and Increase of Trade, of our Silesian Country; and whereas it has been most humbly represented to Us, that the so-called Moravian Brethren have settled in some Places in Silesia, and there have partly built Houses, and raised very useful Edifices, and partly are about building more, and more considerable, and about establishing several Manufactories, &c. and whereas the fundamental Positions of their Doctrine imply nothing contrary to the Religion tolerated in the Empire, and in our Churches lying within and without the same:

Accordingly we have graciously resolved, suitably to their own Request sent by their Deputy, of October 6. 1744. to ordain as follows:

And do ordain herewith, by virtue of these Presents, That we, in the First place, again confirm to them that already-granted free Exercise of Religion, according to the Tenets and Discipline of their Church; and give Leave that they may build Chapels on their particularly agreed-to Places of their Settlements:— That they, however, in their Religion, so as is usual in others which are tolerated in Christian Countries, leave it to every one's Persuasion and Conviction to join with them, &c.—

We will not suffer that the Moravian Brethren be attacked in Libels by any of our Subjects, or be in any-wise disturbed contrary to our Intention hereby uttered.

—— Nobody, who, as above-mentioned, from his own Consideration, joins with them, and alters his Habitation, shall meet with Difficulties from the Magistrates, with regard to his Translocation, Fortune, and Estate, or be demanded more from than is customary in such Cases.

We do also further most graciously grant to the above-mentioned Brethren, to remove, according to their liking, one or more Families from one privileged Place to another, or even to transplant into a foreign Country.

And whereas the Deputy of the Moravian Brethren has also desired, that they might be exempted from bearing of Arms; we will that those foreign Families, who settle in Silesia, shall by all means enjoy the same Privilege, as already in that Decree of 1741. &c.——Hence they shall also be exempted from being noted down for military Service.

Lastly, we consent graciously, that in case one or other of the Brotherhood should be accused by the People of other Denominations, such an Accusation shall always be communicated to their Superiors settled in Silesia, before there be further provided about it. But in all other Concerns they, like other Inhabitants, shall depend from the respective Courts of Justice.

We finally command to our supreme, and all other inferior Courts in Silesia, and every body whom it concerns, &c. to support at all times effectually the above-mentioned Moravian Brotherhood, as well in their Liberty of Conscience, as in the free Exercise of their Worship; as also in those Benefits and Privileges which are comprehended in our general Charter; and not to connive at any body's incroaching upon them under what Pretence soever.

Extract of the present King of Denmark's Inlarging of the former Charters of King Christian the VIth, relating to the Brethrens Settlement in the Caribbee Islands (under N^o. 134.).

To the President and the Directors of the West-India and Guiney Company.

FREDERIC V. &c. &c.

WHEREAS a most humble Petition, dated the 30th of April this Year, was presented by David Nitschman and Frederic Martin, whereof the first is Senior and Ordinary of the Mission for converting the Heathens, and the other the First Minister, &c.

This is to let you know, that upon this most humble Petition of the said David Nitschman and Frederic Martin, we have not only most graciously confirmed our dearest Father of most glorious Memory his Order to you of the 7th Aug. 1739. wherein Leave was given to Albinus Theodorus Feder to labour in Fellowship with the said Frederic Martin towards the Conversion of the Negroes in St. Thomas's; and there, as well as in the other Colonies subjected to us, &c. as also that you should look to it, that the Government of St. Thomas defend them against all and every one, as long as they do not transgress the Limits prescribed them; with the rest of the Contents of the said most gracious Decree; but we have at the same time most graciously willed, that whenever the first-authorized Minister of the Moravian Brethren at St. Thomas's shall signify the same to the Government by a Certificate, as well an Assistant-Pastor, who, in case the Ordinary-Pastor should be called away, immediately is to succeed him, as also Deacons for the Conversion of the Heathens, shall be admitted. The Number of other Helpers, who are not ordained, or to act in Ecclesiastic Functions, but only requisite to help the Ministers, according to the Brethrens own Opinion, may be augmented more or less, so as they themselves think it needful, as long as they do not become expensive to the Colony, &c.

Addendum (No. III.) The Declaration delivered to the several Offices of the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Secretaries of State, and the Master of the Rolls 1748.

THE Brethren of the Antient Bohemian Episcopal Church, observing themselves involved in that universal Disease of this Time, that Writers do acquaint the Public with Things about us, intirely unknown to the said Writers themselves; after a Silence of several Years, supported by the happy Correspondence the late Primate of all England was in with their Presidents, whose Grace has been acquainted with all our Principles and Designs; yea, with the least Observations or Emendations, in relation to them, which the Nature of a free Church of Christ supposes:

The aforesaid Church now, with all that Modesty and Deference New-Comers in any Country seem to be obliged to towards all the Persuasions of what Kind soever, which preceded her Arrival, and particularly towards the Christians of the National Church, who, besides the reciprocal Laws of Hospitality, claims a kind of Respectus Parentele, declares by this,

1. That the Public is abused, by our being confounded with certain Sects which Part of the Clergy now finds in its Way.

P

2. In

2. In order to prove the foregoing, we will willingly submit to any ordinary or extraordinary legal Examination of our Principles, Confessions, Ritual Customs, and daily Practice, in that respect, with the Guardians of our Constitution.

3. That the Conservation, to the End of the World, of the present happy Constitution of these Realms, in Politicis & Ecclesiasticis, is the hearty Desire and real Aim in the Prayers of all the Brethren.

4. That notwithstanding the natural Contempt an Antient Apostolical Church, which, after its Restoration by Divine Providence, walks Twenty-five Years in the very Face of all Europe with all the Freedom of a good Conscience, may have against that Commerce of Pamphlets which the Empirical Spiritus Novandi establishes, and the customary Impatience or Uneasiness of the Sufferers furnishes; nevertheless,

5. By these Advertisements sincere Offers are made to the Public, in order that if any Man of undoubted Sense and Candor will take the Pains upon himself to fix the Accusations against us in their real Point of View, hitherto unattainable by the Brethren, and perhaps the Public too, then we will answer to the Expectations of the Public as free and directly, as may be expected from honest Subjects of the Constitution of these Realms*.

OF THE
XXI Doctrinal ARTICLES
OF THE
EVANGELICAL CONFESSION

Presented at AUGSBURG to the Emperor C H A R L E S V.

BY THE Protestant Princes and States; as the Elector of Saxony, the Margrave of Brandenburg, the Duke of Lunenburg, the Landgrave of Hesse, and Others; and read publicly in the Diet the 30th Day of June, 1530. (mentioned under N° 26.)

P R E F A C E.

*I*N this Translation of the Augsburg Confession, we have contented ourselves with the XXI Doctrinal Articles; where some others also, in their Dissertations upon it, have concluded, because these are, properly speaking, The Confession.

What is further necessary to be here said, is sufficiently expressed in the Beginning and Close of A Writing, which, by a Deputation appointed for that Purpose, was presented to the General Synod of the Unity in the Year 1748. Whereupon, as all the Presbyterian Tropus's of the BRETHRENS Church had done it before, the Episcopal Constitution also itself did now, in Germany, Silesia, Holland, and England, purely and simply receive the unvaried Augsburg Confession.

*It begins thus: "Notwithstanding the Ordinary of the Brethren does no-
 " ways depart from that Precaution, which he used at the very Beginning
 " (in his Apology, distributed at Ratisbone, Anno 1735. and since then laid
 " as a Foundation by the respective Princes and Governments at the Reception " of the Brethren) not to increase the Number of Systems by any new, or " even new-modelled one; yet, since the Obstinacy of our Adversaries (who,
 " without doubt, from no other Cause, do dispute our hearty Harmony in " Doctrine with the Augsburg Confession, but because they themselves do " not understand it) if it does not free us from all Tedioufness of Tautology,
 " when in this Point often Repeating one and the same thing, yet vindicates
 " us always from the Reproach of Battology: Therefore that Foundation,
 " upon which the Congregation at Herrnhuth, and the Ordinary's Household,
 " have already been united Twenty-four Years ago, and which they have " hitherto retained among Christians, Jews, and Heathens, and, under God's " Blessing, are in Duty bound to retain even to the End; shall once more be " laid before the Eyes of the Evangelic Moravian Church of the Brethren,
 " assembled in General Synod, &c."*

*The same Writing concludes with these Words: "But indeed the Holy " Ghost, the essential Truth, must here interpose, and himself be our unex-
 " ceptionable Witness in the Hearts of all Believers; that even if some time " or other, in the Hour of Temptation, a Thousand-fold more of Mankind should " stagger and deviate from this Philadelphian Foundation of Faith now be" fore us, than, in the present indolent Situation of human Minds, does already " happen; yet certainly never any one out of our School would be able,
 " without being false to his own Heart, to give up a Tittle of it, since it is
 " the Doctrine, which in general our Teachers have, in an ingenuous Man" ner, been brought upon, and the wholesome Food, whereby, God be praised!
 " we all have throve according to our inward Man."*

SECT. I.

Of the HOLY TRINITY.

WE teach, with one Consent, that there is One only Divine Being, which is named, and truly is, GOD.

Yet in this One Divine Being there are Three Persons, equal in Power, and co-eternal, God the Father, God the Son, God the Holy Ghost:

All Three, One Divine Being;

Which is eternal, without Parts, without End; of immense Power, Wisdom, and Goodness;

Maker and Preserver of all Things, both visible and invisible.

By the Word Person is not understood a Piece, nor a Property existing in another, but one who subsists by himself. (See Augsb. Confess. Art. I.)

SECT. II.

Of ORIGINAL SIN.

WE teach, that, since the Fall of Adam, all Mankind, naturally ingendered from him, are conceived and born in Sin.

That is, They, from the very Womb, are full of evil Lusts and Inclinations; and have, by Nature, no true Fear of God, nor true Faith in God;

Neither can have.

Also

Also this innate Disease, or Original Sin, is truly Sin;
And condemns under God's eternal Wrath all such, who are not born again thro'
Water and the Holy Ghost.

Nature is not pious or good, neither can be made so by natural Strength; and the supposing thereof is a Reproach to the Sufferings and Merit of Christ. (*See Augsb.
Conf. Art. II.*)

S E C T. III.

Of JESUS CHRIST, and his Atonement.

WE teach, that God the Son became Man, born of the pure Virgin Mary:

And that the Two Natures, the Divine and Human in One Person, as being inseparably united, are One Christ, who is true God, and true Man.

Who was truly born, suffered, was crucified, dead, and buried,

To the end that he might be a Sacrifice, not only for Original Sin, but also for all other Sin, and appease God's Wrath.

Also, that the same Christ descended into Hell, and on the third Day truly rose from the Dead;

And ascended into Heaven, sitting at the Right Hand of God, that he may reign for ever over all Creatures, and govern them;

That He, through the Holy Ghost, may sanctify, purify, strengthen, and comfort all who believe on him;

May give them Life, and impart to them manifold Gifts and good Things, and protect and defend them against the Devil and Sin.

Also, That the same Lord Christ will at last come openly to judge the Quick and the Dead. (See Art. III.)

S E C T. IV.

Of the JUDGMENT, and End of the World, more at large.

WE teach, that our Lord Jesus Christ will at the last Day come to Judgment, and will raise up all the Dead.

To the Elect, and to Believers, he will give eternal Life, and everlasting Joy;

But wicked Men, and Devils, he will condemn to Hell and eternal Punishment.

Therefore we disapprove of those, who teach, that Devils, and damned Men, shall not have eternal Pain and Anguish.

Also we disapprove of those Judaical Doctrines, that before the Resurrection of the Dead the Saints, the Godly, shall have a worldly Kingdom,

And shall extirpate all the Ungodly. (See Art. XVII.)

Of JUSTIFICATION by FAITH.

WE teach, that we cannot attain Forgiveness of Sins, and Righteousness before God, thro' our own Merit, Work, or Satisfaction:

But that we obtain Pardon of Sins, and are made righteous before God, out of Grace, for Christ's sake,

Thro' Faith; even such whereby we believe, that Christ has suffered for us,

And that for his sake Sin is forgiven us, and Righteousness and eternal Life bestowed upon us.

For it is this Faith which God will account and impute for Righteousness before him, as Paul says, Rom. iii. & iv. (See Art. IV.)

S E C T. VI.

Of the PREACHING of the GOSPEL.

FOR the attaining of such Faith, God has instituted the Office of Preaching; Has given the Gospel, and the Sacraments, whereby, as through Means, he gives the Holy Spirit:

Which Holy Spirit works Faith in those who hear the Gospel, where and when it pleaseth him.

What is taught by the Gospel is, that we, thro' the Merit of Christ, not thro' our own Merit, have a propitious God, if so be that we believe it.

Therefore we blame those who teach, that we attain the Holy Spirit without the external Word of the Gospel, by our own Preparation, Thoughts, and Works. (See Art. V.)

Of GOOD WORKS following Faith.

WE teach, that Faith shall bring forth good Fruits, and good Works; and that a Man must do all kinds of good Works which God has commanded, for God's sake;

But must not trust in such Works, to merit Grace before God thereby:

For we receive Forgiveness of Sins, and Righteousness, thro' Faith in Christ, as Christ himself speaks: When ye have done all, say, We are unprofitable Servants.

So the Fathers teach. Ambrose says, God has determined, that whosoever believeth in Christ shall be saved;

And not thro' Works, but only thro' Faith, without Merit, have the Forgiveness of Sins. (See Art. VI.)

S E C T. VIII.

FAITH and WORKS further explained.

MEN do now no more say, that we are justified before God thro' Works alone: They rather speak thus, That Faith and Works make us righteous before God: Which Saying can bring more Comfort, than when Dependence on Works alone is taught.

Now forasmuch as the Doctrine of Faith, which is the chief Point in Christianity, had for so long a Time not been insisted upon, our People have given the following Explanation concerning it:

First, That our Works are not able to reconcile us with God, and purchase Grace:

But this is effected only thro' Faith, when one believes, that our Sins are forgiven us for Christ's sake, who alone is the Mediator to reconcile us to God.

Whoever now supposes, that he can by Works accomplish this, and merit Grace, he despises Christ, and seeks a Way of his own to God, contrary to the Gospel.

This Doctrine of Faith is openly and clearly treated of by Paul in divers Places; particularly in Ephes. ii. By Grace ye are saved, Thro' Faith; and that not of yourselves, but it is the Gift of God; not of Works, lest any Man should boast, &c.

And that herein no new Sense is introduced, may be demonstrated out of one of the old Fathers, who treats of this Point diligently, and teaches,

That we thro' Faith in Christ obtain Grace, and are justified before God, and not thro' Works; as the antient Treatise De Spiritu & Litera shews throughout.

Now altho' this Doctrine is much despised by People who have experienced no inward Trial; yet it is found, that to poor and frightened Consciences, it is very comfortable and wholesome.

For the Conscience cannot come to Rest and Peace thro' Works,

But only thro' Faith, when it certainly concludes within itself, that for Christ's sake it has a gracious God; as Paul says, Rom. v. Being justified by Faith, we have Peace with God.

This Comfort has in former Times not been inculcated in Preaching; but the poor Consciences were put upon their own Works.

And various Works were undertaken: For some were driven by Conscience into Cloysters, in Hopes of purchasing Grace there by a monastic Life; others have invented other Works, whereby to merit Grace, and satisfy for Sin.

Many of these have experienced, that hereby a Man arrives not at Peace.

Therefore it became necessary to preach this Doctrine of Faith in Christ, and diligently to pursue it, that Men might know, that only thro' Faith, without Merit, we lay hold of God's Grace.

But we speak of true Faith, which believes, that we thro' Christ do obtain Grace and Forgiveness of Sins.

And he who knows, that thro' Christ he has a gracious God, does consequently know God, call upon him, and is not without God, like the Heathen.

For the Devil and the Wicked do not believe this Article, the Forgiveness of Sin: And therefore they are at Enmity with God, cannot call upon him, hope for no Good from him.

Wherefore the Scripture speaks of Faith, and calls not by that Name such a Knowledge as Devils and wicked Men have.

For concerning Faith it is thus taught, Heb. xi. That Faith is, not only to know the Histories, but to have a Confidence towards God of receiving his Promise.

And the aforesaid Father also puts us in mind, that we are to understand that Word Faith, in the Scripture, to mean so much as Confidence towards God, that he is gracious unto us,

And not only such Knowledge of the Histories as the Devils also have.

Further it is taught, that good Works shall and must be done; not that one should trust in them, to merit Grace thereby;

But for God's Sake, and to the Praise of God: Yet Faith doth always alone lay hold of Grace and Forgiveness of Sin.

And since thro' Faith the Holy Spirit is given, thus also is the Heart made fit to do good Works.

For before that, so long as it is without the Holy Spirit, it is too weak; and besides, it is in the Power of the Devil, who impels the poor human Nature to many Sins;

As we see in the Philosophers, who undertook to live honestly and unblameably:

Yet have not accomplished it, but have fallen into many great and open Sins.

So it goes with that Man, who is without the true Faith, and without the Holy Spirit, and governs himself by his own human Powers alone.

Therefore the Doctrine of Faith is not to be reproached, as if it did forbid good Works; but rather to be commended, for that it teaches to do good Works, and offers Help whereby one may attain to good Works.

For without Faith, and without Christ, the human Nature and Ability is by far too weak to do good Works; as, to call upon God;

To have Patience in Sufferings; to love one's Neighbour; diligently to discharge Offices intrusted to us; to be obedient; to avoid evil Lusts.

Such high and right Works cannot be done without the Help of Christ, as he himself speaks, John xv. Without me you can do nothing, &c. (See Art. XX.)

Of the CAUSE of SINS.

Concerning the Cause of Sins it is taught amongst us, That altho' God Almighty created and upholds all Nature ;

Yet the perverse Will doth work Sin in all who are wicked, and Contemners of God ;

Such as the Will of the Devil, and of all the Ungodly, is ; who, as soon as God withdrew his Hand, turned himself from God unto Evil, as Christ speaks, John viii. The Devil, when he speaketh a Lye, speaketh of his own. (See Art. XIX.)

Of REPENTANCE.

Concerning Repentance it is taught, that those who have sinned after Baptism, When they come to Repentance,

May obtain Remission of Sin ;

And Absolution shall not be refused them by the Church,

At all times when they do so repent.

Now true and right Repentance is properly Sorrow and Grief, or to be in Terror on account of Sin ; and yet, on the other hand, to believe in the Gospel and Absolution, that Sin is forgiven, and Grace purchased, thro' Jesus Christ.

Which Faith does again comfort and pacify the Heart.

Afterwards shall also Amendment follow, and that a Man leave off from Sins ; for these should be the Fruits of Repentance, as John says, Matth. iii. Bring forth Fruits meet for Repentance.

Here they are opposed, who teach, that those who have once been pious cannot any more fall.

Also they are contradicted, who denied Absolution to such, who had sinned after Baptism.

Also they are censured, who do not teach, that one obtains Remission of Sin thro' Faith, but thro' our making Compensation. (See Art. XII.)

S E C T. XI.

Of FREE-WILL.

Concerning Free-Will it is taught, That Man has in some measure a Free-Will, To live honest outwardly, and to choose between those things which Reason comprehends.

But without Grace, Help, and Operation of the Holy Spirit, Man is not able to be pleasing to God, heartily to fear God, to love or to believe in him,

Or to cast away out of the Heart the innate evil Lust.

But such things are effected through the Holy Spirit, which is given thro' God's Word : For Paul says, 1 Cor. ii. The natural Man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God.

And that it may be known that herein we teach nothing new, these are the clear Words of the fore-mentioned Father (Hypognostics, Book iii.): " We acknowlege, " that there is in all Men a Free-Will :

" For they all have a natural, implanted Understanding and Reason :

" Not

“ Not that they are able to transact any thing with God, as from the Heart to “ love God, and to fear him :
 “ But, only in the external Works of this Life, they have Liberty to choose “ Good or Bad ;
 “ The Good, I mean, which Nature is able to do ; as, to work in the Field, or “ not ; to eat, to drink, to go to a Friend, or not ; to put on or put off a Garment, “ to build, to take a Wife, to follow a Trade ; and to do such-like things which “ are profitable and good :
 “ All which however is not, neither subsists, without God ; but all is from him,
 “ and thro’ him.
 “ On the other hand, Man can also out of his own Choice enterprize something “ bad ; as to kneel down before an Idol, to commit Murder,” &c. (See Art. XVIII.)

Of the SACRAMENTS.

CONCERNING Baptism we teach, That it is necessary ; and that, thro’ it, Grace is tendered.

That also Children ought to be baptized ; who, thro’ such Baptism, are delivered up unto God, and become pleasing to him.

Therefore we blame those who teach, that the Baptism of Infants is unbecoming.
 (See Art. IX.)

Concerning the Sacrament of the Holy Table we teach thus : That the true Body and Blood of Christ are really present in the Lord’s-Supper with the visible Bread and Wine ;

And are there imparted and received : Wherefore we also reject the contrary Doctrine. (See Art. X.)

Concerning the Use of the Sacraments we teach, That the Sacraments were instituted, not only to be Marks, whereby Christians may outwardly be known,

But that they are Marks and Testimonies of the Divine Will towards us,

To the awakening and strengthening of our Faith thereby.

Wherefore they also require Faith ; and are then rightly used, when one receives them in Faith, and by them strengthens his Faith. (See Art. XIII.)

S E C T. XIII.

Of the CHURCH.

WE also teach, That there is, and at all times remains, a holy Christian Church, which is the Assembly of all Believers :

In which the Gospel is preached purely, and the holy Sacraments administred agreeably to the Gospel.

For this is enough towards true Unity of the Christian Churches, that they be unanimous herein,

In preaching the Gospel according to its pure Sense, and administring the Sacraments suitably to God’s Word.

Nor is it necessary to true Unity of the Christian Churches, that every-where uniform Ceremonies, which are established by Men, should be held.

Paul says, Eph. iv. One Body, One Spirit, as ye are called in One Hope of your Calling : One Lord, One Faith, One Baptism. (See Art. VII.)

Item, Altho’ the Christian Church is properly nothing else but the Assembly of all Believers and Saints ;

Yet, since in this Life many false Christians and Hypocrites, yea, open Sinners, remain amidst the Godly ;

The Sacraments are notwithstanding valid, altho' the Priest by whom they are administered be not pious ;

As Christ himself hath intimated, The Pharisees sit in Moses's Seat, &c. The Donatists therefore, and all who hold otherwise, are censured. (See Art. VIII.)

Concerning Confession it is taught, that private Absolution should be kept up in the Church, and not let drop.

Altho' in Confession there is no Necessity to recount all Misdeeds and Sins,

Since this is also not possible : Pf. xix. Who can tell how oft he offendeth? (See Art. XI.)

Concerning Church-Government it is taught, that, without a regular Call,

No one shall publicly teach or preach in the Church, nor administer Sacraments. (See Art. XIV.)

Concerning Church-Regulations made by Men, we teach, that those should be kept, which can be kept without Sin ;

And which serve unto Peace and good Order in the Church ; as certain Holidays, Festivals, and the like.

But it is remarked at the same time, that the Conscience must not be burdened therewith, as if such things were necessary to Salvation.

For touching this it is taught, that all Ordinances and Traditions made by Men to that End, to reconcile God, and merit Grace thereby,

SECT. XIV.

Concerning the Worship of SAINTS.

OUR People teach thus, that we ought to think of the Saints,

In order to strengthen our Faith, when we see how Grace was shewn unto them, and how they were helped thro' Faith ;

That so we may take Example from their good Works, each according to his Calling.

But it cannot be proved by Scripture, that a Man shall call upon the Saints, or seek Help from them :

For there is but One only Atoner and Mediator appointed between God and Men, Jesus Christ, 1 Tim. ii.

Who is the only Saviour, the only High Priest, the Mercy-Seat, and Intercessor with God, Rom. viii. And he alone has promised, that he will hear our Prayer.

This is also the highest divine Worship, according to the Scripture, that a Man from the Heart seek to, and call upon this same Jesus Christ, in all Needs and Concerns.

If any Man sin (1 John ii.), we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous. (See Art. XXI.)

SECT. XV.

Of CIVIL GOVERNMENT.

Concerning the State, and secular Government, we teach, that all Magistracy in the World, and settled Government, and Laws, and good Order,

Were created and instituted by God :

And that Christians may without Sin bear the Office of Rulers, Princes, and Judges ;

May, agreeably to the Statutes in Use, decide Cases, and pronounce Judgment ;

May punish evil Doers with the Sword, carry on just Wars, and fight.

Also Christians may buy and sell, take an imposed Oath, have Possessions, live in holy Wedlock, &c.

With the Character of a Christian,

None of the fore-mentioned things are inconsistent.

And the bodily leaving of House and Home, Wife and Children, and divesting one's self of the fore-mentioned Particulars, is not to be looked upon under the Notion of Christian Perfection :

For this alone is the right Perfection, the true Fear of God, and true Faith in God.

For the Gospel doth not inculcate an outward and temporal, but an inward and eternal Situation and Righteousness of the Heart ;

And does not overturn secular Rule and Government, nor Marriage :

But requires, that we account all these as the real Ordinance of God ; and in such States, each according to his Vocation, shew forth Christian Charity, and right good Works.

Therefore it is the Duty of Christians to be subject to the Magistracy, and obedient to its Commands, in every thing that can be done without Sin.

For if indeed the Magistrate's Command cannot be done without Sin, one must obey God rather than Men, Acts iv. (See Art. XVI.)

CONCLUSION.

The Confessors themselves end their Confession with these very Words, immediately after Article XXI.

THIS is nearly the Sum of the Doctrine which has been preached and taught in our Churches, for right Christian Instruction, and Comfort of the Conscience ; And also for the Reformation and Furtherance of the Faithful ;

As we would not willingly bring our own Soul and Conscience into the highest and greatest Danger before God, by an Abuse of the Divine Name and Word ; nor transmit down to our Posterity any other Doctrine, than what is agreeable to the pure Word of God, and Christian Truth.

PREFACE to the Second Part.

AS the very Appearance of Singularity in our Way of delivering the Gospel, gives but a too clear Demonstration, that the present Manner of Preaching amongst Christians, deviates, from time to time, from the old Apostolical Way of Teaching; when, to assuage the Unbelief, and dispose the Heads of wilful Deists and Atheists to suffer any Mention of GOD, Evangelical Teachers dissimulate the Lord, their Maker and Redeemer, and, perhaps, will not cease doing so, till his Cross become annihilated, and his very Name forgotten:

Therefore we deliver to the Christian Reader the following fundamental Principles of our, every-where decried, Method, which is the very Corner-Stone of the First Reformation. May the Reading thereof mollify the Hearts of many serious Teachers, to make them weep like Peter, repent verily, and rather die, with us, for the Glory of the Cross, than, by shamefully mincing that Matter, maintain a Life certainly too dishonourable for any one stiled a Minister of CHRIST.

PART II.

VIZ.

The Brethrens Method of Preaching the Gospel, according to the Synod of Bern, which was held in the Year 1532.

That Christ alone is the Whole of the Doctrine.

AS touching Doctrine, the Matter is really so, that all wholesome Doctrine is nothing else, but that only eternal Word of God, even the Fatherly Goodness and Benevolence, which he has afforded to us through Christ.

And this is no other than Jesus Christ himself, who was crucified for our Sin, and for our Justification (that we might be justified) raised up from the Dead.

Whatsoever is contrary to this Doctrine, is contrary to our Salvation: Whatsoever does not bring with it such a Meaning and Import, can never be called a Christian Doctrine.

For all Christian Preachers are Messengers of Christ, and Witnesses of his Passion; whose Will and Command alone they are to execute,

As being sent forth by their Lord only for this End, like as He, the Lord Jesus Christ, was sent by the Father, that he might declare his Father's Glory and Name unto the Men which He had given him out of the World (John xvii. 6.); which he faithfully performed throughout his Life:

Forasmuch as he, without Intermission, was employed in his Heavenly Father's Business, and spoke nothing from himself. (Bern. Syn. Sect. II.)

That

That God should be set forth to the People only in Christ.

WHAT a Reproach it is for a Servant of Christ not to know his Lord's Will, and to undertake other fruitless Employments, and not wholly set himself to the Things of his Lord; that is, such as pertain to our everlasting Happiness!

The Father speaks to us through his Son to this Day, who, in the Holy Ghost, inhabits our Hearts. Through Him the Lord God reconciled us to Himself; and, in Him, we perceive the Works of God, and his Fatherly Heart towards us.

In such Knowledge and Experience of Christ, the believing Man daily grows and increases; whereto daily Admonition is a Furtherance to him.

But this does not happen, where Preachers speak much concerning God after a Heathenish Manner, and do not point out that God in the Face of Christ;

Who is the Effulgence of his Glory, and the express Image and Symbol of his essential Verity.

If the Preachers leave off to shew forth the Grace of God in Christ, then will their People become more and more wicked and unbelieving, and at last without God in the World;

As it was with the Heathens, who also heard and prated a great deal concerning one natural God; but understood nothing of their gracious Father in Heaven.

Wherefore the God they knew, they did not honour him as God, until Christ was made known to, and believed in by them; as Paul writes to the Ephesians, Chap. ii. Ye were (says he) at that time without Christ, &c. then had ye no Hope, and were without God in the World. (Sect. III).

That Christ is the right Foundation.

THEREFORE our Lord Jesus Christ is the Ground and Foundation of the spiritual Building: There is no Salvation to be hoped for, except His.

But in Christ there is no Hurt or Condemnation to be feared. He is the Corner-Stone, the Rock, the Door, the Life, and the Truth.

This Jesus Christ alone have the Apostles and their Disciples preached, whose Followers the Ministers should be.

Hence Paul despised, and would not have, that Righteousness, which he had by the Law, Phil. iii. and did, together with all the Apostles, account Christ alone for his sure Foundation.

Whereof we alledge the following Instances, altho' the whole Scripture serves to prove it.

1 Cor. iii. According to the Grace of God, which is given unto me, I have laid the Foundation, &c. Other Foundation can no Man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

Eph. ii. Ye are Fellow-Citizens with the Saints, and of the Household of God; and are built upon the Foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief Corner-Stone.

1 Pet. ii. If so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious, to whom coming as unto a living Stone, &c. This Jesus is that precious Corner-Stone, whereof Isa. xxviii. and Pf. cxviii. speak. (Sect. IV.)

That, without all Means, through Christ alone, the propitious God is known.

BUT what need many Words? All the Treasures of Wisdom and Knowledge lie hid in Christ, Col. ii.

Why should a Christian Preacher seek for Wisdom out of other Histories, or out of By-books; and not hold forth these Riches, and this Storehouse of God, Jesus Christ our Lord, in whom all things are comprised together?

One will, perhaps, without Christ, speak much concerning God Almighty; but it is without Fruit.

For it is true, God has always shewed himself in Works, and characterized himself by Properties and Titles taken from some Things ; as in Paradise by the Tree of Life ; after the Fall of Adam, by the Seed of the Woman ; to Abraham, by the Work of bringing him forth from Ur of the Chaldeans ; to his Servant, and to his Posterity, as the Lord and God of Abraham ; afterwards among the People of Israel, as the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob ; in the Wilderness, and the Promised Land, God who brought us out of the Land of Egypt, out of the House of Bondage, and made a Covenant with us on Mount Horeb.

By reason of this Covenant, the Ark of the Testimony, the Temple, and the City Jerusalem, carried also the Name of the Lord God ; for, by these Titles, God was understood.

Thus, by certain Works of Grace, and special Actions or Tokens, God has been represented, yet but darkly.

Nothing like the manner, wherein at this Day the true Christians in the Lord Jesus Christ do know him clearly and certainly, without any Danger of Mistake.

Therefore, by the Preaching of Christ, shall and must the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God be displayed, in the Face of Jesus Christ, and not beside or without Christ, 2 Cor. ii.

For such Knowledge of God, which Christ hath not built, falls away, and drops to nothing under one's Hands :

As Cicero relates of Simonides, whose diligent Meditation and Inquiry, what God is, came at last to this ; that he knew less of God, than when he began such Thoughts.

The Jews also are to this Day wanting in the Knowledge of God, notwithstanding their dead Letter, and the Ark of the Covenant ; for the Ark is no more.

There is at present a new Symbol and Character of God, which is God himself, who in Christ reconciled the World unto himself.

Formerly the Covering of the Ark was called the Mercy-Seat : Now is Christ himself the true Mercy-Seat ;

Out of whom we hear God's gracious Voice, have by him Certainty and Satisfaction, and a sure Access to the Father thro' him.

As Jeremiah testifies, They shall say no more, The Ark of the Covenant of the Lord ; neither shall it come to mind, neither shall they remember it, &c. but at that time they shall call Jerusalem the Throne of the Lord.

Here the Prophet speaks of the Kingdom of Christ, and of the heavenly Jerusalem ; which is free, and in which God dwells, in the chosen Hearts.

It follows hence, that only with the Head and Members, that is, in Christ, and in his Believers, there is, in this Time of Grace, the Knowledge of the Father in Truth.

And in him the Grace is also come unto the Gentiles, who are thro' him made Partakers of the Grace without the Law, thro' his divine Blood, and in the Operation of the Holy Ghost. (Seet. V.)

Christian Preaching is intirely concerning Christ, and taken out of him.

SINCE God has always affixed (if we may so say) himself, and the Knowledge of him, to comprehensible Works and Signs ; and all such Figures, Shadows, and Types, have pointed to Christ Jesus ;

Who in these last Days hath appeared, accomplished his Course in the Flesh, ascended to Heaven, and daily manifests himself among Believers in the Holy Ghost :

And since the Mystery of the Father, and of Christ, is One only uniform thing ; and also none can know the Father, except thro' the Son :

Therefore it is of the highest Necessity, that all Servants of God, and Heralds of the Kingdom of Christ, should diligently preach the only Lord Jesus Christ, whose Knowledge is above all things.

Therefore also we should faithfully admonish one another, that we Servants of Christ preach only and alone this our Lord, on whom the whole Counsel of God rests :

That so we be not found as Law-Preachers, or Preachers of any other worldly sort, who teach and utter our own reasoned Thoughts, and shall be rejected by the Lord as false Servants. (Seet. VI.)

That

That Christian Doctrine and Life is to begin and proceed from the Death and Resurrection of Christ.

IT is also not enough, that the Ministers often mention and repeat to the People these Words, "Jesus Christ is our Saviour," and the like.

For the Gospel of the Kingdom consists not in mere Sound, and bare Words, but in the true Power of God :

Which lays hold of the Hearts of Believers, changes, renews, and makes us poor Sinners Children of God, and right heavenly Men, whose Mind and Disposition is not according to Flesh and Blood, but according to God.

But that one may attain to such Gifts and Graces, the Beginning must be made with the Death and Resurrection of Christ ;

And thus, in his Name, Repentance and Remission of Sins be proclaimed : This is the Sum of all Christian Preaching.

Such kind of Preaching did our Lord himself injoin to his Disciples, and the Apostles afterwards keep to, the Elect receive in Faith, the Holy Ghost confirm, and the whole World cannot deny it.

On this Occasion the following Passage is to be considered : Then opened he their Understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures.

And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the Dead the third Day ; and that Repentance, and Remission of Sins, should be preached in his Name among all Nations, Luke xxiv.

Here we see, that this Preaching of Repentance, and Remission of Sins, begins to take place after his Resurrection.

For then, in the Name of him who had suffered, died, and rose again, Repentance and Forgiveness of Sins was to be preached.

Therefore is the Purport of all Sermons to be directed to this Point : And afterwards, in Consequence of this, will Error be removed, Morals be reformed, and what is good promoted.

To this pertains, that it was after his Resurrection the Lord sent his Disciples to preach.

It is to be observed at the same time, that by the Resurrection the whole Course of Christ is to be understood ; as, namely, the Ascension into Heaven, and imparting of the Holy Ghost, together with the following Transactions in the Consciences of Believers.

Likewise the Sermons of Peter in the Book of the Acts, Chap. ii. iv. v. xi. xvii. and xx. are to be searched into, where the Order just now set forth may be discovered, in regard to Salvation thro' Christ.

For they throughout point to Christ's Death and Resurrection ; whereby they invite to Repentance, and Forgiveness of Sins, which is the Sum of our Gospel.

Such Sermons of the Apostles should be diligently looked into, that so we may begin where they have begun, and arrive to a like Progress and Growth in Christ.

Here it will be said, Must a Man begin and end with the Death of Christ ? What Use are then the Evangelists of to us, where they describe his Birth and Life ?

Answer. The Birth, and the whole Life of Christ, was a Preparation for his Death, in such manner, that his Dispensation, and his Life and Doctrine here, were intirely directed to our Salvation.

As he was sent by the Father, and came into the World to save Sinners, so he certainly did pursue the Appointment faithfully, and ordered all his Words and Actions to that End.

Therefore the Spirit in us seeks for nothing in all his Doctrine, but the Word of his Cross, and of his Glory (1 Pet. i. 11.).

In like manner it looks at Christ's Works and Miracles, wherein it traces the inward Course of Grace, and the spiritual Transaction of Christ in the Heart : For out of blind and deaf Sinners, he makes such who can see, and hear the living Voice of the Father ; out of the Lame, complete Heroes, who victoriously run the Way of God.

He

He takes away the Malady of Sin, thro' his wholesome Grace; and quickens the dead Sinner, thro' the Spirit of his Resurrection.

Therefore Faith hears of the outward Miracles of Christ, and wonders thereat; but wonders much more within itself at the inward and spiritual Operations, which he daily performs in the Holy Ghost, which surpass all the Reach of Reason.

The Birth of Christ effected by the Holy Ghost, shews us, that we become Children of God,

If so be that we, over and above the Birth which is of Flesh and Blood, are also made new and heavenly People by the same Holy Spirit whom Christ affords us.

Therefore do the Evangelists so describe the Birth and Life of Christ, because it is intirely subservient to our Redemption;

And because the dying to the Flesh, and the rising again according to the Spirit in Christ, are therein shewn and displayed. (Seet. VII.)

How our Sinfulness ought to be understood out of Christ.

THE Apostle writes, that God commendeth his Love towards us, in that while we were yet Sinners and Enemies of God, Christ died for us, Rom. v.

Hence it comes to pass, that Sin becomes hateful and detestable to us;

Since it was necessary, that the Son of God should die for us, in order to take away from us this very Load of Sin.

Has he been once offered up for us thro' the Holy Spirit, and obtained eternal Redemption for us? Hence it appears, what Harm and Curse there lies in our Heart,

Which could be purged and sanctified only thro' such a costly Sin-Offering, and Sprinkling of the Blood of God; otherwise there was no Help to be found anywhere else.

God is the Creator of Man, and he ought to be quite devoted to his God: But now this is not in his Nature.

For he looks at the Creatures, at himself, and his own Pleasure; and makes himself such an Idol, to which he even converts the Honour due to God, and will have it at Bottom: Whence it comes, that no one likes to be despised. (Seet. VIII.)

The Knowledge of Sin is to be sought in Christ without Law.

THE Apostles have taught Men to know our condemned Nature quite speedily in the Death of Christ, as the Jews came to know their Sin in the Law of Moses with great Labour and Tedioufness.

Accordingly they simply, without Law, set forth to the Gentiles their Sin, and the Atonement thro' Christ;

And directed no one backward to Moses.

For if one teaches People to know Sin by the Law, it is only a dead and cold thing, and has no Life.

What Pains have they taken with the Jews, to bring them off from Moses, and lead them wholly to Christ! Why would we then send our People from Christ to the Service of the Law? (Seet. IX.)

Why Paul hath discoursed so much of the Law to the Gentiles.

BUT where false Apostles had stepped in, and taught the Necessity of the Law, together with Christ,

There the true Apostle was constrained to shew, to what End, and how far, Moses was useful with his Ministry:

Which among the Gentiles he would have had no need to do, since these believed and hoped simply from Christ the Forgiveness of Sin;

Depended upon him, followed him, and looked to him, in all their Undertakings:

For he that believeth in Christ hath everlasting Life.

Therefore the believing Gentile needs no legal School-master; he has already obtained the Freedom of Children. (Seet. X.)

That

That the Jews were brought to Faith under the Law, as the Gentiles without the Law.

YET it is true, the Church, which was gathered among the Jews, did keep up the Law together with Christ, without Detriment to the relying upon Christ, with great Zeal.

Whereto Malachi, as he is describing the Kingdom of Christ, and concluding and sealing all the Prophets, doth admonish them in the Person of God:

Remember ye (saith he) the Law of Moses my Servant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb, for all Israel, with the Statutes and Judgments.

Wherefore, and how long, does God by Malachi command the Law to be remembered? Therefore, and so long, till they should come to know the Inability of the Law, and its true Use:

That is, till they should thereby get an ardent Desire after the Coming of the Day of the Lord; and till Elias, the Preacher of Repentance should come, and prepare the Lord's Way among the affrighted Sinners.

Afterwards Moses's Office was at an End: However, it was observed voluntarily, without Commandment, by those who were accustomed to it;

And who, by the outward Performances of the Law, refreshed their Faith, and the inward heavenly Treasure, and represented it to themselves:

Which the Church at Jerusalem did, and none else any-where.

Therefore St. Paul teaches no Defection from the Law; but, out of Respect for the other Apostles, receives at Jerusalem the Purification according to the Law:

For he would be looked upon as one, who counted the Law good and right, and did not cast it away as evil.

On the other hand, the Apostles Church at Jerusalem would also not bind the believing Gentiles to the Law, as zealous as they were for it themselves, Acts xxi.

For it might perhaps be of Service to the Believers from among the Jews, who made a right Use of it, on Account of their being long accustomed thereto;

Because, by Occasion of the Practice of the Law, they reminded themselves of their Lord Jesus Christ, his Gifts and Grace, and their own Sins.

But to the unexperienced Gentiles it would bring a false Confidence in the Works;

And, whether taught before or after Christ, would imply, as if all was not to be found in Christ.

Even (I say) the same Works of the Law, which the believing Jews, by reason of Experience, perceived perhaps to be useful to them, for sake of the Figures and Signification;

And had no need to apprehend, that they would lose the present Grace, and return to the beggarly Elements of this World, so long as they were fully minded to stand in the Grace they had attained. (Seet. XI.)

The Difference between the Preacher of Christ among the Gentiles, and him who preaches among the Jews.

THERE is therefore a Difference between the Apostleship to the Gentiles, which was committed to Paul, and the Apostleship to the Jews, which St. Peter exercised.

The one is zealous for the Law, without Harm, Acts xxi.

The other takes no Share in the Law, and has nothing at all to do with Moses;

Unless accidentally, so far as he testifies of our dear Saviour; and thus is profitable for Doctrine, for Reproof, for Correction, &c.

Therefore we who are of Gentile Extraction, having to deal with Gentiles, and not with Jews, should, without the Law, proclaim the Grace in Christ, as Paul was wont;

And not, with Peter's Church gathered at Jerusalem, have such recourse to the Law: FOR CHRIST IS OUR SUFFICIENCY: WHAT WOULD WE HAVE MORE? John i. (Seet. XII.)

By what Occasion the false Apostles sprung up.

HENCE it is, that the false Apostles used for their Pretext the Church at Jerusalem, which was zealous for the Law; and of whose Commission they boasted among the Gentiles, but without Truth:

And presumed to draw after them those who believed among the Gentiles, from Christ to Moses.

Which yet the Church at Jerusalem did not do.

And Paul did not give place to those false Apostles, but admonished the believing Gentiles to continue steadfast in the pure Faith.

For which End it was necessary for him to recite something of the Observance, Use, and Effect of the Law, and Mosaic Worship: Not that he properly thought thereby to bring them (the Believers) to a further Knowledge of Sin, from which they were already justified,

(What still remains of Sin being also much more clearly understood in and thro' Christ)

But he entered into such Dissertations about the Law, that he might preserve them from trusting therein, as from a pernicious thing;

And to confirm them in Christ, who, without the Law of the Letter, bestows the Spirit of the Law of Life, which abides to Eternity.

Therefore we the Ministers will follow this Way of Preaching, which the Apostle used towards the Gentiles;

Where, without Law, they have in Christ pointed out to Men their Sin, and declared Grace and Forgiveness of the same out of and thro' him.

And yet if we should happen to treat upon a Scripture before our Congregation, which speaks against false Apostles and Law-Teachers;

Then it ought, however, to be rightly explained, and the Simplicity (2 Cor. xi. 3.) of Christ, without the Help of the Law, be at the same time insisted upon.

This serves to true Edification in God, and prevents many Errors, which otherwise indiscreet People would very soon pick up from the Sound of the Expressions, and would then maintain without understanding. (Seet. XIII.)

Concerning Repentance and Forgiveness of Sins, or concerning the Process of Grace.

AFTER that out of the Sufferings of Christ, and his Entrance into his Father's Glory, the Knowledge of Sin hath arisen,

Then follows regularly a sincere Repentance; that is, a true Sorrow of Heart, and Dislike of Sin:

And also the Forgiveness of the same; since on that Account the Son of God was given by his heavenly Father to the World, to suffer and die,

That he thro' his Death might bring us to Life, and to the Enjoyment of heavenly good things.

Where now the Father manifests his Son, and propounds him to the Conscience, there follows a firm Faith, and hearty Reliance on such an inconceivable Grace of God.

This Faith justifies: For he that believes in me, saith the Lord, hath everlasting Life:

He has broken thro' out of Death, and is written down in Heaven, where nothing defiled or unclean can enter.

This is the Procedure of Christ, and his Advent of Grace thro' his Spirit:

That every one learn, out of the Death, Resurrection, and Ascension of Christ, to fly from his own acknowledged Sin, and condemned Nature, to the Gift of God in Christ, and make a final Resignation of himself thereto:

By which Resignation that Grace is received, thro' which all past Sin is forgiven us, and no more imputed for Punishment.

There is also together herewith the Spirit of Christ, who opens and brings to Light more and more the secret Sin, and hidden Malady of the Heart:

Which

Which he daily consumes ; and daily clarifies the Heart, as the Fire does Silver, and refines it from the Scum and Filth of Sins.

For the Holy Spirit has Two Works in us ; the one, that he thro' Grace comforts the Believers, whom he made new Men ;

The other, that he helps us, that we become Heirs according to Hope of eternal Life (which comes to pass, if we persevere in the Warfare of Faith) :

That we daily die away to the Flesh, and also become spiritual and heavenly minded. (Seet. XIV.)

Repentance, which is found in Christ, is the Foundation.

Repentance is the Foundation ; but, as we have already said, it should be sought in Christ.

The God of our Fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew, and hanged on a Tree, says Peter (to the Jews.)

Him hath God exalted with his Right Hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give Repentance to Israel, and Forgiveness of Sins, Acts v.

This a short and complete Sermon, which includes the whole Transaction of God, accomplished thro' Christ. (Seet. XV.)

That the Mystery, which was hid from the Foundation of the World, is this : That Christ is preached without the Law to the Gentiles : Together with other Scriptures concerning Repentance.

They said, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted Repentance unto Life, Acts xi.

In which Words the glorious Riches of the Mystery, that is, of Christ among the Gentiles, is denoted, which had been kept secret from Ages and Generations.

Now he who has the Office of Preaching among the Gentiles, and will thro' the Law stir up Sin, and procure Repentance, he darkens the most excellent Mystery and Glory of Christ ;

Namely, that the Holy Ghost, thro' Christ, equally falls upon the Jews under the Law, and upon the Gentiles without the Law. This is well to be observed.

Paul, at Thessalonica, reasons with the Jews Three Days out of the Scriptures, opening and alledging, that Christ must needs have suffered, and risen again from the Dead :

And that this Jesus, whom, said he, I preach unto you, is Christ, Acts xvii.

Again at Athens [to Gentiles], And the Times of this Ignorance God winked at, and now commandeth all Men every-where to repent ; because he hath appointed a Day, in the which he will judge the World in Righteousness, by that Man whom he hath ordained ;

Whereof he hath given Assurance [or, in whom he hath offered Faith] unto all Men, in that he hath raised him from the Dead.

Acts xx. I have testified both to the Jews, and also to the Greeks, Repentance towards God, and Faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. (Seet. XVI.)

That Christian Repentance may also be taught out of the Prophets.

WHEN, now, fine Sayings out of the Old Testament, concerning Repentance, are to be handled,

They are to be handled at present no otherwise than in Christ, as hath been already shewn, to whom all the Prophets refer.

As for Instance, this Saying of Jeremiah : If that Nation, against whom I have pronounced, turn from their Evil, and repent, &c.

This is now to be heard with Christian Ears : And it is to be remembered, that such Repentance is rightly sought, found, and attained, only with Christ ;

That

That so no one may imagine a Zeal for Reformation springing out of himself, without the Operation of Christ; and persuade himself, that he of himself is nigh unto God. (Seet. XVII.)

That we are continually to increase in the Knowledge of Christ, and that every one ought to examine his own Faith.

THIS Doctrine should be daily increasing among the Churches, and faithful People, Who should continually make their Calling more sure, thro' a diligent Searching and Growth of their own Faith.

For he who does not increase in the Understanding and Feeling of Christ, does decrease, and go backwards;

Or else has never yet been rightly on the Way.

Here the Exhortations and Admonitions of Paul are useful; in which the Ministers should be well versed.

Further, the Election and Grace of God does not fall away, on which all rests.

Yet should the People be taught to prove within themselves, and to examine, whether such an Election, and gracious Will of God thro' Christ, has taken place in them, and is come to Execution, or not;

That is, that each one know, what he has really received from Christ, and what he is deficient in towards the Understanding and Knowledge of Christ.

Hitherto of the Doctrine of Christ, which begins with his Death and Resurrection.

In the Death of Christ, the Knowledge of Sin, and true Repentance, is taught;

And Forgiveness of the same, according to his Resurrection; whereby, thro' Faith, and thro' the Gift of God, Christ in the Spirit, the chosen Hearts are impregnated with divine Seed:

And out of that incorruptible Seed are born into the Kingdom of Heaven heavenly Men; that is, such who from their Hearts begin now to forsake Sin,

And to practise Righteousness and Godliness, with an Experience of the Love of God in Faith.

This Doctrine ought to be pursued in all Sermons *. (Seet. XVIII.)

* This is very well expressed in that excellent Hymn, which all over the German Protestant Churches is to be sung in Lent.

Wie heftig unsre Sunden
Den heil'gen Gott enzunden,
Wie Rach und Eifer gehn,
Wie grausam seine Ruthen,
Wie zornig seine Fluthen,
Will ich aus Jesu Leiden sehn.
Ich will daraus studiren,
Wie ich mein Hertz soll zieren.

How greatly Man incenses
The Lord with his Offences;
How hot his Anger glows,
How rig'rous he chastises,
When he with Wrath baptizes:
This to me Jesu's Suffering shews.
From thence I'll be taught wholly,
How my Heart shall be holy.

^k The Form prescribed to be used in our Churches in England, and the Dominions thereunto belonging, is as follows:

“ We beseech thee also to pour down thy Blessings in a plentiful Manner upon our Gracious Sovereign King GEORGE the Second, and upon all the Royal Family.

“ Grant that he may enjoy a long and happy Reign over us, and that there may never be wanting one descended from him to sit upon his Throne, and to preserve thy true Religion in these Nations.”

EXTRACTS from the Minutes of several General Synods of the Unitas Fratrum, shewing the inward Plan of their present Conduct.

INTRODUCTION.

*W*Hereas the only thing which, amidst all the Best clearing themselves from all Accusations, makes the Brethren's Way still somewhat enigmatical to Part of their Fellow-Christians, is, partly their uncommon Tenderneſs for all Sorts of Souls, of what Persuaſion ſoever (which, by ſome, as Jews and Heathens, is returned to them), partly their wonted Concerning themſelves about the Protestant World in general, ſettled or unſettled, though not without a due Call: Therefore it will be uſeful to give our Reader ſome Introduction into this our Way of acting with our different Brethren in Chriſt.

When the Brethren, being an Offspring of the Oriental Church, got their firſt Call from God to proteſt againſt Novelty, and recommend the primitive Way of delivering the Goſpel; there were no Diviſions in the then beginning Evangelical Way: The Anglican and the Bohemian Reformers, the only ones in that Age, were but one and the ſame in Chriſt, as is to be ſeen by their Correſpondence.

In the following Age, notwithstanding the real Diviſion in Chriſtianity, which the German Reformers occaſioned, partly in careleſly dropping Apoſtolic Episcopacy, partly in miſtaking the Spirit of Church Diſcipline; they not only treated the Brethren in a very civil Manner, in regard to their particular Conſtitution, which they, for the Space of Two hundred Years, always praiſed and commended; but alſo encouraged them, by Letters and Meſſengers, not to remain hidden within their narrow Bounds, but rather communicate their Good with other Chriſtians, yea with all the World. A Matter upon which Dr. Luther very much inſiſted, as is to be ſeen in his Preface to the Firſt Edition of his German Liturgy.

As our Brethren, from their firſt Beginnings, in ſome reſpect, remained more acquainted with the Spirit of Witneſſes, than their Fellow-Proteſtants; becauſe the latter waited not long for the Privilege of a Body-Politic, ſupported by many of the moſt formidable Powers of this World; which Privilege the genuine Stock of the Brethren's Conſtitution never wanted nor claimed at any time; but, on the contrary, enjoyed ſeldom long the Uſe of their Properties and Inheritances, being, in Conſequence of the Faults of their Fellow-Citizens, ſucceſſively deſtroyed in their own Country, and diſperſed in ſeveral foreign ones: The Spirit of an impartial Love to all the Proteſtant Churches became more and more particular and proper to the Brethren; and ſo grew the Deſire of being ſerviceable to them in Chriſt. But forasmuch as in theſe latter Times, ſome pious and zealous Teachers among almoſt all the Proteſtant Diviſions, ſetting up Societies of their own, became apprehenſive of the Brethren's incroaching upon their Affairs, and getting the better thereof; and accordingly oppoſed their charitable Endeavours, and ſtirred up other Divines, not more benevolent towards the Brethren than themſelves, tho' from different *Reasons; wherefore it was to be feared, the Brethren might use some Endeavours for repelling these Assaults: It was in order to prevent the same, that all those Rules of the Synod, which are marked thus , were contrived.

EXTRACTS.

1739. Synod in June. * THE Church, called Unitas Fratrum, is the oldest of the whole Protestant Body. This we let be so, because so it is. The more our dear Saviour purges from it all that is sectarian, the better pleased we ought to be; yet we dare, of our own Will, do nothing to this End.

Some certain Regulations, as Elders, separate Care of both Sexes, Choirs, Bands, &c. must be alike in all Congregations; but others may be different.

Taking an Oath is not forbidden us. But since there are Brethren, and other Souls, whom we hope to be serviceable to in greater Points, who are of the Opinion of its being forbidden; therefore many of our Labourers rather run some Risk themselves, than take an Oath, and offend their Brethren, for whom Christ died.

* As long as we do not forearm the Members of our Congregation in a sectarian Way, instruct them about Facts, bind them to us with a sort of personal Affection, but purely direct them to Jesus himself; it is unavoidable but they will want Answers to give to many Objections, and leave us but slenderly vindicated before Adversaries: But let it be so.

The little Instances of Faithfulness, which none is a Judge of, but our invisible Head, are the Jewel of the Congregation's Decorum.

December. * Our Saviour's Instructions absolutely deny us to have any Business to judge Servants foreign to our Way, or to lord it over any one, or even attack any one, except privately in the Candour of the Witness-Spirit.

1740. June. * There are the following Occasions, whereby we come to labour upon Souls that are without our Circle.

1. Our Brethrens public Discourses from the Pulpit.
 2. Our Writings.
 3. If Evangelical Ministers apply themselves to us.
 4. People from distant Places, who become awakened by passing among us.
 5. When one, in his Passage, meets with Minds that are deeply thoughtful, at a Loss, and become distrustful towards every-body, for whom one feels Compassion, and who are, perhaps, already forsaken by the Physicians of the Mind.
 6. All the erroneous or schismatical Spirits, and,
 7. Whoever else come in our Way, who have no Foundation belonging to them.
- Upon all these Occasions, our Ministry cannot be with-held.

For Demonstration, one is to make few Quotations or Allegations; for Explanation, as many as one has at hand.

* We avoid all Ground or Places, which other Servants of God, with or without Right, do dispute with us: From the Maintenance of which, little Blessing would ensue.

Synods are extracted Assemblies of Labourers out of all the Congregations, where, to the end that all the Congregations may take notice of it, it is examined,

1. How we now stand with our Saviour?
2. How we are situated with respect to the States we dwell in, and our Neighbours?

3. What Alterations take place about Things or Persons?

The inward Worth of a Soul qualifies for no Office.

There is therefore no Inference to be drawn from several Offices to the Internal of him who bears them.

Eod. July. * Paul's Rule is our fundamental Rule in our Undertakings: Not to preach the Gospel where Christ is already known. Therefore the Division of Ground into ours, distinct from other Teachers, into common Ground, i. e. where both they and and we have a Share, and into strange, that is, such as is not at all properly to be taken care of by us, is a real one, although not quite without Exception, in case of a due Call. Yet no one belonging to us can make such an Exception, without first asking at the Synod.

Octob. We are to go with the Blood-Theology (of which Ignatius speaks so much) thro' all the World, and, on this great Pulpit of our Saviour's, to prove Self-Holiness a Fable; to declare Self-righteousness to be Treason before the Tribunal of God, and all the sensible Poor and Miserable to be blessed and saved at their humble Request; and herein shall we neither fear nor spare any thing.

The Difference between those zealous Servants of God, who, in Germany, by some were called Pietists, in England Methodists, in France Jansenists, in Italy and Spain Quietists, in the Romish Church in general often known by the Character of Preachers of Repentance and Ascetics, but in the Protestant Church generally thought Mystics, on the one Side, and our Oeconomy on the other, is this: The former strive either for an Alteration of the Behaviour, or of the Thoughts, or both; or for an Alteration in the religious Worship; or are for abolishing all the external Part: We preach nothing but the crucified Christ for the Heart; and think, that, when any one gets hold of Him, all that is idle vanishes away from such a Person, and all necessary Good comes, together with the living and abiding Impression of the loving and faithful Lamb of God, who was once a mortal Man in Reality.

We keep up the Institutions of the Apostles strictly and simply, as being the safest; at least we choose, that their Spirit should be perceptible in ours: But we interfere in no manner to controul the different established Forms in Christendom.

The highest Art of Moralizing consists, 1. In Glorifying of the Wounds of Jesus, which got us the Privilege to be holy before the Eyes of the holy God; and to sympathize with his spiritual Law, or the Mind of Christ. 2. In demonstrating, that there is nothing in this Life, which can either be important and dear to us, besides the precious Merit of Jesus, or extremely painful and formidable, when we are once possessed of that. That we are certain, he who redeemed us with his own Blood, can preserve us, according as he knows how, and will also do it.

Thro' the Blood of Jesus, the Souls must be brought to Repentance, that, in their Case, for so long a time, there has been no other Appearance, than as if it had been shed in vain for them. The Wages for him who has travelled, must be demanded, Isa. liii.

If one speaks ever so much of Heartiness, yet one Person cannot give it to another. One may, perhaps, stir up a Longing after it; but this might, in the End, make the Hearers quite melancholy. One must talk of that Lamb, which is God who appeared in the Flesh, and his Heartiness, and describe him from his Cradle to his present daily Manifestation of himself in the Hearts, and thus the Hearers become hearty, and do not know how they became so.

We have to do with Three Sorts of Souls. 1. Those who, thro' the Word of Christ's Sufferings, have flowed together in one Spirit with us: Of these there is a great Number, and those who content themselves with this, are to us an agreeable Prospect. 2. * Those who now long also to have the same Look and Form with us; and since the most are not at all, and the few others are only in part, able and permitted to bring this to a Possibility, therefore these Congregations are an Object which gives us much Trouble. The 3d Sort are those Houses of the Lord, which, a priori, have been built purely for Churches, and Schools of the Holy Ghost, and know no other Cause of their Foundation: These are that substrata Materia, which is quite to our Purpose, and the Object of the Service of all our Labourers.

1741. March. The Simplicity of our Theology must shew itself in this, that whoever will, out of the Bible, dispute any Position with us, must speak against Evidence clear as the Noon-day. Therefore we must be very careful in the Texts we allege.

June. * One should not only of one's own Accord take away no Sheep from pious Ministers, but even, when some offer themselves, carefully set before their Eyes all the

the Inconvenience and Inconsiderateness of their Enterprize, and also all the good and laudable Circumstances of the Oeconomy they have been under hitherto, and which, perhaps, they had never yet taken notice of.

July. We interpret the Unction properly only with regard to the Doctrine; that is, a Christian, an anointed Soul, is able to keep the Doctrine pure; so that one shall hear nothing from his Mouth but Truth. See 1 John ii. in the Context. Probably John's Words do not relate to particular and practical Circumstances. It is that knowing, whereof the Lord Jesus speaks, John vii. 17.

The most antient Rite of casting Lots, reasonably fixed and rightly used, has this Benefit, that, if a Convocation should be degenerated to Fourteen Members of that known Character of Proditor, or at least Traditor, against One faithful Servant, those Fourteen would not yet be able to overthrow the Constitution; because, when this One finally appeals to that antient Way of Decision, by our Canons it cannot be refused him, and Providence gets the Reins to dispose finally of the Matter.

November. Holiness is to us not to be delivered as a Duty, but as an inestimable Privilege of a Christian, purchased to him by Christ's Blood, 2 Pet. i.

If our Form also should again pass away, yet it is enough, that we have anointed our Time. The Lord's Design is, however, carried some Steps farther.

All small Sects seem, even in their First Times, to have taken in something, which must once prove destructive to them. One, the Article of absolute Reprobation; another, so much of the Exterior, and of Grimace; a Third and Fourth, the setting aside the Ordinances of Christ; a Fifth, the Prejudice against all that can be called traditional or external, good and bad; a Sixth, the overstrained Spirituality; a Seventh, the unseasonable Sublimating of the human mental Powers; Part of a late one, the Semi-pelagianism, and so on. Let us abide by the plain Sense, the Augsbург Confessors took from the Letter of the Scripture; so we shall remain in an Equilibrium on all Sides.

Simplicity must not be an Effect of Stupidity, and degenerate into Rudeness. It is an humble and serene Turn of Mind, which always takes the Things so as they are, and does not like to draw a Consequence, unless it presents itself necessarily.

When a Brother loses his Gift, he shall also, for a time, be excused from the Office which was given him in Consequence of it. The Gift restored to him, obliges him to further Service.

* Great Care should be taken not to strengthen such Preachers in their Scruples, who have a Living, and think to keep it. Livings are Vassalages of the Civil or Spiritual Magistrate. A discontented Minister is a murmuring Liege-Subject; and it is meddling in a Crime tending to disturb public Peace, when one rashly concerns himself with the Scruples of Pastors.

To an Elder belong:

1. A simple Heart. 2. An anointed Behaviour. 3. A general good Credit. 4. An Inclination to Stillness. 5. More Conversation with the Saviour than Men. 6. A merciful Heart. 7. A respectable Presence. 8. And, before all things, what, amidst these, must never be wanting, the shame-faced Blushing of a formerly pardoned Sinner.

Our indelible Character is, 1. To keep to the Word of the Sufferings of Jesus. 2. Always to kindle up afresh the first Love, before it be extinguished. 3. To remain little and mean. 4. And to judge nothing that is without our Sphere.

Since the learned World is very sophistical, and especially some Schools, one must, in alleging his Proofs, look narrowly what comes before or after the Text, or lies near it, which might furnish such People with a Sophism; also, whether the Demonstration we draw thence, is grounded on free and undeniable Words, or on such as can be weakened from another Quarter.

Altho' the Understanding of a Soldier of Christ may be superior to all human Cunning, yet his Heart must not be any more given to Suspicions or Surmises, than that of a chearful Suckling or Babe, as Jesus says, Matt. xi. and David and Paul.

The Directories for public Worship are a great Benefit in the Religions. If a Man, in his Performance, is obliged to be always contriving about the ceremonial Part, he cannot have full Presence of Mind in the chief Affair.

The

The more ashamed of Sin-having, the less liable to Sin-doing; the poorer one sets out, the richer he returns.

* Where our Brethren cannot attend their good Foundations, they must not build.

To Souls that are stirred up, we preach the Gospel.

* Settled Societies are to be instructed by Writing, and Word of Mouth, unto a faithful and wise Walking; and then, where one has any Access, recommended to the Magistrate, and Pastors of their Abiding-place, in general.

* The Reason why Deserters from other Oeconomies seldom prosper with us is, what our Saviour says; No one presently desireth new Wine (except out of Wantonness); for the old is milder.

Our Church must insist upon this her Privilege, that neither Time, nor Circumstances, nor Persons, nor any thing else, can alter her Plans; much less her Consistence, but only the Saviour's Will.

* As the present Endeavours of our Congregations have coincided with an Epoch as schismatical as any, and besides have suffered much hard Treatment from Part of the Clergy; hence we have got, for a time, a Spot of Prejudice, which we must be continually rubbing out, till the Idea which some among us have entertained concerning the usual Ecclesiastical Circumstances, quite wears away. Other discerning People might easier allow themselves in such a thing, than we can, in the Situation of Heart wherein we find ourselves.

Since there still are Sanballats and Tobias's, therefore Nehemiabs are also still useful in the Congregations; but they must not extend their worldly Skill farther than to avoid being imposed upon by artful Deceivers.

Among our Labourers there must be no Strife about Incroachments; and the Heart of one must leap for Joy, when the other appears more forward than he.

Disputing, when one wants Reasons, out of a mere Spirit of Contention, is an Abomination to the Saviour.

The Preaching of the Gospel is the only ordinary Opportunity of casting Seed abroad. What one gets by Conversations is to be reckoned to the Harvesting; because what one will then find, must have lain there before.

The Congregations should not depart a Step from the Holy Ghost's Method towards the natural People, which our Saviour himself describes.

The legal Method effects Terrors which do not go far enough, and Tastes of Grace which are not to be depended upon.

The Doctrine of Jesus's Wounds and Merits does not by far make such rapid Progress, but lasting.

When a Servant of the Lord is puffed up, and acts in a vain-glorious Spirit, it is a Misfortune for all that comes under his Hands.

1742. Jan. The Communion of Saints is manifold;

First, The Congregation of God in the Spirit throughout the whole World, which is his Body, even the Fulness of him who filleth all in all; the Strength of which is innumerable, and her Members may be found in Places where one would never have looked for them.

In the next place are all those Souls, who, by reason of the same principal Conceptions, are wont to use the same Expressions, so far as is absolutely necessary for the Conversion and Saving of Souls. This Paul calls standing in one Soul, striving together for the Spirit of the Gospel. But they are not therefore obliged to stand under one and the same exterior Oeconomy, since in the Difference of Oeconomies there is a hidden Wisdom of God: And whereas (when the so called Sects are nothing else but Divisions of the great Multitude, which cannot be inspected, into small Companies, which can be inspected) it is in itself not so bad, to have one's own Pale; every one should therefore help the other to improve and preserve his; and no one is at Liberty to withdraw himself from the others, when they want his Aid; not even under the Pretext of adhering to Christ alone; since the Apostle calls even that a pernicious Sect, which, in this Sense, appeals to Christ, 1 Cor. i. 12.

Of the third Kind are those little Flocks, who, through the Opportunity of the Place, and other good Reasons, unite themselves in an exterior Body so closely together, that their Labourers are at the same time requested, and at hand, to watch over the Souls committed to them, as those that must give an Account: These are by the Saviour, Matt. v. 14. called visible, and by the Holy Ghost frequently an exterior Body, where one who is reckoned a Member, can do nothing without the other; and this is clearly demonstrated from the Nature of the human Body, 1 Cor. xii. 14. Now when one of these little Churches abides on the same Foundation as the other does, namely on Jesus Christ, and afterwards each is faithfully taken care of, and built unto a spiritual House, then is their Multiplicity only a Beauty.

* To every orderly Institution there is an Honour and Respect due: Since all regularly settled Constitutions are either appointed, or protected, or at least borne with, by God; even so far, that a very Babel can never be set aside by other Societies, unless he himself breaks it with the Stone without Hands, or confounds its Language: Therefore our Communities are not only not commissioned to storm Constitutions already settled, or even in a secret and subtle Manner to undermine them; but they ought to have in their Mind a kind of Veneration for every Society that has made a Regulation of its own Matter; and where the Lord has granted so far a Continuance, that Doors could be fixed to the House, there it becomes them to use great Deference.

In Adam all have died; in Christ all can and must be made alive, whatever gets a spiritual Life; and whosoever hears the Voice of Christ or his Father by the Holy Ghost, he lives. Every Man has a Right to that Benefit by the Death of Jesus: and Christ has, by one Offering, perfected for ever all that are sanctified: Notwithstanding this, every one remains dead in Sins, whom Christ does not quicken; each must be begotten again: But when, properly, in the Space of this present Time? And how? This the Lord knows; we have the less Need to trouble ourselves about it, as it is not our Office to make Souls alive, but to speak Words of Life to those Souls who are raised from the Dead through the Spirit of Christ. So long as one is not made alive, he is still under the Judgment of Condemnation to eternal Death; and though it is not manifest to him, yet also his natural Conscience is not unapprehensive of it: So soon as a Soul is awakened, rarely she begins by being sensible of her Happiness, so as it might be; but, on the contrary, it is observed, that she perceives and acknowledges herself as condemned; but as soon as she applies to him, who justifies the Ungodly, and believes that he has died for her Sin also (which no-body can believe, but through the Holy Ghost), immediately that Soul is received to Grace, absolved from Sin, divorced from the Law thereof, and has that Privilege or Right, not to sin more, but to be holy, and in a short time is acquainted with that Privilege. As soon as one obtains Grace, he may boldly lay aside Sin; and if the Heart renounce it for ever, and is and remains unalterably averse to it, and of one Mind with the Saviour in Opposition to it; the Saviour accordingly takes us under his Protection, against the Devil, the World, and Sin. So we go on in Sanctification every Day; and the Holy Ghost makes us continually more intire, more complete, more practised, firm, experienced, unproveable, and beautiful, even to Eternity; and all this for our dear Saviour's Sake, and out of Regard for him (because He is our Flesh and Blood; and no one ever yet hated his own Flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, Eph. v. 29.) We carry our Treasure till to the Grave in an earthen Vessel, wherein none can keep it quite undamaged, but the Lord alone; but as long as we remain poor and lowly, we are sure, until his Day, that he will faithfully do it.

As to the Exercise or Demonstration of Faith in Power; this is a Rule with all of us:

That each sinful Man who has obtained Grace, and is made fit for Holiness, whatsoever he does in Word or Deed, do all in the Name of the Lord Jesus: And, that Satan may not be able to corrupt his Senses, his Heart and Mind must be preserved thro' the Peace of the Lord our God. But if we are desirous to make all our Actions a Thanksgiving to the Father through Jesus, then every one must not only let alone all Works of the Flesh, but also all that, which in him would not proceed of Faith, if he did it. This is the deep grounded Mind of us all, in Doctrine and Walking.

* One is to use Caution in contradicting even the erroneous Teachers; sometimes there is some Truth mixed with their Sayings; and, when we admit that, then the Person who vented the Error, perhaps acquiesces, without desiring more. The great Uproars which may be caused in Matters of Faith by fiery Men, should wisely, and in time, be prevented by a meek and plain Conduct; and thus, frequently, out of a dangerous Outcry, something useful and edifying might come forth.

In looking over a Discourse, all sharp and pointed Expressions especially, and all such in general as affect any one personally, should be struck out.

There is a great Misunderstanding among Souls, out of personal Fears, or Affection: He who is afraid of a Person, is suspicious, even amidst the best Appearance and Expressions: And he who loves, easily finds Excuses even for a bad Appearance, or unsuitable Expression.

There is only One End (this we all grant); and divers Methods, Manners, or Schemes: Each Method, according to human Incapacity, has an Eye only to One, Two, or Three Sides of the Matter, and cannot make all good; and is even sensible of this. Therefore one Man has Patience with another, and copies from him whatever he can with Judgment and Pertinency: But a divine fundamental Truth is a Touch-stone and Skibboleth, whereby Christ's People, and the Children of Belial, must be manifested, when they speak their Mind out, just as it is.

* We are seriously of Opinion, that certain Truths and Ordinances, though of a heavenly Origin, if they come into Decay, must not be set up again, without a solid Appearance of a renewed divine Call, and an intire Understanding of Times and Circumstances.

* As accursed as one is, who does the Work of the Lord negligently, so unblest however is an unwise Servant, who, without sufficient Preparation, is over-hasty with the Lord's Work: For, when that comes which shall come, all will spontaneously make itself; and then, a little old Piece of Paper since the remotest Times, on which a private Testimony has been preserved, will have its Blessing, Use, and Honour; and a Book neatly contrived, and perhaps in the first Beginning relished here and there, which, by its untimely Zeal, came out Twenty Years too soon, not only will have no thorough Entertainment with any sober Mind (notwithstanding in this time it did puzzle Consciences), but will soon become waste Paper.

March. The infallible Sign, whereby a true Child of God knows himself to be such, is, That he knows he comes directly into the Arms of his Creator, when he departs this World; and, this notwithstanding, always blushes at his own Unworthiness, like the Thief upon the Cross. But the infallible Mark of a wise Servant of God is, when he every-where, to the best of his Understanding and Power, endeavours to convince all clearly, even the most pious and refined People, that they are still in themselves nothing better than that Malefactor; and that, notwithstanding all their Unblameableness, they can stand only for that Word's sake, which Jesus hath spoken; and that he hath brought Grace to them. Therefore also they remain capable of committing all Misdemeanors, as soon as they trust in themselves, as soon as that unhappy thing, αὐτοὶ ἐγώ. I myself (Rom. vii.) appears; but as long as they hold fast by Christ, and make as little Account of their own Right any more, as that Malefactor, so long the Accuser of the Brethren, amidst all their Misery, has no Advantage against them.

We, being constrained thereto by our Heart and Office, testify to every one, who desires to be a Servant of Christ, and to whose Heart the Merit of the Wounds of Jesus is not the dearest Thought, Expression, and Handle, to perform all by, that he is no Child of God.

In like manner we testify to every Teacher, who still values himself upon something, and who cannot listen to every Child of God, with a Desire of being taught (which Desire is an infallible Token of a poor Sinner, who is sensible of having received all by Grace), that he as yet has no Beginning of spiritual Experience.

June. The Doctrine of the Grace-Election of the First-born out of all the People, and of the Disciples of the Lamb, and of the sure Smart's-Reward for his Torments in Body and Soul, is a most precious divine Truth.

In the present graceless Times it is quite as necessary to speak in Paradoxes, and to express the divine Truths in a Manner that cannot be imitated by any, who are not genuinely acquainted with the Mystery of the Blood-and-Wounds-Theology, as it is necessary to make a Mark to one's Name, which another cannot forge; or perhaps to write a Hand, which an impertinent Person will find too troublesome to read. For since the most precious Truths are soon after mimicked by the Evil One, on purpose that they also may evaporate, as the former have done; this in Sound hazardous, bold and sharp Language, from which untire People imagine to themselves a great deal of Danger, is a Preservative against this Design of Satan.

Sept. Since the Way of subtile Demonstration was invented by Satan for that very End, that those who pursue it much to and fro, even in Matters relating to the Soul and Salvation, may at last bring their Demonstration to that Issue, that they themselves do no more believe: And since, in the Course of Debates, the Truth is subject to be mingled with so many different Passions and By-Circumstances, that at last the Contention is no more de eo quod erat demonstrandum, but about all the heterogeneous and accidental Particulars, which have sprung up out of the Disputation: Therefore the Brethren should not demonstrate, either in spiritual or natural Matters, except in the last Case before the Magistrate; but first take measure for raising a fiducial Feeling of the Lamb of God; and, when that succeeds, allege that αὐτὸς ἐπα out of his Book.

1743. The same Kind of Idea, which lies in the Words Apostleship, &c. lies also in the Word Sinnership. It is as much as Peccaminositas, the remaining sinnerly. But, in the German, it implies something more yet; namely, the Impression whereby a Man all his Life-time feels a kind of Apprehension for himself: Because one is sinful in one's Essence, we remain Sinners in Time and Eternity. The Activity of Sin ceases with Time, but the Potentiality of Sinning ceases not eternally; only we are in the Arms of a Bridegroom, who will never suffer it more to happen, that his Bride should sin. Therefore there is in us an everlasting Reliance on the Saviour.

The Righteousness of Christ, as the Light, and our Sinnership, as the Shade, compose an intire Piece, a beautiful Picture: This is expressed in those Words of one of our Hymns, How low the Hero bows before the King! Heroes, Princes, and Lords, often make a great Figure; but when their King comes in, dressed in an ordinary Coat, he is however Sovereign, and they are Ministers, whose Motto is, I serve, ICH DIEN.

1744. Discourses without Spirit, and apostolical Grace, and moreover without Solidity, are a mere Prating, and to be ascribed to the Negligence and Perfunctoriness of the Labourers.

To Discourses in a Congregation-Meeting are required,

1. A sacred Awe all over the Assembly.
2. That one is warm himself over the Subject.
3. That he, as it were, sweats out the Warmth which he feels.

When it is not thus, it is better to have Anagnosæ, in order to read over a Sermon, a Letter, or a Dissertation.

Because pious People have observed in those Teachers, who first of all wrote about Sinnership, or Sinnerliness (German, Sunderschaft), a pretty loose Life; therefore they think, that this is connected with Sinnerliness; whereas Sinnerliness is as well a Preservative as a Remedy against the committing of Sin; from which otherwise Solomon's Wisdom could not deliver him: For there is a boundless Strengthening in Poverty of Spirit.

Each Soul, if it be attentive, can itself get, out of God's Word, so much Insight as its Needs call for: Therefore no human Leading of Souls is of absolute Necessity.

1745. A Hierarchical State in the Church was perhaps never absolutely necessary. Paul laboured Fourteen Years, without the Hierarchy at Jerusalem. Now

although we find the old known Form useful and necessary amongst us, yet we believe nevertheless, that the Saviour sets up also Servants and Witnesses without it.

The right Church-Discipline is an invisible Transaction of the Holy Ghost in the Heart: The rest, which is called by that Name, has not much Reality. Order and Discipline are different. Order is established for the preventing of bad Actions; but the Intention of Discipline is to be, the promoting of Good, and the punishing of Evil. Order pertains to Congregation-Labourers, Discipline to the Civil Magistrate, or, at most, to a Church-Judicature; and has no direct Connexion with the Cura animarum.

1746. To be cheerful and joyful are Two different Things. Joyful belongs to Faith, and cheerful to Love: Inverted, it is good for nothing. To go joyful to the Scaffold, and cheerfully to be a Sinner, do rightly answer one another. As it is in our Hymns, Cheerfully allow, we Sinners are, and little know. Thank God! that I his Sinner am, &c. Thank God! for Adam's Loss, &c. But to Levity or Light-mindedness, Laziness, fanatical Nonsense, and such-like Things, Kyrie eleison! Lord, have Mercy! is what appertains.

1747. May. In all that we do, we are constantly to keep in our Eye that great Aim, to obtain at last a Stillness and Hiddenness, under a Name which no Man knows, saving he that receiveth it (Rev. ii. 17.); and to count no Pains too much, in order to come continually nearer to this Mark.

In our threefold Collections of daily Texts, which we treat upon Year after Year, and which already consist of Four thousand Scripture-Texts, lies an ample System of the whole Bible; and so it is insensibly digested in succum & sanguinem.

* In the general Truths, all Children of God harmonize with us; but special Conclusions they may be ignorant of: In which respect therefore we absolutely ought to accommodate ourselves to them.

* A Brother of that sort of Persuasion, which has prevailed among zealous Men for about an Age past, or, as hitherto they have been used to be characterized by others, a Pietist or Methodist of the best Kind, eyes his own Misery, makes it his constant Object, and is, by more or fewer serene Glimpses or Looks into the Wounds and Merits of Jesus, comforted as much as is convenient for him. A living Member of our Congregation, a Pilgrim, or, as the vulgar Name is, a Brother of the Unity, has, at an happy Hour, got Sight of that Lamb, who takes away the Sin of the World, makes Him his Object Day and Night, and is, by more or fewer wholesome Looks into his natural Misery and Corruption, sufficiently humbled.

If now both Parties laboured in Concert towards Souls of the respective Dispositions, this would be the best Means of preventing, that neither the Methodical Way should decline into a Kind of Hypocrisy, nor the Brethrens Way into a Frankness, which might give Offence.

Octob. When one will perform Service for the Government, and his native Land, it must be done with that Idea, even to spend himself (if Need be) thereupon; that one think, Therefore am I a Subject, and engaged, that I might do all possible Service to my Countrymen. He, whose Scheme is for Gain thereby, does not think in our Way.

Novemb. * Those People, who are dissatisfied with their Religions for the simple Formality's sake, are like Naaman, and cannot believe, that small and ordinary Things could perform great Matters, so as they do: You may find, for Instance, all Knowledge necessary to Salvation in Luther's little Catechism, which certainly, next to the Bible, is one of the soundest human Productions. But who will suspect a Treatise of one Sheet of Paper to contain such a prodigious Substance?

Self-conceit, or Presumption, is a spiritual Leprosy, the most infamous Sin which can be named. The Ambition and Jealousy stirred up in young Children is the most dangerous Seed to such Tares, and easily makes them young Lucifers: Whence it appears, how much depends on a wise and evangelical Education of Children.

For the Education of Children, it is not necessary there should be just such Nurseries as ours, which ought to be only Schools of the Prophets, for the particular Geniuses of chosen and promising Instruments. In our fixed Congregations, it must still come to that, that each Citizen-Parent should educate his own Children, and do as other Christian People do. Our Nurseries for the Congregation-Children in general, are tacit Confessions of our great Imperfection in this Particular.

The Bible is and remains our Rule circa removenda, against which, and against the Spirit whereof, no one must dare to plead for any thing.

Decemb. The hardest Heart of a baptized Person is always, in effect, like a soft and dissolveable Stone, Gutta cavat lapidem, the smallest Drop makes Way into it: But the Heart of an unbaptized Person is a Flint; and the Breaking and Softening of it a special Work of God, above human Power.

The first Ideas of the supreme Magistrates are always conformable to his Mind, whose Representatives they are; only they are sometimes diverted by the secondary Ideas which their Subalterns suggest; yet never quite: And this is that which the Children of God, in their Confidence towards the Magistrate, cheerfully build upon.

1748. May. The Tropus's have not been taken up in order to facilitate our Way thro', but they have been introduced for the sake of the right dividing of the Word of Truth; likewise for the preserving the unconfused Preaching of the Gospel in all Protestant Countries, and for spiritual Afylums for our Posterity, even if they be not like us. If the making our Way thro' was our Point; if we would only be a flourishing People for our own Part, and not be profitable also to others; then we need only, bluntly, and without more Consideration, maintain and urge the Rights of the Moravian Church; so it would be effected at once. And indeed in general, whoever insists upon his Point, and says, I think and believe differently; I must also have another Form; he will easily be indulged therein, according to the Principles of religious Liberty, which at present obtain. Only we would gladly let the Leaven be still communicating itself farther among the Meal, and for this End use the Way of the Tropus's, according to the very Truth of the Thing, altho' it be ever so tedious and difficult, and draws upon us all the Controversies with the different Divines of our own evangelical Confession.

The Ground of the rest of the Enmity against us lies in the Corruption of Man, Pious People had rather be subject to the Saviour out of Necessity, than become, as it were, Free-men of his Kingdom. Now, when they observe in us a strange Kind of cheerful Recluses or Anchorites, who renounce the Glories and Pleasures of the World with Joy, then they think, "Those intolerable People! They behave as if it did cost one no Self-denial, as if one must even beg it as a Favour to be poor and despised; as if all Glories and Satisfaction of the World were not worth speaking of, &c." This is a dangerous Situation, where none can bring us thro', but the Saviour.

The most innocent Idea of Reprobation probably had its Rise originally from a Desire to avoid Pelagianism, and did infer no more than Predestination; and was only kept up afterwards out of Respect for the Authors, even after Predestination and Reprobation had become separate Doctrines, the latter being carefully avoided in some eminent Confessions, as in the XXXIX Articles of the Church of England.

Concerning Predestination, we believe, that it shews itself in such sovereign Acts of our Saviour, where he many times snatches some one de facto out of Destruction, like a Brand out of the Fire; so that such a Man hardly knows himself what happens to him, or how he enjoys it. Now, this takes place commonly in Men of the worst Composition and Sort, who, without such an heroical Method, were not to be brought to Rights. And, as many such now fly into our Congregations, one may very well say in this respect, that such a Congregation might be looked upon as the Dregs of the World, and only through Grace is, what she always is, the Marrow of the World. But this does not imply, that the rest of Mankind could not also be saved without such an extraordinary Course. Certainly a Multitude will be saved, which no Man can number. The Difference is only this: The former our Saviour intreats to taste Salvation at all times; the latter, in time of Distress, beseech the Saviour to save them; and neither can reject the other's Title. But he who never does beseech or petition, omits omits it for no other Reason, but either because he is quite dead or senseless, or because he has harboured too great an Opinion of himself, and thought himself in a good Condition enough already; wherefore also the Saviour overlooked him too. On the last Day, there will, perhaps, ceteris paribus (for we are not able to determine fully any such almost hidden thing à priori), many yet be saved, who, in this World, had only been no malignant Spirits with regard to their Creator and Saviour Jesus Christ, and his Brethren (Matt. xxv.), but had wished well to them, and their Affair. The Character of a malignant Spirit in this Kind is, when one takes a Pleasure in resisting, or doing an Ill-turn to, our Saviour, his Church, the least of his Brethren, or, as the Phrase is, to all that which is good. Others, even Persecutors themselves, commonly sin as Slaves of Sin, and Captives of Satan at his Will. But it is only of the satanical Spirits, or malicious Hearts, it is said; "According to the Lusts of your Father ye will do, &c."

June. The Winding-up of all, the Result of our whole Preaching, and of all our Undertakings, is, according to 1 Tim. i. 5. a Love unfeigned (1 Cor. xiii.) that is, that People become tenderly enamoured with the Object of our Doctrine, Jesus Christ, and have such Intimacy and Confidence towards Him, that, with all their Misery and Defects, they can step directly before Him; and, when he has kissed, absolved, and blessed them, can afterwards, out of Love to their Beloved, in their Vocation, serve all their Fellow-Men as faithfully and sincerely, as if they did it all to our Lord Jesus Christ himself.

He, who has reached this Mark, may and ought to remain in his Constitution wherein God has placed him, according to a deep Knowledge of all his Circumstances of Body and Soul, and their manifold Modifications.

It is, on all Accounts, necessary to fix the Doctrine to an human Compendium: And here the Augsbург Confession is indisputably the best for us, since the Apostles Times, among all such Productions. What is not found therein, are only Problems, or Disciplinalia: And then, as to the Method which is to be used, there the First Synod of Bern, published in the Year 1532. is incomparable.

The not indifferently admitting Strangers does not proceed from Secrecy, but from Equity, to spare them (what might chiefly be hurtful to themselves) various Ideas about Matters, which they do not comprehend, or else relish without a Foundation in their Heart: Therefore did our Saviour absolutely send back, or put by, so many People.

Nov. The Congregation of Christ in general hath as yet no House of her own, that is worthy of her; but is still looking for an House. The Bridegroom is still invisible; therefore must the Bride not covet more Convenience, but abide hid with Christ in God, and never appear otherwise than as the Angels, namely, under a borrowed Body, under the Form and Scheme at one time of one, at another time of another, of the then best evangelic Religions.

The Tropus's have no Reference at all to the Heart: There is no Difference in Christ Jesus; there is one Faith, one Saviour, one Merit, one Life and Happiness. The Difference consists only in that Manner of communicating Ideas, wherein a Person has been brought up.

In the Doctrine of the Lord's Supper, we are very far from teaching Transubstantiation; altho' we believe and experience the most intimate Participation of that once tormented Body, after a Way similar to the first Imparting at the time of Institution, when He took the Bread into his Hands, which were quite moist with Agony-sweat, at a Point of Time when those terrible Pains of Death did seize upon and alter him, which caused the whole Mass of Blood to boil in his Veins, and Him to sweat, shudder, and tremble all over his Body; so that there might be a real Kneading-together of his Body into the Bread. But this is all spoken concerning the Mode or Manner; and about the Manner it is always better to speak remotivè, in order to avoid erroneous Thoughts, than positivè, in order to explain one's true Sensation.

In general we refrain from searching absolutely into the Mystery, and its intrinsic Relation; and consider it only in the Application, and as we have the Benefit of it.

To

To read in the Bible is a Blessing and Happiness; but it should properly be done in the Congregation by Anagnostæ, or Readers; and then to such Meetings would the Apostle's Words be right applicable: Let the Word of God dwell richly among you in all Wisdom.

We have no System of our own making, and will have none; but will be all, from time to time, taught of God, and extremely pleased, when we find a Rule to be serviceable to that Intent of our Creator and Saviour, in old Transactions of the Forefathers, being averse to luxuriant Novelty.

1749. January. The Brethren's Churches, and any Apostolate thence proceeding, are Two quite distinct Things. The former is a Corporation by itself (as the Phrase is in England), and is likewise the Inn of all those Children of God, who cannot otherwise subsist and come thro' the World. She has, for Ages, suffered enough, and should now, by rights, have Rest; yet here that Part of Apostolate *, which the Saviour has, for these last Twenty Years, called some of her Labourers to, has, alas! brought many Sufferings upon her.

May. The People who pick up and pervert our practical Phrases, incur a terrible Guilt thereby: For, so long as all these Matters are read, as they were written in our Language, unconverted People look at it, indeed, along with the rest; but, by the wise Dispensation of the faithful Preserver of Men, have no Eyes; they hear it, but have no Ears for it, or, as they conjecturally understand it, they, perhaps, even admire it. But, when it is turned for them into their Language, that they can see it with their Eyes, and hear it with their Ears, and express it with their Tongues, then all is over. Avayun, Offence must come; but those will be in the Fault, who utter to them the spiritual Things, which must be spiritually judged, after an earthly, human, or devilish Manner: For, so soon as the natural People think they understand it, then the Light-minded among them ridicule it; the more Thoughtful are stirred up, and reproached in their Conscience; and the Forward and Hasty are tempted to follow after, or to mimic, a certain Holiness, whereof they have no Conception, whereto also they have no Call or Election; for they do not know, that their Body is the Temple of the Holy Ghost, since indeed He is not in them, but they are yet their own Masters. But, thro' such a forced Knowledge, and (which is the Consequence of it) uncautious Spreading abroad, or also malicious and designing Sophistication of the Mysteries of the inward Kingdom of God, People become, with Murmuring and Enmity, sensible of their own Unfitness, Insufficiency, and Inability, must confess it with Shame and Pain, come, perhaps, even into untimely and unnecessary heavy Convictions of Conscience: But the End of it is, that they turn Revilers.

May 1. Whereas the Uniformity in Public Worship is neither of an absolute Necessity with regard to those Brethren's Churches, which, though united in one Spirit and Soul with the Whole, nevertheless are to be viewed as several different Bodies, on account of the Difference of their Language and Education, and even that distant providential Situation among so many Christian and Heathen Nations; nor was that same Uniformity, by the antient Maxims of our own Constitution, and the truly good Advice of Dr. Luther, calculated for ever, even in respect to the Brethren's Convocation-house, and their General Synods themselves:

It would be therefore not to so much Purpose, to make a circumstantial Shew of the Form, which in the Year 1749 is observed in our Churches here and there, as to give an exact Introduction into the unalterable and everlasting Reason of every Part of our Liturgy. In which latter we will now begin to give serious Persons in other Christian Protestant Churches, as much Satisfaction as lies in our Power; there having been hitherto weighty Obstacles to the laying open such Matters.

BRETHRENS LITURGIES.

ALTHO' it would be no difficult Task to prove, that sacred Rites are in themselves of a great Consequence for promoting true Devotion, and not only to shew, by an hundred Instances, that when, out of a profound Abhorrence of an Heathenish Superstition, and Jewish Pomp, or that unbecoming Ostentation which mimicked both (when the Militant Church upon Earth became a Dictator to all Nations, and wore the Imperial Crown upon the same), in Opposition thereto, the Divine Worship was by some Christians of the latter Times stripped of all its outward Decency; a Reformation of that Kind produced always, first, a noted Negligence of the Liturgy, and, in course of time, the intire Loss of Godliness itself:

But also, to prove most plainly, that the human Mind must be kept in a kind of outward Decorum, principally when many are united in One Body, or congregated in One Place, in order to attend Matters of great Moment, which they are equally intitled to; otherwise they would shortly drop the Reason of their uniting, and know as little of the Business as the most accidental Mob:

Nevertheless, we need not make any farther Enquiry into the intrinsic Matter, because it is more natural to Christians to derive all their Customs and Practices, together with the convincing Reasons thereof, solely out of the Fountain of all Christian Divinity, the primitive Records of the only heavenly Revelation.

We are sensible, that it is very difficult to fix the Nature of the Sacramental Transactions of our Saviour, and to determine which of those Acts are to be followed by us, and which of them were only peculiar Acts done by Him.

There are many notable Deeds of His, performed with a great deal of Mystery; the Continuance of several of which is not only not to be proved, but, in regard of some few, not so much as suspected.

Some others we observe to have been practised in the first Ages, but with different Ceremonies.

It is notorious, that the first Ordination of a Christian Clergy was performed by a Breathing upon them (Vide Joban. xx.); the Second by conveying the Hand of the Candidate, not present at the first Chapter, into the Side of the High Priest; the Third by Word of Mouth; the Fourth by Prayer and Presentation; and the following by Imposition of Hands.

Baptism (which is a Sacrament instituted by the Saviour, received in his own Person, but never administred by Him) had several varying Instances, and also Circumstances accompanying this Mystery, which are to be guessed at in the Bible.

1st, The Descent of the Holy Ghost in a bodily Form.

2dly, The Communication of the same in the very Act of the Fire-Baptism, to be observed in the shining Countenance of the Candidate, as on the Day of Pentecost; which seems to be the only visible Instance we have of the same, tho' we may seemingly suspect more of the first Baptisms to have been of the like Kind.

3dly, When the Apostles administred Baptism to such, who had already received the Holy Ghost.

4thly, When the Apostle Paul ordains to baptize in the Name of the Lord; which he in other Places intimates to be a mysterious Dipping into the Death of Jesus.

5thly, The Baptism over the Tombs of the Martyrs; Part of whom had themselves no Opportunity for any other than the Bloody Baptism. And, 6thly, The still-used Manner in Christendom, of baptizing in the Name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, taken from the Form of the Commission given to the Apostles.

The Celebration of the Eucharist is, without doubt, recorded in very different manners.

When the Saviour Himself celebrated it the first time, literally He gave it under one, and bequeathed the other Species, to his Apostles, to be enjoyed immediately after the shedding of his Blood.

Supposing the other Apostles, when they relate the Celebrating of the Sacrament, mention nothing but Breaking of Bread: Yet when St. Paul, that Apostle of ours, delivers his Mind about that Blessed Mystery (arisen, as he tells us, from the Lord's own Revelation), he lays it down in that way, which is now followed in all Protestant Churches.

The Washing of the Feet, which in the following Times has been transformed into a mere Act of Humility (the Idea of which is however not to be rejected, tho' it be certainly but accessory), we find to have been so much neglected in the very first Ages, that the performing of it was apparently left to the Widows, so early as in the Times of St. Paul.

The Reason why such a Cessation could happen, will be very problematical to every one, who considers with a calm Mind, that the Saviour performed this Act, in order to wipe away the Frailties of such Persons as were already justified.

The Power of absolving the Brethren having been kept hitherto in Trust; however solid might be the Reasons, why the Manner of conveying this Benefit, which has been used and instituted by our Saviour, was let alone; nevertheless, nobody should wonder, if Part of the Evangelical Church retain the original Rite at the Absolution of Brethren.

The supposing, that the Gifts of the Spirit, called in the antient Times χαρίσματα, (the natural Sense of which seems to be altered, by stiling them all, Miraculous Powers) were become extremely rare, if not lost, gave an Opportunity to scratch the Rites belonging to them out of the common Agenda.

Altho' a Christian Congregation could not subscribe in Conscience to such a cancelling of all the Charismata; nevertheless Wonders not being the Means prescribed by the Holy Ghost to convince the Greeks, and their Posterity, and therefore Silence being in our Times the best Repository of such Privileges; a Form relating to these Parts of Christian Church-Deeds will be of the less Use: While also the acting Spirit and Power, which Constraint would lessen, is sufficiently cleared from Suspicion of Disorder and Fanaticism by that plain Character given of it by the Apostle, That spiritual Gifts are always subordinated to Prophecy.

Matters standing thus — Never wiser Canons could possibly be contrived, than that excellent one, quod Differentia Jejunii non faciat Differentiam Fidei: A Principle, which not only the renowned Augsburg Confession establishes firmly (in consequence of which Foundation the celebrated Luther builds the first Liturgy of his whole Reformation, in the Preface thereto); but, notwithstanding its Nicety and Precision in Methodismo, the very Saxon Formula Concordiæ adopts in the following plain Terms:

Nulla Ecclesia propter Ceremoniarum Dissimilitudinem (quarum aliæ pro ratione Libertatis Christianæ pauciores, aliæ plures observant) alteram condemnabit, si modò in Doctrinâ et in omnibus illius partibus, atque in legitimo Sacramentorum Usu concordēs fuerint. Vetus enim et memorabile Dictum est: Dissonantia Jejunii non dissolvit Consonantiam Fidei. Form. Concord. Art. X. et in ejusdem declaratione ibidem, et alibi sæpe.

In pursuance of which, our Churches in general are extremely cautious in controuling other Christians Liturgies; moreover ready to conform at any rate; if there are not weighty Reasons to suspect, that such or such a Form was originally designed in order to mislead People, and to spread Errors with fine Words. As for Instance: Some old Forms of Prayer used every-where unsuspected, would certainly not be suffered among us, as deviating too much from the Object of Adoration common to Mankind in general, and insensibly removing the common Sense which all Human Creatures ought to have with regard to their common Father, Creator, and Redeemer, in one and the same Person (who, moreover, is the necessary Passage into any particular Knowledge of the Mysteries in the Deity); or at least, complimenting the Religious Commonwealth with a supposed Over-balance of living Members of Christ: The Untruth of which Supposition, is generally more acknowledged, than a convenient Remedy sought for.

Notwithstanding this common Spirit of Insensibility, there have always been Churches more zealously confessing the Imperfection, and inquiring for some Rectification.

It would perhaps seem incredible to Persons not fully acquainted with the inward Principles of Dr. Luther, how far this Reformer, in his Time, pressed Matters in this respect.

Let us consider the following Apology of his, in the very Words of the fore-mentioned Preface to the First Edition of his German Agenda or Liturgy (Luth. Op. Tom. iii. Alt. fol. 467. Tom. iii. Jen. f. 257. Tom. vii. Witt. f. 399.) “Here is as yet, says he, no ordered or fixed Constitution, wherein one can govern Christians according to the Gospel; but only a Form of public Exhortation, or Incentive to Faith and to Christianity.” — And further, concerning the true Nature of an Evangelical Assembly: “Whenever there shall be such an one, it must not be carried on in such a Mob of all Sorts; but those, who desire in earnest to be Christians, and with Word and Deed profess the Gospel, must give in their Names, and meet perhaps alone in a House, for Prayer, for Reading, to baptize, to receive the Sacrament, and perform other Christian Acts. In this kind of Order, one could know those who did not demean themselves as becometh Christians, and correct, reform, cast out, or lay them under Censure, Matt. xviii. Here there would be no need to be prolix and tedious, but one could use a short pretty Way with the Sacraments, making all harmonize with the Word, Prayer, and Thanksgiving; for one ought not to cast the Sacrament so among People promiscuously — Thus we should again arrive to a Christian Assembly, who at present are almost pure Heathens under the Name of Christians. In short, if one had but the People and Persons, who in earnest desired to be Christians, the Order and Manner could soon be adjusted; but I neither can, nor am willing as yet to appoint or set up such a Congregation or Assembly; for I have not as yet People and Persons for it, nor do I see many endeavour to become fit. In the mean while I will go no further, than to bear Testimony, that there are Two Ways, as before-mentioned; and will help to promote in public among the People even such a kind of Divine Worship as is here prepared [meaning his Book of the German Liturgy] for the training up of the Youth, and for the calling and exhorting of others unto Faith, together with Preaching; until fit Subjects, whose Intention is sincerely towards the Gospel, present themselves, claiming that [Christian Order].”

No doubt, all the exceeding Praises of our Discipline uttered by Camerarius, Bucer, and other numberless Divines of the Lutheran Persuasion (for there hardly will be found two or three Instances of a Difference among them on that Head), flowed from a Misunderstanding of this very Passage of their Patriarch. The Sum of which Mistake of theirs is for ever recorded in that famous Preface of the late Dr. Buddeus to Commenii Ratio Disciplinæ et Ordinis FF. Bob. printed at the Orphan-house in Halle, in the following Words: Faxit Deus, ut præclarissimo Bohemorum Fratrum exemplo excitati seriò de vitâ moribusque emendandis cogitent, utque qui eò pervenerunt, deque aliorum salute solliciti sunt, hîc inveniant, quæ cum fructu ad DISCIPLINAM ECCLESIAE POSTLIMINIO REVOCANDAM usurpent.

We cannot but think, that those Divines hit much better the Mind of Luther, who, instead of reforming National, Provincial, or even Parochial Worship (contrived, for the most part, with a great deal of Wisdom, considering the Whole, condescending to human Frailty, avoiding Libertinism, preventing the Plays of Imagination, and directed apparently by Providence itself; which latter is clear from hence, because the very Heart of Worship profits always by simplifying, and diminishes by refining of Forms); sanctify the Religion they profess; exemplify the same; and, avoiding a World of Occasions for Hypocrisy, lessen rather than multiply the Cases, wherein, if Benefit is not received, Hurt is inevitable.

The Divines of this latter Opinion, in pursuance of the Example of our truly religious Master and Lord Jesus Christ, distinguish between the Ecclesia, and the Ecclesiolæ. As the former, in all Europe, keeps Pace with the Civil Government, it certainly answers to the Worship of the Temple in our Saviour's Time; and the latter, to the Family-Order of our Saviour; the Continuation of which, in the whole Circumference of the dispersed Church upon Earth, seems to be supposed in consequence of the following Promises of our Saviour, implying Commands, Matt. xviii. 19, 20. xxviii. 20. and primitive Instances in Fact agreeable to the foregoing Theory, viz. John xx. 19, 26. Acts i. 4, 13. ii. 1. and principally Verse 46, 47.

It will be convenient to subjoin here a notable Passage of that very great Man Dr. Spener, at that Time First Divine of Saxony, but afterwards of the Brandenburg Dominions. This Divine, in his Consilia Theologica, Part iii. p. 120. speaks as follows to the present Purpose:

“ We that are Preachers of the Gospel, when sincerely in earnest in the Ministry
“ of the Word of God, must, each in his Place, and also with the Advice and Assistance of other his pious Acquaintance and Friends of the same Mind as himself, “ endeavour to bring together, amongst the great Body of our several Churches, certain “ little Societies, as it were Families, ECCLESIOLÆ, that is, such Persons as have a “ sincere Zeal to serve their God only. — And if, by the Blessing of Heaven, it “ should be so far advanced in some Congregations, that the most part of their “ Members began to resemble the first Apostolical Societies, they would thereby become such Lights, as would greatly enlighten the thick Darkness of the others.
“ And then one could sooner hope, when this Matter shall have been tried in several “ single Parishes or Congregations, and, thro' the Grace of God, the Blessing and “ Benefit arising therefrom shall have shewn itself, that then some Great Ones of the “ World, who are not Ill-wishers to the Kingdom of Christ, might be inclined to “ authorize such Practices in general: And should the God of Mercy still intend to “ send a faithful Instrument of his (as he formerly used the dear Luther against the “ great Popedom) to mend the present corrupt State of things, for which we ought “ to give him our humble Thanks; even then our Labour also, which we each of “ us in his Place had done in Simplicity, will not be lost, or have been in vain, it “ having been as a Preparation for the other.”

In fact, when the present Advocate of the Hierarchy of the Unitas Fratrum endeavoured to keep a considerable Part of the Moravian Refugees (converted by Lutheran Divines in these late Times, and not only ignorant of the antient Brethrens Form, but not very fit for it) in Union with the parochial Church at Berthelsdorf, allowing to them a private Use of the most material Points of the inward Discipline; the Divines of the Wirtemberg Church, far from taxing it as irregular, approved of these Regulations by an ample and beautiful Consilium Theologicum, the Conclusion of which is to be seen p. 22, 23. of this Collection, together with the great Applause of the old Bishop Jablonsky recorded p. 7. Conf. etiam pag. 14, 19, 21, 24.

Indeed,

Indeed, as the Glory * of the Church's Candlesticks commonly ebbs and flows; which, in itself, far from degrading the Worth of the good Souls dwelling in dusky Abodes, renders them the more estimable † in the Eyes of Heaven; the real Peril of Souls, which may be feared from such Circumstances, residing only in the Self-deceit, false Shame, and ensuing hypocritical Means in order to appear what a Body so situated never is, nor should pretend to be: One of the most important Foundations of our Liturgy, is, to keep standing Two Sorts of Agenda's; one to be used when the greatest, and the other when the smallest, Part of our Church seem to be a true Representation of the wise Virgins.

As a public Declaration of the one and the other would be of little Benefit, because Mankind, when in a bad Condition, are not likely to be persuaded of it; the Sincerity of the Watchmen must be depended upon, to give a due Notice of the Increase or Decrease of the Schechinah in their respective Congregations (Ecclesiæ), to the yearly Synod, to whom it belongs to make Dispositions accordingly.

It is according to the propounded Ideas, that we are careful in observing the best of Decorums we are able to contrive, in the following Pieces of the Divine Sanctuary; in order to hallow,

The performing those Blessed Ordinances, which our Saviour has bequeathed us by his Last Will:

The Contracting and Keeping the Matrimonial State in its different Branches.

The Getting and Educating of Children:

The carefully upholding, cheerfully ministering to, and confidently leaving, this mortal Body:

The entertaining that mutual Correspondence, encouraging hearty Love and Confidence, and refreshing the Memory of the (amidst all the temporary Distinctions) unalterably remaining Equality of Human Beings, among our Brethren:

The procuring to both those sacred Orders of the Legislature and the Liturgy, that becoming Awe their heavenly Institution deserves.

I. As to the First Point, viz. The Ordinances; and particularly our Practice in regard to Baptism and the Holy Eucharist, as Sacraments universally acknowledged throughout all Christendom; which are also the only ones known by that Character in the Common Prayer of our Hierarchy:

All the different Ceremonies used in our Churches in respect of the First, join in this Aim, namely, the deepest Impression of the Washing from our natural Impurity with a Covenant-Water certainly impregnated with the Blood of Christ; and the Cloathing with the mystical Garment of Jesus Christ, in a manner as real as inexpressible.

As to the Second, in order to remove the least Idea of an ordinary Repast, we subjoin always Agape's to the Communion; but leaving it to the Conveniency of our respective Churches, whether they keep them before or after.

We are used (in some Chapels) to prostrate ourselves, in Awe of His tremendous Majesty, who deals so kindly with his poor Creatures; but, in order to avoid Misrepresentations, we have referred it to a critical Moment proper for Thanksgiving.

And inasmuch as the partaking of the Corpse of our Saviour implies a Mortification of the sinful Body, and, on the other hand, the Covenant in the Blood promises a Vivification of the spiritual one: We allow a reasonable Distance between these Two awful Transactions, which is filled up with proper Psalmody.

II. As to the Second Point, viz. the Contracting and Keeping the Matrimonial State in its different Branches:

It is notorious, that the Holy Scripture places the married State in a threefold Light.

It speaks of a legal Compact between Two natural Subjects, which is said to be stated in Heaven; thus far, that in case One of the Two becomes a new-born one, and the other either still remains an Infidel, or turns such, the first is obliged to keep Faith with the latter, till either Death dissolves the Contract, or the Pagan freely proposes to the other a Separation; which the Christian is advised by the Scripture to suffer.

* Rev. ii.

It declares farther, that in case there is no Occasion for one or the other to part; their Fellowship becomes a sacred Thorus; and the better one is not only in the Right to remain in a hopeful and quiet Expectation of the Conversion of its Consort; but is in the mean time intitled to sanctify that awful Transaction of procreating a Third of their own Species, and to transfer the Privilege of a Christian Parent to the Identical of its Fruit.

Thirdly, the Scripture mentions an holy Communion between Two, who are allowed to be holy in Body and Spirit: Which is represented as a lively Image of the eternal Marriage, an Epitome of the Communion of Christ and his Church; yea, an Interim keeping and preserving of a heavenly Bride for the Day of her true Nuptials.

As to the external Part of this Matter, we care not much to meddle with Spoufals; and as it seems to us extremely proper to give the human Insufficiency as much Time to consider, as possibly may be had, our Ministers take no notice at all of Spoufals; which, in our Church-Stile, are reckoned to be merely Proposals, till the Priestly Confirmation: And Law-suits in causâ sponsalitorum (tho' universally in Use in all the Northern and Eastern Protestant Churches) being not heard of among us, in case such-like thing once should happen, our sacerdotal Solemnizing would certainly be withheld.

The only Duty of our Clergy, in respect of Marriage, is, to preach the Honour and Holiness of this blessed State plainly and roundly, and yet with a Retrospect towards the different State of human Beings; to give their private Advice accordingly; and to confirm that Christian Knot in the most decent manner.

The Customs of the Moravian Brethren, in order to make as well the Beginning and Carrying on, as every essential Circumstance of the married State among them, answer its true Ends; tho' pretty much peculiar to them, and intirely foreign to the Incumbency of a Minister; when nevertheless examined by the Synod, were very much approved of, and found excellent. But they are scarce any where applicable, out of their narrowest Bounds and Dwelling-places; where Minds and Bodies being from their first Existence calculated and preserved agreeably to the original Ideas of the Creator, Miscarriages in this Point, tho' never punished, and merely pitied, rarely happen: They have besides somewhat extraordinary, if not odd, at their first occurring; altho' the more weighed and brought to the Touchstone, the more they raise Admiration and Respect, and that deservedly.

We shall give a short Account of these Brethren's original Ideas upon that Head, taken out of a sort of Apology they gave about the Year 1745. when some of their private Hymns were taxed, and published by their Adversaries, purposely in order to set them in a false Light, and revive the old Stories of the Picards and Fratricelli in the Minds of the common People; of the very Impossibility of which, that excellent Critic Monf. de Beausobre at Berlin, in a particular Treatise upon the Matter, had intirely convinced all his reasonable and learned Readers.

“ There are private Hymns among us concerning the Married State, which speak
“ as explicitly as the holy Scripture does; which hitherto, except in medicinal and “ casuistical Writings, has not been very common; and also by Strangers no notice “ has been taken of it in our Hymns for many Years, till it became convenient for “ our Adversaries, out of an evil Intention, to seek out and publish such Phrases.

“ The holy Marriage-State is to us a real Religion; and, in respect of its Anti-“ type, which is ever present to the Mind, and yet never quite penetrable, a holy “ Mystery, μέγα μυστήριον, Sacramentum magnum. We therefore are not ashamed “ to make mention of it in Company with the most sacred Matters, and follow that “ old Bible-Maxim: Thro' the venerable Ideas of the Person and Birth of their “ eternal Husband, and of His and His Mother's sanctified Members, to preserve
“ not only our dear Brethren and Sisters, who themselves live in the holy Marriage-“ Rule, but even our young Men and Virgins, with a respectful (tho' in the Case of “ these

“ these last, distant and incurious) Regard for the Marriage-Liturgy, in that Purity, “ ἀγνεία, certainly not natural to, but purchased and bestowed on them by the “ Blood of Jesus.

“ The Members concerned in Marriage are to us honourable and important. The “ Members of the single Brethren and Sisters are a sealed-up Sanctuary, as is best “ known to Him, who looks into our most secret ταμεία (for dark Corners our “ Houses do not admit of). We believe gladly, and in earnest, that the Creator of “ all Beings carried a Male Member upon his Body; and, thro’ his own abiding
 “ in the Womb of his highly-favoured Mother, for ever sanctified the Female “ Member.

“ There are indeed many Passages, wherein a View to Matrimonial Affairs is of-“ ficiously imputed to us, and which yet have nothing at all to do therewith: But “ we counsel our Brethren and Sisters to make so much the more careful and blessed “ Use of those Places, where they see these Matters purposely treated of.

“ For we make no Secret of this blessed Point; but hold forth chaste Matters “ under usual and express Words: and not (as is the common Practice) abominable “ Ideas under equivocal Words, where so called Christians may find the intended “ Handle for their Levity.

“ Many a one among us is struck with Horror at such Abuses in Christendom,
 “ so that he could almost say, It is enough, take home my Soul, O Lord! if he did not “ see so many Thousands growing up, who shall comfort us concerning our Toil;
 “ and are a Pledge, that God is still gracious to the Earth, and that it is not yet “ abandoned to the Children of Canaan’s and Ishmael’s Stamp, Gen. ix. 21.

“ These will demonstrate it in their Persons and Children: And the World has “ great Need of such a new Race, being in Danger otherwise of getting at last “ whole Nations, who shall be pitiable Spectacles and Monuments of the Sins and “ Abominations of their Ancestors.

“ None, who have read Lucian’s Pleasantries about the Apostle Paul; who “ know how the Rabbins treat the Person and Circumstances of our Saviour himself;
 “ and who are acquainted with the Glosses made by Porphyry, and other such, upon
 “ the most sacred Actions of the Christians, and even the most venerable Texts of “ the holy Scripture; will be much startled by all the Mockery of the present Cynics
 “ at our Scriptural Marriage-Regulation.

“ Had the Moralists reached the Mark a little better with their Law-preaching, “ the Physicians and Surgeons would have had less Work; and perhaps others would “ have followed their Method: But, since they have preached to others, and them“ selves been deficient, there is nothing left for us to do, but to continue acting ac“ cording to our happy, and by so many Years confirmed, Experience; yea, more
 “ and more to make Trial, how far we can come with and by the Gospel, and by “ the inculcating of Chastity ἐν προσώπῳ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, thro’ the holy Person of “ Jesus, who was made like unto another Man, and was found in Fashion as a Man.

“ This indeed can help no one, who does not believe in Him. But it is an infallible
 “ and approved Remedy for all who do believe.

“ Luther, in his Time, did make Complaints much like ours; as, for Instance,
 “ on Gen. xxxviii. he comments thus: We must almost now make a special Preface
 “ and Excuse before every Chapter; for People are so tender, that they cannot bear
 “ to speak or hear how Man is born; and yet in that Point have acted too abomin- “ ably to be repeated. It is true, this is a pretty coarse Chapter. Yet it stands how- “ ever in the holy Scripture, and the Holy Ghost has written it, who hath as clean a “ Mouth and Pen as we: So that I do not know what further to say, than this: If “ any one has a purer Mouth and Ears than He, he may let it alone; but if He was “ not shy or ashamed to write it, we have no Reason to be ashamed to read and “ hear it.

“ Would to God, Men would observe Modesty and Shame, where they ought to “ observe it, and avoid Immodesty where they ought! But, alas! all is turned into “ Shew. Where, on necessary Occasions, one ought to speak of it, there one is de- “ murely

“ murely silent ; but in his Deeds is so much the worse. The Holy Ghost knows well
 “ what he has created ; and therefore he also speaks of his Creature as the thing really “ is. Twist and turn it ever so much, yet it is true, we were formed to beget and bear “ Fruit : For this End He has given us Members, Veins, Humours, Blood, and Flesh.
 “ We may make of it what we will, we must still remain Male and Female, and let “ Nature abide according to its Structure. Now here Men are so chaste and modest,
 “ they will hear nothing about it ; but what things do they transact at other times ?
 “ This is the worldly Wisdom, which perverts all Divine Order.

“ Again, on Gen. xxxix. The Holy Ghost takes Pleasure in his Creature and Work“ manship.—He adorns and honours it, and delights to look at it, and praise it.

“ Item, on Gen. xix. All this proceeds from those Circumstances, which the Jewish “ Rabbins (or, as I could call them, Asses) do not consider ; but judge and interpret
 “ the Scripture only out of their own filthy Thoughts and Passions : And those, who “ are of such a Mind, ought, instead of the Bible, to read Ovid, Martial, and such-“ like shameful and impudent Poets.

“ Which weighty Passages we will conclude with the following Words of his, on “ Gen. xxviii. Diligently should the Marriage State be treated of in the Congre“ gation, because it is necessary and honourable : For, according to the Doctrine
 “ of the Gospel, and of Faith, which properly is the right Doctrine for the Church,
 “ the Married State particularly should be honoured and praised ; and that even “ for this Reason, because the World and the Flesh do not understand what the “ Married State is, nor how highly it ought to be accounted of.—Therefore in that “ Christian Doctrine, which we, according to the Tenor of the Gospel, and of Faith, “ do teach, the Marriage State is the first and principal Branch ; for it is the Begin“ ning and Spring of all human Life ; and the Devil strives as much to mix his base “ Alloy with this State, as with the Church itself.”

The Moravian Brethren end their Apology with these Words :

“ If we however, for the future, should be more sparing upon this Topic, let it
 “ not be imputed to any Decrease of Openheartedness in us, but to a necessary “ adapting ourselves to the present bad Times, wherein many even good Minds do “ not seem receptible of such Ingenuity ; since the Abominations of Men, who make “ a Mock at the Counsel of the Poor, are not despised by them as they deserve, they “ being not able to stand with their Hearts alone against such loose People’s So-“ phistries, but requiring to be furnished with Arguments.”

Thus far of Marriage.

III. The next Article is, the Getting and Educating of Children.

The Getting of Children is, tho’ naturally not intitled to Holiness, and spotted also with the universal Uncleaness of human Nature ; nevertheless, considering the Origin, and the still remaining End of the human Formation by the very Hands of the Creator, a most serious and awful Transaction. The very Instinct, which teaches the human Mind this great Verity, became by Mischance the Occasion of that idle Fornication, or vaga libido ; because the indisputable Claim which the propagating of the human Species, as well as the Instrument whom one was to consider as his regular Partner therein, had to Honesty, kept the Thoughts of that very Act at too vast a Distance from that Wildness, Eagerness, and lawless Ease, which accompanies inordinate Lust.

It is for this Reason, that (tho’ our Brotherhood observe a great deal of Caution in submitting individual Marriages to Rule and Church-Order) ; nevertheless, in general, they set the Married State, and the Begetting of Children, in an awful Prospect before any body, more especially before all those who worship the Name of Christ.

The natural Rights, which Parents claim over their Issue, have been in all Ages almost universally acknowledged : And thus far, even those Rights of the Magistracy were not only of a much later Date, but in the Beginning owed their very Institution to a borrowed Idea from that first Family-Government, and still retain the same, in Opposition

Opposition to Tyranny and Usurpation; which also first derive themselves from successful Attempts of traiterous Servants in Families.

It appears from these Premises, that the Church's meddling with Family-Children proceeds upon a very precarious Foundation. And therefore all Admittance, which Religion itself (as far as to its Exterior, yet without being opposed to the Interior) may get with such Children, who yet make a Part of the Family of their Parents; is not pretended to in our Churches any sooner, than according to the same Bounds, within which the first Parents of each Republic, and consequently of each Sire belonging thereto, the Consent of the then living Family-Heads being supposed, did limit that absolute and almost mechanical Family-Power.

For that very Reason also, not only in all the Dwelling-places belonging to us, the Manner of governing Children is calculated according to the common Concert between the Pastors and the Families: but in all those Abodes of our Brethren, where they live together with other People as One Family, the Children of which are afterwards supported by the whole Community; we become intrusted even with Part of the Fatherly Incumbrance, in order to acquaint the Children with their Creator and Redeemer, and to familiarize their Inclinations with plain Honesty, general Love of Mankind, true Modesty, and ingenuous Well-doing, without directly teaching, or either praising or correcting them.

Seminaries for foreign Children, tho', in Compliance with the Importunity of many a Parent beyond our Bounds, hitherto tolerated, and very much flourishing; regularly are not approved of, much less encouraged, by our Constitution.

As a forced keeping them in Religiosity is of the most dangerous Consequence for Childrens Minds, so far, as even to obstruct their Conversion when riper in Years; we are not forward in upbraiding Children with regard to any particular Persuasion, or consequent Duty, in a religious way, if in the least accidental, and (after the most universal manner of thinking) possibly separable from the very main Point of the Bible: Which Book, being acknowledged for a Divine Revelation a thousand Miles round, is certainly preferable to unfixed, and severally contradicted, Rules of Natural Light; which now are as much removed from true Simplicity, and, by learned Speculations, as much subtilized and corrupted, as the most embroiled System in the Scripturary Way.

We cannot forbear concluding with some Observations about the daily happy Practices of our Churches.

In our own Settlements, the Parents, being deeply penetrated with the Consequence of getting and educating Children, prefer the Thoughts concerning it to all others, not excepting those necessary for maintaining their very Oeconomy. They manage all Offices and Performances belonging to this Duty with the best of their Faculties and Capacity, no-ways different even from what is called the Decency of religious Worship.

As the endowing their Children with those good Manners, which immediately derive from the Heart, is not theirs, but the Holy Ghost's Province; the keeping their Eyes, Ears, and Thoughts, from the least Influence to the opposite Way, is the continual Concern of the Parents, not to be dispensed with at any Rate.

As the Parents are very careful on their Side, so the Children accept of it chearfully; and, by that means, they are, regularly, exposed to none but that sort of Danger, which their own Frailty, or rather natural Sinfulness, may occasion.

Now as they are very uneasy upon observing any such-like things, and naturally inclined to lay open all their Thoughts and Experiences; that very Misery procures the Parents, and their Associates, the fairest Occasion to acquaint them with the happy Remedies the Mystery of the Gospel affords the human Weakness and Wretchedness; which was the thing that made them study the Scripture, far from an idle Curiosity, out of a mere Eagerness after their speedy Recovery for the present, and Safety for the future.

The Specific they are presented with, is the Saviour of Mankind in Person, after the most exact Resemblance to be found of Him in his holy Records called The Bible.

The utmost Pitch of a tender Familiarity, together with an awful Deference towards that amiable Object, being the common End the Parents and their Children aim at; Faith, Love, Heavenly-mindedness, and civil Honesty, are not interrupted by the growing up of the latter; but heightened by degrees, till either they are recalled early to the Presence of their Creator, or themselves appointed to serve his Will for some time upon Earth in their Turn.

IV. The Fourth Point, viz. The carefully upholding, chearfully ministering to, and confidently leaving, this mortal Body; — is naturally to be joined with the foregoing Considerations.

Two sorts of Philosophers, tho' very different in the Consequences they drew from it, conspired very much in one and the same Speculation about that external Structure, which human Minds are lodged in for a time.

The one blushed and murmured at every natural Function, tho' full of Honour and Usefulness; the other extravagated so far, as to make a public Shew of almost all, altho' the most humbling of human Necessities, confounding thereby the Dignity of the worthiest with the Wretchedness of the vilest: But both were acted by the same Principle, looking upon the human Shape to be only the nicest one in the Animal Kind.

This Mistake, which some honest Persons of the highest Rank were intangled with, to the Loss of their very Life, is wisely avoided, by distinguishing the Acts only relative to the, from the νέκρωσις or μαρasmus of the Body inseparable, Weakness; and those, which minister in their different Branches, to the permanent Part of our Being.

The different Rules the Creator Himself established within the Bounds of the Theocracy; as, for Instance, ordering a severe hiding of the Monthly, and an open shewing of the Virgin Blood, Lev. xv. 19, &c. Deut. xxii. 15. and the very way of Speaking used by the Scripture conformable to these Rules (the natural Necessities, and unnatural Misuses, of the Body, being hid under Metaphors; and, on the contrary, the material, instrumental, and even actual Part of the Propagation not only named as fully, freely, and roundly, as the most sacred things, but compared in every one of its Branches to the greatest Mysteries of Religion), set this Matter in its full Light.

Faith in the Gospel would tell us as well our Privilege, as Duty, in that respect, if even the Way was not so well paved already by the fore-mentioned Passages. The Σῶμα and the Κοιλία are very plainly distinguished from each other, 1 Cor. vi. 13. when considered with a View to the blood-bought Cleanness and Worthiness of our mortal Body.

But, all those Considerations apart; It would be to Christians an unnatural, shameful, and foolish Ingratitude towards the Deity manifested in the Flesh, if an Argument borrowed from any other Quarter should prevail with them, preferably to that, which the Saviour's lying in a Female Womb, and Himself bearing a Man's Appearance, furnish, in order to make us cherish, honour, and countenance, even the smallest integral Part of the human Body, as long as the Holy Ghost intrusts the human Mind with the keeping thereof, during its State of Humiliation, till to the Moment when Himself eases us of this Incumbency, in order to make the glorifying of it his own Care.

It is natural, that Minds prepossessed in this way, far from abusing their Body, will rather keep it (be it spoken with Modesty!) in Holiness, yea Worship.

On the other hand, as a Discharge from Sick-waiting, let it be as edifying an Exercise as it will, is however always welcome; so also will Dissolution certainly be, to every Person who is somewhat advanced in the Commerce of the invisible *πολίτευμα, the real Home-port of such human Souls, who by Faith had already that Sight of the Saviour's waiting for them, which the first Martyr had by real Vision.

* Phil. iii. 20.

It is through that very Sensation, that nothing is more pleasant to our Children and Youths, than to be called home. To that Question in the little Latin Catechism of our Seminary,

Quid si ante cursum istum,

Discedendum sit ad Christum?

They answer very heartily and chearfully,

Deum! hoc si impetrarem,

O quam diem hanc bearem!

Acti labores jucundi —

And,

Præstat rudem coronari, &c.

(We allege such-like Passages, only on account of the intended Information of the Public, concerning the Coherence of our Doing with our Thinking; tho', otherwise, the Boasting, or idle Prating, of these Particularities, should be severely reprehended; the Ridiculousness, together with the dangerous Effects thereof, being too well known to us.)

Tho' the Maturity of Age asswages the Eagerness in that respect, because the more we are acquainted with the Reasons of our possibly tarrying here, the more we content ourselves with the Disposition Providence thinks fit to make about its Duration; nobody however is wronged by a speedier Dismission: And, notwithstanding the most conforming Genius of our People, One Singularity still obtains in full every where among us; which is, the absolute Disuse of Mourning.

The Interrment of a Christian's Body is, in a plain Sense, a chearfuller Performance among us, than the first presenting of it to its Relations, when newly born.

Tho' it would not be of a great Moment to us, what our wisest Creator should determine about our mortal Bones; as, nevertheless, the Resurrection of the Saviour with his intire Body is expressly alleged in the Scripture as the Fore-runner of ours, Himself being stiled the First-born from the Dead: It is for His sake, that we rejoice very much in this glorious Destiny of our Corpse; and, in order to shew in public our most explicit Faith in that Matter, and the Credit his Promises have with us, the Burying-places become pleasant Gardens to our Citizens; and the Visit we pay to the yearly-deposited Bones of our Fellow-Members, in the very Morning of Easter, is a simple Act in Consequence thereof.

We proceed now to that most weighty Object of our Consideration, viz.

V. The entertaining that mutual Correspondence, encouraging bearty Love and Confidence, and refreshing the Memory of the (amidst all the temporary Distinctions) unalterably remaining Equality of human Beings, among our Brethren.

There are many Occasions, where we found our Way levelled beforehand, so far, that we need but to follow the trodden Road: And it is only to the Narrowness of our Bounds, and the Fewness of those in our Fellowship (which we neither despise otherwise, nor are in Care to enlarge), that we owe Mens marvelling at some of our Manners and Customs; which, being as it were buried under the Number, Frequency, and Perfunctoriness, of those Deeds in their own Constitution, appear to them under the Shape of Novelty, when seen among us, and performed with a great deal of Seriousness.

The monthly Change of certain Offices, which imply some Dignity; and whereby great ones become sometimes subordinated to little ones, and the Rich is judged by the Poor; the casting of Lots in certain Cases; and the Obligation some Communities of ours lie under (without any Communio bonorum besides, or public Treasury), præstandi facta commilitonum, even so far as to discharge the Debts of any one, and satisfy for Damages occasioned by them; are Customs not so absolutely unknown to other Constitutions, tho', we willingly own, not always so punctually stood to, as hitherto within our Limits.

Nevertheless,

Nevertheless, there are some Particularities in that respect to be found among us, which, tho' very conformable to the Apostolic Way, and not much criticized by our Neighbours, undoubtedly are singular in regard to the Public.

Tho' we are far from judging by the Exterior, and our Brethren and Sisters, if happening to be at some Court, or in some Public Office, do not make the least Scruple to conform to the very Modes (tho' with so much Mediocrity, as always becomes Christians); yet it is true in Fact, that the least Servant in our Families is, ordinarily, as honourably cloathed as his Master, the Poor as the Rich, and that principally among the Sex. It is impossible in our Churches to distinguish a Person, who, in other Places, would be ranked with Beggars (this last sort itself of Mankind being unknown among us), from a Lady of the first Rank. And tho' we have no Laws at all about it, nevertheless a Person presuming to distinguish him or herself in that way, tho' certainly not censured, would however be looked at in a grotesque Light.

It would not be amiss, if the Agape's still in Use among us were referred to this Article * :

Together with the appointing to the Functions of Deacons and Deaconesses, Sick-Waiters, Orphan-Fathers and Mothers, and other Offices of all Degrees, which, besides their being not at all lucrative, but rather expensive, are also not honorary, but effective, and not to be executed by Deputies; such Persons, whose Dexterity and Leisure corresponds therewith, whatever Honour or Ease their outward Circumstances otherwise intitled them to; and their willingly accepting, and most faithfully performing the same.

Scarcely may be found One Dilemma of troublesome, and therefore commonly despised or neglected Duties, that could be to the Assistance of Mankind, which has not been in good earnest gone thro' by our present Directors themselves, in order to procure the common Good, and to render each Branch of their Care, in its several Circumstances, right Handles, Mistakes, Uses or Abuses, Benefits or Dangers, familiar to them by Experience.

But, most of all, our hearty Desire to make the Fellow-Members of our Church rejoice in a real, and, as it were, equilibrial Parity, appears in the Deference we pay reciprocally to one another's Way of Thinking.

The extreme Unanimity of Thoughts, and the very Uniformity in the Expression, (which, at the uniting of three or four of the stoutest Protestant Systems, were otherwise much to be wondered at) is a true Consequence of the aforesaid Generosity; reasonable Thoughts being so welcome, and the Opinion of a Fellow-Brother, when in the least grounded, so much honoured by us, that One negative Vote suspends almost always any Resolution: Which, on the other hand, renders any obstinate Opposition, without Foundation, so ridiculous, that scarce any would be forward to use it; and Schism in general is among us more pitied than resented; and the returning back to Duty considered by both Sides merely as a Welcome home from Bedlam.

VI. The Sixth Point was, the procuring to both those sacred Orders of the Legislature and the Liturgy, that becoming Awe their heavenly Institution deserves.

Let us begin with the Civil Government.

As soon as the Magistrate concurs to promote Christian Religion, either in Fellowship with it, or in Compliance with that heavenly Rule of Liberty of Conscience; the Leaders of our Constitution are at a Loss about any Necessity of the commonly so called Church-Discipline; provided only the Liberty of Conscience remain also reciprocal between each Pastor, and his Flock, individually.

Church-Discipline, in the primitive Age, appears to us as a mere Expedient occasioned by the urgent Necessities of the Times, and in order to counterwork the artful Contrivances of the then professed Enemies of Christianity, to give their Extortions, and tyrannical Practices against the Christians, the Appearance of a legal Punishment. There may be still, in some Places, Occasion for such-like Measures; but, in general, Ministers of the Gospel ought to use their utmost Endeavours for establishing, in the very

* Luke xiv. 12.

very first Beginning of any Settlement of theirs, a mutual Good-will and Credit between the Civil and Ecclesiastical Province in Society.

As the simplest Ideas are always those, which we borrow from the Family-State ; therefore the nearer we reduce the Commonwealth to the Idea of Children of One Family, of which the Magistrates represent the fatherly Elder-Brother, and the Ministers of the Gospel the Servants, the closer we shall keep to the first Regulations of our Saviour and his Apostles. So far is certain, when our Saviour reserves the Name of Father for his Sire, and in particular deprives his Disciples of the Character of Master, at the same time he vouchsafes to confer on the Magistrates the Dignity of Patrons.

We are fully persuaded, that any Ecclesiastical Constitution of Christians, not being previously approved of by the Legislative Power, are, in Compliance with our Saviour's primitive Way of Acting, to depart ; and to count it a Favour, when such a Removal is attended with Signs of Indulgence, and as much Connivance as the Nature of their Circumstances requires.

Agreeable to the fore-mentioned Idea, we always, previous to any Settlement, are used to offer to the Magistracy a plain Exposition of all the inward and outward Circumstances of our People. Our Practice in this respect, viz. To proceed in our Settlements with great Deference, and consulting of the Magistrate, we will here shew, by a Chain of Instances from the very old Times till now.

But, first of all, we will shew the nearest Occasion of this our Eastern Church's becoming such an Orphan-Body from her Apostles the Greeks, as others of the East, and perhaps some Western too.

“ * Anno 1450. there was held at Prague an Assembly of the States, and a Synod of the Clergy : And here, by the Primate's Advice, and with the common Consent of States and Clergy, an Appeal was made to the Greek Church, and Deputies sent with Letters to Constantinople. The Greeks heard from the Messengers the Heads of Doctrine, and rejoiced at the mutual Agreement.—In the mean while, Anno 1453. Constantinople was taken by the Turks ; and Two of the dispersed Greek Divines coming to Prague, were kindly received by the Primate, and, after several Conferences concerning Religion, permitted to perform Divine Service in our Churches. But it appearing by this Occasion, that the Purity of Faith was among them also equally clouded with Superstitions, our good Zealots were more inflamed in their Spirit, seeing what to avoid, but not having any whom to follow. They afresh apply to the aforesaid Primate, and beseech him, for the Glory of God, not to forsake them when Salvation was so much in Danger. But he—advised them to retire to some Place, where they might dwell securely, and serve God with a pure Conscience.

“ He accordingly obtained for them from the Regency in Bohemia the Territory of Lititz ; — whither, presently, Numbers of Citizens of Prague, and Batchelors and Masters of the University, betook themselves ; and others from other Places, common People and Nobility, Learned and Unlearned, flocked together, applying themselves to the reading of the Scripture, Prayer, and Works of Piety.” —

This introductory Point being dispatched, we go on with the Narrative of the special Transactions between the Magistracy and our Clergy.

“ † George Podiebrad was succeeded by Wladislaus a Polander, a very mild Prince ; under whom Matters would have been very quiet, if he had not been pushed on by the Adversaries, who yet, for a long time, could effect nothing. For altho', in the very Second Year of his Reign, Anno 1472. HE PERMITTED EDICTS TO BE PREPARED for the banishing of the Brethren ; yet, upon receiving their Apology, and Supplication, that he would let them remain in their native Country, as faithful and quiet Subjects, who aimed at nothing but to please God and their King, and all Mankind for their Good, HE RECALLED THE EDICTS.—

“ The Brethren, being assembled in Synod, consulted what was now to be done. And that they might, in the mean time, clear their Conscience from the Guilt of

“ When George Margrave of Brandenburg, Tutor to Lewis King of Bohemia, “ desired, from the Baron de Krajek, a fuller Account of the Brethrens Institutions;
 “ they wrote, Anno 1532. a Book intituled Apologia Doctrinæ et Rituum, &c. which

“ As to POLAND——since they were to leave their own Country, they did not “ know whither to turn themselves better, than to the Poles, who spoke a Language “ very intelligible to them; and so meeting at a Place in the Borders of Silesia, and “ travelling forward in One Company (about 900 Persons, in above 120 Carriages), “ they experienced not only in Silesia, but in Poland itself, tho’ as yet all Popish, more “ Favour than was to be expected; Andrew Count of Gorka, Captain-General of “ Great Poland, not only permitting them to lodge in the Suburbs of Posen, but “ even inviting them into his own hereditary Towns of Samotuli, Kurnik, &c.

“ It happened farther, that some Noblemen of Great Poland (among whom One
 “ was a Woywode (one of the Princes Regents), and Two Counts, James de Ostro-“ rog, and Raphael de Leszno), being desirous to know fully all relating to the Bre“ thren, took a Journey to them as they were about to hold a Synod in the Heart “ of Moravia; who, having arrived there, reported afterwards publicly, that their “ true Hospitality, and singular Piety, exceeded all that they had heard spoken “ about them. There were more than 200 Ministers present, and a great many “ Patrons, Barons, and Nobles. —

“ In Lesser Poland things went on slower, and more privately, because the Con“ gregations could hardly be brought to a settled Order. — About which Johannes “ à Lasco (a Polish Baron and Prelate, who, twenty Years before, putting off in the “ mean while his Office at home, thro’ Love of Truth, had gone to foreign Coun“ tries,

tries, where he at different Times was Pastor of the Diaspora at London, Emden, Frankfort on the Mayn; but, in the Year 1556. being sent for, returned into his own Country) wrote thus to John Nigranus, Bishop of the Brethren in Bohemia, and his Collegues, Anno 1558. Nil adhuc inter nos certi constitutum habemus, &c. Sed est planè necessarius noster vobiscum congressus. Occurrendum enim omnino est variis Satanæ conatibus, quos ille suis artibus apud nos moliri videtur ad perturbandas Ecclesias, et impediendum Evangelii progressum. Neque doctrinam nostram communem per omnia probant, et disciplinæ Ecclesiasticæ subscribere ægrè volunt. Cum istis igitur communi nobis consilio agendum erit; et Dominus addet gratiam, &c.——

That good old Man à Lasco being called away to his heavenly Home, there was once more a Synod assembled in the Town of Xians, Anno 1560.——Finally, all the Followers of the Gospel in these Parts, being desirous to become more and more joined among themselves, Anno 1570. entered into an Union; having appointed (by the Indulgence of King SIGISMUND AUGUSTUS) a general Synod of all the then Evangelic Churches, at Sendomir, where a Consent in Faith, and Christian Religion, was established between those of the Augustan, Bohemian, and Helvetic Confessions: Which Affair is well known, the Books of that Consent having been so often reprinted in Poland and Germany.——

As to the Brethren in Bohemia and Moravia, they became now eased of the heaviest of their former Circumstances, under MAXIMILIAN II. a Prince of Clemency, and moderate Counsels. He being used to admit John Crato his Physician in Ordinary, a Friend of the Brethren, to converse familiarly with him; it happened once that he was alone with the Emperor in his Chariot, riding abroad for Recreation-sake; and the Emperor with Grief observing, how many and great Dissensions there were in Christendom, and at last asking Crato, Who he thought, among so many Sects, approached the nearest to the Apostolical Simplicity? he answered, I don't know whether this Character may not be allowed the Brethren, whom People call Picards. The Emperor replied; I think the same. Whereupon Crato ventured to advise the Brethren, who he knew were preparing a new Edition of their German Hymn-Book, to dedicate it to the Emperor: Which was accordingly done, Anno 1556.——

What the University of Heidelberg thought of the Brethrens Method to bring their Ecclesiastical Matters in a due Coherence with those of the Civil State, appears by a Letter of Olevian [Sept. 6. 1574.] to Andreas Stephanus [their Bishop], where he speaks thus: Dici non potest, quanti ego illud opus Domini faciam, quod in Ecclesiis vestris non inchoavit modò, sed tot etiam annos continuat.——Certè quum tristem faciem Ecclesiarum Reformatarum in Germaniâ intueor, totus penè corroborresco. Video Politias hospitium fuisse Ecclesiæ, et jam multis in locis hospitium mutantur in dominia; ut liberè in Ecclesias, adeoque ipsam cœlestem doctrinam, dominantur. Causa hujus mali non postrema esse videtur, quòd Ecclesiæ multæ nimis sese Politis hujus mundi adstrinxerunt, quasi pars sit essentialis regni Christi. Itaque vestram rationem edificandi non possum non magnifacere, qui vultis Ecclesias vestras ita Politis hujus mundi, imò omnibus hominibus ad bonum, esse subjectas; ut tamen nil libertati suæ, quam Christus sanguine suo eis comparavit, decedat.——

In the Year 1575. Maximilian held a Convention at Prague, and gave Leave, that the States of the Kingdom, who received the Sacrament under both Kinds, might enter into an Union, under the common Seal and Bond of One Confession, notwithstanding all Endeavours used to hinder it, even by the — false Hussites themselves. For whereas these had inserted, among other things, in their Petitions and Remonstrances, that the States sub utraque were not unanimous in the Faith;——the States, to testify their Unanimity, resolved to draw up a common Confession, choosing for this Purpose certain Divines, and appointing also some of the Barons, Nobility, and Citizens, to prepare the Affair. To them accordingly the Masters belonging to the University of Prague brought the Books of Huss, and the synodical and other public Determinations of the old Bohemians, concerning Religion. Those, who “ had embraced the Augsburg-Confession (who were already a great Part of the States), “ brought this their Confession : as those who belonged to the Brethren, brought also “ theirs. They compared therefore, in each Article of Faith, the Sense and way of “ speaking of the several Parties : and couched the Matter in such Expressions, which “ each Party both could and was willing to subscribe to, not descending to such Di“ stinctions of Questions, as were too particular, subtle, and scholastic. Which Chri“ stian Moderation and Prudence of theirs was both beneficial to themselves, and ap“ proved by many great Men in Germany, and elsewhere. For the Emperor authorized “ that Union, and took all who accordingly joined, into his Royal Protection : only “ deferring till another time the Power they desired to have granted them, of regu“ lating the Consistory and University ; promising, however, firmly, that he, or at “ least his Son (who was already appointed to succeed him) would have Regard to “ the Request of the States. It is to be observed, that this Confession of the States “ was then only written in the Bohemian Language.

“ The good Emperor Maximilian leaving this World Anno 1576. was succeeded by “ his Son Rudolph ; who treading in his Father's Steps, governed in a very pacific “ manner till the Year 1602. distressing no one in the least on a religious Account.—
 “ Anno 1609. he granted that the Consistory and University might be reformed accord“ ing to the Discretion of the States : which Grant he confirmed by a Charter, and “ permitted the Evangelics to keep Possession of Churches and Schools, where they “ had it, and to build some, where it was necessary ; and did forbid the troubling
 “ of any (whether his own immediate, or the Subjects of mediate Catholic Lords, “ even the Spiritual) for Religion's Sake ; and bound the Kings who should suc“ ceed him in Time to come, to observe these Things faithfully : And lastly, re“ stored to the States the Power of choosing from among themselves Advocates or “ Guardians of this their Liberty.

“ The States therefore reform the Consistory : and for Concord-sake, choose by “ Vote Three Ministers of the Hussites, Three of THE BRETHREN, and Three of “ the other Protestants, and add to them Three Professors out of the University ;
 “ and these Twelve Select Men, they intrust with the Care of the Ecclesiastical Af“ fairs of the whole Realm. And because now all were agreed about abolishing
 “ the Compactata, and governing the Churches according to the Rule of the Divine “ Law only ; there was an Administrator chosen out of the political Hussites, Elias “ Schuda de Semanin.—And as to the Brethren (who were allowed to have their own “ Order and Discipline, until they should more intirely mix and coalesce with the “ rest) it was concluded, that their Director should be the next Collegue of the Ge“ neral Administrator, so long as that Difference of Regulation, yet in amicable “ Concord, should continue. They also, as being the genuine Offspring of Huss, “ had the Church or Chapel called Bethlehem, famous for Huss's preaching in it, “ given them by the University. All which was accompanied with the pub“ lic Joy of all good Men : People praised God everywhere ; and on the Church-“ Doors was stuck,

“ Templa patent ; leo lætus ovat, firmante Rodolpho : And such like.

“ Thus pure Religion flourished through the whole Kingdom (political Hussitism by “ degrees losing Ground) ; so that there was scarce One more in an Hundred, who “ did not profess the Evangelic Doctrine in its Purity.

“ But indeed when Rudolph, the great Assertor of our Liberty, departed this Life,
 “ and Measures were now entered into for putting the Council of Trent in Execution, “ where it had been resolved, TO BEGIN WITH THE BOHEMIANS ; their Antagonists “ studied, by exquisite Vexations (contrary to the most sacredly confirmed Char“ ters) to provoke them to Impatience, and then to Arms. — By the various Me“ thods taken with them for Forty Years together ; the Matter was, about Anno “ 1660. brought to that Pass, that there was no Church or School left the Evange“ lic

“ lics more within Bohemia and Moravia, no private Exercise of Religion, &c.
 “ And those who, for the sake of maintaining their Fidelity towards God, left “ their own Country, and wandered through the neighbouring ones, were some “ Thousands.” —

For the better understanding of the Foregoing, it must be observed, that there were from the Beginning Two Sorts of Members in Bohemia; the Political Party (commonly called Hussites), and the Brethren: The former judged it indispensably necessary to claim Religion and State together, and thought it right to procure and maintain ecclesiastical Privileges by Law-suits, if not martial Means; the latter were for keeping spiritual Matters from the least interfering with either, and used no Means to help themselves but Patience and Faithfulness. These last, after having by degrees gathered their scattered Flocks, kept close by themselves in MORAVIA: And the former, after many Turns of Fortune, were forced to quit their Religion, or else remove into Hungary and Silesia; in which latter, as long as the Male Line of the Piasts subsisted, they continued, in some Respect, in a National Church-way; but these being extinct, either joined with the Lutheran or Calvinist Communions, or retreated into the neighbouring Polish Counties, or preserved themselves among the then kindly-treated Denomination of Schwenkfelders, and after the Expulsion of these, which did not happen till 1724. (a few Years after the Stirring in Moravia) they endeavoured to incorporate themselves with those Refugees, whom the Count of Zinzendorf received in his Territories; but being declined by that Nobleman, formed themselves under the Management of that worthy Man Baron Seidlitz of Peilau, and after very short Sufferings, when the present King of Prussia conquered Silesia, claimed and recovered the entire Enjoyment of their former Constitution. Thus far the Bohemian Matters.

The Continuance of the Protection given by the successive Rulers of Poland, and Prussia, till this very Day, to the Brethrens Constitution, being of public Notoriety; and the more special Circumstances of the former having been fully expounded in this Country, when the first Prelates of this Realm interceded for their Episcopal Brethren with his late Majesty King GEORGE I. there is no Occasion to charge the narrow Compass of this Treatise with a tedious Recapitulation of known Things. But as to the latter, viz. the Protection of the House of Brandenburg, it will be proper to give a short Account of the successive Performances of the last Century on that Head.

In the Beginning of it, the then Elector, afterwards King FREDERICK I. gave that excellent Precedent in favour of our Constitution, that he permitted Dr. Jablonsky, who was already one of his Chaplains in Ordinary, to be re-ordained by the Brethren, which accordingly was done in March 1699.

In 1736. the King, his Son, acknowledged the same (who was then Dean of the Chapel, and First Divine in the Kingdom) Bishop of the Brethrens Constitution, and in that Quality commissioned him to that important Conference with the Count of Zinzendorf (see N^o LXXI), the Issue of which was, the acknowledging of the lately-revived Moravian See, by the Bohemian and Polish ones, and the King himself.

The present King FREDERICK II. agreeable to these Precedents, gave our Church a solemn Charter, dated Decem. 21. 1742. And Bishop Jablonsky being deceased 1741, and soon after succeeded in the Administration of our Reformed Tropus by Frederic Baron Watteville; and his Lordship having resigned this Office, because appointed to be first Deputy of the Advocacy; his Majesty, in Anno 1746. gave Leave to the present Dean of his Chapel, Dr. Cochius, to succeed him in this very Office, and in the second Presidentship in the General Synod of the Brethren.

To come now to the settling of the strict Moravian Brethren, and that first in SAXONY:

When the hitherto (by the truly great Generosity of the respective Magistracy and Clergy) seemingly unremarked, but rather tolerated, Remains of the Brethren in Moravia, were by some uncautious Rudeness of one and another Parochus stirred up; for the first Seven Years they maintained their Ground, supported by a more prevailing Spirit of Toleration: but in the Year 1722. sent over a Deputy to the then still living (though very aged) known Protectress of suffering Protestants, the Dowager Lady Gersdorf, Relict of the formerly Prime Minister of Saxony; which Lady's Intercession had proved often very successful with the late Empress Magdalen.

But as her Majesty was lately deceased, and the Lady Gersdorf entirely retired, she advised them to consult her Grandson the Count Zinzendorf; who at that very Time was going to the Imperial Court then at Prague; and in the mean while made no Difficulty to give some Families of these Refugees Shelter in his Manors; which he performed with the more Security, as he guessed at Prague the Sentiments of the Imperial Court, it being averse to the newly-raised Persecutions in its hereditary Dominions, and the very Confessor of the Emperor, P. Taneman, much inclined friendly to interpose.

The Face of Things altered somewhat, when, in the Year 1724. May 1. (O. S.) the Deputies of a gathered Body from the old Unity at Fulneck appeared at Herrnbuth; who instead of their wonted Asylum in Lissa, and thereabouts, desired to flock together in Lusatia, in order to retrieve their scattered Body. The Count, fearing a Sort of Revolution, the more as the coinciding Affairs of Thorn, of Saltzburg, and some Hussitical Motions on the Borders of Bohemia, represented these Endeavours to him in but an indifferent Light; compassionating, however, the Brethren's Case, and apprehending the Possibility of their falling into bad Hands, he took the Trouble himself to make a Journey, in their Behalf, into Moravia; where, without taking the least Notice of these by him suspected Commotions, yea without giving any Hint of his Intention to the Brethren themselves at Herrnbuth, he went directly to the Cardinal Schrautenbach, Bishop of Moravia, at his Country-Seat, laying open the whole Case, together with his Observations; and after having opened a Medium between a concerted Emigration in a Body, and an accidental Removal of particular Families by little and little (without the least Shock to the Compactata between Bohemia and the adjacent Dominions), came back to his Seat very well satisfied with his Success.

In the Year 1731. the Chancery of Bohemia, confounding the Bohemian and Silesian Affairs with those of the Brethren, made some Complaints against them to the Privy Council of Saxony: Which not only occasioned the several local Examinations in the Years 1732. 1736. and 1737. but also the Three Conservatory Decrees of 1733. 1737. and 1748. together with the last General Charter of 1749. Sept. 20.

In the mean while, the Vicissitudes of Herrnbuth occasioned the Dispersion of the Brethren into the Dominions of the King of DENMARK, the Barony of YSSELSTEIN (belonging to the House of Orange), WETTERAVIA, and the BRANDENBURG Country; which Settlements being every where concerted with the Magistrates, were also confirmed by Charters, some of which make a Part of the preceding Vouchers; wherefore we judge it unnecessary to be more prolix on that Head.

Especially as we are now coming to the weightiest Particular of this Kind: Which is, Count Zinzendorf's Endeavours (begun immediately after his taking upon him the Advocacy of the Brethrens Churches, and never dropped) to make the largest and chiefest Settlement of this Church in the BRITISH Dominions.

Not only the kind Reception King EDWARD VI. gave to our Brethren in older Times (mentioned at large in the Report of the Committee of the House of Commons) together with the continued Favour of all his Protestant Successors, who, in the very Times when the rest of the Protestant World, after having abandoned us at the General Peace in 1648. seemed to persuade themselves that we existed no more, countenanced our Churches every-where with as much Christian Benevolence as Royal Magnanimity :

But also an intrinsic Reason, wrought powerfully upon the Advocate.

Very likely it was, that the Brethren should be welcome in a Part of Christendom ruled after their own manner, at least in the principal Form of Church-Government : Which offered us a fair Prospect, that we should there lead, under one common Sovereign, a more quiet and peaceable Life in all Godliness and Honesty, than we could reasonably expect in any other Dominions, even tho' Protestant, and in some Places not so much disliking the Episcopal Form.

Our Expectation was very much heightened by the closest Connexion we stood in with a great German Divine still living, one of the most learned Authors in the Lutheran Church, and Chancellor of the University of Tubingen ; the very same, who wrote with his own Hand most Part of the Original of No. XXVI. in this Collection. This Writer also tells us, in one of his Treatises, that the English Church is very well satisfied with that very Confession, which we in these latter Times have all agreed in. He produces some remarkable Instances.

“ To come, says he, to later Writers, P. J. Spener shews in several Places, how much he esteemed the Church of England. Writing to a Reformed Divine in France, Anno 1683. he says — Now since England has almost laid aside the Absolute Decree [of Reprobation] it might be easier for the Churches to agree together, the chief Stumbling block being removed ; and I have learnt from some Friends, who have conversed with not a few of the principal of the English Clergy, how near they approach to us in other Articles also. —

“ Dr. Lintrup, a learned Divine of Copenhagen, shews, in a large Dissertation, that Luther's Writings, the Augustan Confession, — and other Books of the Lutherans, being translated for common Use into the English Language, contributed not a little to the English Reformation ; that the first Reformers of the English Church, were very much of Luther's Sentiments, &c. Afterwards he shews, that the Church of England goes a Middle-way between the Romish and the Calvinists, and approaches nearly to ours : He praises the Moderation of the English Divines, none of whom have published any thing against our Form of Religion ; reckons up the Elogiums given to Luther by the English ; points out the Conformity of the English Liturgy and ours in many Particulars ; proves, by clear Testimonies of English Divines, that they have never adopted the Tenet of the absolute Decree, irresistible Grace, &c. exhibits favourable Passages from them concerning — Christ's Humanity, and the Adoration of the same, his Descent into Hell, and other of our Doctrines ; shews the Consent of the English Church with ours in respect of private Confession, and sacerdotal Absolution ; asserts her being very near our Church in the Form of Ecclesiastical Government ; urges also the Consent of both Churches on the Subject of the Sacraments and Baptism ; explains at large the Sense of the Church of England concerning the Lord's Supper and the real Presence, shewing both how the English Rites and ours do here very much agree, and that the real Presence had formerly for a long time been believed in the English Church, a great Number of whose old Divines he produces to this Effect. —

“ And what the Sentiments of English Divines are concerning the Augsburg Confession, has long ago been expressed, in the Name of all, by Dr. George Bull Bishop of St. David's ; whose Words are these : The Chiefs of our Church have so followed the Augsburg Confession, as being the noblest and most antient of all the Reformed Confessions, that whoever is ignorant of it, will scarcely be able rightly to understand the Sense and Meaning of our Articles. [Confessionem Augustanam, utpote omnium Reformatarum nobilissimam atque antiquissimam, ita secuti sunt Ecclesie nostrae Proceres, ut qui istam ignoret, Articulorum nostrorum mentem ac sententiam vix rectè percepturus sit. Harmon. Ap. Diff. poster. c. 18.]. That eminent “ Man could have said nothing greater, than when he judges, the English Confession is to be understood and explained by that of Augsburg.

“ Man

“ I will only add the Words of Peter Heylin, who speaks thus concerning the Reformers of the Church of England: They had a more particular Respect to the Lutheran Platform; the English Confession, or Book of Articles, being taken in many Places, Word for Word, out of that of Augsburg, and a Conformity maintained with the Lutheran Churches in Rites and Ceremonies, &c.”

Thus far that learned Author (our noble Friend) on that Head.

Now, after having expounded the Utility, and in some measure Necessity, of that truly Christian Harmony between the Magistracy and any settled Church-Body; (whereby our happy Endeavours, in respect of the English Constitution, appear in a very agreeable Light);

We proceed to speak our Mind about the Conveniency of our Form, in order to maintain our Christian Labour among Souls in that necessary Decorum, which is calculated to be the no less diametrically opposite Extreme to Ecclesiastical Pomp, Arrogance, and Power.

But as we must freely profess, that if Providence had not procured us the Convenience, to find all things ready before, we should scarcely have had either the Wisdom or the Assurance to dispose them in that Way; it will be best to give a short View of the Matter in Fact, before we go on in commending its Reasonableness.

“ * That the Unity of the Bohemian Brethren, arising from the Ashes of Huss, regularly received the Episcopal Order, and the Ordination of Pastors, Anno 1467. — is attested on all Hands. I will express it in the Words of J. A. Comenius, a pious and upright Man, and well skilled in these Matters.

“ The Brethrens chief Concern was about Pastors for the Souls; whence they should get them, when those they had at present should de cease. It was too uncertain a thing, to wait till some of the Roman Ordination, for the Love of Truth, should come over to them. And they remembred, that the fore-mentioned Primate of Bohemia, Archbishop Rokyzane had often testified, that all must be renewed from the Bottom. Therefore an Ordination was to be begun at home, by that Power which Christ had given his Church. — But they were afraid, that it might not be a regular Ordination, if a Presbyter should create a Presbyter, and not a Bishop. —

“ At length, in the Year 1467. the chief Persons from Bohemia and Moravia, to the Number of about Seventy, met together in a Village near Richnow, called Lhota; and, having poured forth many Prayers and Tears to God, that he would vouchsafe to shew whether he approved of their Design, they resolved to inquire the Divine Will by Lot. They chose therefore by Vote Nine Men from among them, whom they judged particularly fit for the Ministry; and, having put into the Hands of a Child Twelve Pieces of Paper folded up, they bid him distribute to those Nine Men. Now Nine of the Papers were empty, and only on Three stood written, It is: So that it was possible, that they all might get empty Papers, which would have imported a negative Will of God. But so it was, that the Three written ones came into the Hands of Three among them, viz. Matthias Kuhnwald, a very pious Man; Thomas Przelaičius, a learned Man; and Elias Krzenowius, a Man of singular Prudence. —

“ These found Stephen Bishop of the Waldenses †, who, sending for the other Bishop, and some of the Ministers, declared to them their Descent from Constantine's Time; and

* Verba Danielis Ernesti Jablonsky, in Epistolâ ad Archiepiscopum Wake; cujus Autographum in Archivo nostro principali asservamus.

† As it is quite undoubted, that Moravia, Bohemia, and the other Slavonic Nations, embraced the Gospel by the Ministry of Cyril and Methodius, Teachers belonging to the Greek Church (after the Seed sown there by St. Paul himself and Titus, see Rom. xv. 19. 2 Tim. iv. 10.): So there is as good Ground to think of the commonly called Waldenses, as of any of the remaining Constitutions, that they also were an Offspring of the East; and therefore the Ecclesiola of the Brethren, being then forsaken and oppressed at home, did not go out of its natural Channel in applying to them for Ordination. As to the supposition, that the Waldenses had their first Rise from Waldus, it is just as preposterous, as it would be to denominate and deduce the Existence of the Brethren from their present successful Servant: The Val-

“ and also the Articles of their Doctrine, and the dreadful Sufferings they had undergone in Italy and France; and heard again, with Approbation and Congratulation, the Account which ours gave of their with-holding themselves as well from the Calixtines also now, as formerly from the Pope; and, finally, to enable these Three Ministers to ordain, they created them Bishops by Imposition of Hands, and sent them back in Peace.

“ By this Narrative, the Prudence and Moderation of that Church manifests itself; which, without censuring any other about the Mode of Ecclesiastical Order and Government, prescribed to herself that which seemed more conformable to the primitive Times.

“ The Function of Bishops in the Unity, is the same as in the Universal Church, the governing of the Ecclesiastical Constitution, and the ordaining of its Ministers.— The Bohemian Church, from its Beginning, had Chorepiscopi added to its Bishops, as Helpers.—So the whole Clerical Order among the Brethren consisted, and still consists, of Five Degrees, Acoluths (or young Persons, to be prepared for the Ministry), Deacons, Ministers, Chorepiscopi, and Bishops.—Those Bishops had no certain Seat or stated Diocese assigned them, as may be supposed in a Pilgrim (nubes testium) Church, which was obnoxious to many Vicissitudes. As also Theophilus, Ulphilas, Selinas, Sigesarius, have been successively Bishops of the Goths, but whom we do not read to have had any certain City for their See, according to the Observation of Sandius, Nucl. Hist. Eccl. p. 264. Commonly however, as long as the Brethrens Affairs were flourishing, one Bishop resided in Great Poland, another in Bohemia, and two in Moravia, where they had the greatest Number of Churches.—

“ It must be observed, that the Episcopacy, after the Year 1557. was divided, as it were, into Two Lines, the Bohemian and the Polish; the former being the Mother, and the latter the Daughter; but both directing the Church in brotherly Harmony. The Bohemian, from Anno 1467. subsisted in Bohemia itself and Moravia, and, after the Bohemian War, among the Exiles, till, Anno 1670. it seemingly expired in Comenius. The Polish, which began with George Israel, Anno 1557. continues to this Day. This George Israel, when, on account of the Persecution raised in Bohemia Anno 1548. some Hundreds were forced to leave that Kingdom, and seek a Settlement elsewhere, and Part of them retired to Great Poland, was, in the Year 1553. made First Pastor of the Congregation of Posen, and afterwards, in 1557. First Senior or Bishop of the Churches newly planted in Great Poland. He was consecrated at a Synod in Moravia, where the Number of the Clergy was above Two hundred.

lenses (for that was their true Name, from the Valleys) were in Being long before Waldus; and his Name, which was properly Bald, became corruptly pronounced by mixing it with theirs, as theirs was also changed into Waldenses by the Germans, who, not understanding the Etymology, thought the Idea of Wald, a Forest, suited for such retired People. ——— To pass over this therefore, and come nearer the Bottom of the Matter: — In the very Places, where we afterwards hear of Vallenses, in the Fourth Century we read of Syrians dwelling and preaching, and that these differed from the Roman Practice, and retained the Way of the Greek Church, in regard to the Keeping of Easter, &c. In the Fifth Century they got Neighbours, who, as is well known, agreed with them in this respect (and therefore equally appear to have received the Faith immediately from the Eastern Source), viz. the antient Britains; some of whom, about this time, removed from their own Island to Britany in France. Yea, what if the Vallenses were even in some preceding Connexion with their Sister in Bohemia, on account of that their common Mother; since their being called formerly, as Archbishop Usher assures us, Bulgari, which was the Name of the first-converted of the Slavonic Nations, most apparently came from that very Reason? Indeed the Countries, where the Vallenses and Albigenses were seated, had always an Intercourse with the Oriental Church: Irenæus, a Disciple of Polycarp, as he was of the Apostle John, was sent over by Polycarp then Bishop of Smyrna, to exercise the sacred Function in Gaul; and Chrysostom, during his Exile from Constantinople, laboured in the Gospel among the Nations then called Goths. To be short (as Dr. Allix observes), the whole Dioceses of Milan and Turin, where the Albigenses principally dwelt, were never subject, especially in the Point of Ordination, to the See of Rome, till the Ninth Century: At which Time a Change being introduced, these Souls, who were for retaining the old Constitution, got Leave to retire to Patara; where (by a Proceeding similar to that of our Ecclesiola) they kept up much of the Apostolical Order, and called one another Brethren; having also all the while the Fellowship of that great Witness, Claudius Bishop of Turin, who even ordained a regular Clergy for them.

“ The Succession of these Bishops in the Unity of the Brethren, as it has gone on “ uninterruptedly from the first Beginning of the Unity till 1650. is evidently set “ forth by Wengerscius, in his History of the Slavonic Church, p. 315, &c. — 382, “ &c. Now it will be worth while to pursue the same to the present Time. —

“ In the Year 1650. (when Wengerscius left off Writing), there were Three Bi“ shops living; One of the Bohemian Line, J. A. Comenius; and Two of the Polish, “ Martin Gertichius and John Bythner. The latter was the same, who, in the Year “ 1645. at the famous Conference at Tborn, was appointed President on the “ Part of the Reformed. Gertichius dying in Silesia, Dec. 10. 1657. Bythner alone “ survived; who, sending Word the 15th of January after to Comenius, then living
 “ at Amsterdam, concerning the Death of his Collegue, and also concerning the “ Desire of the People of Dantzick to have Two able Pastors out of the Unity, “ used these Words among others: If the Desire of the People of Dantzick is to be “ complied with, Two of our ablest Ministers ought to be sent thither; for the Places
 “ they are to fill require such. What if now also a Bishop of the Unity should be “ chosen and consecrated in the room of the Deceased? — Think, whether it be not “ proper, yea, necessary, for the preserving of our Order, to ordain a Bishop, either of “ the Bohemians or Polish, in the stead of the Deceased, lest in us Two, that, which
 “ in our Unity for Centuries has suffered no Interruption, should after our Death “ totally expire,” &c.

[The Author here inserts several Letters, which passed between Comenius and Bythner about this Matter; which, in the mean while, was retarded by Troubles and Persecutions; the Result of which was, That,] “ Anno 1662. in the Synod at Mielencin, Two Bishops were at length ordained

 “ by J. Bythner [with the Concurrence of Comenius in Writing]; one for the Polish “ Churches, Nicolas Gertichius; and the other for the Bohemian, Peter Jablonsky, “ Comenius’s Son-in-law, and designed his Successor, but who died before him Ja- “ nuary 12. 1670. in which Year also, November 25. Comenius departed this Life.
 “ From this Time, the Bohemian Branch being excluded all Hope of returning into “ their own Country, and worn out by long Banishment, and, according to Circum“ stances of Place, joining themselves to the Polish or German Churches, they had “ no more any Bishop ordained for them.

“ But, upon the Decease of Gertichius also at Lignitz, May 24. 1671. Bythner “ ordained Adam Samuel Hartman at the Synod in Lissa, October 28. 1673. And,
 “ when Bythner himself died soon after, Hartman ordained John Zugebær (chosen by “ the Suffrages of Bythner before his Death, and the Brethren still living), August 13.
 “ 1676. in the Church of St. Peter and Paul at Dantzick, in the Presence of the “ Ministers, to be Bishop of that Church. —

“ There were Consultations at this Time about ordaining a Bishop of the Unity in “ England. A. S. Hartman had an own Brother in England, Paul Hartman, who,
 “ from Chaplain of Christ-Church College in Oxford, was made Rector of the Parish “ of Shellingford near Farringdon (whose Son Sam. Hartman had lately a Cure in “ the City of Oxford —). The Brethren fixed their Thoughts upon this Person,
 “ and he himself gave some Hopes of returning into his own Country. — But the “ thing, thro’ some Impediments, did not come to pass. —

“ In the mean time, A. S. Hartman dying in 1691. J. Zugebær, who alone sur“ vived, ordained Joach. Gulichius, June 26. 1692. in the Synod of Lissa, to be his “ Collegue; and he himself also dying, Gulichius advised the Brethren to choose
 “ Two Collegues for him; and whereas D. E. Jablonsky, who was already Chaplain “ in Ordinary at the Court of Berlin, was one of those who were openly chose by “ Vote, and was invited to take a Journey to Poland to receive Ordination, he, hav“ ing a Scruple or two, had them cleared to him by his intimate Friend Dr. Grabe
 “ at London. — In the mean time the Synod at Lissa came on, at which, March 10. 1699.
 “ D. E. Jablonsky and John Jacobides were ordained Bishops. —

“ J. Jacobides dying Anno 1709. when things had a melancholy Look in Poland,
 “ and the Protestants were no-where safe, a Synod being held without the Country,
 “ at Zulchow on the Confines of Brandenburg, Dan. Ern. Jablonsky ordained Solomon “ Opitzius to be Bishop July 11. 1712. and, November 4. the same Year, in a gene“ ral Synod at Thorn, he ordained David Cassius and Christian Sitkovius. The for“ mer died in 1716. but the latter still laudably presides in the Church Militant in “ his own Country.”

Thus far Jablonsky. The next thing is, to prove the Reasonableness, together with the very Existence, of the Restoration of the Moravian See, in Compliance with old Bishop Comenius's Tbrenus, pronounced in the Bitterness of his Soul: Restitue nos Tibi, *Domine, ut revertamur. Innova dies nostros, sicut à principio.

The Episcopal Succession being now only preserved in Poland; a Country, which, if not prejudicial to the Preservation in itself, yet certainly not commodiously situated for giving Relief to its Fellow-Brethren out of its own Borders; the present Advo- cate began to consult with old Bishop Jablonsky about the renewing of the Moravian Hierarchy, in order to supply the many arising Congregations with Ministers of their own Way.

Eighteen different Posts, among the Heathens alone, seemed to demand a regular Ecclesiastical Direction, in order to answer more generally all sort of Objections the different Clergies of the several Countries were supposed to make to our Missionaries.

The same Precaution would satisfy those of the other Protestant Persuasions in Germany, especially the Lutheran, whom the Advocate regarded most, and with whom it was necessary for our Flocks to live. “ Let us not think, says the before-cited “ Dr. Pfaffius, that our Reformers were Enemies to the Episcopal Hierarchy.—Luther “ speaks thus: We say and affirm, that if the Bishops will for the future tolerate our “ Doctrine, and not persecute or seek to extirpate it, nothing shall be detracted or de- “ rogated by us from their Jurisdiction and Dignity.—

“ And what Spener thought of the Episcopal Succession and Order in the Church “ of England, sufficiently appears from this one Instance: That when J. Ernest “ Grabe was about to go over to the Romanists, on account of the Defect of Epis“ copal Succession in the Protestant Churches, he advised him to join himself to the “ English Church, which had such a Succession. Which Advice Grabe afterwards “ followed.”

It seems indeed very becoming for any impartial Genius to be satisfied with Episcopacy, when those truly Apostolic Men Polycarp and Ignatius, immoriebantur dog- mati Episcopatus, preached Episcopacy to their last Breath.

Agreeably to the foregoing Considerations,

Dr. Jablonsky, and his Colleague in Poland, appointed and consecrated Bishop of the Brethren, in March 1735. (soon after his Return from the Caribbees, and just before his going to Holsatia) David Nitschman, who had been First Deputy of the Moravians to Count Zinzendorf in the Year 1724.

The Count himself, having, just before he accepted of the Advocacy, in the Year 1732. quitted all his worldly Engagements, and in the Year 1734. betaken himself to the Clerical State by that public Programma of a renowned University, which is to be seen p. 24. and from that Moment served the Moravian Church in Quality of its Minister till 1737. was, by the Bishops of the Three united Branches, viz.
 the Moravian, Bohemian, and Polish, after a mature Deliberation (see p. 12.) consecrated May 20. in the Year last-mentioned.

He and his Colleague, before they quitted Europe, one the second and the other the third time, caused the Election of another Bishop in the Synod at Gotba 1740. and when Dr. Polycarp Muller, of Bohemian Extraction, was chosen by a Majority of 39 Votes, the same was consecrated by them in the Month of July following.

The imminent Decay of Dr. Jablonsky occasioned the Consecration of the then Dean of the Seminary, John Nitschman, Anno 1741. by Two Bishops.

* His last Words in the often-mentioned Ratio Disciplina, &c. printed London, 1661.

Bishop David claiming his Dismission, and Bishop Polycarp dying in Silesia, June 1747. Leonard Dobra a Bohemian, the first Apostle to the Caribbees, and John Baron of Watteville, were duly consecrated in the Synod at Herrnbaag ejusd. anni, by all the remaining Bishops.

After having laid open thus the State of our Church in respect to the Magistracy and Ecclesiastical Order, let us return to the principal Matter of our Treatise, which is the Spiritual.

Here we presuppose, that the Brethren of the Unity have been made Choice of in the very Dawn of the Reformation, to continue, pro gradu Epochæ, that Unitas Fratrum begun by our Saviour near 1800 Years ago; and therefore to preserve, in respect to all Christian Denominations whatsoever, a perfect Modesty and Regard; to interfere in disturbing or judging of none, tho' even erroneous; but, on the contrary, to study the utmost possible Harmony with all those, who truly acknowledge the Whole of the Sacred Books, which the Jews and the Christians are the Guardians of, as the only Rule credendorum et agendorum; contenting themselves modestly with that Liberty due to the Dignity as well as Imperfection of human Minds, in respect to such Passages, as, by the Generality of the Scripture-spirit, admit of a different Viewing; but, on the other hand, avoiding seriously all sort of Sophistifications or Detorsions of a truly plain one, and the disputing of which must needs involve the whole Conversation of Mankind in a Confusion of the most common Ideas, much greater than that of the Languages.

After this Supposition (et salvâ Thesi vivificâ et fundamentali, quòd CREATOR REDemptor Ecclesiæ sit et Proto-MARTYR), Difference of Evangelical Teaching does not much affect us in our Way. The same subsisted as early as our Saviour's Time, and embarrassed, more or less, the whole Apostolic Age; and that not about Trifles neither.

Difference of Constitutions does not stand in our Way neither; for this also was in Being in our Saviour's Time. For neither did the Jews abjure Judaism, nor the Greeks embrace it; nor was there a Word to be heard of Renunciations of Pharisaism, Essenism, or other different Schools; altho' the Errors, into which they were fallen, did indeed drop away from every Heart, in proportion as it came nigh to the Faith; as the like is to this very Day supposed and found with all true Believers.

Toleration is, to single Souls and Labourers, always welcome, and sufficient. But since in Christendom this Modification does not admit of either the Mustardseed-Nature, or their Leaven-Quality, nor of the Fishing for Souls (which Three principal Characters in the acting Kingdom of Grace are, on the one hand, never previously to be disavowed, nor is it possible to renounce them; and, on the other, in respect of one Christian Congregation towards another, not only seem to set Altar against Altar, but also, unless when some Revolution or other public Calamity happens to screen it, meet commonly with a severe Trial); therefore it was a Condition sine quâ non of the divine Character of the true orthodox Brethrens Unity, to be acknowledged point-blank, in each of the critical Provinces among Protestants, at least once (for Change herein, thro' Tyranny or Levity, affect not a Church, but come under the Head of Persecutions). And altho' the Brethren could indeed very justly congratulate themselves, that when, after a general Applause of Three Centuries, they re-appeared in the Firmament of the Church, both their Hierarchy and Orthodoxy were α) by the Declarations of the Danish, Swedish, Livonian, and Esthnish Consistories, in the Years 1734, 35, 36, 41, 42, 44, and 45.

β) by the Transactions, as well with the Universities of Jena, Halle, and Frankfort, and the Church of Wirtemberg, Basil, Geneva, and Brandenburg, in the Years 1727, 28, 33, 34, 37, 39, 40, 41, 45, and 47.

As also with the Greek and Russian, Polish and Bohemian Churches, and, mediante Cantuariensi, with the English; and, thro' the Mouth of the the late Dr. Watts, and by the Intervention of some excellent Pastors of Amsterdam, with the Presbyterian Churches, in the Years 1731, 35, 37, 38, 40, 44, and 48.

maintained, and formally established (in which respect the very Step the States-General made in 1743. was to us an agreeable Testimony); yet, notwithstanding, it became necessary, that the same should be also affirmed because, in case a Church either only gets thro' somehow sub Schemate Tolerationis, or remains, without any preceding Attacks, in bonâ pace, patribus securiùs loquentibus; then the solemn Acknowledging of a truly Catholic Brethrens Church, which is often promised to, and must needs now and then signalize, the Saviour and his Family, is not yet demonstrated.

In Contradictorio,

It was therefore a respectable Providence (and Providence it was), that,

- a) The known Persecution some of our noted Adversaries raised, 1731. in Saxony, occasioned those public Examinations of 1732, 36, 48. and the Issues of the same, particularly that of August 7. 1737. and September 20. of this current Year. That,
- b) Since the first building of Herrnbaag was merely under Toleration; through the Accusation on Account of Religion, which from *Budingen, in the Year 1740. was lodged against us at the Imperial Chancery at Wezlar, not only our Acquaintance with that supreme Tribunal was occasioned, by our becoming known and approved to all the Members individually, even to the Presidents and High Judge inclusively; and particularly the Saxon Representative's becoming and continuing for Six Years, even to his Death, a public Communicant with us; but also the Quæstio Status concerning us, thro' the casting out of the Accusation at Wezlar, remaining depending before the Princely Court at Budingen, was, January 1. 1743. in the most positive Terms decided in our Favour.
- c) That the Contradiction of the Lutheran and Reformed Clergy produced the Decisions given forth at Berlin, Anno 1743, 46, and 47. And since the Act of Parliament of 1747. granted us Exemptions in America on the Foot of Toleration; which did us not so much Good in America, as Disservice to our already fixed Agnition in England (not discontinued under all the Protestant Kings, from the Time that King Edward VI. had given it to us, preferably as well as previously to all other Protestant Churches†); and as the Toleration of Foreigners was represented to us as not at all provided by Law in England, but depending on the King's Pleasure, who, upon their humble Request, either confirms or denies it to one or another Body: Hence Providence so directed it,
- d) That on Occasion of the Verification of the Name and Title of the Brethren, alleged in their Petition to the Parliament; their only Episcopal Sister in the Protestant World, gave to all the preceding most solemn Documents the noblest, truest, and at the same time most essential Consummation.

* The Citizens of Budingen, justly alarmed at the closest Neighbourhood of an intire new and flourishing Town, instead of peaceably communicating thereabout with its Inhabitants, or the supreme Magistracy, took the wrong Method, and summon'd the Imperial Chancery to destroy us, ex Capite Non-tolerantiæ in Imperio.

† The Brethren's Liturgy being not only printed at London, under the Title, Forma ac ratio tota Ecclesiastici Ministerii, in peregrinorum, maxime Germanorum, Ecclesiâ instituta, Londini in Angliâ, 1550. but one of our Bishops, having been in the Commission for Reforming Ecclesiastical Laws in England.

So that whereas now our real Existence has been asserted in all Places, where, with any Shew of Right, it could be called in question; we can henceforth be pretty indifferent about it in all other Countries, whether we are acknowledged in positive Words, or, supposing the Proof of our Point (whereof, after a Month's Warning, authentic Credentials can always be produced) are kindly tolerated, in the same manner as other Persuasions.

This brings us quite naturally to speak of the Tropus's; because some have imagined this Modification was rather a Step taken to prevent the Persecution of the Brethren settled here and there, than a seriously-supposed Oeconomy of our Saviour's.

Now here, on the one hand, it cannot be denied, that the Name falls short of fully expressing the Materiale of the thing: But yet, on the other, it is certain, in Fact, that the Formale thereof is not in the least subservient to the Toleration of our Members, according to the present Genius of the World. Nay, rather, it is undeniably the Handle to all the Troubles hitherto, which have been almost peculiar to the orthodox Congregation of the Brethren, at a Time, when both on the Religion's Side, not only the Anabaptists, Socinians, and Fanatics of all sorts, but also the ἄνομοι, Naturalists, and Atheists; and even the Persuasions which have an Influence upon the State, enjoy, from their respective Governments, such a mild Toleration, as was unknown to former Ages; yea, the devout People meet with a kind Treatment from the very World.

The Difficulties therefore, with regard to our Tropus's, cannot but be considered in a quite particular Light. But the thing itself cannot be conceived of aright, so long as it is looked upon as something hypothetical, if not even as a Mist raised before People's Eyes. For this is a prodigious Mistake.

Our Tropus's, in reality, have arisen out of the following quite unaffected Circumstances and Considerations (partly facti, partly consilii) in the Unitas Fratrum, regarding our present Call among the Protestant Christendom. (The honoured Reader will be so good here, as to go back with us a little.)

A) The Synod of Sendomir, and the Convention of Prague, had at different times proceeded so far, as one while to unite the different Constitutions of the Hussites, the Brethren, and the Adherents of the Augustan Confession, under a Hussite President, and a Con-director from among the Brethren (but keeping the Lutheran Party under; which demonstrably gives the Key to the bitter Hatred of that famous Divine at the Court of Saxony, Dr. Hoë):

And, at another time, to unite the Reformed and Lutheran Religions under the Brethrens Episcopacy, yet with pretty just Equality: And here, as they without Ground supposed an Unity of the several Schools, that is, confounded the Methods of Teaching; hence they met with those known Oppositions at Wittenberg, and in Prussia, which after some Years gave the Brethren in Poland Occasion to leave the Lutherans behind; and, on the other hand, in Prussia yielded the Lutherans a Handle totally to abolish the very Name of the Brethren: For Demonstration whereof I need go no farther, than the present Face of Things, compared with what was 100 or 150 Years ago.

These Pieces of Injustice have, by the Phænomenon of Herrnhuth, as Bishop Jablonsky, writing to the Rev. Mr. Mauclore, well observes, really been put an End to; when, without entering into the political Measures of those at Prague (which just 100 Years after, just before the Coming of the Brethren, were revived at Ratisbon between the Reformed and Lutherans, and actually brought to bear), the Hearts of the Moravian, Lutheran, and Reformed Brethren were found very willing at Herrnhuth to give each other the right Hand, each having first their Due granted them.

And afterwards, not only a Foundation was, with the Privy of the late Bishop Jablonsky, wisely laid Anno 1733. at Tubingen, and 1737. at Herrnhuth, for dispensing the Lutheran Doctrine according to the Moravian Brethrens Discipline: But also it was with Success tried from Anno 1736. to 1738. at Amsterdam, and 1740. and 1741. at Basil and Geneva; moreover by the introducing the Synod of Bern realized in Pensylvania; and lastly, by renewing in Brandenburg the Reformed

Reformed President's Place in the General Synod; fully attained, that those of our Teachers, who might in Fact be of Opinion, that the Gospel would be more safely and precisely couched under the Calvinistical Modification, may, without Impediment from their Collegues, use the said Modification with Minds and Communities of the same Persuasion with themselves, and nevertheless be able to enjoy all the Privileges which the Brethrens Family possess: While, on the other hand, the Moravian Brethrens, and their strict Disciples Plan of Doctrine, is so much the more surely calculated for the happiest Combination of both Modifications, as the Witnesses, who are once acquainted therewith, certainly see themselves superior to the Objections of all Schools, and therein brought nearer to the very Days of our Lord; which, in their wide Field, as well among the several Eastern and Western Sects of Christendom, as among Socinians, Jews, Naturalists, and Heathens, makes them at once approved as FRATRES LEGIS CHRISTI, in which Quality they labour independently, and with Blessing.

And this is, so far as concerns the old Constitution of the Brethren, and the Restoration it has met with postliminio, the Case in Fact. Wherein it is farther to be observed, that even if there were no intrinsic Reasons for the Thing, yet natural Honesty of itself would still have required it thus. For however just a Right, Count Zinzendorf might suppose himself to have, to instruct the first Moravians who fled to him, according to his own Persuasion; yea, as much bound as he was thereto, on that Account, because the Stirring among the first Exiles was occasioned by Lutheran Ministers in Silesia; yet it would have appeared to him equally unjust, yea dishonest, on the other Side, by means of the Consecration he, as a reviving of the Consensus of Sendomir, received at Berlin, to rob the Reformed Branch quasi aliud agendo, of those Bohemians, Moravians, Polanders, Scotch, Irish and English Dissenters, Dutch and Swiss, who from time to time came among us, and manifestly belonged to the Reformed. Which now may be sufficient to set the Fact in its due Light, why the Unitas Fratrum have in their Synod maintained and procured both to the Reformed and Lutheran Religion their proper Share in the Direction.

B) In the next Place, as to the intrinsic Reason of the Tropus's in general, and why, notwithstanding they are the true Cause of all our Oppression in the World, we cannot let them drop; the State of the Case is this:

The Saviour has, as is well known, expressed himself very much to the Disadvantage of Profelyte-making to particular Opinions or Sects; he has by Word and Example honoured the original religious Constitution then actually in Being, talem qualem, and disapproved the Separation from it. But he has at the same time positively maintained, that the Brethren and Congregation-Affair (altho' it can very suitably be subordinated œconomically) is yet always in its Nature to be considered independently from the Religious State, and Public Worship; since it depends absolutely on the Holy Trinity itself, and the realizing that sovereign Transaction which It has with every single Heart; wherein Men have nothing at all farther to do, than to preach in Hope; to entertain, at their Desire, the Individuals gained by Preaching, to refresh them with all Sorts of spiritual Delicacies, and minister to them the Mysteries of the Church conformably to the general Ritual left us by our Saviour Himself.

Whereas now this Ministry is necessarily incapable of being tied either to Time, Country, House or Edifice, or Modification of Religious Conceptions; and if at any time per accidens, and for a Season, it should grow from Individuals to smaller or larger Bodies, is not therefore in the least to be fastened down; as indeed no sensible Father of a Family can in this Respect appropriate any thing of what he has, to his Wife or Children, till such time as their individual Heart's-Experience does of itself procure them the Admission to this Brotherhood:

Therefore, on the one hand, as the due Management of this nice Affair is neglected in almost all Religions out of the Brethrens Circle, this Constitution of Brethren ought to be kept up there.

But

But, on the other hand, the Christian Religions, and particularly that Persuasion, wherein each found his Souls born and brought up, must with the utmost Care be preserved ; that so not only the bodily Children and Relations, who do not abide in the Covenant of the Gospel, but even the true living Souls themselves, in the Hour of Sifting, which may be apprehended from time to time, or in some status extraordinarius, may not have the Situation of mere Savages to pass into, and also lead their Children into the same ; but, by their constant Attachment to some School, perhaps most properly calculated for them, wherein however Jesus Christ is preached, may get the Remembrance of their Creator and Redeemer, and of their Destination towards Him, always refreshed again ; and in this manner be kept in such a proportionate Nearness and Connection with that spiritual Brotherhood, to which Jesus Christ has not only by his bloody Merit intitled the whole World, but, in respect of all those, who really reverence his Gospel, and either with their Hearts even take Part with it, in Opposition to the Unbelief of their own Mind (in which Sense one said once, ἡ ἀπιστία τῆς ἀνθρώπων), or at least do not, out of wilful Prejudice or Dislike, contradict it ; does, as particular Objects of his gathering out of the διασπορά, or Scattering of their Ways and Circumstances, from time to time, by incomprehensible, but holy and effectual Remedies, actually give them Freedom : To which End, it is not so much our Business to open the Door, as barely to keep it open, or at least not to lock it. Wherefore also, in a true Society of Brethren in the primitive Way, a Limit can as little be set to τρόποι παιδείας, or a numerus clausus of them be assigned, as there can of Hearts which may yet present themselves, whose Heads think differently.

As it is manifest, that the Platform of Apostolical and Episcopal Duties differs exceedingly ; the only remaining Thing we must necessarily deliver our Tenets upon, is this : That no Apostolical Teacher ought to gather People about him by Rules and Church-Order, much less intermeddle with his Hearers abandoning their respective Ecclesiastical Dwelling-places ; and that, on the other hand, no Bishop, Presbyter, Deacon, or other Servant engaged in the Duty of any Christian Liturgy, ought to go on any Apostolical Errand, or, if once determined to this latter extraordinary (and also very equivocal) Vocation, must beforehand, by all means, during that Parenthesis, part with his Ecclesiastical Incumbrance and Connection.

We will close all with those Words recorded in the Advocate's last Acceptation of that Office, see Page 5.—“ Definant cæteri Evangelici de Evangelio rixari, et incipiant secundum Evangelium vivere, utque ab omnibus Christo sacratis (addo, vel tales se profitentibus) vita Christianis digna exigi possit, tribunal Christi inter se ad leges ipsius Christi erigant; nos peculiaris cætus esse definemus. Pereant sectæ, nostra etiam ! modò non pereat quod usquam boni est, sed collectum in communem Ecclesiæ thesaurum commune sit.”

P R E F A C E.

THIS [Octavo] Edition being designed for the Perusal of the unlearned, as well as learned Reader, he will find the Enchiridion Theologiæ Patristicæ now translated into English, with the Latin annexed. And as we, in our Exposition in Folio, found ourselves circumscribed within the Bounds of the Centuriatores Magdeburgenses, from whom we were only Epitomators; and thus a great many excellent Sayings of some of the very first Fathers remained behind: We, as this present Edition of the latter Part of our Acta was already begun, even then resolved to let our Reader have them also, by Way of Introduction to that whole Epitome.

It is with much Pleasure we now deliver the same. May the Spirit of those Fathers lay hold of all such Persons, as shall peruse the following Testimonies with a tender Heart towards the Creator and Redeemer of their Souls; and lead them, with Satisfaction and Delight, through all the Lines thereof, in order to strengthen their Thoughts as well as their Lips, to join their hearty and plerophoric Amen with those great Truths stantis & cadentis systematis ἑνσεβείας.

'Tis a Pity, that one is obliged in Christendom to prove the cardinal Matters of our holy Religion by the Testimonies of Books; not so clear by far, nor of such unquestionable Authority, Energy, and Roundness, as that wherewith the Scripture itself, in Pursuance of which we speak, is wont to teach. It was not without some Difficulty we first resolved to make such a Trial; as certainly not having our first Institution from these Rivulets, but from the Fountain itself; being not used to form a Thought in spiritual Matters, which does not spring from the Scripture. Nevertheless as we, for Christ's Sake, are bound in Duty to People of several Ways of Thinking, when there is any Appearance of promoting their Edification; we condescended, some Years ago, to strengthen our scriptural Language, with alledging also the Example of all Christian Ages.

Yet even on this Occasion, we will first of all premise the Scripture * itself.

Col. ii. 2, 3. That your Hearts might be comforted—to the Acknowledgment of the Mystery (1) of GOD, and (2) of the FATHER, and (3) of CHRIST: In whom are hid all the Treasures of Wisdom and Knowledge.

1 Cor. ii. 2. For I determined not to know any Thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

Acts x. 43. To Him give all the Prophets Witness, that thro' his Name, whosoever believeth in Him, shall receive Remission of Sins.

Acts v. 42. Daily in the Temple, and in every House, they [the Apostles] ceased not to teach and to preach Jesus Christ.

Chap. viii. 16. x. 48. And they administered Baptism in the Name of Jesus, or in the Name of the Lord.

Acts xvi. 30, 31. [Being asked of some] Sirs, What must I do to be saved? They said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ.

Eph. ii. 12. Without Christ—[ye were also] without God in the World.

John i. 1—4. In the Beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the Beginning with God. All Things were made by Him, and without Him was not any Thing made, that was made. In Him was Life, and the Life was the Light of Men. (Ver. 9—14). That was the true Light, which lighteth every Man that cometh into the World. He was in the World, and the World was made by him, and the World knew Him not. He came unto his own, and his own received Him not. But as many as received him, to them gave He Power to become the Children of God, even to them that believe on his Name; which were born, not of Blood, nor of the Will of the Flesh, nor of the Will of Man, but of God. And the Word was made Flesh, and dwelt among us (and we beheld his Glory, the Glory as of the only-begotten of the Father), full of Grace and Truth.

Isa. lxi. 21—24. It is said, There is no God else besides me, a just God and a Saviour; there is none besides me. Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the Ends of the Earth; for I am God, and there is none else. I have sworn by Myself, the Word is gone out of my Mouth in Righteousness, and shall not return, that unto Me every Knee shall bow, every Tongue shall swear*. Surely shall one say, In the LORD have I Righteousness and Strength; even to Him shall Men come, and all that are incensed against him shall be ashamed (* Comp. Phil. ii. 10, 11). Heb. i. 8, 10, 11, 12, [Unto Him it is said,] Thy Throne, O God, is for ever and ever.—And, Thou, Lord, in the Beginning hast laid the Foundation of the Earth, and the Heavens are the Works of thy Hands. They shall perish, but thou remainest; and they all shall wax old as doth a Garment; and as a Vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed; but Thou art the same; and thy Years shall not fail.

1 John v. 20, 21. This is the true God, and eternal Life. Little Children, keep yourselves from Idols.

Col. i. 19, 20. For it pleased, that in Him should all Fulness dwell; and (having made Peace through the Blood of his Cross) by Him to reconcile all Things unto Himself, by Him, I say, whether they be Things in Earth, or Things in Heaven.

John x. 17, 18. Therefore (says He) doth my Father love me, because I lay down my Life, that I may take it again. No Man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself: I have Power to lay it down, and I have Power to take it again.

Isa. ix. 6. Unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given,—the Mighty God, (the Almighty, comp. Rev. i. 8.) the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace.

Phil. ii. 6, 7, 8. Christ Jesus, being in the Form of God, thought it not Robbery to be equal with God; but made himself of no Reputation, and took upon him the Form of a Servant, and was made in the Likeness of Men. And being found in Fashion as a Man, &c.

John i. 16, 17, 18. And of his Fulness have all we received, and Grace for Grace. For the Law was given by Moses, but Grace and Truth came by Jesus Christ. No Man hath seen God at any Time; the Only-begotten Son, which is in the Bosom of the Father, He hath declared Him.

John xvii. 6, 25, 26. I (says he) have manifested thy Name unto the Men which thou gavest me out of the World—O righteous Father, the World hath not known Thee; but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me. And I have declared unto them thy Name, and will declare it.

1 John iii. 23. And this is His Commandment, that we should believe on the Name of his Son JESUS CHRIST.

* As the Apostles followed the Septuagint, without criticising upon its Defects; so we have not affected to avoid the common English Translation of the Bible.

John iii. 36. He that believeth on the Son, hath everlasting Life; and he that believeth not on the Son, shall not see Life, but the Wrath of God abideth on him.

John xiv. 6—10. I am the Way (says He), and the Truth, and the Life: No Man cometh unto the Father, but by Me. If ye had known Me, ye should have known my Father also: And from henceforth ye know Him, and have seen him. Philip saith unto Him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us. Jesus saith unto Him, Have I been so long Time with you, and yet hast thou not known me Philip? He that hath seen Me, hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Believeest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father in Me?

John xv. 4, 5, 9. Abide in Me, and I in you. As the Branch cannot bear Fruit of itself, except it abide in the Vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in Me. I am the Vine, ye are the Branches. He that abideth in Me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much Fruit: For without Me ye can do nothing.—As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: Continue ye in my Love.

John iii. 29. He that hath the Bride, is the Bridegroom.

Heb. xiii. 8. Jesus Christ the same Yesterday, and To-day, and for ever.

Rom. ix. 5. Coming from the Fathers accroding to the Flesh; Who is over all God, * blest for ever.

Heb. iii. 1, 3, 4. Wherefore, holy Brethren, Partakers of the heavenly Calling, consider the Apostle and High-Priest of our Profession, Christ Jesus.—Worthy of more Glory than Moses, inasmuch as he who hath builded the House, hath more Honour than the House. For every House is builded by some Man; but he that built all Things, is GOD.

Moreover, we have not an High-Priest which cannot be touched with the Feeling of our Infirmities; but was in all Points tempted like as we are, yet without Sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain Mercy, and find Grace to help in Time of Need. Heb. iv. 15, 16.

Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the Doctrine of Christ, hath not God. 2 Ep. John, ver. 9.

After the sacred Books, in the same Strain of Doctrine, follow properly the indeed much inferior (as before-mentioned), but still valuable Expressions of the Fathers, and first those of the First Age; from whom we now give † the further Excerpta, promised above.

CLEMENS Rom. (first Epistle.)

Let us look stedfastly to the Blood of Christ, and see how precious his Blood is in the Sight of God: Which being shed for our Salvation, has obtained the Grace of Repentance for all the World.

They gave her [Rahab] moreover a Sign (Josh. ii. 18).—shewing thereby, that by the Blood of our Lord, there should be Redemption to all that believe.

The Sceptre of the Majesty of God, our Lord Jesus Christ, came not in the Shew of Pride and Arrogance, tho' He could have done so: But with Humility, as the Holy Ghost had before spoken concerning Him. For thus he saith, Lord, who hath believed our Report? (Isa. liii. usque ad finem). And again, He himself saith, I am a Worm, and no Man, &c.

Let us reverence our Lord Jesus Christ, whose Blood was given for us.

We, being called by the same Will in Christ Jesus, are not justified by ourselves, neither by our own Wisdom, or Knowledge, or Piety, or the Works which we have done in the Holiness of our Hearts: but by that Faith, by which God Almighty has justified those also who were from the Beginning.

This is the Way, Beloved! in which we may find our Saviour, even Jesus Christ, the High-Priest of all our Offerings, the Defender and Helper of our Weakness. By Him we look up to the highest Heavens, and behold, as in a Glass, his spotless and most excellent Visage. By Him are the Eyes of our Hearts opened; by Him is our foolish and darkened Understanding enabled to behold his wonderful Light.

Through Charity did the Lord join us unto Himself: Whilst for the Love that he bore towards us, our Lord Jesus Christ gave his own Blood for us, by the Will of God; His Flesh for our Flesh; His Soul for our Souls.

POLYCARP.

I rejoiced greatly,—that the Root of the Faith remains firm in you,—and brings forth Fruit to our Lord Jesus Christ, who suffered himself to be brought even to the Death for our Sins.

Whom every Creature shall worship; who shall come to be the Judge of Quick and Dead: Whose Blood God shall require of them that believe not in Him, but are Disobedient to Him.

—Moderate in all Things, compassionate, careful; walking according to the Truth of the Lord, who was the Servant of all.—Not severe in Judgment, knowing that we are all Debtors in Point of Sin.

Let us therefore, without ceasing, keep stedfastly to Him, who is our Hope, and the Earnest of our Righteousness, even Jesus Christ; who his own Self bare our Sins in his own Body on the Tree: Who did no Sin, neither was Guile found in his Mouth; but suffered all for us, that we might live through Him.

Be ye safe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

(In his Martyrd.) To thee [the Proconsul] have I offered to give a Reason of my Faith: For so are we taught to pay all due Honour—.

IGNATIUS.

(To the Ephesians.)—Your Name, much Beloved in God! which ye have very justly attained by a Habit of Righteousness, according to the Faith and Love which is in Jesus Christ our Saviour: How that being Followers of God, and stirring up yourselves by the Blood of Christ, ye have perfectly accomplished the Work that was natural to you.

May I always have Joy of you, if I shall be worthy of it. It is fitting, that by all Means you should glorify Jesus Christ, who hath glorified you: That by an uniform Obedience, ye may be perfectly joined together in the same Mind, and in the same Judgment, and may all speak the same Things: And that being subject to your Bishop, and his Presbytery, ye may be wholly and thoroughly sanctified.

Jesus Christ, our inseparable Life, is the Mind of the Father.

Your famous Presbytery, worthy of God, is fitted as exactly to its Bishop, as the Strings are to their Harp: Therefore in your Concord, and agreeing Charity, Jesus Christ is sung.

There is one Physician, both fleshly and spiritual; made, and not made; God incarnate; true Life in Death; both of Mary and of God; first passible, then impassible (even Jesus Christ our Lord.)

They that are of the Flesh, cannot do the Works of the Spirit; neither they that are of the Spirit, the Works of the Flesh.—But even those things, which ye do according to the Flesh, are spiritual; forasmuch as ye do all things in Jesus Christ.

As being the Stones of the Temple of the Father, prepared for his Building; and drawn up on high by the Cross of Christ, as by an Engine; using the Holy Ghost as the Rope by which to ascend

* ἐν παντί Θεός.

† Using Archbishop Wake's Translation.

Your Faith being your Support,—— Ye are therefore, with all your Companions in the same Journey, full of God, his spiritual Temples, full of Christ, full of Holiness; adorned in all Things with the Commands of Christ.

Ye do also pray without ceasing for all Men: For there is Hope of Repentance in them, that they may attain unto God.— Be ye mild at their Anger; humble at their Boasting.— Let us be their Brethren in all Kindness and Moderation: But let us be Followers of the Lord.

Besides Him, let nothing be worthy of you.

Let it be your Care to come oftener together, to the Praise and Glory of God. For when ye meet often together in the same Place, the Powers of the Devil are destroyed, and his Mischief is dissolved by the Unity of your Faith.

Faith and Charity in Christ Jesus are the Beginning and End of Life. For the Beginning is Faith; the End Charity [Love]. And these Two, joined together, are of God: But all other Things are the Followers.

No Man, professing a true Faith, sinneth: Neither does he who has Charity, hate any.

Christianity is not the Work of an outward Profession; but shews itself in the Power of Faith.

There is one Master, who spake, and it was done; and even those Things which He did without speaking, are worthy of the Father. He that possesses the Word of Jesus, is truly able to hear his very Silence.

Let us therefore do all Things, as becomes those who have God dwelling in them.

For this Cause did the Lord suffer the Ointment to be poured on his Head; that He might breathe the Breath of Immortality unto his Church.

My Soul be the Surety of all such as trust in the Cross; which is indeed a Scandal to the Unbelievers, but to us is Salvation and Life eternal.

The Virginity of Mary, and her Delivery, was kept in Secret from the Prince of this World; as was also the Death of our Lord: Three of the most notable Mysteries of the Gospel, yet done in Secret by God.

Mens Ignorance was taken away; and the old Kingdom abolished: God himself appearing in the Form of a Man, for the Renewal of eternal Life.

I purpose in a second Epistle—to manifest to you more fully the Dispensation, of which I have now begun to speak, unto the New Man, which is Jesus Christ; both in his Faith and Charity, in his Suffering, and in his Resurrection: Especially if the Lord shall make known unto me, that ye all by Name come together, in common, in one Faith, and in one Jesus Christ.

Breaking one Bread,— which is our Antidote that we should not die, but live for ever in Christ Jesus.

(Magnes.) See that ye all reverence one another.

Even the most holy Prophets lived according to Christ Jesus. And for this Cause were they persecuted, being inspired by his Grace, to convince the Unbelievers and Disobedient, that there is one God, who has manifested Himself by Jesus Christ.

I am desirous to forewarn you, that ye fall not into the Snares of vain Doctrine: But that ye be fully instructed in the Birth, and Suffering, and Resurrection of Jesus Christ, our Hope; which was done in the Time of the Government of Pontius Pilate, and that most truly and certainly; and from which God forbid that any among you should be turned aside.

Be ye strengthened in the Concord of God; enjoying his inseparable Spirit, which is Jesus Christ.

(Trall.) To the Church which is at Tralles— having Peace through the Flesh, and Blood, and Passion of Jesus Christ our Hope.

Give no Occasion to the Gentiles; lest, by Means of a few foolish Men, the whole Company that is in God be evil-spoken of.

Stop your Ears, as often as any one shall speak contrary to Jesus Christ.— Who was truly born, and did eat and drink; was truly persecuted under Pontius Pilate; was truly crucified and dead; both the Things in Heaven, and the Things on Earth, and the Things under the Earth, being conscious of it.

(Rom.) I am the Wheat of God; and I shall be ground by the Teeth of the wild Beasts, that I may be found the pure Bread of Christ.

I am the more instructed by Injuries. Yet am I not therefore justified.

Let Fire and the Cross; let the Companies of wild Beasts; let Breakings of Bones, and Tearing of Members; let the shattering in Pieces of the whole Body, and all the Torments of the Devil, come upon me; only let me enjoy Jesus Christ.

All the Compass of the World, and the Kingdoms of it, will profit me nothing.— Him I seek, who died for us.

My Love is Crucified: And the Fire that is within me, does not desire any Water.— I take no Pleasure in the Food of Corruption, nor in the Pleasures of this Life. I desire the Bread of God, which is the Flesh of Jesus Christ, of the Seed of David; and the Drink that I long for, is his Blood, which is uncorruptible Love.

(Philad.) The Church at Philadelphia— which I salute in the Blood of Jesus Christ, who is our eternal and undefiled Joy.

Abstain from those evil Herbs, which Jesus Christ does not dress; because such are not the Plantation of the Father.

Fleeing to the Gospel, as unto the Flesh of Christ.—

Let us also love the Prophets, forasmuch as they also have by their Doctrine led us to the Gospel, and to the Hope in Christ, and to expect Him. In whom also Believing, they were saved, in the Unity of Jesus Christ; being holy Men, worthy to be loved, and had in Wonder; who have received Testimony from Jesus Christ, and are reckoned in the Gospel of our common Hope.

But if any one shall preach the Jewish Law unto you, hearken not unto him: For it is better to receive the Doctrine of Christ from one that has been circumcised, than Judaism from one that has not. But if either the one or the other do not speak concerning Christ Jesus; they seem to me but as Monuments and Sepulchres of the Dead, upon which are written only the Names of Men.

Keep your Bodies as the Temples of God. Love Unity, flee Divisions: Be the Followers of Christ, as He was of the Father.

I have

I have heard of some who say, &c. [vide infra, p. 122]. But to me Jesus Christ is instead of all the antient Monuments in the World: Together with those undefiled Monuments, his Cross, and Death, and Resurrection, and the Faith which is by Him; by which I desire to be justified.

The Priests indeed are good; but much better is the High-Priest, to whom the Holy of Holies has been committed, and who alone has been intrusted with the Secrets of God.

He is the Door of the Father; by which Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets, enter in; as well as the Apostles, and the Church. And all these Things tend to the Unity which is of God. Howbeit, the Gospel has something in it far above all other Dispensations; namely, the Appearance of our Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ, his Passion and Resurrection.

May our Lord Jesus Christ honour them [the Brethren], in whom they hope, both in Flesh, and Soul, and Spirit; in Faith, in Love, in Unity.

(Smyrn.) I glorify God, even Jesus Christ, who has thus filled you with all Wisdom. For I have understood how that you are settled in an immoveable Faith, as if you were nailed to the Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, both in the Flesh, and in the Spirit; and are confirmed in Love through the Blood of Jesus Christ; being fully persuaded of those Things which relate unto our Lord: Who was—truly born of the Virgin,—truly crucified for us in the Flesh; by the Fruits of which we are saved, even by his most blessed Passion; that he might set up a sure Token and Earnest of Hope for all following Ages.

Now all these Things He suffered for us, that we might be saved. And he suffered truly; as He also truly raised up Himself.

I know, that even after his Resurrection, He was in the Flesh; and I Believe that He was [is] so. And when He came to those who were with Peter, he said unto them, Take, handle me, and see, that I am not an incorporeal Demon. And straightway they felt Him, and believed; being convinced both by his Flesh and Spirit.

Now these Things, Beloved! I put you in mind of, not questioning but that you yourselves also believe that they are so. But I arm you before-hand against certain Beasts in the Shape of Men; whom you must not only not receive, but, if it be possible, must not meet with. Only you must pray for them, that if it be the Will of God, they may repent. — But of this our Lord Jesus Christ has the Power, who is our true Life.

Only in the Name of Jesus Christ, who was a perfect Man, and by his Assistance, am I ready to suffer all Things together with him.

Let no Man deceive himself: Both the Things which are in Heaven, and the Glory of Angels, and Principalities, whether visible or invisible, if they believe not in the Blood of Christ, it shall be to them to Condemnation. He that is able to receive this, let him receive it.

Consider those who defend a different Opinion from us, as to what concerns the Grace of God, which is come unto us; how contrary they are to the Mind of God? — They abstain from the public Offices, and from the holy Eucharist; because they confess it not to be the Flesh of our Saviour Jesus Christ, which suffered for our Sins. — But much better would it be for them to love it, that they might one Day rise through it.

(To Polyc.) Ignatius—to Polycarp Bishop of the Church which is at Smyrna; their Overseer, but rather himself overlooked by God the Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ; all Happiness.

I beseech thee, by the Grace of God, with which thou art clothed, to press forward in thy Course, and to exhort all others, that they may be saved.

For this Cause thou art composed of Flesh and Spirit; that thou mayest mollify those Things that appear before thy Face: But as for those that are not seen, pray to God that He would reveal them unto thee.

Stand firm and immoveable, as an Anvil when it is beaten upon. It is the Part of a brave Combatant indeed, to be beaten, and yet overcome.

Consider the Times: And expect Him, who is above all Time, eternal, invisible, though for our Sakes made visible; impalpable, and impassible, yet for us subjected to Sufferings; enduring all manner of Ways for our Salvation.

Let not the Widows be neglected: Be thou, after God, their Guardian.

Let nothing be done, but with thy Knowledge and Consent: Neither do thou any Thing, but according to the Will of God.

Inquire into all by Name.

Overlook not the Men and Maid-Servants: Neither let them be puffed up; but let them be more subject, to the Glory of God; that they may obtain from him a better Liberty. Let them not desire to be set free from their present Service, that they be not Slaves to their own Lusts.

It becomes all such as are married, whether Men or Women, to come together with the Consent of the Bishop; that so their Marriage may be according to Godliness, and not in Lust. Let all Things be done to the Honour of God.

Labour with one another; — run together, suffer together, sleep together, rise together; as the Stewards, and Assessors, and Ministers of God.

Now forasmuch as the Church of Antioch in Syria is, as I am told, in Peace through your Prayers: — it will be very fit, O most worthy Polycarp, to call a select Council, and choose some one whom ye particularly love, and who is patient of Labour; that he may be the Messenger of God, and that, going unto Syria, he may glorify your incessant Love, to the Praise of God. — Do you write to the Churches that are near you, as being instructed in the Will of God, that they also may do in like Manner. Let those that are able, send Messengers; and let the rest send their Letters by those who shall be sent by you.

I salute all by Name. — I salute him who shall be sent by you into Syria. — I wish you all Happiness in our God, Jesus Christ; in whom continue in the Unity and Protection of God.

(In his Martyrdom.) His Favour may I enjoy, who was crucified under Pontius Pilate; — who crucified my Sin, with the Inventor of it; and has put all the Power and Malice of the Devil under their Feet, who from their Hearts believe in Him.

Being asked of the Proconsul, Dost thou then carry Christ within thee? Answ. I do.

* Pater dilecti et benedicti Filii tui Jesu Christi, per quem agnitionem Tui accepimus, &c. Polycarpus.

Dilectissimi ! ad plenum instructi sitis in Christo, qui ante secula genitus est à Patre : postea autem factus est ex Maria virgine, sine conversatione viri ; et nobiscum conversatus est sancte et sine querela. Ignatius.

Verè peperit Maria corpus, Deo in eo habitante, et vere natus est DEUS-VERBUM ex Virgine, corpus simile nobis, passibile, sine peccato induens. Vere conceptus est in utero, & factus est in utero ; formans & faciens sibi corpus ex virgine, sine femine ac colloctione viri, portatusque in utero, sicut & nos tempore portati sumus. Idem.

Homo Verbum Dei factum est ; semetipsum homini, & hominem sibi metipso, assimilans. Idem.

Misericors Deus, & amans humanum genus, hærere fecit & adunivit hominem Deo. Si enim Homo non vicisset inimicum hominis, non juste victus esset inimicus. Rursus autem, nisi Deus donasset salutem, non firmiter haberemus eam ; & nisi homo conjunctus fuisset Deo nostro, non potuisset particeps fieri incorruptibilitatis. Oportuerat enim Mediatorem Dei & hominum, per suam ad utrosque domesticitatem & amicitiam & concordiam, utrosque reducere, & facere, ut Deus assumeret hominem, & homo se dederet Deo. Idem.

Sicut Homo erat, ut tentaretur, ita Verbum ut glorificaretur ; requiescente quidem Verbo, ut posset tentari, & inhonorari, & crucifigi, & mori. Idem.

Descendit Spiritus Sanctus in Filium Dei hominem factum : ut assuesceret cum illo habitare in genere humano, et requiescere in hominibus, atque operari in iis voluntatem Dei, & renovare eos à vetustate in novitatem Christi. Idem.

Mundus hic universus cum omnibus creaturis, à Deo Patre, Filio & Spiritu per Verbum conditus est.

Homo secundum similitudinem Dei formatus est, & per manus ejus plasmatus est.

Per hanc ordinationem & hujusmodi convenientiam, & talis factus & plasmatus homo, secundum imaginem & similitudinem infecti Dei : Patre quidem bene sentiente, Filio formante, Spiritu vero nutriente & augente, &c.

Sempiterna nobis & ultima Lex Christus datus est, & Testamentum fidele : post quæ non lex ulla, non mandatum, non præceptum sequetur. Idem.

Finis legis est Christus, à lege prædictus, ad justitiam omni credenti.

Audivi quosdam dicentes : Si non invenero Evangelium in antiquis, non credam. Talibus autem ego dico : Mibi antiquitas Jesus Christus est, cui non obedire manifestus & irremissibilis est interitus. Ignatius.

Christus dilexit nos, dans seipsum pro nobis redemptionem, ut nos sanguine suo munderet ab antiqua impietate, & vitam nobis præstaret incipientibus jam perire, pro malitia, quæ erat in nobis. Ignatius.

* Ex Seculo I. & II.

Filius,

Filius Dei, ut Deus & homo, lapsum Adam in integrum restituit. Justinus.

Cum ipse esset vita, propter nos pati voluit, ut ejus passione viveremus. Clem. Alex.

Quicumque venerit ad unitatem Ecclesiæ, suscipite eos cum omni mansuetudine, ut de lino & muscipula Diaboli empti, & digni Jesu Christo effecti, sempiternam salutem percipiant in regno Christi. Ignatius.

Tincti illuminamur, illuminati in filios adoptamur, adoptati perficimur, perfecti immortales reddimur, &c. Quid enim ei desit, qui Deum novit? Est enim revera absurdum, Dei vocari gratiam, quæ non sit perfecta & undequaque plena. Clemen Alex.

Quando & mixtus calix, & sanctus panis, percipit verbum Dei, fit Eucharistia Sanguinis & Corporis Christi, ex quibus augetur & consistit carnis nostræ substantia. Irenæus.

Intelligentiæ vis & summa hæc est, ut suscipiat & honorificet homo communem Parentem generis humani, & rerum mirabilium fabricatorem. Lactantius.

Siquidem par non est, ut plures unum mundum ædificent. Si enim à multis fabricatus esset hic Mundus, imbecilles fuisse ejus fabros, arbitrandum foret: eo quod multorum opera ad unum opus requisita esset. Ipse opifex unum in universum Mundum condidit: ne de multorum numero multi etiam opifices existimarentur; sed ex uno opere unus quoque illius auctor crederetur. Athanasius.

Ex Patre in veritate genitus, sine principio, sine tempore, & inenarrabiliter; non confrater existens Patri, non auspicatus ipsum esse, neque qui intermiserit unquam; verum semper Filius genuinus cum Patre existens, ex Patre sine tempore genitus, æqualis existens Deus ex Deo, lumen de lumine, Deus verus ex Deo vero, genitus, non creatus. Sed non ipse Pater, neque Pater ipse Filius: sed semper Deus Pater & Filius, & Spiritus Sanctus. Semper enim Spiritus cum Patre & Filio: non confrater Patri: non genitus, non creatus; verum ex Patre procedens, & de Filio accipiens: non alienus à Patre & Filio. Epiphanius.

Cinis autem & pulvis, in terra sedens, scrutatur opificem? Dominum omnium conditorem perscrutatur? Infelix profecto, miser atque impudentissimus est qui scrutari cupit opificem suum.

Ego quando lego Evangelium, & video ibi Testimonia de Lege, Testimonia de Prophetis, Solum Christum considero. Chrysost.

Clari & aperti evangelii Christi Sermones sunt super Lac legale.

In quo, per quem, & similia verba frequenter invenimus indifferenter accepta, de Patre, Filio, & Spiritu sancto: quod minime fieret, nisi ubique eadem esset Substantia. Chrysost.

Turbata est anima mea (Christus Job. xii. inquit): Pater, salva me ex hac Horâ. Hæc Dispensationis, non Divinitatis Verba sunt. Ita perturbatus est, ut etiam (ab hac hora) absolvi cuperet, si licuisset. Hæ sunt humanæ Naturæ Imbecillitates. Idem.

Propterea omnia Verba divina quamvis rustica sint & incompofita, viva sunt: quoniam intus in suis sensibus habent positam Veritatem Dei, quasi Sanguinem in Venis inclusum, & ideo vivificant audientem: Sicut testatur Petrus ad Christum dicens: Quo ibimus? Verba viva habes. Idem.

Tribus modis Deus erat in Christo; primo, secundum infirmitatem omnis Creaturæ; quod ubique est. Eo autem modo Deus etiam est in peccatoribus. Secundo, juxta Sanctificationem, & peculiarem inhabitationem; qua in sanctis est. Tertio, secundum Plenitudinem Divinitatis, quod Christo figillatim convenit, juxta illud: Quod in ipso habitat omnis plenitudo Divinitatis corporaliter.

Duas in Christo Generationes legimus. Ibi illum ex semetipso genuit Deus; Hic eum Virgo, Deo cooperante, concepit: ibi sine initio, hic sine exemplo: ibi natus ut conderet Vitam; hic factus, ut tolleretur mortem: ibi Patri natus; hic hominibus procreatus: illa Nativitate Hominem fecit; hac generatione Hominem liberavit. Maximus Taurinensis.

Nascens

Nascens Dominus noster Jesus Christus, Homo verus, qui nunquam destitit esse Deus verus, novæ Creaturæ in se fecit Exordium; & in Ortus sui forma dedit humano Generi spirituale Principium; ut ad carnalis generationis abolenda Contagia, esset regenerandis Origo sine Semine Criminis, de quibus dicitur: qui non ex Sanguinibus, neque ex Voluntate Carnis, neque ex Voluntate Viri; sed ex Deo nati sunt. Leo.

Pertinemus ad Evangelium: pertinemus ad Novum Testamentum. Lex per Moysen data est: Gratia autem & Veritas per Jesum Christum facta est. Interrogamus Apostolum, & dicit nobis: Quoniam non sumus sub Lege; sed sub Gratia. Misit ergo Filium suum, factum ex Muliere, factum sub Lege: ut eos, qui sub Lege erant, redimeret, & ut adoptionem Filiorum reciperemus nos. Idem.

Christi Minister, quem Christus suscepit, alienus est à Lege. Quis igitur es, qui judicas ex Lege alienum à Lege?— Quid adhuc Legem tenes, & non potius Christum amplecteris? Credentes morte Christi Legi se mortuos, et ab ea liberatos esse sciunt.— Perspicuum igitur est, quod a Lege absoluti sumus, tanquam mortui; subjectique sumus ei qui nos à Morte redemit. Chrysost.

Crux nobis totius Beatitudinis Causa est. Hæc nos a cæcitate liberavit erroris: hæc peregrinantes Cives ostendit: hæc Pacis firmamentum: hæc Bonorum omnium abunda Largitio. Idem.

Quisquis Christum induerit, is habet universam Virtutem. Quis vero ipse induendus est? si nobis intrinsecus & forinsecus omnia ipse solus fuerit: Si interna & externa Bona nostra ille solus fuerit: Porro nunquam ab eo destitui, indumentum vocatur.

Per ipsum salvabimur, non per nos: hoc est, si membrum ejus fuerimus. Cum enim omnia ardebunt, solum Corpus salvabitur judicantis.

Fides Origo Justitiæ, Sanctitatis Caput, Devotionis Principium, Religionis Fundamentum. Chrysost.

Ut doceret nos, etiam ipsum credere, doni esse, non meriti: inquit; Nemo venit ad me, nisi cui datum fuerit à Patre meo. Nemo venit ad me, nisi Pater, qui qui misit me, traxerit eum. Non dixit, Duxerit: sed traxerit eum. Ista violentia cordi fit; non carni. Quid ergo moraris? Crede & venis: Ama & traheris. Ne arbitreris istam asperam molestamque Violentiam: dulcis est; suavis est: ipsa Suavitas te trahit. Nonne Ovis trahitur, cum esurienti herba monstratur?— Sic & tu veni ad Christum: noli longa itinera meditari. Ubi credis, ibi venis. Ad illum enim qui ubique est, amando venit; non navigando. Augustinus.

Oratio Corporis Christi non separatur à Capite, quod in suscepta Membrorum Natura manet, & orare totam Ecclesiam facit.

Christus nobis Propitiatio factus: ergo in ipso omne pœnitentiæ Sacrificium ministratur & agitur—Ipsius est enim Pœnitentia: & propter hanc, ut nos salvaret, advenit.

Non casu & simpliciter hi fontes (videlicet aquæ & sanguinis) ex Latere Christi in Cruce pendentis scaturierunt: sed quoniam ex ambobus Ecclesia constituta est. Sciunt hoc initiati: per aquam enim regenerati; sanguine & carne nutriti. Hinc Mysteria ortum habent: ut, quoties ad admirandum Calicem accedis, tanquam ab ipso Latere hauriens accedas. Chrysost.

Ipse nos proprio sanguine pascit, & per omnia nos sibi coagmentat; unicuique fidelium semet ipsum per Mysterium commiscet, & quos genuit, per semet ipsum enutrit. Ut infantes labia Uberibus infigunt; ita nos ex Uberibus spiritualis Poculi trahimus Spiritus Sancti Gratiam. Idem.

Hoc accipite in pane, quod in Cruce pependit: & hoc accipite in Calice, quod effusum est de Christi Latere. Augustinus.

Quemadmodum, si quis igne liquefactam Ceram, alii ceræ similiter liquefactæ, ita miscuerit, ut unum quid ex utrisque factum videatur: Sic Communicatione Corporis Christi ipse in nobis est, & nos in ipso. Non poterat enim corruptibilis hæc Natura corporis ad Incorruptibilitatem & Vitam traduci, nisi naturalis Vitæ Corpus ei adjungeretur. Cyrillus Hieros.

Non sufficit ipsi hominem fieri, flagellis iterum cædi, sed nos secum in unam (ut ita dicam) Massam reducit: neque id fide solum, sed re ipsa nos corpus suum efficit. Qua igitur re mundiorum esse non oportet eum, qui hoc sacrificio participaturus est? &c. Os, quod igne impletur spirituali? Lingua, quæ cruentatur hoc admirabili Sanguine? Ea namque re nos alimur, quam Angeli videntes tremunt; neque absque pavore, propter fulgorem, qui inde resilit, aspicere possunt, & nos in unam cum illo Massam reducimur: Christi Corpus unum & una Caro, &c. Quis Pastor unquam membris suis oves suas nutrit? Chrysostomus.

Sancta Ecclesia, Mater & Virgo corpore casta, prole fecunda, Sponsa Christi declarata, pie nutrit filios, quos Deo Patri dignos assignare contendit. Augustinus.

Ecclesia Mater spiritualis est. Ecclesia Sponsa Christi est, Gratia ejus dealbata, precioso Sanguine dotata. Totum possidet quod à Viro suo accepit in dote. Idem.

Ut Ecclesiæ mederetur, Sanguinem Filius effudit propter Ecclesiam. Hic Sanguis irrigat Ecclesiam, & ideo plantaria ejus marcescere non possunt; nec amittunt folia Arbuta ejus. Non subjacet necessitati temporis; nec est Conditioni obnoxia, ut per æstatem coma foliorum tegatur, hieme amittat. Non tenetur Temporum Qualitate: Sed Spiritus eam Sancti Gratia gubernat: et ideo non senescit, nec contrahitur, & multis impugnantibus non opprimitur. Chrysostomus.

Ex Latere Christi nascitur Ecclesia, non secus ac ex Costa Adami Eva creatur. Sicut Deus de Latere dormientis Adæ Fœminam creavit Evam: Sic de Latere secundi Adami, i. e. Christi dormientis exiit Sanguis & Aqua.

In Gloria Christi recte vivit Ecclesia, ut pulchritudo ejus Honor sit Viro ejus. Est enim & sancta Ecclesia Domino Jesu Christo in occulto Uxor. Occulte quippe atque intus in abscondito Secreto Spiritualis Anima humana inhæret Verbo Dei, ut sint duo in carne una. Quod magnum Conjugii Sacramentum in Christo & in Ecclesia commendat Apostolus.

Ecclesia

Ecclesia in littore Maris inhabitat, ut videat aliorum Naufragia : ipsa immunis Periculi, expectat alios fluctuantes in freto istius mundi, qui circumferuntur omni Vento Doctrinae : Ipsa fidei radice immobilis perseverat.

Sancta Ecclesia in primitiis suis multitudine Gentium foecundata vix in fine mundi, Judæos quos invenerit, suscipit : & extrema colligens, eos quasi reliquias frugum ponit.

Domini Jesu Gloria fuit CELARE Verbum : quia Deo minor in carne apparuit, magis se Hominem quam FILIUM DEI confiteri voluit : ut Diabolus eum non cognosceret, & ita Passione sua genus humanum redimeret ; quoniam si eum Diabolus cognovisset, nunquam cruci fixisset.

* Filius DEI Virtus & Sapientia est Patris. Sapientia, quæ cuncta disposuit, Virtus, quæ cuncta creavit. — Qui hoc in se naturaliter habet esse, quod Pater est.

Pater, qui ante non cognoscebatur, per Eum in hominum notitiam venit, unde & Verbum Patris & Splendor dicitur : quia per Eum & voluntas Patris agnoscitur, & ipsa divinitatis essentia declaratur.

— Totus in Christo DEUS, & totus in DEO Christus. Nulla hic recipi disseparatio potest, nulla decisio. Una tantum est simplex, una tantum pia & sana confessio, adorare, amare, colere Christum DEUM.

Qui est ante secula, verbum significatur, coeternum Patri, ne ex tempore aliquo existisse videretur, qui secula creavit universa. — Desinat ergo illorum insania, Creatorem temporum prædicare sub tempore.

Quoniam fide ac dilectione Christo adhæreo, solum cum Patre & Spiritu sancto unum Deum videre concupisco.

Qui excessum quæsierit in forma DEI, non eum reperiet, nisi credat in formam servi, in qua se idcirco humiliavit, ut nos jacentes erigeret.

Utramque debemus in Christo Domino naturam agnoscere, ut nec adversus CREATOREM videamur superbi, nec beneficii nostri Salvatoris existimemur ingrati ; ne apud Salvatorem ipse sibi deneget, quam quærit, salutem, qui Creatoris de DEO Patre veram denegat Deitatem.

Quia totum hominem Deus ille suscepit, ideo totius hominis in se passiones in veritate monstravit. Et animam quidem rationalem habens, quicquid fuit infirmitatis animæ, (sine peccato) suscepit & pertulit : ut dum humanæ animæ passiones, in anima quam accepit, vinceret, nostras quoque animas ab infirmitatibus liberaret.

Quiescenti — de lateris membro surgens Ecclesia nupsit.

Opus Dei est animas, quas creavit, colligere, & ad æternæ lucis gaudia revocare. Flagellari autem atque sputis illiniri, crucifigi, mori atque sepeliri, non hoc in sua substantia opus DEI est, sed opus hominis peccatoris. Sed peccata nostra ipse pertulit in corpore suo super lignum.

Omnipotens DEUS, sicut ex nihilo bona facere potuit ; ita, cum voluit, per incarnationis suæ mysterium etiam perdita bona reparavit, &c.

Misertus ergo Creator, ut redimeret, illam ad se debuit reducere, quam in perpe- tratione culpæ ex infirmitate aliquid constat habuisse.

Quis vero Pater noster & Mater, nisi Mediator DEI & hominum, Homo Christus Jesus ? &c.

Redemptor noster, totius Conditor creaturæ, ad hoc propriatus humanam voluit carnem assumere, ut divinitatis suæ gratia, dirupto quo tenebamur captivi vinculo servitutis pristinae, nos restitueret libertati, &c.

Per Sanguinem Christi misericorditer educamur, qui per legis litteram severe prius constringebamur.

* Ex Seculo VI.

Fatendum est, DEUM natum ex Fœmina, non secundum divinitatem, sed secundum humanitatem. Deum in cunis jacuisse, pannosum, sordibus involutum, crevisse & profecisse ætate & sapientia, secundum humanitatem, non secundum divinitatem. Deum esurisse, sitisse, lassum ex itinere quievisse, non secundum divinitatem, sed secundum humanitatem. DEUM comprehensum manibus impiorum, judicatum, damnatum, crucifixum, latus lancea perforatum.

Rursus profitendum, Jesum Christum ante secula de Patre natum, Unum ex Trinitate, & per eum facta omnia visibilia & invisibilia, & sine ipso factum esse nihil.

Christus, quemadmodum secundum veram divinitatem DEUS Creator est hominum; ita secundum veram carnem Mediator est DEI & hominum.

Corpora nuda videre, & mutua cernere membra

Ille, qui potuit de luto hominem facere, idem potens est etiam lutulentum purgare, & valet innocentiam perditam restituere, qui sepultos & membra perditam, revocat ad salutem.

Semper præ oculis habete, sanctæ animæ! regem Salomonem, (pacificum nostrum qui Christus est), quemadmodum passionem sustinuit, ut genus humanum ab interitu liberaret.

Dignum fuerat ut per eum fieret remissio, per quem facta fuerat creatio: & ipse esset largitor gratiæ, qui fuerit omnibus Autor naturæ.

Gratis omnia sua Pietate concedit, nec cujusquam meritum exigit, ut possit proprio labore salvari. Quid enim meruit latro, ut sic velociter Paradisum introiret? Quid publicanus, qui repente de Templo absolutus exivit? Ipse dedit confessionis subitum votum, qui donavit & præmium. Constat ergo pro nihilo peccatores salvos fieri, quando certum est conversionem gratuita largitate concedi.

Non ergo in fletibus, non in actibus nostris, sed in Advocati nostri allegatione confidamus.

Traxit origo necem de semine, sed Pater orbis

Purgavit medicis crimina mortis aquis.

Ecclesia columba — habitat in foraminibus petrae, quia semper receptaculum habet in his, ex quibus sanata est, vulneribus Christi.

Soror Christi est ecclesia, de sanguine ejus reconciliata. Columba de Spiritu sancto immaculata baptismi sacramento. Bene autem ecclesia appellatur virgo, pulcherrima mulierum, quia de ea Paulus sic loquitur fidelibus: despondi vos uni viro, virginem castam exhibere Christo.

Tunc Christus universam sibi Ecclesiam despondit, quando in patibulum ascendit.

Domus ecclesiae sunt conventicula fidelium per totum orbem dispersa.

Mater nostra est regeneratrix Gratia, apud quam una columba colligitur, quia illos solos colligit, qui in simplicitate permanent, & ab unitate non scinduntur. Multi quippe fideles dum in id ipsum intendunt, dum uno desiderio Christi se invicem nutriunt, dum habentes cor unum & animam unam in caritate se uniunt, ex multis membris unum corpus efficiunt: omnesque in unitatis simplicitate & unitate viventes una columba existunt, quæ sola perfecta & electa genetrici suæ dicitur.

Christus cum tota sua Ecclesia, five quæ adhuc versatur in terris, five quæ cum eo jam regnat in coelis, una persona est. Et sicut est una anima, quæ diversa corporis membra vivificat; ita totam simul ecclesiam unus Spiritus sanctus vegetat & illustrat. Sicut namque Christus, qui est caput ecclesiæ, de Spiritu sancto conceptus est; sic sancta ecclesia, quæ corpus ejus est, eodem Spiritu sancto repletur ut vivat, ejus virtute firmatur, ut in unius fidei & caritatis compage subsistat.

Sancta ecclesia in filiis suis fide Christo ita conjungitur, spe suspenditur, caritate conglutinatur, ut nihil extra Christum diligat, ut eum sibi familiariter fide & amore inseparabilem teneat. Sancta ecclesia gratia genetrice nutritur, dum fide eruditur, carne sui sponsi pascitur, sanguine lavatur, scriptura divina saginatur, hujusmodi robusta nutrimentis dæmones expugnat, vitia suffocat, carnem domat, spiritum roborat, vitam expectat. Hoc Christus ecclesiæ sponsus visitando perfecit.

* Sciendum, quod mos est scripturæ, ut ubi unius fit mentio personæ de trinitate, tota simul trinitas intelligatur.

Filius utique omnium principium est.

Christus unus & solus Deus cum Patre & Spiritu sancto, regnans per omne seculum.

Christus dicitur principium, eo quod ab ipso sunt omnia & quia ante eum nihil est. Finis, vel quia dignatus est in fine seculorum humiliter in carne nasci & mori: vel quia quicquid agimus, ad illum referimus: & cum ad illum pervenerimus, ultrà quod quæramus non habemus.

Sicut Christus communicavit nostræ substantiæ, per assumptionem hominis: sic et nos participes ejus sumus per assumptionem corporis & sanguinis ejus.

Ipsa natura suscipienda erat, quæ liberanda; & ne quis forte sexus à suo Creatore se contemptum putaret, virum suscepit, natus ex fæmina est.

Christus Deus & homo, una persona est in trinitate.

Hic propheta & Dominus omnium prophetarum, Conditor utriusque testamenti, nec ab alio quam à se vult requiri veritatem aut sanitatem.

Nullum majus donum præstare poterat hominibus Deus, quàm quod Verbum suum, per quem omnia condidit, illis Caput faceret, & ipsos homines tanquam membra ei coaptaret: & cum Patre Deus esset, & cum hominibus homo: qui & orat pro nobis, & orat in nobis; & adoratur à nobis: orat pro nobis, quia sacerdos & victima est: orat in nobis, quia caput nostrum est. Nec hoc mirum, si sunt in una voce Christus & ecclesia sua, quia sunt in uno corpore. Oratur a nobis ut Deus noster, oratur in forma Dei, orat in forma servi.

Sicut homo pupillam oculi sui sedulo custodit, sic Domine Jesu Christe, amicum & dilectum tuum protegis, defendis & custodis, ne in peccatum labatur, neve a diabolo affligatur.

Christus est exemplum, Christus lex est: id est, Liber & Forma imitandi quæ fecit & docuit; vitandi, quæ ipse vitavit & prohibuit.

Quem-

Quemadmodum si quis per pulverem graditur, necesse est ut saltem pedes ejus inpulverentur, quos lavare necesse est, sic quisquis in hac vita, quæ pulverulentæ viæ comparatur, versatur, quantumcunque perfectus sit, non tamen penitus ab omni peccato immunis existit, & ideo saltem lavatione pedum indiget. Unde dictum est: qui totus est lotus, non indiget, nisi ut pedes lavet.

Nemo necessitate credit, sed voluntate.

Tacere veritatem non (semper) est peccatum, quod inde apparet, quia Christus, qui solus non peccavit, veritatem tacuit, cum dicit, Multa habeo, &c.

Ne credas, Verbum propter Te incarnatum tantum creaturam & non Creatorem esse: quod hoc nomen Christi in vanum sumere esset. Nam ut testatur Ecclesiastes: omnis creatura, quæ sub sole est, vanitas est. Conf. Job. X.

Dominus & salvator noster januam nobis salutis in dextro latere sui cordis voluit aperire: per cujus sacramenta abluti & sanctificati, altiorem regni coelestis aulam possumus intrare.

Christus eorum fidem fitit, pro quibus sanguinem fudit.

Quid est credere nisi, credendo amare, credendo diligere, credendo ad eum ire, & ejus membris incorporari?

Sicut ex latere Adam dormientis nata est Eva, ita ex latere Christi in cruce dormientis exierunt sacramenta, ex quibus constituta est ecclesia.

Tu es Deus meus; Tu creâsti me, per alium recreari nequeo, nisi per TE, per quem creatus sum. Creâsti me per Deum Verbum manens apud Te, recreas per Verbum carnem factum propter nos.

Corpus & sanguis Christi in stabilimentum animæ nostræ & corporis inconsumtum & incorruptum, non in secessum iens, sed in nostram substantiam & conservationem, omnimodi nocumenti reparatio, sordis omnis purgatio.

Hæreditas ecclesiæ est Christus, qui pascet eam in futuro, quando ipse erit omnia in omnibus; ipsa quoque ecclesia est hæreditas Christi, quia ipse excolit eam doctrina sua; & ipsa pascit eum bonis operibus suis, quibus ipse tanquam bono cibo delectatur.

Dormivit in cruce Christus, pungitur latus illius lancea, ut sacramentis, quæ inde fluunt formetur ecclesia.

Singulæ ecclesiæ ideo stellis comparantur, quia sicut stella differt a stella in claritate, ita diversæ in diversorum charismatum concessione. Alia enim prævalet in largitate, alia in castitate.

Christus est sponsus verus, sponsa vero sancta ecclesia ex omnibus congregata gentibus, de qua Apostolus ait: despondi vos uni viro virginem castam exhibere Christo.

Turturis fertur hæc esse natura, ut si jugalis sui fuerit solatio deserta, nulli ulterius alteri copuletur. Quod ecclesiæ castitati congruenter aptatur: quæ etsi Domini sponsi sui morte viduata est, tanta tamen ejus memoria, quem resurrexisse a mortuis, & in cœlis jam regnare novit, tenetur, ut nullatenus externorum possit recipere consortium, solo illius ad quem se quandoque perventuram sperat, amore contenta.

Unusquisque Evangelii prædicator ita debet in ecclesia laborare, ut defuncto Fratri, id est, Christo, suscitetur semen.

Venientium alii judicabunt, alii judicabuntur. Eorum qui judicabuntur, alii salvabuntur, alii non.

Nisi nobiscum Christus dormierit & in morte requieverit, calorem æternæ vitæ accipere non valemus.

Hæc est nostra civitas & patria, ad quam in seculi nascentis exordio à Deo Christo creati sumus.

Creatorem nostrum nunquam negabimus, neque ab ejus cultu avelli nos patiemur: Alium Deum præter Jesum Christum Dominum nostrum colere & adorare nescimus: quia Christiani sumus, pro ejus nomine mori cupimus.

Cujus morte & sanguine mundati, remissionem peccatorum consecuti sumus, resuscitandi ab eo, in ea qua resurrexit idem Dominus forma.

Natus a Deo sine matre, natus a virgine sine patre, solum verbum caro factum est, & habitavit in nobis. Ecclesiam Catholicam credimus, sine macula & ruga corpus ejus esse, regnumque habituram cum capite suo omnipotente, Christo Jesu, postquam hoc corruptibile induxerit incorruptionem, & mortale immortalitatem: ut sit Deus omnia in omnibus. Hæc fide corda purificantur, hac hæreses extirpantur, in hac omnis ecclesia in seculo præsentis, gloriatur. Et non alia fide est salus: nec enim nomen aliud est sub cælo datum hominibus, in quo oporteat nos salvos fieri.

Nullus habet potestatem emittendi spiritum, nisi qui animarum Conditor est. In Marc. c. 15.

De duabus naturis ita scribit Isidorus: ex utero virginis minor dicitur patre Christus, scilicet juxta humanam assumptionem, non juxta divinitatem. Christus & in forma servi, propter conceptionis excellentiam, Dominus est hominum, &c. Ipse æternus est ex patre, temporalis ex matre, &c. Ipse conditoris templum, ipse conditor templi: ipse autor operis, ipse opus auctoris, &c. Ideo Deus in homine venit, quia per se ipsum ab hominibus cognosci non potuit.

Ipse conditor omnium ac redemptor cum posset in suæ divinitatis majestate in sæculum veniendo mortales perterrere, humanitate magis inestimabili clementia humiliter ad nostra descendens, quos creavit dignatus est & redimere, qui & spontaneam de nobis veræ de se fidei confessionem expectat.

Considera quanta pro absolutione nostri & liberatione, Creator Dominusque noster pertulerit, quibusque contumeliis se afficiendum tradiderit, ut nos a vinculis potestatis diabolicæ liberaret.

In fabrica Christi, qui ædificantur de imis, levantur ad summa: in fabrica vero Diaboli, de summis ad ima præcipitantur.

In illo utique corpore veniet Christus, quod pro nostra salute susceptum, pro nostra absolutione natum, & pro nostrorum vulnerum medicinali lancea clavisque confixum est. Prima enim erit in reos in toleranda sententia venerandarum præsentia cicatricum, illa clavorum signa bonis salutaria, malis terribilia, quæ usque ad diem judicii non desuntur.

Quæ lex & prophetæ cecinerunt occulta fuerunt, sed per passionem Christi velum illud scissum est: & quæ fuerunt obscurata Judæis, Christianis revelata sunt.

Quantum coelum distat a terra, tantum nostra opinatio a natura illius separatur, & idcirco debent verba esse moderata. Sicut enim qui in multis cogitationibus est, ea somniat frequenter de quibus cogitat: ita qui plura voluerit de divinitate differere, incidit in stultitiam.

Noli dicere Aliud & Aliud, sed dic Alius & Alius: non Aliud in substantia, sed Alius in persona: non pater major, non filius minor in divinitatis gloria, sed crede dicenti UNUM Sumus. Ideo quod dixit ipsa veritas, Unum, liberat te ab Ario, quod dixit sumus, liberat te a Sabellio. Si unum, non ergo diversum: si sunt, non ergo solus.

Christus pro loco, vel tempore, vel causa, esca & potus ecclesiæ factus est, per corporis sui & sanguinis sacramentum.

Jam, ne nos de generatione Dei differamus quæstiones, cum Paulus judicaverit nihil se scire nisi Christum Jesum, & hunc crucifixum.

Petrus nihil amplius quam Christum Dei filium putaverit confitendum: nos & quando, & quomodo natus sit, & quantus sit, humanæ infirmitatis contemplatione rimamur. Finis fidei meæ Christus est, finis fidei meæ Dei filius est, non libet mihi scire generationis seriem, non licet tamen nescire generationis fidem.

Christus Deus noster dicitur secundum Creationem, quia Dei est Creare.

Christus vermis, quia & mortalis & de virgine sine virili commixtione natus, ut vermis de materia nascitur sine patre.

Christus de substantia virginis carnem assumpsit, quam assumendo purificavit.

Procedens Christus de thalamo suo, id est de virginali utero, qui recte dicitur thalamus, quia in illo humanitate assumpta, ecclesiam sibi tanquam sponsam sociavit.

Possidebat Diabolus genus humanum, & reos suppliciorum tenebat chirographo peccatorum. Dominabatur in cordibus infidelium: ad creaturam colendam deferendo creatorem, deceptos captivosque trahebat. Per Christi autem fidem, quæ morte ejus & resurrectione firmata est: per ejus sanguinem qui in remissionem fusus est peccatorum, millia credentium a dominatu diaboli liberantur, Christi corpori copulantur, & sub tanto Capite uno ejus spiritu fidelia membra vegetantur.

Seipsum medicum dicit, qui miro medicandi genere vulneratus est propter iniquitates nostras, & livore ejus sanati sumus. Sanos autem & justos appellat eos, qui ignorantes Dei justitiam & suam volentes constituere, justitiæ Dei non sunt subjecti: qui ex lege præsumentes, evangelii gratiam non quærunt. Porro male habentes & peccatores vocat eos, qui suæ fragilitatis conscientia devicti, nec per legem se justificari posse videntes, Christi gratiæ poenitendo colla submitunt.

Creator hominis peccatum per seipsum expiare voluit, & non per angelum, quia non sufficebat angeli meritum ad redemptionem totius generis humani: nec tantum sceleris incurrisset Diabolus in nece angeli, quantum incurrit in nece Creatoris.

Non quod ipse peccatum haberet: sed quod pro nobis peccatum factus est, ut nos a peccato liberaret: qui aliquando ex persona solius Capitis loquitur, quod est ipse salvator natus ex Maria virgine: aliquando ex persona corporis sui, quod est sancta ecclesia diffusa toto orbe terrarum.

(Pater Jesu Christi) misit filium unigenitum Deum, per quem creavit hominem, ut per eundem redimeretur per quem creatus est: qui carnem ex virgine assumens, ita humanæ naturæ adunatus est, ut idem esset homo, qui Deus est, & Deus qui homo, &c.

Væ quippe ei, qui cum corruerit, Christum in se non habet erigentem.

Diabolus Rex mundi fuit ante adventum Christi.

Mulier de latere viri dormientis ædificata legitur, & non de terræ plasmate sicut vir: certe mysterii causa significans, quod Christus propter ecclesiam in cruce dormivit, ex cujus latere——manavit.

Ex passione Christi processit ecclesiæ constitutio.

Filius suscitavit semetipsum.

Non propter semet ipsum vindicat Deus in peccatorem, quasi ulciscens injuriam suam: nihil enim tale recipit in se natura divina: sed ad utilitatem nostram facit omnia, pro utilitate nostra & correptiones ducit & poenas, non ut se vindicet, sed ut nos emendet.

De latere Christi in cruce per mortem sopiti, sacramenta salutis exierunt.

Tu Jesu Christe es causa efficiens & finalis amoris & dilectionis, ut occasionem habeas glorificandi nos: quia tu occasionem das, tu affectionem creas, tu desiderium consummas.

Non

Non ideo in peccatis concipiuntur homines, quia peccatum est misceri conjugibus. Opus hoc castum in conjugē non habet culpam, sed origo peccati secum trahit, quasi ex radice debitam poenam. Non enim maritus, quia maritus est, mortalis est. Erat enim & Dominus mortalis, sed non de peccato, suscepit poenam nostram, culpam non novit.

Quanta distantia est inter Moysen & Christum, tanta distantia est inter legem & Evangelium, & inter doctores legis & Evangelii.

Non tam facile me refecisti quam fecisti, nam semel dicendo me fecisti, sed reficiendo & dixisti multa, & gessisti mira, & pertulisti dura, nec tantum dura sed & indigna.

Eva designat Ecclesiam, sponsam Christi — de latere morientis Christi profluxit.

De latere Christi pendentis in cruce Ecclesia formata est, quando unus militum lancea latus ejus aperuit, & continuo exivit sanguis redemptionis & aqua baptismatis.

Christus est pupilla Ecclesiae suae: quia ille solus discernit suos a non suis.

Quamdiu non habemus perfectionem angeli, non habeamus praesumptionem diaboli.

In Abraham & aliis justis praecessoribus Christi, nunquam fuit originale peccatum prorsus deletum, nisi per sanguinem Christi.

* Sancta Scriptura, aliquando cibus, aliquando vero potus est. Quicquid exponitur ut intelligatur, quasi manditur ut glutitur. Apertiora & manifesta bibimus, quae etiam non exposita intelligere valemus.

Pro Judaicis omnibus, nova nobis facta sunt omnia: pro lege, Evangelium, pro Hierosolymis, coelum: pro templo, interior cortina, in qua sacrosancta Trinitas residet: pro circumcisione, baptisma: pro manna, corpus Dei: pro aqua, Sanguis Domini; pro virga Moysae vel Aaronis, crux: pro agno, filius Dei, omniaque alia ad eandem rationem.

Omnia per ipsum facta sunt, &c. Si te offenderit per, & quæris invenire in scriptura sermonem quendam qui dicat, quod Verbum ipsum fecerit omnia, audi David: principio tu Domine terram fundasti, & opera manuum tuarum sunt coeli. Vides quomodo non dixit: quia per te facti sunt coeli & fundata est terra: sed TU fundasti, & opera manuum tuarum sunt coeli. Qui & hæc de unigenito, & non de patre dicit.

Privatam mulieris institutionem omnino divus Apostolus recipit & permittit. Sic Prisca Apollinem instituit. Theophylactus.

Quam magnum & admirabile: Deum hominem fieri, creatorem creaturam: vitam angelorum, ne fame moriatur lacte nutrirī: eum qui orbem portat, puellæ manibus bajulari, Dei virtutem, humana imbecillitate lassari: ex quo & per quem omnia vivunt, occidi.

Sicut protoplastus in paradiso, quasi flos emicuit in primo seculo: sic filius Dei nova lux, nostro natus apparuit seculo, ut filios Dei dispersos congregaret in unum.

Christi regis nostri opprobria sacramenta nostra sunt.

Soporato Adæ costa detrahitur, mulierque formatur: passo Christo in cruce, Ecclesia nascitur.

Mors, unde mortem totius humani generis traxit defectus, mortua est, quando in ligno mortua vita fuit.

Pontifex noster Christus Dominus, in se quidem non peccavit, sed pro eis quos sibi compaginavit peccatum factum fuit, Rom. viii. Horum peccatum nec ipse unquam ignoravit, qui omnia prænoscit antequam fiant: nec donec ipsi qui per ignorantiam peccaverant, peccatum suum agnoscerent, hostiæ suæ oblationem distulit.

Quisquis lepra spiritali fuerit obsessus, si sanari desiderat, sine Christi sanguine nec veniam consequi, nec a peccatis suis poterit purificari.

In passione dominica, perpetua & certa credentibus lætitia reposita est.

Non ceu imbecillis passus est, sed voluntarius, qui in crucem etiam sublatus propriam ostendit potentiam solem obscurans, terram concutiens, monumenta aperiens.

Recte ac pulcre Christus illam imaginem, quam Adam perdiderat, quamque per divinam insufflationem acceperat, renovans, sacris suis tradidit Apostolis, perque ipsos cunctis credentibus.

Præstat cum patre, quod postularat a patre, quia Mediator est & Creator. Mediator ut poscat : Creator ut tribuat.

Si quid novit pater, non sine filio novit ; ipse enim est sapientia ejus : si quid potest pater, non sine filio potest ; ipse enim est ejus potentia. Non igitur inferior filius patre.

Sane Latini male hæc exponentes, & minus recte intelligentes, dicunt quod spiritus etiam ex filio procedat. Nos autem hoc primum quidem dicimus ad eos, quod aliud sit esse ex quopiam, & aliud esse cujusdam ; ut spiritus est quidem spiritus filii absque dubio, & ab omni scriptura approbatum : cæterum esse ex filio, nulla scriptura testatur, ut ne duo principia spiritus introducamus, patrem & filium. Theophyl. in Joan.

Logos in patre cum patre, Deus in Deo sine tempore & loco, omnia localia, cuncta temporalia absque sui mutabilitate vel defectu procreata ordinavit, suisque singula generibus & speciebus ad effectum suæ conditionis & proprietatis distinxit : & per verbum (ditionem) non transitorium vel commune nobis, sed æternum, ad voluntatem & effectum gratiæ creatricis, ut placuit, cuncta perduxit.

Prima hominis conditio, quia primus homo non est natus, sed factus. Secunda delatere viri, Tertia ex viro & foemina, quarta, Dei & hominis, sine viro de foemina. Jam erat una, sine viro & foemina ; altera de viro sine foemina ; tertia de viro & foemina, restabat quarta, sine viro de foemina. Sed ista quarta liberavit tres ; factus sub lege, ut eos qui sub lege erant redimeret. Ipse enim sub lege tamdiu fuit, donec baptizatus, novi Testamenti inceperit Evangelion prædicare.

Anima hominis est instar citharoedi, membra vero ut cithara. Male namque & inepte pulsante citharoedo, male habet quoque cithara.

Anima pulcra sane a Deo condita est, gratiosa, blanda, jucunda, inspirationis gratiam accipiens : fit autem meretrix quando a voluntate incantata fuerit, effascinataque ut a vero bono deficiat usque adeo, ut vel aliis ducatum præstet in veneficiis voluptatum.

Dominus homini varias dedit leges : unam, in paradiso : secundam, tempore Noe : tertiam, sub Abraham, nempe circumcisionem. Quartam, per Moysen : quintam, per prophetas. Omnes igitur illæ leges si conferantur cum Evangelii evidentia & virtute, sunt quid ? Con. Theophyl. in Job. 2.

Testimonium Jesu est, quod testificati sunt prophetæ, imo spiritus sanctus per prophetas de Christi & Ecclesiæ sacramentis. Hinc est illud primi prophetantis testimonium : relinquet homo patrem & matrem suam, & adhærebit uxori suæ : & erunt duo in carne una. Quod Apostolus exponens : magnum est hoc sacramentum, ego autem dico in Christo & Ecclesia.

Lex est plantatio Dei, non igitur illa eradicata est. Manet enim radix ejus spiritus qui in occulto est. Folia autem, hoc est apparens littera defluunt. Legem enim, ultra, non juxta litteram, sed juxta spiritum intelligimus. In Ep. Pauli ad Titum, c. 2.

Falsus etiam testis est, qui non eodem dicta sensu intelligit, quo dicuntur.

Lex atramento scribebatur, Evangelium autem in vobis per spiritum scriptum est. Quanto intervallo spiritus ab atramento distat, & cor a lapide, tantum & novum testamentum a lege discrepat.

Perfecta scientia est & consummata justitia, eum nosse illique per caritatem & passionis suæ jugem memoriam adhærere, in quo & habitat omnis plenitudo divinitatis corporaliter, & in quo sunt omnes thesauri sapientiæ & scientiæ Dei absconditi.

Sicut mulier illa fluxum sanguinis sustinens fimbria vestimenti ejus sanata est, sic ecclesia per passionis sacræ memoriam, quæ a præsentia Christi corporali usque ad nos demissa est, salutem consequitur perpetuam. Radulphus.

Hebr. non ideo tantum vocamur, quia credimus : sed quia credita sunt nobis de Deo arcana, quæ ne angeli quidem norunt.

Lex quidem voluit justificare hominem, non potuit autem præstare : fides autem illud perfecit. Haud igitur destruit legem fides, sed statuit potius. Per hoc statuendi vocabulum ostendit jacere legem. Nam qui jacet, opus habet erectore, qui ipsum statuat, erigatque in pedes.

Omnis anima si contigerit vestem, hoc est, incarnationem Jesu, & crediderit, quod incarnatus sit filius Dei, sanctificabitur.

Per fidem historię tam veteris quam novi Testamenti intramus templum Dei, & incorporamur populo Dei. Radulph. l. 10. c. 1.

Fides recta ex scripturis est. Ejus gratia inquit: qui credit in me, sicut scriptura dicit: hoc est, quemadmodum testatur de me scriptura, quod filius sum Dei, quod Creator, quod Dominus universi, &c.

Conditus es in Christo Jesu, & nova creatura factus es in Christo Jesu, defuncto veteri homine in baptismo. Quemadmodum principio cum non esses, produxit te ut esses, sic etiamnum ut bene esses, te protulit.

Quicquid sapientię, quicquid boni habemus, in obsequium Creatoris totum exhibere debemus. Nos enim omnes de plenitudine ejus accepimus.

Hoc, quod in calice est, illud est, quod ex latere effluxit Christi, sanguis nimirum pretiosus. Ex eo accipientes communicamus: hoc est, unimur Christo.

Electorum ecclesiam idcirco divinum eloquium mulierem appellat, quia ab sponso cœlesti tanquam sponsa annulo fidei subarrhatur: hæc enim est illa sponsa, cui à Domino per prophetam dicitur, Desponsavi te mihi in iustitia. Et cujus membra Paulus alloquitur, dicens: despondi vos uni viro, virginem castam exhibere Christo.

Omnem ergo ecclesiam sacerdotium sanctum appellat, quod sola domus Aaron in lege nomen & officium habuit: quia nimirum omnes summi sacerdotis membra sumus, cuncti oleo lætitię signamur, universis congruit quod subdit.

Adam dicitur similitudo Christi: quia sicut Adam à Deo solus constitutus est, ut ab eo procrearentur alii, & sicut de latere dormientis procreata est mulier: sic Christus a Deo patre solus est omnium spiritualium parens constitutus, & sanguis & aqua e latere fluens ecclesiam GENERAVIT & consecravit.

Quemadmodum sensibilis spiritus à cerebro in totum corpus per nervos diffunditur, hunc ad modum ecclesię corpus à Christo suppeditatur. Theophyl.

Quod ostium arcę fit ex latere, significat, quod nemo intret in ecclesiam, nisi per sacramentum remissionis peccatorum, quod de latere aperto Christi manavit.

In mundo, post nuptias [sponsalia etiam] non porro virgines manent: in ecclesia autem, qui antehac virgines non fuerunt, post nuptias hæc, virgines efficiuntur. Præsens itaque tempus desponsationis est: futurum autem nuptiarum erit, cum clamor auditus fuerit: ecce sponsus.

Apertum est templum DEI, ideo quod Mediatorem nostrum legimus lancea perforatum, & visa in templo arca testimonii, sanguinis & aquę testamenta quibus ædificatur Ecclesia; sicut enim ex costa Adę dormientis formata est mulier, sic è latere Christi pendentis in cruce fabricata est Ecclesia.

Maritus principem & præcipuum locum in conjugio obtinet; caput enim est, & servator: uxor vero subjungatur atque obediat, corpus enim est. Quemadmodum Christus Ecclesię caput ejus curam gerit, eamque servat: sic & maritus servator sui est corporis, hoc est uxoris.

Dilige uxorem. Quali mensura? qua & Christus ecclesiam. Gere curam ipsius, quemadmodum & Christus ecclesię: ac si quid te oporteat pati, vel mori pro ipsa, ne recuses: jam enim copulatus ipsi hæc facies. Quemadmodum autem Christus odientem se adulteram, & averfantem sese adduxit non minis, neque contumeliis, hunc ad modum, si ipse averfantem te conspexeris conjugem tuam, atque lugentem, multa dilectione ac providentia attrahere ad te festina. Et si quicquam patiaris pro ipsa, nec objicias, neque conviciaris ei. Neque enim Christus Ecclesię objecit quidquam.

Pretiosa res est matrimonium seu nuptiæ.

Ex omnibus quę ad remedium hominis instituta sunt, solum conjugii ante peccatum hominis legitur institutum, non tamen propter peccatum, sed ad sacramentum solum & ad officium; ad sacramentum propter eruditionem: ad officium, propter exercitationem.

Vita carnis, (corporis) anima: vita animæ Deus est. Mors corporis, amittere animam: mors animæ, amittere Deum. Unde constat quod in anima mortui omnes in hac luce nascimur, cimur, trahente ex Adam originale peccatum : sed Christi gratia fidelibus regenerando datur, ut in anima vivere possint.

Veniet ad iudicium cum senioribus populi sui. Alii iudicabuntur, qui iterum in duas partes dividuntur. Alii ad dextram statuentur, alii ad sinistram.

Pagina vitæ quasi favus est, simplex quidem in verbis, dulcis in mysteriis. Mundi philosophia pomposa, verborum apparatu veritatis thesauro privatur.

Nullus tam perfectus est, qui in novo Testamento non inveniat, unde semper proficere possit, quam diu vivit.

In veteri testamento dedit Deus tantum figuræ umbram, in novo veritatem cum figura : in futuro dabit veritatem non cum figura, sed manifestam. Vetus Testamentum veritatem promisit, non dedit : novum dedit, sed non ostendit. Quid nisi ut eadem veritas in alia vita manifestetur?

Perspicuum est, Apostolos interpretatione veterum scripturarum sensum quæsisse, non verba.

Fides Christi, est fundamentum, ex quo surgit totum bene vivendi ædificium. Neque enim fides hæc intelligenda est otiosa.

Sicut quædam res, cum non videantur, per odorem tamen agnoscuntur : ita & Deus, qui invisibilis est, per Evangelicam prædicationem voluit agnosci, quæ invisibiliter—sicut odor ad nares pervenit.

Nec pater nec magister vocandus est alius, nisi Deus pater & Dominus noster Jesus Christus.

Jesus Christus speculum humilitatis & mansuetudinis, universæ creaturæ factor, tremendus iudex vivorum atque mortuorum.

Filius Dei secundum divinitatem quidem, in qua fratres non habet, dicitur unigenitus, sed secundum humanitatem, in qua fratres habere dignatus est, appellatur primogenitus. In qua humanitate eum adorare monentur angeli : quia in divinitate ut adorent eum non indigebant admonitione.

In coelestis regni thalamo ipse Christus sponsus & Dominus noster, cum patre & spiritu sancto, unus Deus vivit & regnat in sæcula sæculorum.

Benedictus Deus & pater Domini. Qui Christum secundum humanitatem creavit, & secundum Divinitatem genuit. Atque ita est Deus & pater ejus.

Notandum est, quod alio modo natus est Christus de Maria, alio modo de spiritu sancto.

Quia genus humanum, ut pretiosum opus ejus, omnino perierat : nec decebat, ut quod Deus de homine proposuerat, penitus annihilaretur : nec idem ejus propositum ad effectum duci poterat, nisi genus humanum ab ipso Creatore liberaretur, &c.

Soli Deo notum erat, quod Unigenitus patris humanitatem pro humana salute esset assumpturus. Nam & factò jam mundo tacitum est hoc mysterium.

Et agere ministerium pontificis, & ostendere patri cicatrices vulnerum suæ passionis, Christi est.—Et quantum pro nostra salute laboravit, perpetualiter repræsentare.

Qua hora sanguis redemptionis exivit de latere Domini in cruce pendentis, remissum est peccatum Adæ humano generi, & pacificata sunt coelestia & terrestria : morte Christi tanta pax inter homines & angelos effecta est, ut nunc animæ justorum cum de corporibus exeunt, mox penetrent coelos, gaudentibus angelis.

O fortitudo abscondita : hominem in cruce pendentem suspendere mortem æternam genus humanum prementem : hominem in ligno suffixum, defigere mundum perpetuæ morti affixum. O celata potestas : hominem damnatum cum latronibus, salvare homines damnatos cum dæmonibus : hominem in patibulo extensum, omnia trahere ad se ipsum : O Virtus occulta : unam animam emissam in tormento, innumerabiles extrahere de inferno : hominem mortem corporis suscipere, & mortem animarum perimere.

Non pro angelis mortuus est Christus, sed ideo etiam pro angelis fit, quicquid per ejus mortem redimitur & liberatur a malo : ex ipsa hominum redemptione, ruinæ illius angelicæ damna reparantur. Et sic instaurantur coelestia & terrena.

Dicitur

Dicitur ignis, Deus noster ignis consumens est. Consumit sine dubio non substantias, quas ipse fecit, sed accidentem malitiam, vel quicquid illud est, quod facturæ suæ extrinsecus adhæret indignum.

Sicut videtis hunc flatum, quasi diceret, sicut sensibilibus insensibilia, de intimo corporis mei, & de persona mea procedere: ita scitote, deitatis sanctum, quem vobis per hunc flatum significo, de secreto spiritum meæ, & de mea persona procedere.

Unum filium sibi consubstantialem, coæternum, omnipotentem, ex sua natura sine initio Deus Pater genuit: & per eum omnes creaturas visibiles & invisibiles ex nihilo fecit.

Duas ad intelligendum se creaturas Christus fecerat, angelicam scilicet & humanam. Utramque vero superbia perculit, sed una tegumentum carnis habuit, alia vero nihil infirmum de carne gustavit. Misertus ergo Creator illam ad se debuit reducere, quam in perpetracione culpæ ex infirmitate aliquid constat habuisse.

Ubi non est gratia liberatoris, auget peccandi desiderium prohibitio peccatorum. Lex dum concupiscentiam prohibet, quodammodo eam inflamat.

Vita, quam salvator gessit in carne, non minus quam prædicatio, evangelium nobis est, & proposita tenenda linea disciplinæ. Sicut ipse ergo cuncta mundi furentis obstacula, non per distincti examinis ultionem, sed per invictam superavit inconfusæ patientiæ majestatem: ita nos mundi rabiem potius æquanimiter ferre decet, quam vel arma arripere, vel lædendo læsionibus respondere: præsertim cum inter regnum & sacerdotium propria cujusque distinguantur officia.

Præceptum servis imponitur, fides ab amicis quæritur.

Lex Moysis est spiritualis, sed non vitæ: quia non vivificat, dimissis peccatis. Lex, quæ ostendit peccata, non tollit. Lex autem spiritus lex est fidei, quæ tollit peccatum & liberat a lege membrorum.

Sanctificationem nec potest facere nisi Deus, nec debet nisi homo.

Magna & inenarrabilis dilectio, ut unicus filius Dei, semetipsum pro nobis traderet morti, Dominus pro servis, Creator pro creatura.

Non poterat animus hominis a peccati morbo sanari, nisi medicamentum ei fieret mors ipsius medici.

Gratia est, qua nullo merito nulloque opere salvamur.

Fides qua veraciter credimus id quod videre non possumus.

Fides est, quod non vides credere: veritas, quod credidisti videre. Fides ducit ad veritatem.

Sic in Evangelio Johannis invenitur; quotquot autem receperunt eum, dedit eis potestatem filios Dei fieri, qui credunt in nomine ejus.

Omnia vitia carnis & spiritus mortificat crux Christi, ut vivere faciat in virtutibus: hæc & alia multa discuntur in Christo crucifixo.

Quemadmodum manus & pedes Christi affixi, ut in nullam partem moveri possent: ita manus et pedes nostri debent imitatione mortis ejus ligari, ut non possint ad peccatum moveri.

Finis dicitur ipse Christus, quia quicquid agimus, ad illum referimus: & cum ad eum pervenimus, non habebimus ultra, quod quæramus, sed ibi permanebimus.

Nullus fidelium in aliquo bono potest crescere, nisi adhæreat capiti, Christo: sicut & in humano corpore, cum membrum aliquod a capite suo abscinditur, jam non crescit, sed marcescit.

Etiam illud, quod bonum est, si putetur esse malum, & tunc fiat, peccatum est. Ubi deest agnitio æternæ & incommutabilis veritatis, falsa virtus est, etiam in optimis moribus.

Si homo mille annis serviret Deo, etiam ferventissime, non mereretur ex condigno dimidiam diem esse in regno cœlorum.

O Salvator meus! O Deus meus! veniat, veniat oro tempus, ut, quod nunc credo revelatis tandem oculis aspiciam: quod nunc spero & à longe saluto, apprehendam: quod nunc pro viribus meis desidero, ulnis animæ meæ amplecter & osculer, & in amoris tui abyssus totus absorbear.

Jesu, propter temetipsum esto mihi Jesus: qui me creasti non perimas: qui me redemisti, non me condemnes: qui me creasti tua bonitate, ne perdat opus tuum mea

mea iniquitas, Recognosce benignissime quod tuum est, absterge quod alienum est, &c. Creator meus, evelle a me animi rancorem & largire mihi mentis dulcedinem.

Discipulorum pedes lavit Dominus, in sacramentum poenitentiae & remissionis: hoc sacramento designans, terreno pulvere etiam religiosa corda fordescere: & neminem esse mortaliū, qui non egeat poenitentia, & peccatorum indulgentia.

Sciendum, quod sacramentum & mysterium in hoc differunt, quia sacramentum signum est, visibile aliquid significans: mysterium vero, aliquid occultum ab eo significatum. Alterum tamen pro altero ponunt.

Inusitato & stupendo miraculo, postquam spiritum emisit, de latere Christi sanguis & aqua contra naturam manavit, ut regenerationis & redemptionis opus signaret.

Non est sine magno gratiae privilegio, quod Deus humani corporis dignatur diversorio: nec tantum ad hospitandum, ut in templo suo, sed ad incorporandum sibi ut membrum capiti suo.

Participatio calicis & panis Dominici facit, ut anima nostra & corpus tandem conformetur animae & corpori Christi secundum receptionem ejusdem beatitudinis, &c.

Sicut enim, ut sit species visibilis Panis, multa grana in unum consperguntur, tanquam illud fiat quod de fidelibus ait scriptura: erat illis cor unum & anima una.

Qui de illo accipiunt, de corpore Domini accipiunt, atque fiunt etiam ipsi quod accipiunt. Quoniam vera carnis substantia, quae in Christo est, in nos transit. Quemadmodum sacrificium illud idem quod erat in altari, transibat in eos, qui comedebant de illo, &c.

Ille qui quondam de primi dormientis hominis latere costam perduxit, & in mulierem aedificavit, ipse in cruce mortis acerbitate sopitus, de sacratissimo latere sanguinem & aquam produxit, ut te praemortuum tanti mysterii dono vivificaret, aeternoque conjunctionis foedere mundando sibi sociaret.

Deus ineruditos liberalibus disciplinis, & omnino (quantum ad seculi doctrinas pertinet) impolitos, non peritos grammaticae, non armatos Dialectica piscatores, fecit suos praedicatores: ut videlicet cunctis in eis ostenderet, quod ad vitam credentes populos, non sermo, sed causa persuaderet.

In cavernis petrae nidificant, id est, in plagis mortis Christi, qui firma petra est, nidum ponunt: per nidum quippe refugium & spes designatur.

Ille, qui nos creavit & redemit & vocavit, per fidem & spiritum sanctum habitat in nobis.

Johannes Evangelista ultra humanum modum ex sapientiae fonte inebriatus, illud divini verbi arcanum retro cunctis hujus mundi sapientibus absconditum eructavit, dicens, In principio erat Verbum, & reliqua.

Ecclesia semper habet inimicos, & quos ferat foris, & quos gemat intus: foris facilius evitabiles, intus difficilius tolerabiles. Sunt enim falsi fratres, sunt mali filii, qui contra nos blasphemant Christum, sed nobiscum adorant Christum: & in nobis persequuntur Christum, sicut Absolon patrem suum. De his est timor in ecclesia, ne ceteros ad imitationem sui pertrahant. Valde enim periculosum est infirmis, habitare cum talibus.

Providendum est, ne ex bonis nostris fiat hominibus scandalum, sed bonum exemplum. Sunt enim nonnulli, qui non curant, quicquid dicatur de eis, dummodo ipsi intentionem bonam habeant. Sed qui salutem proximi negligit, crudelis existit.

In magnam spem justis ex peccatoribus, in passione Christi, eadem die latro, eadem die justus, eadem die cum Christo in Paradisum est assumptus praeter omnibus justis primus: ut non solum constaret, eadem die Paradisi januam hominibus reseatam: sed & constaret, Dei gratiam non articulo temporis adstringi, non peccatorum quantitate vinci, cui ad aeternae vitae praemia statim conferenda suffecit vix unius horae spatium post tot flagitia. Quis ergo dubitat, Christi passionem vere omnium peccatorum esse remedium, quae tam sero, tam cito, quasi omnium peccatorum primitias justificavit & salvavit sceleratissimum?

* Nocuit nobis vetus Adam: sed plus profuit novus. Amplius nobis contulit hujus humilitas; quam superbia illius nobis abstulerit. Nam, Paulo Apostolo teste: non sicut delictum, ita & donum. — Quem prius habuimus terribilem Deum & judicem; nunc habemus humilem fratrem & proximum.

Alium siquidem redemptionis modum poterat Dominus procurasse: sed nullus suæ benignitati, nostræque saluti congruentior apparebat. Cum enim homo, juxta suæ prævaricationis exigentiam, captus à Diabolo teneretur: postulabat justitia, ut non eriperetur per violentiam; sed, qui per superbiam lapsus est, suâ, si posset; sed si sua non poterat, aliena saltem humilitate resurgeret.

Dedit itaque materiam diligendi se; qui in suis dilectionibus nos prævenit, nec aliud à nobis exigit, nisi ut ipsum diligamus ex corde.

In cordibus quorundam, qui adhuc hæsitabant in fide, ostensione vulnerum, vulnus dubitationis amovit.

In eo, quod pater misericordiarum dicitur Deus; quis non videat, velut proprio nomine, Filium designari? Et bene dicitur pater misericordiarum; cui proprium est misereri semper, & parcere.

Beatam & immortalem Trinitatem, quæ per Jesum Christum Apostolis perspicue, ut possibile erat, innotuit, gentium Philosophi, sub ænigmatibus valde caliginosis abscondendo, publicabant.

Pater diligit Filium, & singulari dilectione amplectitur, summus æqualem, æternus coæternus, unus unicum. Sed enim non minori ipse à Filio affectione adstringitur: quippe pro cujus amore & moritur; ipso attestante, cum ait: Ut sciant omnes, quia diligo Patrem; surgite, eamus: haud dubium, quin ad passionem.

Nomen Dei est Filius: quia, sicut per nomen homo cognoscitur; sic Pater per Filium in Mundo cognoscitur.

Nolo vos, non credo vos tam stulte, tam insensate desipere; ut æternam Deitatis generationem, carnali generationi aliqua vel tenui similitudine, comparare nitamini.

Ego licet pulvis & cinis, fretus Scripturæ autoritate minime dicere verear; quod unus cum Deo Spiritus sum: si unquam tamen certis fuero persuasus experimentis, Deo me adhærere, instar unius illorum, qui in charitate manent, ac per hoc in Deo manent, & Deus in eis; manducantes Deum, & manducati à Deo †. Nam de tali adhæfione puto dictum: Qui adhæret Deo, unus Spiritus est.

Ecclesia canit: in Patre totus Filius, & totus in Verbo Pater. Est Pater in Filio, in quo sibi semper bene complacuit: & est Filius in Patre, à quo ut nunquam non natus; ita nunquam est separatus.

Deus incorrupta viscera Virginis non abhorruit.

Rex atque Imperator hujus regni Dei, ex carne quidem natus est; sed non de carne solâ. Nam de Spiritu Sancto ex carne virginea conceptus & natus est.

Ut probaretur verum corpus habere: suscepit defectus corporis; famem, sitim, & hujusmodi. Et ut veram animam probaretur habere: suscepit defectus animæ; scilicet tristitiam, timorem, dolorem, & hujusmodi.

Suscepit nostram vetustatem; ut suam nobis infunderet novitatem. Omnes ergo defectus nostros suscepit Christus, præter peccatum.

Veros habuit defectus, sicut & nos: sed non eadem ex causa. Nos enim ex peccato originali hos defectus contrahimus: Christus autem ex sola miserationis voluntate, de nostro in se transtulit veram infirmitatem.

Erraveramus ab utero; in utero damnati, antequam nati: quia de peccato, & in peccato concepti. Christus ergo ibi primam medicinam apposuit, ubi primus vulnere patebat locus: & substantialiter utero Virginis illapsus, de Spiritu Sancto conceptus est; ut conceptionem nostram mundaret, quam Spiritus malus infecerat. Ut non esset etiam in utero vita ipsius otiosa; dum novem mensibus purgat vulnus antiquum; scrutans usque ad imum putredinem virulentam; ut sanitas sempiterna succederet.

Ego hanc arbitror præcipuam invisibili Deo fuisse causam, quod voluit in carne videri, et cum hominibus homo conversari: ut carnalium videlicet, qui nisi carnaliter amare non poterant, cunctas primò ad suæ carnis salutarem amorem affectiones retraheret.

* Ex Seculo XII. † Apoc. iii. Isai. liii.

Dominus cum esset in una eademque majestate cum Patre Deus, inclinavit cœlos, & descendit; & formam servi accepit: pauperem fabrum patrem putativum elegit: de utero Virginis pauperculæ, & in diversorio natus; pannis involutus; præsepiolo collocatus; pastoribus & humilibus manifestatus.

Habemus Christum ex Patre nascentem, in Patre cubantem, cum Patre sedentem, à Patre ambulantem, pro Patre stantem, sub Patre pendentem, sine Patre quodammodo morientem.

Christus est Pater futuri sæculi, Pater scilicet in regeneratione corporum nostrorum.

Iustis non est lex posita. Sed sciendum est quod alia lex est promulgata à Spiritu servitutis in timore, alia à Spiritu libertatis data in suavitate. Tollite, ait, jugum meum super vos. Ac si diceret: non impono invitis; sed vos tollite, si vultis.

De remissione peccatorum validissimum teneo argumentum, dominicam passionem. Dicit aliquis: Non valuit opus suum reparare Creator, absque ista difficultate? Valuit; sed maluit cum injuria sui: quo multæ dilectionis hominem debitorem teneret.—Memento jam te, etsi de nihilo factum; non tamen de nihilo redemptum. Sex diebus condidit omnia; & te inter omnia. At vero per totos triginta annos operatus est salutem tuam, &c.

Deus Pater non habuit, nisi unum filium: noluit eum habere hæredem solum: misit eum pro transfugo servo in exilium; ut ei reverso, cum Filio daret regni palatium.

Duo sunt, quæ timet humana fragilitas, pudor & dolor. Utrumque Christus tollere venit: unde et utrumque suscepit; quando (ut cætera fileam) morte, & morte turpissima, condemnatus est ab iniquis.——Cujus vel saxeum pectus tanta & talis à tanto & tali collata beneficiorum multitudo non emolliat? Quicquid igitur es, quicquid potes; debes creanti, redimenti, vocanti. Vis scire, quæ & quibus debeas? Christo Jesu omnem debes vitam tuam; quia ipse vitam suam posuit pro vita tua.——

Olim, cum non esses (anima) dilexit te (sponsus tuus) ut pulchram faceret: et ut ostenderet tibi, quantum te diligeret; non nisi moriendo à morte te liberare voluit.

Creator angelorum & hominum semetipsum exinanivit, minoratus paulo minus ab angelis; & in forma servi; cinctus est labore & angustia passionis: ut nos in sanguine suo lavaret à peccatis nostris.

Tu si desideras videre sublimem, humilem prius Jesum videre curato. Intuere prius exaltatum in deserto Serpentem; si videre desideras Regem in folio residentem.

Est Spiritus indissolubile vinculum Trinitatis. Si pater osculans, Filius osculatus accipitur; non erit alienum, osculum Spiritum Sanctum intelligi; utpote qui Patris Filiique imperturbabilis pax sit, gluten firmum, individuus amor, indivisibilis unitas. Idem.

Sicut alia membra corporis aliis admovemus, ut manum ori, sine ardore libidinis: ita genitalibus uteremur membris, sine aliquo pruritu carnis. Hæc enim lethalis ægrotudo, membris humanis ex peccato inhæsit.

Exemplo illius, quæ sursum est mater nostra, hæc quoque quæ adhuc peregrinatur, habet cœlos suos; homines spirituales fide puros, spe firmos, lætos caritate, contemplatione suspensos.

Verumtamen, ut jam non sit, quod causeris, ô homo; contra inobedientiam Adæ datur tibi obedientia Christi: ut, si gratis venundatus es, gratis & redimaris: si nesciens in Adam periisti, nesciens vivificeris in Christo. Nescisti, quando ad lignum vetitum vetus Adam tetendit manus noxias: nescisti nihilominus, quando de ligno salutifero innoxias manus Christus extendit. A primo homine in te manavit macula, qua inquinatus es: à Christi latere aqua, qua mundatus es.

Non

Non horruisti confitentem latronem; non lacrymantem Peccatricem; non Chananaeam supplicantem; non deprehensam in adulterio; non sedentem in telonio; non supplicantem Publicanum; non negantem Discipulum; non persecutorem discipulorum, non ipsos crucifixores tuos. In odore horum currimus, &c.

Ego fidenter, quod ex me mihi deest, usurpo mihi ex visceribus Domini: quoniam misericordia affluunt; nec desunt foramina, per quæ effluant.

Quid est in Deum credere, nisi Deum, non propter sua, sed propter seipsum diligere? Credere in Dei Filium, est opus sine labore, jugum sine asperitate, onus sine gravitate.

Quæris, quænam sit vivida & victoriosa fides? Illa sine dubio, per quam Christus habitat in cordibus nostris. Christus enim & virtus est, & vita nostra.

Fidelis est, qui nec sibi credit, nec in se sperat, factus sibi tanquam vas perditum, ut deferens semetipsum ascendat jam de deserto, innixa super dilectum, atque ideo deliciis affluens.

Fides vera nunquam sine charitate, & charitas vera nunquam sine fide est.

Seio cui credidi; & certus sum, quia in Charitate nimia adoptavit me; quia verax in promissione; quia potens in exhibitione.

Origo fontium & fluminum omnium mare est; virtutum & scientiarum, Dominus Jesus Christus. Voluntatis rectitudo, casta consilia, iusta judicia, sancta desideria, nonne rivuli fontis illius sunt?

Ad locum unde exeunt, revertantur flumina gratiarum; ut iterum fluant. Remittatur ad suum principium coeleste profluvium, quo uberius terra refundatur.

Curremus, curremus: sed in odore unguentorum tuorum; non in nostrorum fiducia meritorum. Nec in magnitudine virium nostrarum currere nos confidimus; sed in magnitudine miserationum tuarum.

Revertatur misericordia: & curremus. Tu quidem in virtute tua, tanquam gigas & potens, curris: nos, nisi unguenta tua spiraverint, non curremus. Tu, quem Pater unxit oleo lætitiæ præ consortibus tuis, curris in ipsa unctione: nos in illius odore curremus.

Quid vobis cum virtutibus; qui Dei virtutem, Christum, ignoratis?

De Baptismi Sacramento credimus, & scimus, quia de morte ejus manavit; cum putaretur esse devoratus, i. e. cum jam esset mortuus. Ad Jesum enim (inquit Evangelista) cum venissent, & viderent eum jam mortuum; non fregerunt ejus crura: sed unus, &c. Sanguine illo redempti; aqua illa sumus abluti.

Unum corpus, una persona, & unus Christus, caput cum suis membris, in cælum ascendit; dicitque gratulabundus, gloriosam Deo assignans Ecclesiam: Hoc nunc es ex ossibus meis, & caro de carne mea. Et ostendens se atque illam in personæ convenisse unitatem; Et erunt (inquit) duo in carne una. Magnum hoc sacramentum est. Caro Christi, quæ ante passionem solius erat caro Verbi Dei, per passionem ita crevit; adeo dilatata est; ita Mundum universum implevit; ut omnes electos, qui fuerunt ab initio Mundi, vel futuri sunt usque ad ultimum electum in fine seculi, in unam Ecclesiam, faciat Deum & homines æternaliter copulari.

* Ipsum Verbum est Deus creans.

Ipse est Deus, id est Creator: Ipse est Dominus, id est Redemptor: Ipse est noster Jesus, id est Salvator. Tunc erit verissime noster, cum erit omnia in omnibus, id est, sufficiencia singulorum : quoniam ipse est Deus, qui de nihilo nos creavit : ipse est Dominus, qui sanguine suo nos redemit, & sui munere nos salvabit ; qui creando nobis dedit Naturam, redimendo, gratiam ; & salvando nobis confert gloriam.

Notandum quòd beata Virgo non statim post conceptionem peperit filium, sed decursis novem mensibus genuit Christum.

Nihil eorum, quæ Deus in nostrâ naturâ plantavit, defuit naturæ humanæ assumptæ à Verbo Dei.

Portavit Virgo Christum sicut arbor fructum, succum ministrans ad fructus formationem.

Fortitudo Christi te creavit ; infirmitas Christi te recreavit ; fortitudo Christi fecit ut esses quod non eras ; infirmitas Christi fecit, ut quod erat non periret.

Tota fides Christiana circa Divinitatem & Humanitatem Christi versatur.

Christus veniens in carnem sibi desponsavit nostram naturam & ecclesiam.

Christus debuit circumcidi, ut ostendat veritatem carnis humanæ——— ut, quia in similitudinem carnis peccati advenerat, remedium, quo Caro peccati consueverat mundadari, non respueret, &c.

Christus sicut pro nobis natus est, ita etiam pro nobis circumcissus est. Circumcisio Christi fuit nobis medicamentum sanitatis, ut scilicet spiritualiter circumcideremur, &c.

Ipse in quantum homo est, offert preces nostras, sibi in quantum Deus, & Patri & Spiritui Sancto.

Diligenter ponas mentem
Super Christum patientem,
Et in planctu gaudeas.

Recordare paupertatis

Et extremæ vilitatis,

Et gravis supplicii.

Si es compos rationis,

Esto memor passionis.

Cujus oculi beati

Sunt in cruce obscurati,

— Et vultus expalluit.

Anathema est qui dicit, Dei Filium naturam quam semel assumpsit, aliquando reli-quisse.

Christus mortuus est non necessitatus, sed ex potestate & ex propria voluntate.

Christus sua passione fecit balneum in suo sanguine, quo peccatores lavaret.

Pater non sitivit filii sanguinem, nec crudelis fuit in eum, sed cum justitiam suam negare non posset, & vinceretur misericordiâ humanæ redemptionis ; filium se voluntarie offerentem ad satisfactionem, dedit homini, ut satisfaceret pro ipso, sicut dicitur Joan. iii. 16. Sic Deus dilexit mundum, &c.

Licet creare sit commune toti Trinitati, tamen hic potest appropriari, ut sit sen-sus : Deus Pater in principio, i. e. in Filio, qui est principium de principio, creavit.

Job. viii. dicit filius de se : Ego sum principium.

Creatio per Verbum fieri debuit, ut Re-creatio Creationi respondeat, secundum illud.

1 Cor. v. Deus erat in Christo mundum reconcilians sibi.

Nullum cadere permittit Deus finaliter, qui ei vero corde adhæret, & in tentationibus & adversis Gratia subsidium fideliter & ferventer requirit.

Licet Diabolus sedeat per dominationem in omnibus malis ; tamen specialius sedere dicitur in falsis fratribus, qui fide carent, & tamen se veros fideles & verbo & si-mulato opere mentiuntur.

Modus formandi mulierem fuit ordinatus ad instructionem nostram. Nam sicut debuerat mulier fieri, ut sua conjunctione cum viro significaret conjunctionem Christi cum ecclesia ; sic & formari, ut sua formatione signaretur formatio ecclesiæ de Christo.

Unde

Unde Eph. v. & erunt duo in carne unâ, sacramentum hoc magnum in Christo & ecclesia.

In creatione siquidem homo factus est ad imaginem Dei ; sed in Re-creatione Deus factus est homo, & in similitudinem hominis ; & certe illud majoris dignitatis est, hoc autem majoris dignationis.

Dicitur concupiscentia fomes peccati, lex membrorum, sive lex carnis, languor naturæ, & Tyrannus.

Homo baptizatus non transfundit in prolem nativitatem Christi, sed vetustatem Adæ.

Sicut circumcissus generat præputiatum, & sicut granum à palea purgatum generat paleatum granum ; ita existens in gratiâ generat eum qui in originali nascitur peccato, in natura vitiata, à quâ nullus liberatur nisi per spiritum gratiæ regenerantem.

Secundum fidem catholicam firmiter est tenendum, quòd omnes homines, præter Christum solum, ex Adam derivati peccatum originale ex Adam contrahunt ; alioquin non omnes indigerent redemptione quæ est per Christum.

Timor Domini expellit peccatum. Hoc ergò modo retrahitur homo à malo & inducitur ad bonum per legem Moysi. Sed quia modus iste est insufficiens, & lex quæ data erat per Moysen, hoc modo, scilicet per timorem, retrahebat à malis, insufficiens fuit. Licet enim coërcuerit manum, non coërcebat animum. Imò est alius modus retrahendi à malo, & inducendi ad bonum : Modus scilicet amoris, & hoc modo fuit data lex Christi, scilicet lex evangelica, quæ est lex amoris.

Lex æterna est lex omnium artium, & lex omnipotentis artificis.

Lex æterna est summa ratio, cui semper obtemperandum est.

Præcepta divina æterna sicut donatio inter vivos : & irrevocabiler donatur vita æterna illis, qui inter vivos, i. e. in statu gratiæ observant mandata divina.

Salvator noster asserit, totam legem prophetasque pendere in duobus præceptis ejusdem, scilicet in dilectione Dei & proximi ; quæ duo uniuntur in uno sponso ecclesiæ, Jesu Christo, qui simul est proximus & Deus ; simul Frater & Dominus ; simul etiam rex & amicus ; simul Verbum increatum & incarnatum ; Formator noster & reformator ; α & ω , qui & summus Hierarcha est, purgans, illuminans, & perficiens sponsam, scilicet totam ecclesiam, & quamlibet animam sanctam.

Lex enim errantibus & male agentibus posita est, sicut dicit Apostolus, 1 Tim. i. Qui vero habent ducem spiritum sanctum, non errant, & ita sub lege non sunt, quia non est justis lex posita sed injustis.

Aliter est Filius sub Patre, & servus. Quia servus sub Patre est necessitate timoris, filius autem voluntate obediendi. Justi ergo sunt sub lege voluntarie, & non necessitate coactionis.

Deus est diligendus toto corde, quia Creator : tota anima, quia redemptor : tota mente, quia remunerator.

Dilectio aliter est Gratiae, aliter Naturæ. Gratiae dilectio est, in quantum captivatur affectus in obsequium Christi diligendo, sicut intellectus per fidem, sive credendo.

Timor sponsalis est, quo sponsa si non semper se decoram & speciosam exhibeat, timet differri amplexus sponsi.

Duplex est fornicatio, spiritualis & corporalis : illa est in omni mortali, cum scilicet anima recedit à suo sponso, &c. Uterius sciendum. quod alii dicunt commixtionem viri et uxoris non esse sine peccato, quod est hæreticum, Heb. xiii. Sit honorabile.

Misericordia est passio Christi interna, i. e. compassio, quæ melior est, & major fuit quam aliqua passio. Est etiam summa Christi lætatio, & optima Christi unctio.

Donum Christi est potentius quam delictum Adæ, quia restituit homines in altiore statum quam Adam ante peccatum habuit, scilicet statum gloriæ, qui est absque periculo peccandi.

Quamvis lex vetus non sufficeret ad salvandum homines, tamen aderat aliud auxilium à Deo hominibus, per quod salvandi essent; scilicet fides mediatoris; per quam justificati sunt antiqui patres; sicut etiam nos justificamur: & sic Deus non deficiebat hominibus, &c. Sanguis agni liberans ab exterminatore, linitus super liminibus domorum, significat fidem passionis Christi in corde & ore fidelium, per quam liberamur à peccato & à morte, &c. Gratia facit fidem, non solum quando fides de novo incipit esse, sed etiam quamdiu fides durat. Deus semper operatur justificationem hominis, sicut sol semper operatur illuminationem aëris, &c. Fides specialiter gloriatur in cruce Domini nostri Jesu Christi, &c.—Anima per fidem conjungitur Deo. Nam per fidem anima Christiana facit quasi quoddam matrimonium cum Deo, secundum Os. ii. Sponsabo te mihi in fide.

Quis enim dubitet, quin Deus misereri velit illius, quem talem & tantum fecit creando; quem talem & tantum fecit redimendo? Magnum est quod creavit, sed majus quod redemit.

In formis sacramentorum non minus facit verbum à peccatore quam à justo prolatum, quia non operatur ibi meritum hominis, sed passio Christi & veritas Dei.

Ex latere Christi fluxit aqua ad abluendum, sanguis autem ad remedium. Et ideo sanguis competit Sacramento Eucharistiæ, aqua autem Sacramento Baptismi, qui tamen habet vim ablutivam ex virtute sanguinis Christi.

Christus voluit remanere cum apostolis non solum per inhabitantem gratiam, nec per divinam tantum essentiam, verum etiam per corporalem præsentiam, & ideo istud sacramentum instituit, in quo præsens est ipse nobiscum, sub alia quidem forma, sed in propria vere substantia.

Conveniens est, ut unusquisque servet ritum suæ Ecclesiæ in sacramenti celebratione. Super hoc autem sunt diversæ Ecclesiarum consuetudines.

Manducare autem spiritualiter est, recognoscere et refici circa ejus passionem, quæ fuit in corporis ejus multiplici afflictione & sanguinis effusione.

Ecclesia est thronus Dei, in quo sedet, & in quo & per quem, quantum ad perfectos, judicabit mundum, &c. Ecclesia est indumentum Christi ratione adhæSIONIS, &c. Sponsus Ecclesiæ proprie loquendo Christus, de quo dicitur, Job. iii. Qui habet sponsam, sponsus est. Ipse enim de Ecclesia suo nomine filios generat. Alii autem, qui sponsi dicuntur, sunt ministri sponsi extrinsecus co-operantes; non sibi, sed Christo generant. Qui quidem ministri in tantum sponsi dicuntur, in quantum vicem veri sponsi obtinent, &c.

Existente aliquo vel aliquibus justis, semper usque ad finem mundi est ipsa Ecclesia.

Sponsabo te mihi in sempiternum. Ergo matrimonium Christi & Ecclesiæ durabit in sempiternum: ergo & ecclesia. Quod autem sit matrimonium Christi et ecclesiæ, Eph. v. Erunt duo in carne una, hoc sacramentum magnum est; ego autem dico in Christo & ecclesia. Sicut ergo cum est copula carnalis subsecuta, inseparabilis est conjunctio viri & mulieris: ita inseparabilis est conjunctio Christi & ecclesiæ.

Ecclesiam esse gloriosam, non habentem maculam neque rugam, est ultimus finis, ad quem producimur per passionem Christi.

Corpus ecclesiæ nunquam fuit acephalum, sed semper habuit Christum caput secundum divinitatem & humanitatem.

Christus dicitur indumentum justorum etiam ratione decoris; ideo vocat suam formosam, quia ipse eam decorat.

Secundum

Secundum eandem rationem providentiæ, qua in seipso Dei filius homo factus infima pati voluit, etiam suos discipulos, quos humanæ salutis ministros instituit, voluit in mundo esse abjectos: unde non elegit literatos & nobiles, sed illiteratos & ignobiles, & eos mittens ad salutem hominum jussit paupertatem servare, &c.——Ne salus mundi adscriberetur humanæ sapientiæ aut virtuti, sed solum divinæ.

Quatuor prædicatori sunt necessaria: vita ad ædificandum, scientia ad docendum, promptitudo ad proficiendum, auctoritas ad exequendum.

Matrimonium est legitima conjunctio maris & fœminæ, individuum vitæ consuetudinem retinens. Hæc conjunctio non solum fuit post peccatum, verum etiam ante peccatum: sed prius institutum fuit sacramentum conjugii in officium.——Prius significabat conjunctionem Dei & animæ: nunc autem præter hoc significat conjunctionem Christi & ecclesiæ, & duarum naturarum in unitate personæ.

Per conjunctionem maris & fœminæ Christi & ecclesiæ conjunctio designatur. Conjunctio autem Christi & ecclesiæ est unius ad unam perpetuo habendam: est enim una ecclesia, secundum illud canticum, Una est columba mea perfecta: nec unquam Christus à sua ecclesia separabitur.

Conjunctio maris & fœminæ naturalis est: sed quod illa conjunctio significet, scilicet inseparabiliter, vel conjunctionem Christi & ecclesiæ, & animæ sanctæ ad Deum, hoc habet à divina institutione.——Ex quo enim creatus est homo & fœmina, fuit naturale quod conjungerentur; sed quod per hoc significetur conjunctio animæ ad Deum, vel Christi ad ecclesiam, vel humanitatis & divinitatis in Christo, istud fuit ab institutione divina. Quia autem sit sanctificatio, hoc est gratia, in matrimonio seu in conjunctis per matrimonium, hoc est per passionem Christi, quæ sanctificat omnia.

Nostre resurrectionis causa efficiens est Christus, portans insignia nostre redemptionis.

Quamvis in forma gloriosa se ostendat, apparebunt tamen in eo indicia passionis, cum decore & gloria, ut ex his visis & electi recipiant gaudium, qui per passionem Christi se liberatos recognoscerent, & peccatores tristitiam, qui tantum beneficium contemserunt.

Non solum Christus in illo judicio judicabit, sed etiam alii, quorum quidam judicabunt sola comparitione; quidam per sententiæ approbationem; quidam vero judicabunt quasi judiciariam potestatem accipientes à Christo, &c.

SISTUNT hic pii & incomparabiles antiqui martyrologii Κήρυκες, quam à primo inde ævo ad ipsam usque Wiclefi & Hussi diem gloriose deduxerant, testium nubem; sistunt, inquam, & quidem bono consilio: jam enim adest ipse Sol justitiæ, quippe qui imminentem & jam nunc conjuratam quasi Lytri catholici oblivionem impatienter ferens, Reformationis miraculo vel ipsius insensibilitatis oculum pulsat. Præcedit illum, quid? quod adnuntiat ecclesiarum Fratrū ros ex aurorâ vulnerum defluens; qui per aliquot horarum spatium expectat evangelium, caliginem dispellens salutem, excipit. Quumque ecclesiæ vere sint illæ litteræ vivæ, & sponsi cœlestis systaticæ, quæ lectis tacuisse decet Anagnostas chartarum; quid opus est, quam per tria secula cantantibus auscultasse Fratrum Choris, quippe qui istis Liturgiæ cœlestis partibus ex illo tempore defunguntur pie, læte, in dulcissimâ cum Angelis & Sanctis harmoniâ, & quidem indies majori & exaltatiore vocum consonantiâ, & eo certe psaltu, ut omnium, catenam inde à Christo spiritualem ignorantium aures concutiat, mentes turbet. De reliquo, cum nostrum non sit, materni oblitorum ventris, uberum ignarorum infantum, manere judicia, sufficiat nobis, magnis comprobari ipsius facis evangelicæ per orbem ministris. Et cum de Anglis, apud ullum Homiliarum Ecclesiæ istius diligentem pertractatorem, nulla intercedat dubitatio; inter Theologos vero, quos dicunt Calvinianos, cum sint sollertissimi Theologiæ Fœderum & sponsalitorum cœlestium assertores, qui in quæstionem itidem non veniant: satis est, consensum ipsius Lutheri (scriptoris videlicet, quem patrum vestigia non ultra quod satis est premere, omnes norunt) paucissimis allegasse, imò, energiae gratiâ, ipsissima ejus verba subjunxisse *.

“ In hoc verò cognosci sanctum Christi populum, in crucis scilicet sanctuario.—Nullos his in toto orbe majus persentire odium, amarissimum certe! hæreticos audire, nebules Turcâ vel Judæo sequiores, mundi carcinoma & pestem, persecutores vero & exactores illorum pientissimos homines; neminem usque eo illorum misereri fortis, ut non potius myrrha, cum sitiant, potet & felle? Nec tamen illud ideo illis contingere, quòd sint adulteri, fures, & nequam cujuscunque generis, sed id potius in causâ esse, quòd Jesum Christum, solum Deum prædicent mundo, nec præter hunc ullum permittant alium. Insuper monens Lectorem, ubi hos tales sibi detur cernere vel audire, ut agnoscat ibi Sanctam Christi Ecclesiam.

Idem opellæ huic sequentibus his verbis coronidem quasi imponat: “ Dominus noster Jesus Christus, in quem credimus nos, in communionem sanctorum omnium qui nos anteverterunt; is certe Vir est κατ' ἐξοχήν, in quem inimicitia Satanae jurata venit.

* Ich habe angefangen zu urtheilen, daß in dem Evangelio die zehn Gebote aufs reichlichste aufgeschrieben worden, daß Christus alles das hat, was im Mose steht, aber Moses nicht alles, was Christus hat.

Dieses ist der höchste Artikel des Christlichen Glaubens, der allein bey Christen gefunden wird, und ihre höchste Ehre, Trost und Freude ist, nemlich, daß der wahre Gottes Sohn menschliche Natur angenommen, und ihr Fleisch und Blut worden. Bey den Epicurern, derer jetzt die Welt voll ist, gilt er nichts, ja sie lachen und spotten unser, daß wir Christen so große Narren sind, und uns bereden lassen, daß der Schöpfer Himmels und der Erden sey Mensch worden, und für uns gecreuziget.

Man erkennet äußerlich das heilige Christliche Volk bey dem Heiligthum des heiligen Creutzes.—Kein Volk auf Erden muß solchen bitteren Salz leiden, sie müssen arger denn Juden, Heiden, Summa; sie müssen Ketzer, Buben, Teuffel, verflucht, und die schädlichsten Leute auf Erden heißen, daß auch die einen Gottes-Dienst thun, von welchen sie verjagt und geplagt werden, und sich niemand über sie erbarme, sondern auch mit Myrrhen und Gallen dazu tranke, wo sie durstet; und noch nicht darum, daß sie Ehebrecher, Morder, Diebe oder Schalke sind, sondern daß sie Jesum Christum allein, und keinen andern Gott haben wollen. Wie du nun solches siehest oder horest, da wisse, daß das die heilige Christliche Kirche sey.

E P I L O G U S.

IN general we desire the Reader to consider the distinct Nature of the Report and Vouchers, from the latter Part of these Acts; the former consisting of Matters in Fact, about which we were obliged, before the Honourable Committee, to speak all the Truth, as well as nothing but the Truth; and the latter being such a spontaneous Explanation of our Theory and Practice, where we found ourselves at Liberty to entertain the Reader with only the most necessary and edifying Matters, and not trouble him with what might appear less so.

In particular, and nearer relating to the last Part of this Work, whereas the most stubborn of the Obstacles we found to our Intention, of giving a View of our interior State, was, the hitherto-unheard-of Treatment we met with from a Set of People certainly too unworthy of being called Divines; who, instead of taking any Notice of the Reasons alledged by us, these thirty Years, have done nothing but repeat the same Cavils, tho' twenty times answer'd; and, when at last despis'd in one Land, were used to send their Libels into another, in order to fish there too, a While, in troubled Water; something like which St. Jerom tells us of in old Times; whereof, in a sort of Paroxysm, he complains thus: Spado virginem opprimens non prolem quærit, quam scit se gignere non posse, sed suæ libidini servit; & virginem, quam fœcundare non potest, potest tamen violare: ita & doctor iracundus, qui nullo ducitur filiorum affectu, cum erga aliquem furore succenditur, immoderatè vindicat quicquid est illud, unde offenditur. Non igitur fructum quærit, sed suæ iracundiæ satisfacit; nec corrigere studet, sed punire; unde & innocentium mentes corrumpit, quia ad suum odium illas accendit: So, on the contrary, the truly-noble Behaviour of the English Church towards us, has encouraged us to exhibit such a full Representation of our Oeconomy, as has not been before done for these Hundred Years. Moreover if the Clergy of the said Church, or other pious Divines, will be pleas'd further friendly to confer with us, and suggest to us their good Advice, in any Point, publick or private; we shall receive it thankfully, make use thereof, yea, freely confess it, where, by their means, we find ourselves undeceived. If, however, in any Time or Place, the Proceeding, mention'd by St. Jerom, should revive towards us in these Parts also; we will, on the one hand, not be provoked; but, on the other, take no Notice.

Now we proceed to some few Corrections, Emendations, and farther Explanations.

Finally, as that Summary of several Volumes of Acta Publica, with which the Ordinary of the Brethren a Year ago presented the Electoral Saxon Directory inter Evangelicos, gives a full Account of the most material Performances relating to the Contents of the foregoing Work; the Beginning of which Narrative is, as it were, the Summary of the Whole; we judge we shall have spread a Light over all the Matter treated of here, in filling the remaining Room with that same First Part of a Piece, which we moreover can, if there be Occasion, deliver intire.

A faithful Narrative concerning the EVANGELICAL SOCIETY pro instillandis Veritatibus Augustanæ Confessionis fundamentalibus, as well in all Evangelical Christian Countries, as among the unbaptized, and particularly the savage Nations; projected by the late famous Duke of Saxony, ERNESTUS PIUS, afterwards taken in hand (till the Year 1727.) by several Christian Noblemen and Divines; and, for these last Twenty-one Years, by the present Ordinary and Syndic of the Church of the Unitas Fratrum, and his Assistants, &c. 1748.

IT is well known, that the Intentions and Attempts of Duke Ernestus Pius did, partly after that valuable Prince's Death, partly thro' impracticable Projects intervening or being mingled therein (which in the last Century were proposed by several Adventurers even to the Diet at Ratisbon), almost intirely fail of Execution; but yet, that as well the Brandenburg and Danish, as the Dutch and English Christian Societies, are nothing else but Shoots arising from this Trunk.

After the blessed Decease of my Kinsman the Baron von Canstein, which ensued in the Year 1719. there being some eminent Divines, upon whom the whole Affair henceforth rested, and who had already used my Service a little in some things, he, who was their acknowledged Director, with regard even to other Parts of the World, did, did, Anno 1721. expressly invite me to supply the said Baron's Place: Yea he did, on a Week-day, about the middle of May (which, for want of a Calendar of the said Year, I cannot further fix), at the House of Baron Ende at Halle, in the Presence of several worthy Men, shew great Joy at my agreeing to his Proposition; and not only directly at that time imparted to me the Blessing of the Lord with Tears of Gladness, but also desired of my honoured Mother, who is still alive (tho' after a manner, which at that Time did not succeed), that I might entirely join with them in Labour, instead of accepting of the Place in the Regency at Dresden, which I was destined for.

But yet, for another Reason, I could not presently take in hand this weighty Employment. The Reason was this: The aforesaid dear and respected Men entertained that Idea of Church-Affairs, which indeed almost every-where prevailed, but which is quite dissonant from the Augsburg Confession, and its Apology, as also from all other symbolical Books of our Protestant Church. That is, they treated all new Converts according to the Rule and Way used in their Province: Whereby true Piety would not only, contrary to the Notion of a Church, become in all Places whatsoever a Religion under one and the same special Name, but also would grow a Provincial Branch, differing, perhaps, from Ten other Branches, in the Lutheran Body itself; not to mention the private Opinions, which might by unnecessary Stumbling-blocks hinder the Universality of the Truth, and also occasion the total losing of the chief Criterion of the Evangelical Church of God; namely, that it is not necessarily to be propagated by a bodily Succession, but each Individual for himself may be born and taught of God.

Now, since I had a Scruple to begin a Dispute about this with Fathers in Christ, whom I, being a young, and, as yet, not much experienced Man, ought reasonably to respect; on this Account, before I took in hand the Direction of the Affair I was so long intrusted with, I waited so long, till, in the Year 1734. my Seniors, who preceded me in this Vocation, were all, to the last Man, out of this Valley of Tears entered into their Master's Joy: But soon after, prævio examine theol. & consistoriali per tri-duum, the Records and Determination whereof I brought with me to Tubingen, I entered there, Anno 1734. in the Month of December, into the spiritual State and Function publicly, and with a theological Programma; and in the Year 1737. at his Majesty the King of Prussia's repeated Instance, I received also a Christian Evangelic Ordination adequate to my particular Call.

After this short View of the Matter, I now proceed to lay open, in Simplicity of Heart, the farther Course of the whole Affair.

It is manifest by what is already said, that the Recital of my Conduct in my Office cannot well be separated from the Account to be given concerning the illustrious Society above-mentioned. It is therefore my Business to demonstrate, ex actis & probatis,

1. That I, as well in my Ministry with the whole Society, as with the Evangelic Moravian Church, which is now a living Letter-Testimonial of our Labour in the Lord, have, for my own Person, remained within the strictest Limits of a faithful and exact Evangelic Divine in the Spirit of Luther.

2. Have had the good Fortune, to dispose the greatest Part of the Moravian Brethren (even postponing their own, as being less determinate) for the unvaried Augsburg Confession, and the Spirit of its highly commendable Church-Idea: Yet at the same time,

3. Have accounted it an Undertaking not only sinful, and directly contrary to all Evangelic Books of Faith, but also foolish, to cast or mold the Moravian Church into one, preferably to another, of the perhaps Twelve different Forms of the Lutherans; since, when I shall some time or other depart this Life, it would have no other Issue, but, in respect to ecclesiastical Form, a so-much-the-more scandalous Rupture of the Moravian with the whole Evangelic Church, or, at least, with that Part thereof, which she actually is concerned with, and a setting up afresh the old exclusive System*, wherein she would not need to seek far for Protection:

* Which followed too soon after the Consensus of Sendomir, and wherein some great Men of ours became intangled, in order to set up a Sectarian Particularism, which made them barbaros omni alii, et vice versa.

and also, in Tract of Time, an infallible Decay of, and at last Falling away from, the very sound Doctrine, which, with so much Sweat and Tears of their hitherto Ordinary and his Assistants, had been instilled into them.

But since, as has been already mentioned, the Affair of the Moravian Church is only a Part of my Call, and when that Affair is brought into such safe Order, that I am no more wanted therein, then only will the true and proper Discharge of my real Office, which the dear Moravian Depositum has often very much put by, be able rightly to take place, and to be pursued in a happy Simplicity, and also, ceteris paribus, a certainly more profitable Universality, than hitherto, out of Condescension towards that, it could be ; therefore I must, before all things, premise in facto what follows ; which will of itself discover whether the Moravian Affair was my only and first Business or no.

1. Divine Providence, even since 1724. had given me, and my Assistants, an open Door, at least for a time, for the declaring of the Gospel almost among all religious Denominations in Christendom.

2. Our Lot had fallen in an Epocha, where, on the one side, Libertinism prevails ; and, on the other, that unaccountable Taste nodos theologicos in scirpo quærendi ; which, from the most unaffected Sympathy for our Fellow-creatures, became the Occasion of our keeping, from Year to Year, a Hospital for perplexed Minds.

3. We had also the Pleasure to fall in with a Period, wherein not only many Christian Men are grown weary of their self-chosen Ways, but also some Thousands of the bewildered Children and Grandchildren of Parents, who died in Separation and Independence, are become a Burden to themselves ; and therefore let themselves be found for the common Saviour, as soon as any one seeks them for Him.

4. We had not only pressing Reasons on our Side, why we should keep off Profelyte-making, but, perhaps, I alone, at this time, had the Secret of putting beforehand a sure Bar to that ugly thing, in our Constitution, without using, to that end, any equivocal clausula dispositiva.

5. We had, not only from our own Conviction, but many times occasionally (which has almost always turned out the best), and for the most part by an express Call, been engaged in several Missions, as well to the East and West, as to the North and South ; and this only in such Places, where there had been none such before, or had not succeeded.

6. It pleased the Divine Wisdom to make me a Builder of several Colonies (very distant from each other), which, as may easily be supposed, do, at their first planting, suit themselves, as much as possible, ratione politici & ecclesiastici, to the proper View of their Settlement ; and, since this is never used to be made without a previous Agreement with the respective Governments, and therein observing always the antient German Openness, must necessarily be protected in their Regulation, begun cum cognitione causæ, as long as public Faith is regarded.

7. I and my Assistants had had, besides the dear Pledges of the Families of those Witnesses who are engaged in the Missions, many Thousand Children intrusted to us ; which Matter, in spite of all Endeavours to decline it, had gone so far, that there was just Reason to wonder how it came to pass, amidst the so notorious and common Disharmony of married People, in regard to the Education of their Children, that not a Thousand, but only Ten or Twelve single Fathers or Mothers should have shewn any Dissatisfaction.

8. The taking care of our own Society invariatae Aug. Confessionis in so many Countries, the Heathen Mission, the Children's Nurseries, required so many Hands, which must be used as well in the Service of the Gospel, as in the instructing and educating of Children ; that to set up a Seminary in this View, and to prepare therein both Students, and other apt Genius's, should in Reason seem strange to no one.

9. But since, by the Nature of the Office I was invested with by the Evangelic Moravian Brethren, I was obliged to have a watchful Eye to the Plan, which Two Centuries ago was begun in the so-called Consensus Sandomiriensis, wherein our dear Predecessors had made more than One Mistake ; and partly to perform the Deeds of the Fathers, partly, as far as the Saviour should give Opportunity, to be a faithful ful, tho' mean Instrument, under God's Providence, whose Process alone is solid, and to be depended upon, of producing ex subtilissimo veneno medicinam saluberrimam: Hence this quite unlook'd-for Circumstance has hitherto made up the Ninth and most difficult Part of the Execution of my Office.

To give that illustrious Senate, which is intrusted with the Direction inter Evangelicos in Germany, a still more prolix Deduction concerning the above-mentioned Posts, besides the annexed Papers, which already make about a Thousand Leaves in Folio; would certainly be what I could not forgive myself. Also, to entertain your Honours with the Occurrences of my Life, and my Labours for almost Forty Years, which, tho' in Weakness, have not been without Blessing in fact, is not my Intention; because the greatest Part of the Success therein obtained, or hereafter to be hoped, remains the most safely under the Veil of groundless Reproach of all kinds, and Ignorance of its proper Merit; seeing that the Consequences of a public and universal Victory over my numberless, and each other endlessly-contradicting Adversaries, might turn out so unbeneficial, yea hurtful to the real Blessing in the Way of Christ's Cross, which our highest Constituent has hitherto vouchsafed us, and thereby richly comforted us in regard to a little Backbiting, that I particularly, from that Hour forward, should think I had over-lived myself.

But yet it seems to me necessary, to produce, with respect to each Point, in the first place, the proper Principle out of which I have derived the Manner of Acting observed therein: And in the next place, to set the Affair of the Moravian Church particularly, by an historical Series, in such a Light, that I shall, at the same time, at least in my own Conscience, have discharged all I owed to the Public.

To begin with the First of the Nine Points:

My Religious Principles do not go any farther than the Doctrinal Articles of the Augsburg Confession. They are found all briefly in St. John's Gospel. They cannot easily be found more completely together, than in those Places of the so called Catechismus minor, which treat of the Augsburg-Confession Truths*. They are what one in sensu communi calls Lutheran; when one takes in Saxony, the Country of Wirtemberg, Sweden, Denmark, conjunctim, according to those Ideas, on which every well-instructed common Man there thinks to be saved, and whereof the Quintessence has been comprised in certain Suspiria, or Ejaculations, known almost to every body; wherein, notwithstanding the Distance of Lands and Climates, all genuine Lutherans agree; in short, as the Language has been pretty universally about Seventy or Eighty Years ago: And in this Theologia positiva I am so round and downright, and of set Purpose such a Stranger to the Subtilties, Contentions about Words, and Sophistries, which have arisen beyond and beside within these Two hundred Years; that if, after my often-mentioned Apology directed to the King of Sweden, and distributed at Ratisbon, 1735. there should still be one or another useful Question to be moved, I could always most safely answer it directly out of my Heart, and should find no Occasion to appeal first to any prepared Deduction. Since indeed, in almost all Countries, there are so many hundred and thousand Witnesses at hand, that in the manifold Religions, where

* As for Instance: When the Meaning of the Commandment, Thou shalt do no Murder, is asked, this Enchiridion answers, "That we, as much out of Love to God, as out of Fear, do no Hurt to our Neighbour, but rather help him in all his bodily Needs." The Sense of the Commandment, Thou shalt not bear false Witness, it gives to this Effect; "That we not only ought not to betray, bely, asperse, or defame our Neighbour, but, on the contrary, excuse him, commend him if possible, and turn all things to the best." It requires not only the not coveting, but the doing of all kind Offices, in order to maintain too him his Property and Conveniencies. Moreover it makes, in all the Explanations of the Commandments, the chief Reason of doing well, to be the Love of God according to its great Point of View, manifested plainly in the Explanation of the Articles of Faith; from which we will take only one Instance, viz. what is said upon the Second Article: "I believe, that Jesus Christ, very God, begotten of the Father from all Eternity, and also very Man, born of the Virgin Mary in Time, is my Lord; who has purchased, ransomed, and redeemed me, forlorn and undone Man, from all Sin, from Death, and the Power of the Devil, not with Gold and Silver, but with his holy precious Blood, and with his innocent Sufferings and Death, that I might be his own, and live under Him in his Kingdom, and serve Him in everlasting Righteousness, Innocency, and Happiness, like as he is risen from the Dead, and lives and reigns to all Eternity. This is certainly true." The Answer, in order to explain the Hallowing of the Name of God in the Lord's Prayer, is this: "When the Word of God is taught purely and sincerely, and we also, as Children of God, live holily according thereto." The Kingdom of God, it calls, "A Congregation directed by the Holy Ghost to believe his holy Word, and lead a divine Life here in Time, as there in Eternity."

I have hitherto found Entrance, I urge no other but these Truths; there is not so much need to demonstrate that Fact, as rather to remove the just Perplexity of those of my native Religion, concerning this only Problem yet remaining; "How it was possible for me, in so great a Diversity of Sentiments, to make my Ideas commensurate to all; and whether at least I must not have made use of an equivocal Method, which, before God and Man, would degrade the Good that was actually promoted thereby."

A more than ordinarily passive Furthering, and resigned Waiting for the wished Effect of the Truth, preached with all Simplicity according to the Clue of the very antient and quite Evangelical Synod of Bern, which follows closely the Steps of the Augsburg Confession, and the before-mentioned Enchiridion, is, without Doubt, the only Specific of my Operations, and the proper Master-Art made use of in the whole Work of melting and uniting all Evangelic Christians into that last View of the well-tried Word of God, Pf. xii. which the New Testament exhibits. I mean that View, which, out of the Wounds-light of our Redeemer, after his Resurrection, was and remained as well the first Guide to Apostolic Faith, as the first Demonstratio Evangelica, and even the first Commentary upon the whole sacred Scripture. At least the Scripture, in what it has collected of the Saviour's most private Conference for Forty Days with his Disciples, has afforded us no Traces of any other Method.

That this Master-Art, in this Modification, performs all that is to be performed, and that the Word of the Cross, when it is handled with a right impartial Moderation, even among the Unthankful and Evil, effects Wonders, need not be proved by this Writing; since an authentic Letter in that respect is to be perused in so many Parts of the Earth. And indeed, what Service has been lent by me and mine, from time to time, when desired, for Edification, and not for Destruction, even to the chief Evangelic Religions, and partly also to other Sects, regulated in their own Way; but, on account of their total Falling off, perplexed about themselves; of this, by my own Choice, I would rather let nothing transpire abroad into the World. For the Public, the occasional Acknowledgements, which those have made themselves, may suffice; and for me, the Apology supplied by our Saviour himself, I have done what I could. So much of this Transcript.

WE begin with thankfully acknowledging the Remarks an honoured Friend of ours has made about One Expression which is to be found in the Rationale, and which he apprehends might hurt somebody. We beg Leave to say, in our own Behalf, that that Phrase being in a Translation from another Treatise, it was not convenient to mend it: But as it is not the first time, that we have been acquainted with our Friend's Opinion about such-like Expressions, our rectifying this manner of Speaking appears very plainly from p. 102. where we treat the same Subject in our own Way. In respect to his Second Remark, concerning those Words of the Litany, About thy Neck we fall; truly it would be more convenient, and perhaps more according to our own Inclination, to sing About thy Feet we fall. But, on the one hand, it is a Translation too from the German; Wir fall'n dir um den Hals; reflecting partly upon the Posture of the lost Sheep, the Saviour representing us in that manner; partly on the Behaviour of the little Children, whom He embraced and blessed: And, on the other, the Expression, To fall about the Feet of our Saviour, seems expressly avoided here in our Litany, because this Liturgy is throughout to be performed standing. A great Pleasure it would be to us, if our Friends would favour us with more Remarks; which would procure to the Public a Second Edition of this Work, more explained, and more corrected.
